A Call to Arms

Nan Goode

O the fascists are riding, riding.
And the Nazis are riding, too.
Spreading wide the glad tidings.
tidings
Of their grip on our Red, White and Blue.

'Cross the sea they are bragging bragging
To their comrades in native lands
'Bout their prowess in smearing, gagging
Great America's freedom bands.

And their aides far away are cheering.
They are wild o'er their fiendish gains,
And they hasten to urge more smearing,
Of America's noble names.

What to do for a Cause fast dying
Is for us right now to decide
Shall we stand by just weakly sighing
While the nazis and fascists ride?

Or start Liberty's bell a-ringing
Bidding all freedom lovers rise,
Come in haste; come a-winging, winging,
Rout the foes e'er sweet freedom dies.

Vote for Wallace, ne'er fearing, fearing
What the fascists and nazis say.
Standing firm 'midst the jeering, jeering,
He's the man who can save the day.

Vote for Wallace when comes November
If you'd have your loved freedom live.
The mighty Wall Street he'll dismember
With the hearty support you give.

While the fascists and nazis are riding,
A brave Wallace is riding, too,
And like Jesus in suff'ring abiding
To bring freedom to me and you.

EDITORIALS AND COMMENTS

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Read It - Stop and Think

Roscoe Dungee, editor of THE OKLAHOMA BLACK DISPATCH, in his editorial, "The Dead Hands of Slaves," which appeared in the issue of October 23, gave warning to not only the people of Oklahoma, but also to Negro people everywhere.

Negroes who sell their honor and birthright, either because of ignorance or for a price, are chains around the necks of the incoming generation, and blights on the hope and hope for complete national democracy.

The DISPATCH editorial follows:

But for the reprehensible attitude of our current Uncle Toms in Oklahoma, Negroes might achieve many objectives just beyond reach. We make this statement because of the alleged announcement last week of Walter Lybrand, attorney for the Oklahoma City school board, in discussion of the Emma Lee Freeman case with Attorney Amos Hall, representing Mrs. Freeman, that a delegation of Oklahoma City Negro school teachers recently implored him to find some way to dismiss the Emma Lee Freeman case.

Attorney Hall, in discusing the reported visit of the spineless Oklahoma City instructors, says Attorney Lybrand charges the committee spokesman for the frightened scholastics announced that "we are getting on all right in Oklahoma City. Salaries have been adjusted and we don't want to disturb the good relationship now existing. Get rid of this suit. Dismiss it." The school board attorney was not condemning the committee; he liked their view. He was using their presence and urgent request, in discussion with Attorney Hall, as justification for dismissal of the cause of action.

One of the tragedies of discrimination and race hate is vested in the creation of such shameful, cringing cowards as those who presented themselves before Attorney Lybrand. It used to be that white people assumed that such expressions were representative of the Negro group, and during that period, such delegations did definite harm to the progress of Negroes. Today, white people properly evaluate such "quarter-raised" scoundrels. Not one in a thousand Nordics are misled by such representations. He knows now the masses of Negroes do not endorse such slavish, servial resignation. While he uses such whining critters to serve the evil moment, he knows in his heart that here is a selfish sycophant seeking solely to feather his own nest like Judas of old.

Such individuals are cringing cowards or just plain simple dumbbells who would not recognize opportunity parading down the street on the back of an elephant and led by a brass band. This is one of those rare cases spoken of in the Bible where the blind seek to lead. Such pitiable individuals remind us of the long-ago observation of Wendell Phillips:

"The most difficult person to convince he should be free is the slave himself."

These are the individuals who are frightened to death when the Black Dispatch and the NAACP announce attempt to break up separate schools in this state. Their alarm arises out of the proprietary interest these folk have in a Jim Crow job. They cannot see beyond their noses to realize that through integration future generations of Negroes will have the same equal opportunity in the teaching profession as any other American. Already the big white colleges of the North and East are beginning to swallow up scores of capable Negro instructors. Wade Ellis, born in the little village of Chandler, Oklahoma, has for many years been a mathematics instructor in the University of Michigan. Ira De Reid, of Atlanta university, was last year visiting professor at New York university. We do not have a recent list before us at the present moment, but we do have in our files a thrilling and inspiring list of Negroes now teaching in the outstanding colleges of the nation.

While we are about that task we will also contribute some effort towards making separate schools as nearly equal as they can be in an atmosphere of discrimination and injustice. We now know that such Negroes as appeared before Attorney Lybrand do not have the respect, confidence or trust of thinking white people. They might slightly retard the wheels of progress, but at best they represent only the dead hands of slavery. Like the snake, Uncle Tom Negroes wiggle a long time after they are dead.

A Voice in the Wilderness of Doubt

Henry Wallace is a man of peace. He believes that this nation can survive in peace if the people are allowed to shape their own destiny. We have a wonderful Constitution, one that meets every need of the people. To this end Wallace is dedicating his devotion, his talents, his energies, and even risking his life.

That this country may enjoy some measure of peace in the coming years, Henry Wallace must be placed at the head of this nation. His voice alone can dispel the cloud of fear and despair settling over Europe. He alone can bring peace to the hearts of Americans.

The enemies of the people, those who desire to stay in power, to divide and rule, are trumping up all sorts of lies to defeat the candidacy of this great man. His best efforts for promoting peace between this country and Russia, are distorted so that his words appear to mean something which they do not.

Under Henry Wallace as President of the United States, there would be the same firmness in things which are right and just as the present administration claims. But there would be an assurance that those things for which we are striving ARE right and just.

The time has come, says Henry Wallace, for both this government and the government of Russia to stop playing the cat-and-mouse game in Berlin. Both governments should get out of Berlin, he says, and let the people decide for themselves.

This will be Wallace's great contribution to the government of this country. And to the governments of the nations of all the world. The privilege of the people deciding for themselves what they want.

And for this he is being pilloried on the sword of the special interests of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, of the monied few who now rule and would continue to rule in spite of what may be right or wrong. He is being called a Communist by these propagandists of selfishness.

This is the last card in the deck to defeat Wallace for the presidency. But he is so far above his accusers that like a great rock in a storm, he does not heed his impugners, but stands steadfast no matter what waves beat about his feet.

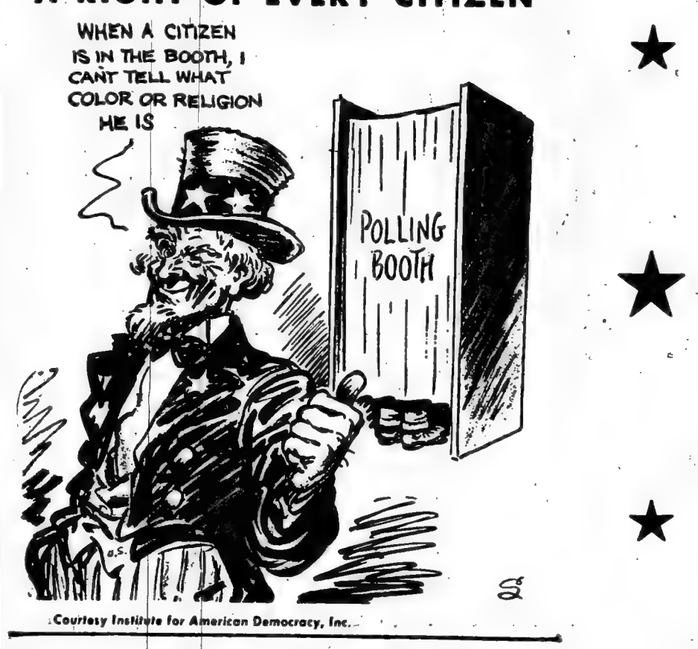
So shall he stand, when as President of the United States of America, his hand shall guide our ship of state to safety. Like Washington. Like Lincoln. Like Franklin Delano Roosevelt, his friends and ours.

Who Pays Benefits

The people are skeptical about all bond issues, because they have been fooled into voting greater tax burdens without receiving any benefit to themselves.

There are 30 bond issues, amendments and propositions on the November 2 ballot, including those for state, county and city. Study them carefully. Go to meetings between now and election day, and get all the information you can. Don't swallow all you hear. Study both sides of each question, and use your own best judgement.

You may safely use THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE'S ticket as a guide. The editors have tried hard to recommend what will be for your best good.



Our final advice before election day is that you VOTE. If you believe in the principles of democracy, it is your duty to vote. For, far too long the people have lived under a corrupt government operated by the officials we ourselves have put into office. Use whatever means available to you to find out all you can about the record of the candidate before you stamp a cross by his name.

Above all, beware of the politician who is paid to tell you how to vote. He is serving the individual who is paying. Not you. The man who buys votes has a selfish motive.

Remember this. The man who pays the fiddler usually does the dancing.

You, Mr. Average Citizen, in your case for a long, long time, you have been paying while the Big Politician dances all the year 'round. His middle or contact man dances while the campaign lasts. But you, poor little you and me, we just pay all the time.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

History repeats itself. So they say. But it repeats itself in spirals, not in circles. And the repetition is on a higher plane, presumably, so that even if we are going around in circles we are nevertheless mounting a wee bit higher anyway.

But sometimes, it seems to me, the spiral is going downward, and we are growing worse instead of better. This post-war hysteria that is being stirred up now is an example. We had the same kind of hysteria after World War I that we are having today. But this today seems to have a more sinister note, a more desperate quality. And as the hysteria of yesteryear produced World War II, more terrible that World War I, so the hysteria of today is directed by the war mongers toward a still more fearful war, that of World War III.

Historians declare that the United States of America was responsible for World War II, because we stubbornly refused to join the League of Nations and shoulder our share of the responsibility for maintaining the peace.

Today? Today we are a member of the United Nations, at least inname, but today we seem to want to should all responsibility for all the world for everything. Today we seem to want to bypass the United Nations, and make world decisions for ourselves, even as the first time we ignored the League of Nations and refused to help in making any decisions at all.

Will the sickening downward spiral toward another more horrible war, be one of our creation again? Will historians in the future, if there are any historians in the future, again claim that we of the United States of America who boast of our humanitarianism, were guilty of the worst slaughter the world has ever known?

The condition of the world today is definitely our responsibility. We are the richest, the most powerful nation in the world. You hear that proud boast everywhere. But we seem to have forgotten in our boastings, a warning from a book that still stands as a Rock in the midst of all the wild waves and the storms: "Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall."

But although we seem to be descending into the depths in a downward spiral, there are evidences also that we are mounting at the same time to a higher level. Of understanding. Of courage. Of a fierce determination that we shall not be dragged into a war again. Nor that we ourselves will drag the world down into a third terrible destruction.

"If the reactionaries throughout Europe and America, again the ascendancy, Europe will be at war again in a quarter of a century." So warned William Austin Smith, editor-in-chief of The Churchman, in January, 1920.

That was the voice of the Church 28 years ago. It is crying aloud again, but there is a stronger, more united appeal in that voice today. All the Christians of all the world are uniting today — slowly, reluctantly, some standing aloof and refusing altogether to play — but nevertheless uniting, and demanding in no uncertain voice, "we shall not have another war." For the first time in history there is a World Council of Churches, organized last summer in Amsterdam.

The people, too, are more aroused today than they were 28 years ago. Oh, of course, we are still very much asleep. And many, too many of us, are influenced by the headlines in the Hearst newspapers and the Fulton Lewis, Jr. radio commentators.

There was the same kind of rabble rousers 28 years ago. But there was no Henry Wallace in 1920. There was none until we tumbled into the worst depression in our history, until the World War descended upon us, as a cloudburst from a sky in which we couldn't see the cloud even the size of a man's hand.

It was then that Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his friend, Henry Wallace, came to the front and with the help of the Congress the people elected then, saved this nation and, it is not too much to say, saved the world.

We still have Henry Wallace. And the spirit of FDR is still marching on. And on November 2 we, the people of the United States, will have an opportunity to choose a president and a Congress that can keep us out of war, and can ward off a depression, both of which, if they come, will make our other world wars and depressions seem mild as malted milks in comparison.

But remember, it's Congress that declares war. And it's Congress that makes the laws. If this last Congress that we elected was the worst in history — and I doubt if even FDR could have done much with it — then we'd better see to it that on Tuesday, November 2 we elect a liberal Congress, one that will really work for the welfare of the people and not of the wealthy few.

Industry Needs Skilled People

Skilled persons are needed in numerous industries at present. There is an insufficient number of such persons registered. Once registered, those eligible can be placed into permanent, good paying positions.

As one of its basic functions, the Los Angeles Urban League is interested in securing better industrial opportunities in all fields. Persons possessing the following skills are asked to contact the Industrial Relations Department of the Urban League, 2510 South Central Avenue, telephone ADams 5128. (There is no fee for this service.)

Experienced welders, turret lathe operators, mechanics, lithographers, registered pharmacists, X-ray technicians, clinical laboratory technicians, furniture webbers, salesmen, saleswomen, combination pressers and stenographers with proficiency ratings in typing and shorthand.

Place a poinsettia where it will get as much light as possible during the day, and then put it to bed early by covering it with a black cloth.

Yanked Into Court and Thrown Into Jail

Ten men and women are threatened with jail sentences because they refuse to answer three questions put to them by the Federal Grand Jury in a secret investigation of suspected federal employees.

Those three questions are: Do you know the names of the county officers of the Communist Party?

Do you know the table of organization of the Communist Party here?

Do you know Ned Sparks or do you know Vicent Russo?

Of all the silly, stupid questions planted for tattle-tales to stoolpigeon on their friends, these are about the stupidest.

The Communist Party is a regularly organized political party. Its headquarters are here in Los Angeles. Its name is in the telephone book. If these pseudo-investigators wish to learn anything about the party, why in the name of everything sensible don't they go to party headquarters and ask? Why do they insist upon intimidating employees of the Federal government? Why do they want these employees to peach on their friends?

At this secret session of the court, six Los Angeles County deputy sheriffs and six uniformed city police offiecrs came marching into the room.

"I do not know who is responsible for the presence of these men here," said Judge Pierson M. Hall, who was "trying" the ten for contempt of something or other. "I didn't send for them . . . Do I hear any chains rattling? he inquired pointedly.

No physical chains rattled at that court session. But just over the horizon looms the terror and fear of chains and torture. For the Communists only- No for everyone. For everyone who dares to think differently from what his boss would have him think. Who dares to say his soul is his own.

They are threatening the Communist Party now. Tomorrow it will be the Progressive Party. Next day, the Democratic, especially the liberal wing of the Democrats. Why do we permit such things to happen in America? Why are we not aroused at the Threatened loss of our freedom? Our liberty?

Asleep at the post, we shall all be yanked into court and thrown into jail for thinking as we do. We CAN do something. Remember next Tuesday, November 2, on election day, roll up such a huge vote for all liberal candidates that these American Hitlers will quail at the very sight. Let the people speak.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Helen Douglas On Her Record

The recent endorsement of Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas by the Los Angeles CIO Council is the final formality preceding the certain re-election of the hard-working, capable representative. The voters of the 14th Congressional District, who came within a trifle over one hundred votes of re-electing her in the primaries, will reject the smear attempts being made at the last moment to stem the growing tide of sentiment favoring her.

JOHN M. LEE

But it is regretable that Mrs. Douglas was injudicious enough to have called upon Henry Wallace to withdraw from the presidential race in favor of Truman. It is regrettable because certain forces in the Negro community have used the same 'below the belt' tactic on her, and she must know how unfair it is.

Mrs. Douglas and her advisors must know that the chief arguments of her detractors in the 14th district is her non-residence and the fact that she is not a Negro. They say she does not 'belong,' and that she is a carpet-beggar. The Republicans have taken up this theme, and they're singing it loud and long. Time and again, certain forces have asked Mrs. Douglas to withdraw from the 14th district Congressional race and run for Congress in the district where she does live.

We have opposed that proposition and we have inveighed strongly against the bigoted narrow-mindness of the stupid mis-leaders who have advanced it; we have never felt, nor do we feel now, that a Negro should represent the 14th Congressional District simply because he is a Negro. We said before, and we repeat; the matter of race is not a qualification for any public office, nor conversey is it a disqualification. A reactionary Negro is as great a menace as a reactionary of any other stripe. All of Mrs. Douglas' opponents to date have been candidates of the reactionaries, and Negro or white, we have opposed them.

It takes no stretching of the American sense of fair play to reject that non-sense about living in the district. The law is specific on that point and it does not preclude a citizen's running in a district (which is, after all, merely an arbitrarily set area of population) where he does not have physical residence. Mrs. Douglas has every right, as an American citizen resident in the city of Los Angeles to run for Congress in any district she chooses, and no citizen, no matter how much he believes in the supremacy of one color or another, has the right to deny her that choice.

By the same token, Henry Wallace has the right to run for president of the United States as the candidate of the Progressive party, and the people of the 14 Congressional District who petitioned him to run, have the right to vote for him on November 2. It is not for Helen Gahagan Douglas to misrepresent the Progressive Party voters in her district by asking Henry Wallace to withdraw from the race. There are hundreds of voters in the 14th district who can't take either Truman or Dewey (which is the same thing with a college education and a moustache) and who intend to vote for Wallace with the fullest possible American purpose.

We are proud of Mrs. Douglas' record in Congress; we hope to be proud of the manner in which she conducts her campaign. We know what she has done on the Civil Rights front, which is the vital concern of all of us these days, and we know of her fight for the people of the district. Ours is a positive evaluation of her service, based on her record (which includes repeated requests for a new post office). The greatest good she can do in these days of growing reaction is to concentrate on her re-election as a safeguard against another '80th Congress.'

Some of Mrs. Douglas' advisors in the Negro community, who because of their waning influence and respect, mis-direct her into actions that cause friction and confusion should realize (if they want her to win) that all of the voters don't attend one church, or belong o one reactionary union. They should use their efforts to consolidate the people's forces in the district for the last ditch battle with the smear artists. Mrs. Douglas' record will re-elect her. They should advise her not to mar it with injudicious baiting.

W. J. Wheaton Says

If that old Don, who was the first to get a peek at what is known as San Francisco Bay, did not awake his fellow Shades, and hover over the Bay area this past week, and visualize the enthusiasm with which that historical event has been remembered, then we hope that his Shades with those compatriots will be retired to everlasting oblivion.

Never before in all San Francisco's history, and the city is noted for its carnival spirit, has there been such an out-pouring of gayiety and a spirit of comraderie. One entire week has been dedicated to reviving the memories of that historical event. Pageantry depicting trek of the Portola and his cavaliers, preceded the opening of the Carnival.

The opening week was featured by a parade that was four hours and twenty minutes passing a given point. The parade was made up of every organization in the Bay area and adjacent counties, from the military—national and local—to the fraternal, and mounted posses of Sheriffs of the several counties, who, with their silver trappings, and spirited horses were an attractive feature.

In the fraternal unit were a drill team of Negro Shriners who were greeted with generous applause by the hundreds of thousands who lined the streets, and occupied the stands. To sum up that parade, it is only fair to say that the tribute to the Don's discovery was one that will linger long in the memory of many San Franciscans.

But the climax came on the night of October the 23rd. San Francisco, the City sent the Shades of the Don and his followers back to their resting places in a blaze of glory. To use a common phrase, the City was lighted from stem to stern. It was the parade of floats, and accompanying attendants with electric lighted banners. There are no words to describe the beauty of the pageant. To say that it was a "Fairy Dream" would be trite. The floats were manned with the prettiest girls in the area.

They were selected for perfection in form and feature; and may we say that who was responsible for the selections did a wonderful job. The floats were all beautiful, some magnificent.

But the two that received the Ohs! and Ahs! and enthusiastic applause, were the floats of the Chinese unit and one that was manned by as beautiful a group of NEGROID girls as were ever assembled. To say the least they were as beautiful a group of feminity as any people could present. We may be criticized for using the word NEGROID instead of Negro. The latter word, which applies to a racial group, is, in this United States, an legislative enactment, and not of ethnology. Those young girls on that float, were as devoid of African features as any group of women or girls whose beauty adorned that Pageant. There are more than 50,000,000 Negroids in the U. S. of mixed blood; not all of it of the so called white blood. That beauteous galaxy of brown pulchritude that adorned that float, are emblematical of the racial type who will dominate the U. S. in the next century.

The shouting of the political candidates is waning and the end for some is near. Promises by the millions are shouted and most of them can be taken with the proverbial grain of salt. Candidate for President Dewey promises an era of Peace and Prosperity, as the nation has never before known, while Earl Warren, his running mate, nods his head in approval.

Truman and Barkley say that if they are repudiated by an ungrateful public, the nation will go to the Bow-Wows, which in the language of the next door Tommy—age 6—means dogs.

It will make no difference who is first at the wire, the people will be taxed to pay a lot of nickumpoops, who will tell us what we can do and can't do. They're any number of people who are counted in the census for representation in the government, but are denied the right to vote and say who shall represent them. Both of the major political parties had several opportunities to right this wrong, but have subordinated the right to political expediency.

We are for equality in citizenship. We believe, and will fight to the end, for a constitutional right that is inherent. Equality before the law and an existence free from bias and intolerance—be it racial or otherwise.

That is more to me than any political label. To have the consumation of those rights we must keep a record of those who have not only promised, but have used every means at the command to fulfill that promise. Such a man is FRANCK R. HAVENNER, representative in Congress from the FOURTH DISTRICT. Mr. Havener has demonstrated by his vote on the several measures considering the rights of citizenship, that he also believes in

The following is a wire sent from the National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards to all MCS-CIO branches: Mr. Truman's handpicked NLRB's ruling of no mass picketing invites the shipowners and Mr. Lundeberg to organize now to break our picket lines. Membership of MCS and ILWU in northwest alerted, as we must all be in all ports, for strikebreakers. Shipowners stalling has weakened their public position and they have to resort to the ancient mariner, or whatever fink herder they can find, to save the. Hold that line. Unite and fight.

The National Colored Spiritualist Association, at its recent convention held in Charleston, S. C., adopted a resolution criticizing unjust and harsh treatment which two of their delegates and two soldiers received at the hands of the employees of the L & N Railroad Co. "Every man should be accorded courtesy regardless of race or color," said the resolution.

The Legislative-Federal Relations Division of the National Education Association of the United States is sponsoring two 1-day conferences in California during the month of November. The first will be held in San Francisco, November 6. The second will be held in Los Angeles, November 8, in the Southern Section building, 612 South Figueroa.

The purpose of these conferences is to consider ways and means to more nearly equalize public school educational opportunities in the U. S. through federal aid without federal control.

The Civil Rights Congress, Los Angeles Branch, through its executive director, Anne Shore, demands "the immediate disbanding of the illegally constituted Federal Grand Jury ostensibly investigating alleged crimes of Federal employees. "The purpose of this type of Grand Jury investigation," she said, "is to force individuals to give up their basic constitutional rights of free association and freedom of conscience, or else go to jail."

LETTER TO VOTERS

Dear Comrade Friends:

November 2 will be a history-making day in politics for every Negro in America. This is my last appeal to you as veterans and friends. Let's remain such. Let's stand together, as we have always stood.

I shall ask of you and your many friends to stand with that great standard bearer and crusader, HENRY A. WALLACE.

On with the New Deal. Vote the Progressive ticket straight. It's your pleasure, your honor, and your privilege.

Your Comrade and Friend.

J. K. Smith, Chairman 62nd Assembly District Political Veterans Organization.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Lodge 406, went on record recently pledging full support of the strike of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union. Subscription lists for voluntary contributions for the maritime strikers are to be placed at all local terminals.

Father Forrester, of the Chinese Catholic Mission, San Francisco, requested the S. F. longshoremen to unload six or seven cases aboard the American President Liner, SS GENERAL MEIGS. The Union agreed and the MEBA offered to donate their labor to get up steam!

But when the Priest went to see Mr. Nordling, of the APL, he was told "No, it isn't worth the effort."

All the effort required of these American President Line political appointees who operate government owned ships for fat salaries, would have been to say "Yes."

The Council of Youth Clubs, Communist Party of Los Angeles, is urging everyone to write to Attorney General Tom Clark, Washington, D. C., and ask him to drop the charges against the 12 Communist leaders recently arrested for no reason at all except that they are Communists.

"Tell him," says the letter in which this request is made, "that the Bill of Rights is for all Americans, and that you want to be free to examine the merit of the Communist ideas without fear of persecution."

Philip Boch is chairman of the Council of Youth Clubs.

The American Civil Liberties Union, Southern California Branch, will celebrate its 25th birthday on Monday, Nov. 8, with an anniversary dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the Park Manor, 607 South Western avenue.

Judge Stanley Mosk will be the speaker of the evening. Upton Sinclair, Hugh Hardyman, and Prince Hopkins, three of the four men whose arrest for reading the Constitution to a small group led to the organization of this CLU in Southern California, will be there in person. Dr. Clinton J. Taft, director for 22 years, will also attend. Four attorneys and four laymen who have contributed distinguished services to the cause of civil liberties during the past year, will be publicly recognized.

The South Central Coordinating Council devoted the major part of its last general membership meeting, Tuesday, October 26, to a discussion of several propositions of general interest on the November ballot.

Robert E. Alexander, chairman of the City Planning Commission, led the discussion of the State Housing Program, Proposition No. 14; and Charter Amendments, No. 1 and No. 8, juvenile problems, were discussed by a representative from the League of Women Voters.

Rev. Lloyd Galloway is chairman of the South Central Coordinating Council.

A group of prominent physicians and dentists have sent a protest to Mayor Fletcher Bowron on the recent intimidation attack on the home of a Negro woman physician, Dr. Pauline O. Roberts. The vandals burned a fiery cross on the lawn of the woman doctor's newly purchased home last week.

The letter, signed by 22 of the most prominent physicians of Los Angeles, expresses shock at the burning of the cross, and suggests to Mayor Bowron that it is "high time that the law enforcement authorities of Los Angeles put an end to the repeated acts of terror against Negro and Mexican-American citizens."

Harold L. Hamill, city librarian, in a report submitted to Councilman Don A. Allen, says that from every part of the city come "more and more clamorous demands" for more library service. The communities most vigorously pressing for more libraries are the fast-growing areas of the Valley, the Southwest, particularly Sunland, Tujunga, Reseda, the Pico-Robertson district, Westchester, and the Leimert Park-Crenshaw section.

A flood of over 120,000 letters poured from the San Pedro Post Office to all parts of California yesterday as a result of a concerted, all-out campaign on the part of the residents, who are using every means at their command to ward off what seems to them certain economic disaster if Proposition 15 passes on November 2. Since a large portion of the city's income is derived from the commercial fishing industry, any curtailment of its output would react on the paychecks of its people.

Included in this deluge of letters, in addition to those neatly typed by volunteers are many written in cramped, faltering script . . . letters written in English, Yugo-Slav and Italian. They are addressed to friends and relatives in the state, to Labor organizations and their members, to civic organizations and church groups.

From the inception of the campaign up to its final wave, civic leaders have dropped in daily to watch its progress, or to roll up their sleeves and help. The president of the Chamber of Commerce, the District Assemblyman and the parish priest have found in this crusade a common ground.

The Proposition which has so stirred the city of San Pedro would place a ban on commercial round haul and purse seine fishing, inside the three mile limit from Point San Simeon in San Luis Obispo County all the way to the Mexican border, including the Channel Islands. If passed, this would eliminate 55% of the sardines, 45% of the mackerel and 33% of the bluefin tuna caught at present. Faced with such a possibility, San Pedro, the home of the World's largest fishing fleet, decided to fight.

To the fishermen and their families, to the thousands of cannery workers, elimination of such a percentage of fish means closing of the canneries, the sardine fleet rotting at anchor in Fish Harbor and poverty and wretchedness in their homes.

They went into action in the belief that no one could vote otherwise than NO on Proposition 15 if they knew what the results would be to San Pedro. They took it on themselves to tell the story, in Yugo-Slav, Italian and English.

FREE SPEECH?

Sandra Gladstone, MCS member, and a member of the Joint Maritime Publicity Committee was arrested Friday, October 15th for operating a sound truck on the San Pedro streets.

The IPP has filed a suit for an injunction, charging that the city ordinance prohibiting the use of sound trucks is unconstitutional and void since it suppresses freedom of speech. The Supreme Court ruled sometime ago that laws prohibiting the use of sound trucks are unconstitutional.

Mrs. Beatrice Wallace, prominent Negro leader from Georgia and Illinois and member of the Republican National Committee Speakers' Bureau, is in Los Angeles to urge support of Republican Congressional nominees.

Mrs. Wallace will be a featured speaker at the Friday afternoon meeting of the State Convention of the Woman's Political Study Club, at the Neighborhood Community Church, Forty-seventh and San Pedro Streets.

Negro leaders, nation wide, are urging the election of Mrs. Ada B. Jackson to Congress from the 10th Congressional District, Brooklyn. Here is a chance, say they, to send the first Negro woman in history to the U. S. House of Representatives. Mrs. Jackson has had long years of service in the civic life of Brooklyn, and is known as "Brooklyn's Fighting Lady."

Esther Murray, vice-chairman Democratic State Central Committee, and co-chairman of the platform committee at the National Convention, 1948, will be the guest speaker at the annual Women5s Day at the Democratic Luncheon Club at the luncheon to be held in the dining room of the Rosslyn hotel, Sixth and Main Streets, this (Thursday) noon. Her subject will be "Human Rights and the Democratic Party. John Anson Ford will be chairman.

Wilbur Jerger, candidate for the State Assembly in the 60th A.D., ha written a letter to Mayor Fletcher Bowron, urging a veto of the City Loyalty Ordinanee. He points out that Hitler instituted a loyalty program, such as this, and maintains that to sign such a loyalty oath admits of a system which is a legal step towards tyranny.

Sam Miller, of the 10th Congressional District, is waging a winning fight for Congress as a working farmer. He owns a total of 50 acres of oranges in several small groves. His platform calls for farms of 160 acres in the Central Valley Project to prevent water monopoly by a few big corporations.

Former Lt. Governor Ellis Patterson today joined the fight to retain the Full-Crew law by accepting a post on the board of the California Committee for Railroad Safety.

Patterson said he was on record as opposing proposition 3 "which would seriously affect the safety of railroading."

PHILADELPHIA—Magistrate Joseph H. Rainey asked President Truman this week if the Democratic presidential nominee had repudiated personal support of segregation which he expressed to two magazine interviewers in 1944.

"Can anti-Semitism be outlawed?" will be the topic of discussion by Dr. Sanford Goldner on Friday, October 29th, at the Jewih war veterans' hall, 2604 West Blvd., corner Adams.

The forum is the second of a series of four forums sponsored by the West Adams chapter of the American Jewish labor council, 307 So. Hill St.

In addition the program for October 29 includes showing of the film "Boundary Lines." There will also be a musical program of American and Jewish folk songs.

The Negroes Cause

By WILLIAM L. WOOD

GOVERNOR WARREN, when can we expect the loaf of Bread put back to one pound and one and one half pound loaf? Here is something you should know:

The most amazing experience I have ever had in my life has just happened at the hearing in the State Building in Los Angeles where the Governor's Pet Committee is trying to railroad and cram down the peoples throat a one cent increase per quart on milk. This hearing will go down in the history of Los Angeles as one that never gave the working people a chance, and seemed to be very well cut and dryed and greased up with a little of their surplus Butter Fat. After hearing the most outrages saying and figures presented by a Mr. Blank and backed up by our dear Daily News, Rally Langley. Anyone, after reading the written statements signed by Rolly Langley, not only myself, but many others expressed with amazement their surprise that such little consideration was given the public by this Rally Langley. Every one has placed their faith in the Daily News as the one paper that would be given freedom of the Press and as just expression to the people who placed so much confidence in the Daily News that their interest would be freely expresed to the public and that they would know what a dirty deal the Governor, Mr. Warren's Pet Commission, was handing out to them.

Your representative having credentials from the Grand Lodge of Masons (Negro), a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen and a Legislative Representative for the past fifteen years handling all Dog Legislation before the Board of Supervisors, and the City Council consisting of some eight hundred thousand. All use mild to a very great extent having large Dog Kennels and many are engaged in various lines of business. This di stond business. This did not seem to matter one bit for after your representative sat and listened to the tireless set of figures prepared by paid experts, who twisted very much out of line to suit the plea of the poor Milk Producers, one would think they were on their last legs and just about to go broke. But what about the poor Consumer? Well, that is a horse of another color. If you don't have the price, why you can do without and you can bet this committee had no solution to recommend to the buying public.

Again this is just one of many cases that is going on in our great state where these commissioners and al our Pet ones signed into law by our governor who knew at that time the public would have to pay and still continue to pay with not one chance in a thousand of having a decision rendered in favor of the public. When are you going to wake up and stop these commissioners from making decisions in favor of special interest? When the last raise was granted to the so-called big six (6) just 30 days later they were granted a (50) fifty cent dividend. I can't understand what kind of a state we are living in that our over rated Governor who has given you a lot of apple sauce about living neutral and who is now returning home after one month gallavanting all over the country telling other people how to put their own house in order when he has a job right here to put his own house in order, and look after the interest of the people at home.

Yes, the colors have begun to show, he is now a full pledge Republican. Yes, do you want to know? Well, then I will tell you something. I have been trying to get the pink slip on my car for eight months (and I am not pink either) what could be really wrong with this disordered house at Sacramento? Don't let me surprise you by telling you some of the things that went on at this Milk hearing and you no doubt will be surprised. Mr. Blank seemed to be the pick to win by the Commission. Why? Well I will tell you. He was the Big six expert on his own, chose figures which I fel safe to say that only he himself could understand. So it all simmered down to the fact that the balance of the Milk Producers were reluctant to accept them and of which was largely based upon a fact as stated by him and no other Milk Producer. This was that the population had increased (which should make things better) and because everyone else had elected through their combined efforts to raise their prices, the Milk People should do the same. And I feel safe in making this statement that the word, "Efficient," was taken out of the dictionary and did not enter into their plea at all that they would be sure to get the increase asked for.

Now come William L. Wood to ask some questions that could throw some light on what the whole contention was all about. My first question: Mr. Blank, are you a Milk Man or is your interest in this matter a monatory one? (would not answer). Mr. Blank you have made known to this commission and the public the expense of operation, would you mind giving me the earnings? (again would not answer). Mr. Blank would you mind stating how much your books would show was charged off for depreciation. At this point W. B. Woodburn objected to the cross examination, at which time I told him this is a public hearing and that to find out the justification for this raise, he should have Mr. Blank answer my qustions.

Well the next was Ralphs and Safeway and this man, Blank, took it upon himself with no objections by the commission head, Mr. Woodburn, to examine Ralphs and Safeway who had asked that the price of milk be reduced one (1) cent instead of the raise as everything seemed to be cut and dried.

This showed to be another lesson to register, get out and Vote. If you don't want to protect your interest, then you should not have any. And don't forget to subscribe for this paper if you want your interest protected. It takes money to run a Newspaper.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass,

Did you know that Gerald L. K. Smith is speaking at the Embassy this month, beginning Monday, October 18?

He is speaking in the interest of Dewey and Warren, which of course give him the green light, permitting no interference from the public. He said everything he stands for, and all his organization stands for, are absolutely safe under Dewey and Warren. Their going to Washington will give to his organization more power and protection, for they are absolutely 100% for all he stands for.

I have never read where Dewey or Warren said that they "did not seek Smith's endorsement," nor do they want it, as Mrs. Douglas and Chet Holifield said concerning the endorsement of Henry Wallace. He, by the way, is the only candidate who reflects the teaching of Christ in his platform, with malice toward none and liberty and justice for ALL.

Because colored Americans are included in Wallace's all, the press, Pegler, and all who contribute to the Fascist teaching in America are out to get his scalp. They have laid untold mountains of hate to prevent the success of his candidacy. Many Caucasian ministers and churches have also jumped aboard this band wagon, and I am sorry to say that many colored leaders and ministers are out to defeat him as well. Clayton Russell and others who prefer to support Truman because of his civil rights bill, which was born for no other purpose than to get the colored Americans' vote.

Everyone, friend and foe alike, knows this civil rights bill was born for no other purpose, and the sad thing is many of the colored leaders and ministers have not got their eyes open to the situation as yet. It is indeed pathetic that anyone with but a fraction of brain could be so blind to a matter of such tremendous importance.

I have never been the type to advocate that all colored people should cast their eggs in one basket, until now. Now I firmly believe that all colored people, all minority groups, should go out 100% for Wallace and Taylor, and those who are with them. If no one else votes for them, then go down in defeat with them. If they fail to win, with our heads up we will prove to the world that it is no disgrace to follow any man who is out to give us our share in the full benefits of American life.

From A One Hundred Per Cent Wallaceite.

Pasadena, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I am enclosing a newspaper clipping which appeared in last night's edition of The Star News, Pasadena's leading daily.

(The clipping concerned a Mrs. Grace Wilson Evans, who is speaking at various meetings under the auspices of the Los Angeles County Dewey-Warren headquarters. In the rally at Pasadena Mrs. Evans said, "The minority problem is not the first and foremost that we should have in mind. We should give our first thoughts and efforts to good Americanism and to killing of Communism. We will take care of minority problems when our country is in the hands of a Republican administration and a Republican Congress.")

It is indeed a tragedy when any of our people permit the forces of reaction to use them to their own advantage and to the race's disadvantage.

This so-called leader of colored women has done more towards contributing to the success of the forces of reaction, towards their goal of oppression, segregation, and discrimination than all of the speeches and money contributed by them.

I wonder what this self-styled leader's definition of true Americanism is. It is indeed unfortunate to think that lynching, segregation, jimcrow, poverty and ignorance must go on until a Republican administration and Congress is in. I am quite sure that the 80th Congress has held forth and nothing has been done.

The thinking Negro leaders of this community resent this insult, and I for one certainly do not appreciate this insult both to my intelligence and to my race, and to all progressive minded persons, regardless of race, creed or color.

Yours for a greater America and fewer Uncle Toms and Aunt Dinahs.

Homer C. Griffin.

Dear Editor, The California Eagle:

Can we have peace through war?

When Christ walked the earth of the Holy Land, talking and urging peace and love for all mankind, he was challenged by those who believed that peace can be had through the massing of huge armies and monster battering rams, mass murder, through the hate of other races and nationals, and through iniquity and lynching.

Now, almost 2000 years later and after many horrifying wars and experiences, those of us who talk of peace, those of us that want peace, those of us that urge peace, are challenged, even threatened by those who believe in monster armies, atom bombs, and mass destruction, and in iniquity and in hate of other races and nationals.

But we have had many wars that should suffice to convince us that peace can not be had through war.

In the November election you and I are to decide just that. A vote for Wallace is a vote for peace through peaceful means.

Let us walk with Christ and peace. Not with atom bombs and destruction.

Russian-U. S. War of 1950

By PAUL FRENCH

If you are one of the millions who have been told that the next war will be a quick and easy victory, because "we've got the atom bomb," and can "drop a few on Russian cities and it will be all over," then, don't read any further if you wish to cherish that illusion.

But, if you want THE FACTS of such a war in advance, you may not only read on, but get the book called "World Aflame," written by Leonard Engel and Emmanuel S. Piller, and published by The Dial Press, of New York City. Here, in this short review, I can do no more than give you a short jolt to the credulity.

Perhaps you have read some articles recently in Henry Luce's magazine "Life," by the former Chief of the U.S. Air Force, General Spaatz, where that gentleman foretold how "quick and easy" a victory America could win in a war with the Soviet Union. Said he—"no need to plod laboriously and bloodily along the Minsk-Smolensk-Moscow road in order to strike at Russian vitals." Just take off in a few planes with atom bombs, and—phooie!—the war will be "concluded within weeks and perhaps days."

Maybe you believe that. Certainly there's been an effort to make you believe that sort of nonsense. Any number of columnists and editorial writers have been saying the same. And only a few, such as Hanson W. Baldwin, the military writer of the New York Times, have written against such a foolish notion. Baldwin, in "Harper's Magazine" for July said that such idiots as General Spaatz—"have assumed, fallaciously, a quick and easy victory." Baldwin says such people are wrong, that, "Instead of a quick atomic blitzkrieg, we would then be involved in a long-drawn-out war of attrition."

Well, the authors of "World Aflame" try to tell you the truth by writing of the "next war" as if looking backward on it from the viewpoint of the year 1955. They start the book off on that in the first paragraphs, by saying:

"Today, May 14, 1955, is the fifth anniversary of the start of the war between the United States and the Soviet Union. . . . It is the greatest of all wars, and the end is not yet in sight. For this war—which many hoped would be the shortest in history—has now stretched through five bitter desolate and desolating years. And destruction has increased each terrible year.

"Not one of us in the United States has escaped dreadful hurt. Thirty-five million are dead, blasted by atom bombs, burned by deadly radiation, consumed by man-made disease. All of us are hungry.

"The names of our ruined cities are too many to print. Over 100 are crippled shells. Houses are pulverized. Most of our once-proud skyscrapers are now nothing but gaunt steel skeletons, stripped of their covering stone. Streets in the large cities throughout the land are choked with rubble. The very air has been used as a vehicle for radio-active poisons."

Does THAT look like a "quick and easy victory"? Hardly! And how do you think that YOU might come through such a war? But that's the kind of war the bi-partisan candidates, Dewey and Truman, are fixing up, with old General Marshall, John Foster Dulles and Vandenberg running our foreign policy. And the authors of "World Aflame" tell how it all started, quite naturally assuming that it began by American planes flying over the Soviet city of Baku as if the had a right to, and firing fir at Soviet air-men flying ov their own country. Then . . .

"A few hours later the lon roll of reports as they came from our bases all over t wowrld." At first it looked ve "easy." Indeed, "some newsp pers claimed victory as an ready accomplished fact." B . . . it wasn't true. A chap who the authors call "Mr. Craig," radio commentator, tells ho false was the idea of a qui and easy victory:

"Our General Staff had anti pated some Russian resistanc But it did not believe the Sovie would recover quickly from o initial attack. Hence, it had n foreseen the power of the Re Army drive and the conseque reversals sustained by our occ pation forces in Germany, Au tria and Korea. The question how the USSR was able to p in the field powerful armi after our sledgehammer initi blows was on everyone's lips."

Evidently, some Americans a able to see that American bra hats can make awful mistake just as General Marshall guesse in 1941, that Hitler would tal Moscow in "three weeks." B the authors of "World Aflame also reveal how utterly cru and barbarous are U.S. milita fanatics; they insist, in spite terrible defeat, on keeping the most ghastly slaughter.

They, these U.S. military m and bankers in uniform, again whom Henry Wallace is no warning the American peopl insist on trating our own peop as mere animals, driving the into the slaughter, and are utte ly indifferent to the awful fa of hundreds of millions of oth people the world over. Here how one general told "M Craig," the U.S. treated Ame can workers in this "next" wa

"I think it may even be nece sary to institute a sort of pr cautionary arrest to keep pote tial trouble-makers out of circ lation. Army men will certain have to be put into every civili organization, including unions. be sure there will be no thin ing that may lead to trouble."

Get that? To "be sure the is no thinking" . . . For "thin ing" leads to "trouble." If yo like others, foolishly imagin that this "next war" is goin to be like the last one, with lo of fat payroll jobs at unio wages, the authors of "Wor Aflame" will tell you you're ju plain crazy. There will be not ing of the kind. Instead, the will be slavery, under marti law in the factories and shop and—as stated at the start—3 000,000 of us will be dead in th first five years of the war.

And even that will not guara tee any "victory." The book tel how the peoples of Europe jo —not us—but the Russians— an all-European army for th protection of Europe against revival of German fascism." Ar a revival of fascism in Germa is just what U.S. military me are now trying to obtain. Bu the peoples of Europe simpl will not stand for that. Also, th authors of "World Aflame" hav a chapter entitled—"End of th Colonial Era."

The hundreds of millions colored colonial slaves of im perialism join, not America, bu the Soviet Union, according these writers on the "next war and it just doesn't look at a like any U.S. victory could com out of it. India refuses to g along with the British Empir Burma and Malaya repudiat British rule, the French los Indo-China, and the Dutch, g kicked out of their last hold i Indonesia. So the "next war seen from the viewpoint of 195 is no promise of victory for th U.S.A.

Nor are these writers o "World Aflame" any "radicals or "reds." They plainly woul favor a U.S. victory, and thei anti-Communist prejudice is sel evident. But they have tried t be somewhat honest, and in d ing so, they prove that the im perialist maniacs who now ru U.S. foreign policy can lead th American people only into a fu ture full of poverty, privatio and wholesale death and destruc tion in their effort—which wi be vain—to conquer the worl for the vast American monopo lies. And today, the only wa you can protest that sort o thing is to vote for Henr Wallace.

Sojourner Truth Home Report

Evangeline Woodfolk
Executive Director

The clock has struck midnight and with it's chimes, a night is beginning to disappear, and a new day begins to dawn across the Horizon. With this new day comes hope, dreams of success, and that it will be well spent. The clouds are clear, bright and seemingly beckoning to the passer-by to take time off and think of the years which have past and see the blessings he has received. Looking up he will be more than happy to thank God for a new day and that these blessings will continue.

As we speak, we think of the pioneers who were the pillows of this Institution. Who loved every brick and every blade of grass, which is now a living monument to help humanity.

Mrs. Eva Carter Buckner had this in mind when she wrote the Club Song, "Hail SoJourner, Truth, Thou'll inspire forever the Women of the Race."

Mrs. Warner had this in mind and so did the women who are still at their post and waving the same flag.

For the past year SoJourner has seen a bright cloud within a new day. The culmination of the ardent work of the years that have gone by. Success is in the air, and it will continue to rise if all the forces are allowed to vibrate together in order to form a more perfect unit with harmony, love and warmth as its keynote. Let us review briefly these past twelve months as of the date of the last club opening.

A. We are a Chest agency.

B. There are three persons on the staff:

1. The executive Director-Evangeline Woodfolk, a trained social worker of fourteen years experience. A graduate of the Atlanta School of Social Work.

2. Mrs. Sadie Boykinus—Housekeeper who has been with the agency since May of this year.

3. Mrs. George Winstead-gardner who has been with the agency for several years.

The Director has taken a very active part in community and church affairs.

4. Activities:

These have increased with the organization of the Girls into a club group. Planned activities have included a variety of affairs. Number of residents in the Home-15. Number of applications for residents for the past year —37.

Five young ladies have married fine men. A new marriage is in the making. Case histories are taken of each new girl as she comes in. Some degree of training is necessary in many instances. The girls show some talent which can be utilized if they so desire. They come from all over the country.

The Pre-St. Patrick's Day Brunch, by the Ways and Means Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Myrtle Brown was highly successful both financialy and socially.

The membership Drive under the chairmanship of Mrs. Nettie B. Reese, than second vice president netted us more than three hundred members and four hundred dollars in money.

The Educational Department under the chairmanship of Mrs. Martha Tate Dodge assisted by Mrs. Georgia Robinson and Mrs. Wilma Chapman assistant chairman of music was in full swing this year. The very fine luncheon for the visiting officers for the National meeting in Seattle as arranged by Mrs. Hailstock was excellent, I am told.

More than fifty out-side groups have used the building this year for teas and other forms of entertainment. We were unable to accommodate more, so all excess groups were referred either to Eastside Settlement or Friendship Home.

Our new Home Chairman Miss Ethel Bruington and her committee of Mrs. Robinson, Dr. Sommerville and Mrs. Myrtle Brown are really on the jon. The entire upstairs and three rooms downstairs are being beautifully redecorated.

We have a dynamic Board that is steadily prodding along to greater heights. Their concerted action and force will push SoJourner Truth to the front. They have various planned activities in mind for the coming year. There are several new members in the person of Miss Rose Bairpauth, Mrs. Cora Howard, and Mrs. Van Martin, and Dr. Mattie Parker.

An orchid to Mrs. Vest as secretary of the Board for her zealous help in cooperating with the director in keeping the finances straight. To Mrs. Laura Young the quiet charm and ease as the presiding chairman, and to the three oldest members, for their loyalty and stamina. A good many of the activities have occurred during the regime of Mrs. Myrtle Cook who is now ill.

Our finances have come out even, besides being a Chest agency, we have been more or less three-fourths self supporting, deriving our income from rentals, entertainments and memberships.

The Mountain Goat is climbing a rough terrain. We are planting our feet on a firm foundation, cutting through under bush and possibly other types of stone and granite. However, we are making beautiful progress. Mistakes have been made but we have to profit by them.

We think of God as our guidance and the old fighting Hymn "God is the Light, The light of the World." God is the light of SoJourner. We are looking forward to a better and more brilliant year and hope to see you next year to be able to tell you about it. I thank you.

All of the public school districts throughout Los Angeles County will benefit in varying amounts from the annual distribution of $4,500,000 of State of California funds as provided under Proposition No. 18, it was estimated in a statement released by County Treasurer H. L. Byram.

Candidates Protest Jailing Of Ten Grand Jury Witnesses

warranted attack on citizens who have not been accused of any crime is an attack on a political minority and, therefore, on all minorities. I stand with my party unalterably opposed to the denial of the right to speak to any group, and I call for the immediate release of the 10."

PPP Assembly candidate in the 65th District, Neal Pettibone, issued a statement saying, "The jailing of ten people in Los Angeles this week because they refused to answer questions is an abrogation of the Bill of Rights. If this attack were not such a dangerous threat to the civil liberties of all Americans, it might be discussed as a shoddy pre-election trick. I am urging wires of protest now to President Truman, Attorney General Clark and U. S. Attorney Jame Carter. The protests of the citizens in Denver led to the release on bail of three people being held on similar grounds."

California Grange Urges Blind Support

SAN JOSE—The 76th annual convention of the California Grange, held in San Jose and attended by more than 400 delegates adopted a resolution endorsing Proposition 4, Aged and Blind Aid, on the November 2nd ballot, and strongly urging its adoption.

Havenner Opposes Proposition 3

Congressman Frank Havenner, who was secretary to Governor Hiram Johnson in 1911—the year the Full-Crew law was enacted—and a president of the California Railroad Commission (now the Public Utilities Commission) before being elected to Congress from San Francisco has called upon Californians to defeat Proposition No. 3.

Thomas Hearing Postponed 'Til After Election

The Federal Grand Jury sitting on the "Kick-back" trial of Senator J. Parnell (100 per cent American) Thomas, will not question the Un-American Activities Chairman until November 4, two days after election.

Thomas, whose committee worked overtime to smear Henry Wallace and his supporters as a means of hurting the Progressive Party's election chances, charged that the investigation was simply a plot to defeat him.

He has launched attacks against Attorney General Tom Clarke who has frequently played on the same team, and every other source that disagreed with his extra-legal witch hunts and wild charges while he stood cloaked in Congressional immunity.

Drew Pearson is responsible for the investigation of Thomas, brought about by charges he made in his column.

Jail Witnesses for Refusing to Give Political Information

A picket line was thrown around the Federal Building yesterday (Wednesday) at noon to protest the unwarranted jailing of ten persons who refused to answer incriminating questions put to them by a hastily summoned Federal Grand Jury earlier this week.

The ten jailed persons are being held without bail on order of Judge Pierson Hall at the instance of a Deputy United States Attorney who acted on orders from Attorney General Tom Clark.

Contempt charges against the prisoners, are based on their refusal to name certain officials of the Communist party, and for their refusal to produce membership lists of the Communist party.

Ben Margolis and Jack McTernan, counsel for the defendants, have charged that the questions and the entire proceedings are a violation of their client's civil rights. They emphasized before Judge Hall that the Communist party is not under suppression and therefore the inquiry is unconstitutional.

Attorney General Clark has admitted that suppression of the Communist party is unconstitutional, and in the light of this, observers are at a loss to understand what the purpose of the inquiry can be beyond an attempt at intimidation of progressive forces in order to influence the coming elections.

Several of the witnesses who could be kept in jail for 18 months on the present contempt charge, have small children and two of the women witnesses were given a delay of sentence in order that they might get someone to care for their small children.

The Grand Jury, which opened up its inquiry in an air of deep mystery, is supposedly investigating subversive activities, among Federal employees, but by the nature of the questions asked, it is believed the proceedings are a witch-hunt.

Despite the appeals of defense attorneys that their clients be admitted to bail in order that they might prepare a defense, Judge Hall committed them to prison for an indefinite period.

The representative of the Attorney General stated the investigation is expected to go on for a long time, and it is expected every attempt will be made to keep the jailed witnesses locked up for the duration of the inquiry.

Because three witnesses in a similar inquiry in Denver were admitted to bail on Tuesday, Margolis and McTernan made another attempt to have their clients released on bail yesterday. Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Wiley B. Rutledge ordered the release on $1000 bail of three persons held in contempt in Denver for refusing to affirm or deny they were Communists.

Margolies and McTernan hold that since bail was allowed in this case of civil contempt, it must be allowed in the case of their clients.

The ten jailed are: Mrs. Dorothy B. Forest, Mrs. Miriam Sherman, Mrs. Margaret Noble, Mrs. Delphine Smith, Henry Steinberg, Frank E. Alexander, Phillip Bock, Ben Dobbs, Wesley Bissel and Samuel H. Kassenpwitz.

California Eagle editor-publisher, Charlotta A. Bass was present at the extraordinary midnight session of the Grand Jury on Monday night when Judge Hall committed the witnesses to jail.

Lonnie Johnson, who has been singing the blues and playing guitar for more than 20 years, moves into the Million Dollar theatr eOct. 26 for a week's stint. He wil co-star on a bill featuring Milton Larkin's famed band. Johnson popularized the song, "Tomorrow Night."

Judge Pacht Favors Equal Voting Power

"It is incompatible with any true concept of democracy to alloww one citizen a greater voting power and a more effective voice in government than any other citizen," Judge Isaac Pacht, noted jurist and attorney, said today in urging a "Yes" vote on Proposition 13.

Judge Pacht, formerly on the Superior Court bench in Los Angeles and president of the State Board of Prison Directors, is a member of the Citizens Committee for Equal Representation, which also includes such prominent church and civic leaders as Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, Canon Richard Lief, Rabbi Jacob Kohn, Joseph Scott, David Cannon, Kemper Campbell, John A. Cronin, Leo Rosecrans, Nathan Newby, Norman O. Houston, Amerigo Bozzani, Raymond Tremaine and Manuel Ruiz, Jr.

swer." Garrison is being held for trial on charges of murder.

The letter went on to quote from the testimony of Assistant Autopsy Surgeon Cefalu of the Mosley case, ". . . when I examined her head, I found no evidence of injury. There was no fracture of the skull. There was no hemorrhage in the scalp or within the cranium. . . . They were superficial (lacerations on face) . . . I found no direct evidence that death was due to violence . . . but was due to disease of the heart and blood vessels."

The obvious was pointed out. In the case of Herman Burns despite the later findings of "cervical fracture" and dspite testimony by many witnesses that blows were struck—the police involved have not been held for murder.

"We point out that in the autopsy surgeon's findings there was no evidence of any heart ailment or other ailment. But in the Mosley case, where there was evidence of a heart condition Garrison is being held for trial," the letter continues.

"You, Mr. Coroner, refused to put the Chief Autopsy Surgeon in the Burns case on the stand. If Mrs. Mosley could have died of "fright" or "shock" which brought on a heart attack, and this was sufficient cause to hold a man for trial for murder, then in the name of justice the police involved in the death of Herman Burns, where there was no evidence of a physical ailment, should certainly be held for trial.

"In public interest we feel sure that a new inquest is called for at the earliest possible moment," the letter concluded.

THE SOCIAL SILHOUETTE

CLUBS

ONE OF THE MOST ELABORATE social affairs of the current season was given by Atty. and Mrs. Earl C. Broady, honoring out of town visitor, and their house guest, Mrs. Henry F.S. Stilwell Jr., of San Antonio, Texas. Well known figures in the medical and legal fields were much in evidence along with a host of socialites. Top photos show, at left, young legal minds with their charming wives. From left to right, James Reese, Helen Wright, Crispus Wright, Bessie Reese, Murdock Sinclair and Mrs. Sinclair. Second photo, Dr. R. L. Jackson (left) of Baltimore, a grad of Meharry, and is a specialist on the staff of Provident Hospital. He discusses the recent Surgery convention with former classmate and personal friend Dr. W. A. Beck. In third top photo, Beulah Honore, Louise Beavers, Carolyn Bryant and Sarah Griffin talk over things of interest to women. Next photo, Mrs. Alice Harvey, just back from easter ntravels is seen chatting with Dr. H. Allen, Dr. Henry Butler, Hortence Allen, Dr. Mahlon Cooley, Mrs. Ruth Bell and Mrs. Nadine Hicks (seated). The receiving line of charming women may be seen at lower left photo, included are, Mattie Pearl Jefferson, Hilda Allen, Clarissa Matthews, Lillian Billinger Stilwell, honoree; Maude Broady, hostess, Rheba Butler and Sarah Griffin. Key personalities of the hour were next before the camera. The Earl C. Broadys pose with their guest of honor, Lillian Stilwell. The next foursome of feminine charm is gaily interrupted by Drs. Henry Butler and Phyron Taylor. Clara Scruggs, Billie Monroe, Edna Bowdion and Corona Bowman make up the foursome. WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

SPACE IS AT A PREMIUM in this week's EAGLE, so ye scribe should get right down to the core of the hilarious realm of social activities that has a flare for the Harvest Season with special emphasis on the Halloween motif. However, at the risk of being repetitious and boring, we must say something again about the time element and the styles that both seem to be way off the beam when it comes to concert time at the Philharmonic, under the sponsorship of one of our groups. Am quite sure that when you PATRONS OF THE ARTS purchased your tickets weeks before the Carol Brice concert took place on last Sunday, you noted your ticket was marked for 2:30 instead of the regular 3:00 o'clock concert time. The Alpha Kappa Alpha women had a reason for this mark up in time due to past experience, when patrons with the choice seats up front center made, what in their estimation might have been a fashionably late entrance at the cost of disturbing true music lovers and above all the artist. As we sat there on last Sunday and watched the masses, who evidently had ignored the 2:30 timing on their patron tickets, troop in during the complete first half, just couldn't help letting my mind wonder over that old saying (they don't know better). However, after taking time out to actually recognize different individuals who very gaily tripped down the aisle, I just couldn't agree with that old saying, for on a whole, most of them were civic, religious, social and professional personalities, who preach time and make time every day in their various fields. Maybe Sunday was just an off day for many. You may rest assured, you certainly made it an off day for the internationally famed Miss Brice. So just in passing, next time you decided on a patron ticket, try to be a patron in the true sense of the word, by setting the pace for other music lovers and concert goers. Let's make that first curtain call minutes early and by the way, the beautiful large picture hats should either be left at home, or courteously taken off before the artist does her part.

Of course all the patrons were not in the wrong Sunday, however, am quite sure you don't mind wading through this that is written especially for the violators. And for further clarification, those in the patrons' seats were not the only late comers, it took place all over the house. However, the patrons' seats are in focus of all, especially the performer, therefore, of all places in the hous, this should be bordering on the perfection point. In closing this little tete-a-tete, Sunday's concert was well attended by all races. Miss Brice sang beautifully and on a whole it was a highly successful affair.

STRICTLY SOCIAL

As we thumb through invitations and dates that are set for the early winter season, find myself wondering just how social can a calendar get? First and foremost folks are beginning to buzz about the Kappa Black and White that is slated in grand style, for Thanksgiving Eve, November 24, and of course the Avadon Ballroom will be the setting. Understand that Tom Bradley, Horace Johnson and many another true Kappa gent is on the committee activities. By the way, the dance will be an official fling for the Kappas who plan to make the Detroit conference during the Holiday vacation. Violet Moten Brown of the Silhouettes and a member of the fourth estate, is making her way back to Chicago, in a week or two. She will be joined by her better half, Policeman Julius Brown, who will TWA back in time to make the conclave. Some of the Kappas will motor, others will go by train. Anyway, from November through December the gents of Kappa Alpha Psi have plans for doing big things . . .

Petite Glenna Hayes, who is as busy as can be heading the Westview Women's Guild and the Auxiliary of Medical, Pharmacetical and Dental wives, is all aglow over the Auxiliary's Harvest Ball that will be strictly for charity and will take place the night before the Black and White, at a very new and different local. With these two events listed preceeding Thanskgiving and about three taking place that night and following, the Thanksgiving Holiday is well taken care of. . . .

May Johnson (Hicks) pens ye scribe about her club, the Elaborate Cocktail Fete Given by Earl C. Broady Is Mecca for Socialites

With sophisticated eclat, Atty. and Mrs. Earl C. Broady entertained in honor of their house guest, Mrs. Lillian Bellinger Stilwell of San Antonio, Texas, with an elegant cocktail party.

The exclsive affair was held on Sunday, Oct. 17, at the palatial West Los Angeles home of the prominent couple. Gracious Mrs. Broady received her more than 300 guests in a formal line with Mmes. Edwin Jefferson, Charles Matthews, Thomas Griffin, Henry Butler and Howard Allen. All were beautifully garbed in exquisite creations.

the appointed rooms and the spacious veranda. An air of splendor was complimented by the sweet music played during the cocktail hours by the string ensemble formed by the Broady's daughter Elaine and some of her young friends from UCLA.

The main table was a perfect realization of a gourmet's dream with its large array of delectable and delicious viands. The center piece was of white pink tipped Dahlias and American Beauty Roses in silver bowl, flanked by candelabras and softly glowing candles.

During the entire evening two bartenders served guests their choice of cocktail or mixed drink on the veranda overlooking the garden of the Broady home.

Coming and going throughout the evening were a host of guests, among whom were Judge Edwin Jefferson, Atty. and Mrs. Harold Sinclair, Dr. Howard Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Dick Hawkins, Atty. and Mrs. James Reese, Mrs. Alice Harvey, Dr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Fearonce, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Grant, Dr. and Mrs. William Bailey, Dr. and Mrs. Warner Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Eason, Atty. and Mrs. Willis Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. W. Buffet Honors Carol and Jonathan Brice Sunday

A most delightful buffet dinner, honoring Miss Carol Brice and Jonathan Brice, her brother and accompanist, was hosted by Jules W. Smith at 2069 West 30th Street following the concert Sunday afternoon.

Those sharing the courtesy and enjoying a most unusual evening of music, dancing, cocktails and numerous delicacies were: Edythe K. Owens, Mildred Walker, Dr. Loyce J. Evans Odom, Dr. Lula B. Evans, Dorothy Crozier Spencer, Gladys M. Collins, Josephine Webster Coop-Bernice Cook Peterson; James Brust, Wadell Culpepper, Andrew Green, Harold Macheon, William Crawford, Edna Deaver-McCormick, Smith, Ray Mills, Jimmy Lucas, Walter R. Pierce and Tony Green.

A rare treat was afforded the guests when Mr. Jonathan Brice, the honored guest, entertained with piano selections rendered with the superb artistry which sets him apart as one of the truly great pianists of our time. At various intervals, beautiful vocal selections were rendered by Josephine Cooper, well-known soprano, Jules Smith, promising young baritone, who is now studying for the concert stage under Mme. Nadine De Sanctis, and by Jimmy Lucas, popular tenor.

The party left nothing to be desired, except for one regret, the absence of Miss Carol Brice who was suffering with a severe cold and was forced to retire immediately following her brilliant performance at the Philharmonic auditorium.

Miss Ruby Evelyn Lyle noted young concert pianist and teacher of piano, presented her adult students in piano recital at her home, 2958 South Harvard Blvd., 3 p.m. Sunday, October 24; to a very large and appreciative audience. Rarely do we have the opportunity to pay homage to a group of adults for the attainment of an artistic desire. IN THE SOCIAL SET

B.V.A.'s and their coming big night at Earl Carrolls. So happens that last week's column carried the wrong date, and being true to the cause, May would like a change, so here goes, instead of the 7th as mentioned, the B.V.A. Benefit takes place on Monday night, Nov. 8. In Gipson's Theatrical section this week, you will note pictures of the club girls going through their chorus lineup. According to charming Nadine Coles, who is capably handling the publicity on the affair, everything is just about in readiness, with a list of stars out of this world. The B.V.A. cause is a very good one, which leave this writer certain, the affair will be an overwhelming success, with those attending getting their money's worth and then some. Be sure to red letter Nov. 8 and make it a point to be at Earl Carrolls . . .

POINTS OF INTEREST

The Joe Greens are living the life on their new Milabu Ranch. Already they have used one of their guest houses, and among those present over that very gay and glorious week end, were Stanley and Gloria Malone (Bunch), who have raves aplenty over the strictly Californian life. Hear that Joe will soon take over a string of horses from singer Dick Haynes. Guess I'll hear more about this when Betsy and Joe come up for the Crop 'N' Tails Pajamarino party at Dorothy Nicholas' abode on Saturday night. . . . Have you caught that special gleam in Dr. Arthur Mitchell's eye. Well the reason for all the gay spirit is the fact that the Mitchells (Gloria) are now the parents of a bouncing baby girl. Who is now just about one week old. By the way, while enjoying services at Independent last Sunday afternoon was quite pleasantly surprised when the Victor Nickersons (Rhetta Jean) were called to the front, with their beautiful little daughter, who as Christened by Rev. Clayton Russell, Rhetta Jean, was smartly garbed in a grey suit with a very becoming chapeau. While mentioning Independent, Leontyne King, who still wears her honors as one of the city's best dressed, attended the services, as she does regularly, and believe me, her hat caught the second glimpse.

Mary Bowen, Seattle's noted pianist, is back from Paris and has settled down to some serious study in New York. . . . Who dropped by the office a day or two back, but Verna Hickman, the Golden State's key lady who is looking fit as a fiddle following her vacation from active duty. Back on the job now, Verna is up to her ears with work that centers around the new Golden State Building that is quite an addition to the scene of local community business life. . . .

Chatted a spell with Euvolda Morris, back from her recent jaunt to New York City, following Sunday's concert. She was accompanied by her sis in law, Myra Cretian, teacher at Holmes Avenue school. By the way, while mentioning the concert again, must say that Hariette Wadley was definitely the fashionable lady of the hour. Her hat was a dream, and above all, one of her own creations. Also glimpsed Dr. and Mrs. E. I. Robinson in the foyer chatting with friends. Song stylist Mable Scott was much in evidence with her friendly personality radiating all over the place. Chatted a spell with Irene Wright and Clara Taylor, both smartly garbed. Jessie McDaniel, one of the diligently working members of the hostess group of the day, was busy a could be introducing her charming mother, who has been living in Chi for the past six years, but is now back to stay in sunny Cal. Dewey and Sadie L. Davidson were in the group of concert goers, along with Zerelda Seeley, Elizabeth Garrott, Earline Hopkins, and mother Mrs. Otto Hopkins, who made the trip from Santa Barbara to attend the concert, and many many another . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Dorothy Redd has set the wedding date for December 12, and is as busy as a June bride making ready, along with her teaching appointment at Santa Monica High. By the way, the petite Miss looks so much like a high school coed many of the students look at her with question in their eyes. Dorothy is teaching shorthand, typing, etc. Strictly Business with Miss Redd. . . . The Spinsters will go strictly club member and company on Saturday night when they entertain at Shirley Spencer' home. . . . Last night the Beta Pi Sigma pledge group led by Violet Dancy was presented at an informal Gypsy Dance. Of course this copy went to press before the dance took place, so a full report will follow in next week's jottings. . . . Cigars are being passed by Bill Golden which tell the news that he is the proud father of a son. Of course his pretty young wife is the former Miss Phyllis Irvine. . . . The group of young professional women who recently organized, have taken the name "Merry-go-Rounders" and Edna Desvign is the prexy. The girls have planned a week-end jaunt up North to the Cal-UCLA game. . . . So Lloyd Thomas of the L. A. teaching system is now putting the monopoly tag on Hazel Shumate's time. Already the couple is dated up through the Rose Bowl game. . . . When Women's Day takes place at Second Baptist Church, Mary P. King will be speaker of the morning. And this is something to look forward to, for the chairman of the day is Mrs. Fernanda Toney. . . . Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Cooley, new residents of Westwood Village, put out the welcome mat in honor of their long time friend, Dr. Taft Rainer of Chicago, who was here for the American College Surgeon meet held at the Biltmore Hotel. The ingathering was a dinner and sharing honors were Dr. R. S. Rodger of the Windy City and Dr. and Mrs. N. Nicholas of Englewood, N. J. . . . Am quite sure you will be interested to know that Silan Chen, noted dancer, has opened classes and her studio is strictly interracial. . . . Dr. Jay Moss has very little time for the social whirl with his growing practice. His good friend, Dr. C. W. Hill, who has been taking life easy since the big Sigma meet here, is beginnng to take part in the whirl of events. . . . So we make deadline. . . .

'Till Next Week

SILHOUETTES FROM FOUR LONG, LONG YEARS

It was a sultry day in April, 1945. The news from Warm Sprints, Georgia poured out over the world, frightening and saddening all those who heard. For the victory in Germany had not come . . . and the victory in Japan had not come. But our brave leader had gone to rest, as a fallen general leading a gigantic army. The nation was sad and hopeful. The people looked around and saw a man coming forth pledged to carry on the program of the deceased Franklin D. Roosevelt; pledged to complete the program of an unexpired ter mof nearly four years.

Picturing in mind now a hot afternoon in the state of Georgia—the same state where not long before, President Roosevelt had died. Six people left a courthouse—the sheriff, the plantation owner, and two Negro couples. The sunburned, red-faced plantation owner smiles to the sheriff: "They'll be okay, Sheriff. Have ta have plenty hep on the farm, ya know." The car drives away. The sheriff looks on and smiles cynically.

Out on a lonely dirt road, the car stops abruptly. The plantation owner whistles and several men with guns come out of the woods. "All right, come on, black boy," their leader is saying. And the Negro—about to witness Georgia justice—follows them. But there is a scream—the colored women shout names—and they are led into the woods, too. The acute sound of gunfire shocks the countryside . . . perhaps a hundred shots. The cars drive away, the people all leave—all, that is, except the four Negroes. And they're left riddled with bullets, drenched with their own blood . . . along the lonely dirt road.

But the picture isn't complete. There's a great upstir across the nation. Civic groups shout injustice. And finally from Washington, a lone government investigator is dispatched to the little town in Georgia. It's Saturday afternoon when he arrives and is met by the same sheriff. They chat and drink corn liquor.

"No sheriff," the inspector says, "don't worry yourself about anything. Nobody's gonna ask any more questions."

"But what'll you say in your report?"

"Well, I don't know, exactly. But I don't think anyone's Civil Rights have been violated. Anybody has the right to be lynched, eh sheriff?" They laugh. A northern laugh and a southern laugh.

Will you laugh, too?

A brown woman works in a hot, dustry cotton field in Georgia. A white man's long steps are seen as he comes across the furrows. He approaches the woman and speaks to her with a dirty grin. An angry argument ensues. He starts to beat her wit hthe shotgun in his hand.

"Don't worry Ma, I'll help ya!" calls a young frightened voice. And soon the white man falls to the ground from a blow on his head. He is dead.

A scene fro mreal life, and it will be the same on Tuesday. That very same woman, and her son, are in jail today. They do not know whether eventually they will be executed, released, or remain imprisoned for long years of beatings and suffering. What would you have them do?

A note, from a friend:

"I was sympathetic — not a member, for I belong to no political party—toward the Democratic Administration on June 20, 1947. And I had been for some time. But my heart grew colder and colder as I listened to the oCngressiona l Roll - Call and heard them vote the Taft-Hartley Bill into law. It was then that I felt the sense of smothered representation—that I wasn't really being represented at all. I felt that the congressmen and senators were playing a game—and that America's system of representation of the masses was being grossly misused. For you see, I and all my friends, were oppose dto the Taft-Hartley Bill. We — were common workers. Well, we still trie dto have faith, for our Democratic leader had vetoed the bill. But how were my friends and I to feel when again and again the President ignored his own veto and issued injunction after injunction against workers and unions until finally he cost the miners $1,420,000? What could we say when others referred to the leader of our party as "Injunction Harry?"—(Signed) Bill.

Would President Roosevelt have issued those injunctions?

The old woman stood with her arm around her nineteen-year-old son's shoulders. Tears streamed down her cheeks and pain ached her heart .

"Well, I guess this is it. I'll have to be going, mother. We've waseld too much time here, like this already. Don't feel bad."

"Don't feel bad, son?" she asked, the tears streaking down her wrinkled, tired old face. "You say don't feel bad . . . I stood here and watched my other two sons—each of them—when they left during the other war . . . what they said was the Second World War . . . the yleft just as you're leaving now. Neither of them ever returned. Now they ask me for you—when there isn't even a war. What are they trying to do, make war? I'm an old woman—soon be sixty. I cant' understand the world or our country any more. But promise me just one thing, will you, son? Come back. Don't stay away forever, like the other two . . . Live, and come back to me."

Will he return?

Someday this note could be pennedy by—you:

"I was on a train going to Washington, and wasn't particularly interested in the scenery as it dashed by. For I was going to answer a charge that I was a Communist. Now I wasn't a Communist, nor did I sympathize with the ideology. But how should I answer Parnell Thomas' questions? Was Rankin not a southern fascist? And what right did they or anyone else have to question my political convictions? Should I say that I was not a Communist? I wondered if this was really America. Was our country turning fascist? I shall leave you with the question, commenting only that the way to prevent a forets fire is to extinguish the first little blaze—and the same applies to the forest fire of fascist principles."

Will we prevent that forest-fire?

A scene from somewhere within war-torn Russia:

"Mother—why is it that we do not get food from the American UNRRA any longer? Do they no longer care if we starve? And where is Meester Rouseveldt? He was a good man, wasn't he mothes?" A little Russian child clings starvingly to his mother and asks about President Roosevelt. But the mother cannot answer. For in her mind, against a background of destroyed homes, ravished cities, she can see only Russian people struggling to live. Her own family is working in the fields with broken tools and their hands. She thinks: "If only we had tools and tractors and machinery, we could make our own living. But they do not send them through the UNRRA any more. They are feeding the rest of Europe, but no machinery for Russia. There is no UNRRA but the Marshall Plan . . . " then the mother looks down at her child.

"President Rouseveldt is dead, my child, and there is no more UNRRA."

Was there a man, pledged to carry on?

For a long time now, the Klan has burned crosses in America. Hate has flown freely. Injustices have gone unchallenged. People have suffered from the damages of high prices. They have lived in ghettos and trailers because of the "housing shortage." And now, they should not be denied a fair deal. They should not deny themselves a fair deal. They have the American right to be free of Communist scares and Republican jailings. School teachers and government workers should retain the right to vote and to believe as they choose, the same as all other workers. Yes, the people throughout America deserve what is theirs. They deserve to live in peace, equality, and prosperity.

A vote for Henry Wallace and the Progressive Party is a vote for peace, equality, and prosperity.

Calling The Spooks, Goblins And All Halloween Characters

Calling all Halloween spooks and goblins, witches, black cats, ghosts, and pumpkin heads! Come to your nearest Los Angeles municipal playground for the biggest celebration you've ever seen, on Saturday night, October 30!

This invitation is being broadcast to Los Angeles boys and girls, teen-agers, grownups of all ages, and families, as every playground and recreation center of the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department makes ready for their biggest night of the year.

With the help of community civic groups, P.T.A.'s, business men, labor, the Police and Fire Departments, veterans, and youth agencies, directors of city playgrounds have prepared the biggest, most exciting and colorful community Halloween carnivals this town has seen, according to advance word on their plans.

Giant bonfires built up of crates and boxes, railroad ties and telephone poles will blaze up at dusk, as most of the big free carnivals get rolling around 7 p.m. on Saturday. In the firelight, armies of costumed children will serpentine past judges' stands, and then prizes will be awarded to those most ingeniously camouflaged.

Community Attention Aids Youth

"Inadequacy community processing is one of the main causes of crime and delinquency," reported John M. Zuck, Probation Officer of Los Angeles County in a statement issued today.

In this connection, Mr. Zuck stated that "The forthcoming Annual Conference of the Federation of Community Councils is being held on Thursday, October 28, 1948, at the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles, in order to disseminate techniques of effective local community organization and action."

He further pointed out that "it is the direct responsibility of each local community to see to t that its young people are afforded a full measure of protection and an opportunity for developing into happy useful citizens."

Community Chest Kick-Off Is Set for Eastside Campaign

Announcing the kick-off rally for the entire Eastside as Thursday, November 4th, 9:30 a.m., in Horace Mann junior high school, 7001 South St. Andrews Place, Mrs. Josephine Brown, Eastside Community Chest Chairman, stressed the importance of everyone attending.

Final instructions will be given over 4900 volunteer workers and working kits will be issued, according to Mrs. Brown.

Ted R. Waite, Red Feather chairman of the southwest area, will be guest speaker.

Immediately following the meeting, door to door solicitors will go into the field for the 159 health, welfare and veterans services which the Chest allocates funds from their one annual appeal, according to Mrs. Brown.

Because of earlier organization of the Chest this year, greater community competition has ensued and Edward Mills, chairman for the Metropolitan area, conceived the idea of the nine Chest areas assuming baseball league status, the districts within the areas taking identifying names. Eastside's team name is 'Pace Setters,' which all of my volunteers certainly are," said Mrs. Brown.

Demonstration At Scene of Cross Burning

Hundreds of sympathetic visitors went to the home of Dr. Pauline Roberts at 3460 Virginia Road last Sunday afternoon to encourage Dr. Roberts and her mother because of the recent cross-burning on the lawn of their home.

Both Dr. Robert and her mother were indisposed, but a representative of the family met the visitors and thanked them for their moral support.

Police were present, supposedly to protect the home, but several of the visitors were stopped and questioned, and some of them were told to get out of the neighborhood.

It is his first assignment under his recently signed M-G-M contract and follows his work on "The Killers," "Key Largo" and "Flamingo Road."

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Do you know the location of your neighborhood library? Both the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Avenue, and the Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Avenue, have received many new books both for recreation and for serious study. Their hours are: Monday through Friday from 1:00 to 9:00 P.M. and on Saturday from 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. Why not take advantage of this opportunity to keep up with the new books or to catch up on some of the older ones? A few of the newest ones received at the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch are reviewed below:

"Family Circle" by Cornelia Otis Skinner, actress, playwright, and author, is the story of the famous family associated in most American minds with the glamour of theatrical tradition, footlights, and long cross-country tours, with many successes and a few failures. It is the story of Otis, son of a New England clergyman who became a colorful trouper, of Maud his beloved wife, and of Cornelia who was brought up to be a little lady but became an actress. It is a warm, engrossing and human story written with much wit and humor.

"Home Furnishing" by Anna Hong Rutt is a completely modernized edition of the book first published in 1935. It is useful as a text-book for classes in home planning and furnishing as well sa for home makers and for interior decorators. Each page is a unit treating some of the basic aspects of such problems as home styles, family and geographic requirements, selection of furnishings, etc. It has chapters on designing a house and landscaping the grounds and includes class problems, projects and bibliographies. There is a good index and many helpful illustrations.

"Rock Haven" by Adelyn Bushnell, former actress, has for a setting the author's native state of Maine. It is the story of two brothers, Ulysses and Virgil Ulmer, born in Rock Haven of a kind seafaring father and a bitter bigoted mother. Ulysses represents the good in all of us and his brother, the mother's favorite, characterizes the bad. It is a dramatic account of their lives which are always intertwined even when far apart.

"A Girl Grows Up" by Ruth Fedder, psychologist, is a new edition of this popular book, completely revised and enlarged. It is written for the modern teenage girl and is sensible and helpful, discussing family relationships ,boy and girl matters, vocational adjustment, leisure time activities. These problems are presented in a way that will enable the modern miss to think through and solve her individual problems. Apt black and white sketches add much to the attractiveness of this useful book.

"Gay Pursuit" by Elizabeth Cadell, who was born and brought up in India, is a humorous novel of entangled couples in an English village. Recently remarried Mrs. Rome has a beautiful sophisticated daughter, an engaging step-son and a step-daughter so lovely — and so wacky — that she becomes engaged to two young men at once. These are but a few of the many complications that go to make up this delightfully amusing story.

"I Chose Rabbits" by Edward H. Stahl, is a practical little book on all the aspects or raising rabbits for profit. There are sections on the various kinds of breeds and on breeding, feeding, housing and the making of the nest boxes. It even includes recipes for various ways of cooking the meat.

"Ravenswood" by Mary Frances Doner is a novel laid in the author's native locale in the Great Lakes Region. Reminiscent of the "Jalna" books by Mazo de la Roche it is a family chronicle beginning with the fourth generation, racked by intrigue, jealousy and hunger for wealth and power. There are many characters reacting each to the other, sometimese with love, sometimes with hatred and fear. During a hurricane Thad, a brilliant chemical engineer, meets Kitty Rose. The mystery of her parentage is but one weapon in the hands of Thad's family. It is a tense exciting story with many superb background scenes.

WEST VIEW HOSPITAL RECEIVES CHECK FOR $2,500, as payment on a pledge of $5,000 to construct one room of the hospital. In presenting the check to Allen C. Woodard, third president of the West View Board, Mr. Ben Zukor, a civic-minded Los Angeles businessman, expressed the hope that many individuals and organizations will contribute $5,000, or more, to construct rooms of the hospital as living monuments of their interest in the welfare of the community. Pictured above from left to right are Mr. Zukor, Mr. Woodard and Mr. E. D. Mitchell, a member of the West View Board of Directors who solicited the contribution from Mr. Zukor.

Watts Coordinating Council Plans Year's Objectives

At the election and induction of its new official family in the Watts Youth Center, 102nd and Beach Streets Friday, Oct. 22, Watts Coordinating Council organized and outlined its objectives for the year.

Past president Walter Giles presented the new president H. Mitchum who welcomed her official family, S. Mendoza, vice president; A. Keslin, secretary; G. Thompson, treasurer, and W. Giles, parliamentarian before proceeding with the business of the day.

Will Brannan, consultant in community organization was introduced and gave a detailed outline of the organization and operation of local executive committees for effective community action, upon which plan Watts Council has already embarked and has committees poised for service.

Tom-Tim-Tots To Have A Gala Pre-Halloween Party

The youngsters who make up the Watts Youth Chorus are to have a gala time at a pre-Halloween party given them by their director, Freita Shaw, at her home, 1712 E. 114th st., from 7 until 10:30 o'clock on the evening of October 26, which is also her birthday.

You see they did such a fine job as Tom-Tit-Tots in the operetta of that name, which was presented under the auspices of the Los Angeles Bureau of music in Jordan High school auditorium recently that they not only have a bid to repeat in Santa Monica but are due a reward in the estimation of their appreciative director and the accompanist J. W. Sanford who will be on hand to help celebrate.

In addition to the youth chorus the adult singers will also be in the news according to busy director Shaw who besides putting Watts on the musical map is conducting a new community sing at Foshay school out on Harvard near Exposition with orchid prizes for the most complete family participants.

J. R. Lewis heads the L. A. Bureau of Music under which the musicaly aggregations referred to are sponsored while Ralph Watson supervises the community sings and Roger Wagner does the same for the youth division.

World Community Day at Hollywood Christian Church

All church women of this community are cordially invited to join with other church women of the city in observing World Community Day, Friday, November 5, by attending an all-day meeting at Hollywood Beverly Christian church, 1717 N. Gramercy Place. The invitation was extended by Mrs. Frederic P. Schrader, president of the Los Angeles Council of United Church Women. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., and run through mid-afternoon. Women will bring their own lunches. Coffee and tea will be served.

According to Mrs. Schrader, the local observance is part of a nation-wide event in which church women across the country will meet to study world order and peace.

There will be an address at 11 o'clock by Dr. Nelson C. Dreier, superintendent of the Congregational Conference. Dr. Dreier has just returned from a tour of Europe where he made a special study of war victims and reconstruction. He will speak on "Peace as I saw it in Europe."

Granger in Marble

Among the ten portraits of outstanding contemporary Negro Americans which have been done by Ruth Brall, distinguished American portrait painter and sculptor, is the head of Lester B. Granger, executive secretary of the National Urban League, the only national interracial social work organization devoted to increasing the economic opportunities of Negroes and promoting inter-group understanding.

Willowbrook Residents Try for Racial Harmony

A new and constructive approach to interracial harmony in the Willowbrook area was tried out at Willowbrook Jr. High School, 12901 S. Wilmington last Wednesday, evening, October 20, when under the auspices of the Willowbrook Youth Service Committee, sponsored by Herb Liebowitz and chaired by Carl Muravez, a group of residents representing its various racial persuasions met to discuss and plan for a wholesome youth program in the area.

Preceding the business of the evening the guests of this initial interracial meeting of Willowbrook's Youth Service Committee were invited to a sort of mellowing-up period by principal Wagstaff during which refreshments were served and social amenities and introductions exchanged.

Paul Gruendyk, Parks manager, representing Los Angeles County, discussed in some detail the possibilities and scope of County cooperation in playgrounds and recreation services, which was followed by a lively interchange of questions and ideas in which a goodly cross section of those present participated.

As a result of the meeting a fusing of interests in the various problems affecting the youth of the community and its people as a whole grew into a more or less concerted plan of procedure for their solution, which can mean a real beginning of harmony in this potentially explosive area.

Ritter PTA Planned As Parents Meet With School Head

An enthusiastic group of Ritter school parents met with the principal, R. Norton, and members of the faculty in their reconstructed building, 111th Street and Watts Avenue at 1:30 p.m. last Monday and organized for a vigorous program of youth activities during the present school year. A roll call of parents present established which of the 19 teachers had the largest number of representatives and to this teacher a prize was awarded.

In a brief explanatory talk principal Norton called attention to some of the many ultra-modern features of the rehabilitated building that his risen from the fire devastated structure after a year of construction. Pastel tinted walls and soft green, instead of black, expanse of boards paneling them, soundproof acousticon ceilings, adjustable desks and asphalt tile floors all attest to the finished efficiency of Ritter's new plant, served by an interracial faculty of 19 well qualified and pleasant teachers.

DON'T VOTE PRICES UP!

Propositions 6 and 15 would wipe out a large part of California's fishing industry.

They would cut out much of your supply of fresh and canned fish.

They would make fish prices go sky-high!

DON'T WRECK 40,000 JOBS!

Propositions 6 and 15 would destroy the jobs of more than 40,000 men and women who work in the fishing industry. They would wipe out an investment of more than $200,000,000 and would affect the jobs of many thousands in other industries.

THEY SAY "VOTE NO"!

Propositions 6 and 15 are opposed by all official labor organizations—AFL, CIO and railroad unions. They are also opposed by the California State Chamber of Commerce, United Churchwomen of California, and many other state and local business, civic and community groups, including many fishery scientists who say that 6 and 15 will hurt conservation!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Wisdom Literature in the Bible. Lesson Text and Outline. Proverbs 10:1-9; Eccelesiastes 2:1-3. Motto Text: Proverbs 10:9.

Introduction

To Solomon, the author of three thousand proverbs, we are indebted for most of the books and Proverbs which opens with a description of wisdom, includes many maxims and pithy discourses, and closes with an acrostic on the worthy woman. After he had found and felt the most and the best that earth can give of wealth, knowledge, power and pleasure, he announces probably in his age his verdict upon human experience. "All is vanity!" Yet the Preacher attributed his pessimistic view of life not to divine providence but to human folly.

Comments

1. Solomon, speaking to us as unto children, observes here how much the comfort of parents, natural, political, and eccelesiastical, depends upon the good behaviour of those under their charge. It adds to the comfort of young people that are pious and discreet that thereby they do something towards recompensing their parents for all the care and pains they have taken with them, and occasion pleasure to them in the evil days of old age, when they most need it; and it is the duty of parents to rejoice in their children's wisdom and well-doing, though it arrived at such an eminency as to eclipse them.

It adds to the guilt of those that conduct themselves ill that thereby they grieve those whom they ought to be a joy to, and are a heaviness particularly to their poor mothers who bore them with sorrow, but with greater sorrow, see them wicked and vile.

The treasures of wicked people, much more the treasure which they have made themselves masters of by any wicked art, by oppression or fraud, though it be ever so much as a treasure, and laid up ever so safely, though it be hidden treasure, yet it profit nothing; when profit and loss come to be balanced the profit gained by the treasures will by no means countervail the loss sustained by the wickedness.

Righteousness delivers both from death, that is wealth gained and used in a right manner, honesty and charity; it answers the end of wealth, which is to keep us alive and be a defense to us. It will deliver from those judgments which men bring upon themselves by their wickedness.

It will profit to such a degree as to deliver, though not from the stroke of death, yet from the sting of it. The soul of the righteousness shall be kept alive by the word of God, and faith in his promise. Those who are diligent and honest, who are careful about their affairs, and, what their hands find to do, do it with all their might, in a fair and honorable way, those are likely to increase what they have.

This is true in the affairs of our souls as well as in our worldly affairs; slothfulness and hypocrisy lead to spiritual poverty, but those who are fervent in spirit, serving the Lord, are likely to be rich in faith and rich in good works. He who gets knowledge and wisdom in the days of his youth gathers in summer, and he will have the comfort and credit of his industry; but he who idles away the days of his youth will bear shame of his indolence when he is old.

Good men are and ought to be well spoken of when they are gone; it is one of the blessings that comes upon the head of the just, even when their head is laid. Blessed men leave behind them blessed memories. We must delight in making an honorable mention of good men that are gone.

Bless God for them, and for his gifts and graces that appeared in them, and especially be followers of them in that which is good. Bad men are and shall be forgotten, or spoken of with contempt. When their bodies are putrefying in the grave their names also shall rot. Where the wickedness has been notorious; and cannot but be mentioned, it ought to be mentioned with abhorrence.

The shame and ruin of the disobedient, that will not be governed, nor endure any yoke, that will not be taught, nor take any advice. They are fools, for they act against themselves and their own interest; they are commonly prating fools, fools of lips, full of talk, but full of nonsense, boasting of themselves, prating spitefully against those that admonish them, and pretending to give counsel and law to others.

Men's dishonesty will be their shame: He that perverts his way, that turns aside into crooked paths, tthat dissembles with God and man, look way and rows another, though he may for a time disguise himself, and pass current, shall be known to be what he is. It is a thousand to one but some time or other he betrays himself; at least, God will discover him in the great day.

2. It will not avail to quiet a guilty conscience; no, nor to ease a sorrowful spirit; nothing is more ungrateful than singing songs to a heavy heart.

It will not satisfy the soul, nor ever yield it true content. It is but a palliative cure to the grievances of this present time. Great laughter commonly ends in a sigh. It does a great deal of hurt: It is mad, that is, it makes men mad, it transports men into many indecencies, which are a reproach to their reason and religion.

They are made that indulge themselves in it, for it estranges the heart from God and divine things, and insensibly eats out the power of religion. Those that love to be merry forget to be serious, and, while they take the timbrel and harp, they say to the Almighty, depart from us. Many give themselves to these without consulting their hearts at all, not looking any further than merely the gratification of the sensual appetite; but Solomon applied himself to it rationally, and as a man, critically, and only to make an experiment.

He did not allow himself any liberty in the use of the delights of sense till he had tried himself with his severe studies. Till his wisdom proved an increase of sorrow, he never thought of giving himself to wine. When we have spent ourselves in doing good we may then most comfortably refresh ourselves with gifts of God's bounty.

Then the delights of sense are rightly used when they are used as we use cordials, only when we need them; Timothy drank wine for his health's sake. Our happiness consists not in being idle, but in doing right, in being well employed.

If we do that which is good, and praise of the same. It is good to be done under the heaven, while we are here in this world, while it is day, while our doing time lasts. This is our state of work and service; it is in the other world that we must expect the retribution.

Comment on the Motto Text

We are told here, and we may depend upon it, that men's integrity will be their security: He that walks uprightly towards God and man, that is faithful to both, that designs as he ought and mean as he says, walks surely; he is safe under a divine protection and easy in a holy security.

He goes on his way with a humble boldness, being well armed against the temptations of Satan, the troubles of the world, and the reproaches of men. He knows what ground he stands on, what guide he follows, what guard he is surrounded with, and what glory he is going to, and therefore proceeds with assurance and great peace.

Mr. Evans states that the advent of every Revealer of God's will has always been accompanied by a great outpouring of power, both spiritual and material, giving rise to a new civilization. For instance, the Jewish, Christian, Muhammadan, etc. The civilization of Baha'u-'llah, which is even now coming into birth, as the present one is undoubtedly dying, is to be built on a foundation of justice. The Baha'i Movement brings the greatest light that has come to the world since the time of Jesus Christ. The promised one of all religions has come, nearly one hundred years ago. Baha'u-'llah brings the new spiritual resurgance that leaders and people have been looking for.

SLA Girl Scout Leaders Meet at Gompers Friday

Christian Science Theme 'EverlastingPunishment'

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." This declaration of Paul to the Galatians will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Everlasting Punishment" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Luke's Gospel relates that John the Baptist sent his disciples to Jesus, saying, "Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? And in that same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight. Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard: how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel in preached. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Christ, Truth, was demonstrated through Jesus, to prove the power of Spirit over the flesh,—to show that Truth is made manifest by its effects upon the human mind and body, healing sickness and destroying sin."

Pilgrim House Vacation Plan Success

The "Vacation Plan" of Pilgrim House, by which children of different races and nationalities spent their vacations with children of other races, such as a Negro child with a white child, was reported as a great success at a meeting of the board of directors last week. Mrs. J. W. MacNair, chairman, and Mrs. Frank Woods, of Whittier, made the report. A total of 27 children from the Little Tokyo area went to live in suburban homes for their vacation under this plan. In recognition of five years' residence at the House, the Board presented Mrs. Mattie J. Kingsley with a silver coffee set.

Special guests were: Claude Barnett, A. N. P. Chicago, and Harry Lavelle, local correspondent, Herman Hill, Pittsburgh Courier, L. A., J. G. A good character is, in all cases, the fruit of personal exertion.—Joel Hawes.

Because carried lunches always wait some hours before they are eaten, only fillings which can stand the wait should be used.

Students Get Guidance Aid

Jefferson High seniors are anticipating the beginning of a session in "terminal guidance" under the direction of the Los Angeles Advisement Service located at Belmont High School. The Advisement Service under the competent supervision of Mr. David Dingillian, will be at Jefferson on the 1st of November to inaugurate the guidance program.

Last year's seniors can testify to the success of this particular kind of advisement for it helped to "get them set" for their entrance into the world outside of school. They received excellent counsel concerning their capabilities, abilities, personality traits and their vocational interests.

Mr. Donald Kincaid and Mr. Lloyd Hopper will be in charge of the program. On the 1st the students will receive a picture of the whole structure of the program from Mr. Dingillian. During the following three days the senior A's at Jefferson will undergo a series of tests covering interests, abilities, personality inventories, etc. Later, six days, Nov. 8, 9, 10, and Nov. 12, 18, and 19 will be devoted to personal interviews between the staff members of the Advisment Service and each student.

Parents of Senior A's at Jefferson are asked to help the program by discussing the results of the advisement with their children.

Youngsters in For Treat at Griffith Show

The biggest Jack O'Lantern you've ever seen is going to sit right on top of the station so it can watch every one of you. So get all dresed up in your witches' and goblin's outfits and you'll be entitled to one free ride on the pocket size railway.

If you don't wear a costume, you won't have a "ghost" of a chance of winning the Grand Prize for the best costume!

This fun-full Halloween Party starts at 10 o'clock—remember, it's no trick—it's a treat!

Jeff Meeting On Guidance Successful

Jefferson administrators were pleased at the large turnout for the initial meeting of the parents who are concerned with the vocational guidance program at the school. Well over one third of the parents who have children in the A10 class at Jefferson attended the meeting.

They were greeted by principal Dr. Paul Fisher, heard some excellent music furnished by the A Cappella choir, and were introduced to the staff of counselors who will be responsible for the program of vocational guidance for the A10 students. The response of the parents was gratifying to all the staff and efforts are now being made, to begin the interviews for those parents who attended. The interviews will concern the student, his parents, and the counselors.

Through the medium of the interview the future program of the student will be charted, taking into account the interests of the student, the results of his B10 testing program, the desires of the parent, and the guidance of the counselor.

Dr. Fisher emphasized that the counseling program is for all the A10 students, consequently the cooperation of their parents is earnestly desired. Parents whwo were unable to attend the meeting, should contact the guidance staff at Jefferson as soon as possible. Dial ADams 1-9144 and ak for Mr. McClelland on extension No. 8.

Diphtheria Prevention In Schools

Recommendations of the Los Angeles county health department regarding diphtheria immunizations were issued this week by Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland, Assistant County health officer, in view of the fact that the annual school immunization program is to start soon in the local schools.

Most health officials suggest that first diphtheria immunizations be given when children are six to nine months old. A booster immunizing dose should be repeated every two to three years until the child reaches the age of ten.

This schedule usually affords sufficient protection against diphtheria and additional immunizations should not be necessary, the health officer pointed out.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONESENSE

Can't remember when I've enjoyed a concert performance as when I did at the Carol Brice Concert Sunday afternoon, Miss Brice had no difficulty in putting her numbers over and winning and holding her audience immediately . . . Only fault I could find with the afternoon would be the fact, that it makes one feel sorta bad to see members of the race dragging in about twenty minutes before the Concert is over, some of you might consider it good publicity to come strollin down the isle 45 minutes late, but from where I see it, it's downright ignorance! . . . Slim Gaillard out at his old stomping ground, Billy Berg's. Harry (Hepster) Gibson also billed on the same show, opening soon . . . C. T. Webb says "He's still the most sought after man in town" . . . Congrats to Roy Glenn and Jackie who "told it to the preacher Sunday last". Jackie is former piano player with the famed Sweethearts of Rhythm . . . Our deepest sympathy to Oadlie Williams, daughter of modiste Janet LaStrapes whose father passed this week, Oadlie made a quick trip to Texas for the buriel . . . Jean Young say's this time "It's the real thing." Fella's name is Harper Glass . . . In The Memo: "Can you remember the first fella you kissed?" "aha, I can't even remember the last one," was the retort" . . . Maxine Hereford back from the east to settle a few business items and displaying a simply beautiful MINK coat! . . . Disc Jockey Gene Norman will present his Jazz show at the Pan Pacific tomorrow night. Numbers written by Kid Ory will be played by the various swing stars . . . . . Billy Holiday still a house packer in the east with her sultry blues and torchants . . . Sudden Thawt: Why is it that fella's like Louis Taylor always mistake their bankroll for their charm? . . . Crazeee! about the way Charlie Ventura's band handles that "Be-Bop stuff." . . . Speaking of bands I like the breezy rhythm band of Joe Lutcher that dishes out nitely at the Downbeat . . . Combo of Johnny Otis still playin nitely at the Barrel House in Watts . . The long courtship of one of the ave's most popular sportsman and his little blue-eyed doll has come to an end . . . It's about that time again, so til next week, that's all there is.

Benny Carter and His Band Open at Downbeat Tonite

Benny Carter, the Amazing Man of Music, opens tonight (Thursday) with his famous orchestra, at the Downbeat club, 42nd st. at Central ave.

Carter, who toured the European continent in a blaze of glory a few years ago, has reorganized his full-sized band to a small crew. He explains that a smaller outfit gives a musician a better opportunity to express himself musically. In a smaller crew, a musician can play as he feels, whereas in a larger band a fiddler may play a few bars or choruses in a single tune. Bennie, who believes in playing as he feels, dropped his larger band for a small group and from all indications (they broke records in San Francisco) it seems as though "The Amazing Man of Music" has at last struck pay dirt with his small swing combo.

They appear in person, starting tonight, for a limited engagement at the Downbeat club.

Ivy's Chicken Shack to Feature New Service

Starting on or about Nov. 16, Ivy's famous chicken shack will celebrate its fourth anniversary by inaugurating a daily businessmen's luncheon from 11:30 a.m. Chicken, steaks, chops and other delicious dishes will be prepared by Sam Flanagan, chef.

During the luncheon hour Solovax music will be played by Richie Dell Archie.

Ivy's is fast becoming a local institution and one of the town's favorite eating houses. Prior to the start of the businessmen's luncheon, new draperies will be installed, giving Ivy's already comfortable restaurant a more homey atmosphere.

Horace Henderson Has Top Swing Ork

Horace Henderson and his Capitol Recording band is pulling 'em into the Last Word nitery. With George Reed on drums and doing the vocals, Arthur Edwards handling the bass fiddle department, Little Dog Johnson, tooting terrific and Leonard very capably handling the tenor-tooting honors, the Henderson crew dispense with some downright torrid playing.

Henderson, who formerly worked with Lena Horne as the famous star's musical director, left that position to branch out on his own leading a small combo.

He has always at one time or another had bands, and his musical background is studded with achievements! His playing is tops, and as for the guy himself—he's terrific, a gentleman and likeable!

Otherwise, why bother inviting him?"

Johnny Miller To Join The Famous 3-Blazers Trio?

Hottest rumor making the rounds of local nitelife circles is that Johnny Miller, who formerly played with the King Cole Trio, will join Johnny Moore's Three Blazers, replacing bassist Eddie Williams.

Miller and Oscar Moore (Miller's musical mate with the K.C. trio) is now being featured with the Blazers.

Line-up of the Blazers, starting this or next week will be: Johnny Moore, manager and guitar; Johnny Miller, bass; Charles Brown, piano and vocals; and Oscar Moore, guitarist.

Missed Trummie? He's in Hawaii

HONOLULU — The Hawaiian Island is literally jumping these days (musically speaking, that it) since Trombonist Trummie Young, top swing star formerly with Jimmie Lunceford's band, arrived on the scene.

Young, the soft-voiced scat singer and ace horn man, is working at the Brown Derby with the Art Norkus trio, white outfit from San Francisco. Billy Lower plays guitar; Johnny Bozich, accordion; Norkus, bass; and Young, trombone.

The trio (with Trummie; and despite the accordion), are playing Be-Bop!

Will Play for All-Stars; Satchel Paige Will Pitch For Kansas City Royals

Jackie Robinson, Pasadena all around athlete and the first recognized Negro to participate in a worlds series, last year when the Brooklyn Dodgers made the classic, comes to town next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 31st at Wrigley field. Robinson will be at first base for Bob Lemon and his Major-League all stars.

The great Satchel Paige, whose Royals whipped his teammate at Cleveland, Gene Bearden, 4-3 before 14,000 fans, last Sunday will pitch against Bob Lemon and both hurlers have promised to go at least five innings.

Bob Lemon's father, a rabid baseball fan nautrally, said his son would go seven if Paige would. The chances that both will be in there fogging the baseball for seven innings are very good.

Jackie had a good year with Brooklyn and with several other Rase lads in the major leagues his path was not too hard. He was accepted as just another major leaguer. He played second base, fielded brilliantly and hit just under 300.

He has been playing with a team of his own, barnstorming in the south. His lone appearance at Wrigley Field will be Sunday, October 31.

Paige's record last summer is known to everyone and his winter league record is just as impressive. In only one game has Paige left the game trailing and that was in San Francisco where his mates failed to get a run all evening and lost 2-0. The score was 1-0 when Satchel Paige left the game. His short appearance last Sunday was due to the fact that he had twirled Tuhursday night in Oakland (score 3-0 his favor when he left the mound) and Friday night in San Francisco and then again Monday night in San Diego. With almost a week of rest he will be ready to go as far as his opponent, Bob Lemon.

The Satchel Paige day held last Sunday was a distant success and through these columns Paige asked that all the merchants, friends and well wishers accept his heartfelt thanks.

Chavez Wins in Bout With Salas

Fight fans tabbed the first Len Morrow-Fitzy Fitzpatrick rnig brawl a few months ago as the "Fight Of The Year." It was, until Carlos Chavez, who calls himself the uncrown featherweight champ of the world, met and defeated Lauro Salas of Mexico Tuesday night at the Olympic in ten torrid rounds of furious fighting.

Practically a rookie in the Main event class, Salas, a guy with a chin of steel and Sinatra-like body, took everything the experienced and heavier Chavez had to offer. It was a pier six brawl for ten rounds, and the referee Johnny Indrisano gave the nod to Chavez by two points, our sheet called it a draw.

Chavez weighed 130½. Salas, 126.

Negro Players Add Strength To Teams

Chicago—In the strongest grid circuit in the nation, the Big Nine, eight out of the nine competing schools are fielding colored back and linemen this year.

"Top Negro player in the midwest is Michigan's Gene Derricote," Ebony Magazine says, "who averaged six yards per try and scored five touchdowns last season though he had to give way to versatile All-American Bob Chappius. Injured this fall, Derricote has returned to the Michigan line-up and is responsible for the team's being picked by experts as the nation's greatest."

GEORGE RAMSEY

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Well, the old saying that weight will tell, proved true last Sunday in the featured attraction billed as "The Balboa Handicap" at 1 1-16 miles. Ranch Rider, with 123 pounds on his back, and Adorable Torch, with 103 pounds up, put up a sterling stretch duel with the latter getting the verdict in the last jump after the photochart showed the daughter of Torchilla-Adorable Cargo had won by a neck.

Ranch Rider was made favorite, but the heavy load was too much for the game son of Equestrian-Kizzie. The winner, lightly played in the mutuels, paid $16.00. In the secondary event, "The Ramona," at six furlongs, one of the biggest upsets of the day was witnessed by the fans when Sopresita, held at 20 to 1, came from off the pace to score by a half length in front of Lands Sake and Muriel Alice.

GEORGE RAMSEY

Harihar was the favorite at 9 to 10, but ran into a couple of blind pockets in the stretch and ran fourth. The winner paid the longest price of the day, $42.20, $20.60, $9.80 across the board. The only Negro jockey riding on the west coast had four mounts. In the second race he was second on Fortress, a longshot. Also finished second on Red Muslin, who paid $16.40 to place and $9.60 to show.

In the fourth race he scored with Cross T., who came from last place to score a snapper garrison victory. E. O. Johnson is his name, better known to race fans as Easy-Over Johnson. The fans like his style of riding and owners are seeking his services. Presiding Judge George Shilling has high praise for the Negro jockey.

The daily double combination of Burndel, winner of the second race, and Toby Lane, victor of the third, paid $12.60, while the quinela holders of tickets on Iron Head and Mineral King, who finished in that order, received $125.60.

This Sunday our popular general manager, Walter C. Marty, has four feature races in store for the fans. The main event will be "The Lodge 1125 Handicap" at one mile and 70 yards; "The Convair" at six furlongs; "The Shop Committeemen" at six furlongs, and "The Halloween." Eight other races will support one of the best programs in many weeks. Post time will remain the same for Sunday races, 1 p.m.

Satchel Paige Got Six Grand For Series Work

CLEVELAND, O.—For being on the team that brought home the bacon, Leroy "Satchel" Paige and Larry Doby, got the full share in the players' take-home pay from the World Series. They and twenty-eight other Indians received $6,772.07 each as winning teammates and thereby topped the Detroit Tigers' record of $6,544.76 back in 1935.

It had been a much debated question whether Satchel Paige would receive full share, since the veteran pitcher became an Indian when half the season was gone. But his name was there, second on the list, getting the full size cut.

In the National League, third place, Brooklyn got full shares of $898.72. Thus, Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella got extra checks for this amount, which will come in handy for their fast growing families.

Full amount of the world series take for the six games came to the grand total of $1,633,685.56.

Anyway You Look At It, Joe Louis Will Box Again

NEW YORK—Everybody knew it . . . they just wondered what time Joe Louis would make it official that he had not retired, merely resting up a little. Thus, when the announcement came this wek that Joe would defend his title in June, the "boys" shrugged it off saying "to bad he couldn't stay away for real," while the dailies splashed the headlines.

Joe made the announcement himself through the 20th Century Sporting Club's Press chief. Old Uncle Mike Jacobs shrieked for joy. "I've no idea who Joe is going to fight. The main thing is that he's going to fight again." And then Uncle Mike rubbed his palms together, blissfully counting the shekels he had feared were gone.

CAROL BRICE

Acclaimed as one of America's finest, Carol Brice was on a level with the most prolific musicians in her field last Sunday in the Philharmonic under AKA's sponsorship. Assisted at the piano by her brother, Jonathan, the vocalist opened her concert with Handel's Aria di Palissena from "Radamisto," which she carried off well with the exception of a thinnehs in the upper register, obviously due to the cold from which she recently recovered. Other selections included Handel's Alma Mia, and the exciting Furibondo Spiro Il Vento, also of Handel.

Superbly produced was the group of five lieder chosen from the Brahms library. The highlight of the group was the O Wuesst Ich Doch Den Weg Zuruech (O Would I Knew Where Lies the Way).

Mr. McNeil

The seldom heard and sung O Ma Lyre Immortelle from Gounod's "Sapho" was the operatic aria presented. Th eartist's dramatic abilities were clearly outlined and deeply convincing.

Sibelius' The Tryst opened the English group. The dramatic ability of the artist recalled her superb rendition of Schubert's Erlking last year. The vocal coloring displayed was indeed of rare design.

The Negro spirituals were enthusiastically and appreciatively received. Hall Johnson's setting of My Good Lord's Done Been Here was sung sincerely and personably.

Jonathon Brice, the accompanist, is unquestionably one of the most outstanding accompanists on the concert stage.

A BLUE NOTE

Los Angeles concert-goers who picked up any single copy of our leading Los Angeles daily newspapers Monday morning were amazed to read the severe criticism given concert-goers last Sunday afternoon for their extreme rudeness and discourtesy at the Brice concert. One daily, namely the Los Angeles Times, said "We wouldn't blame Miss Brice if she refused to sing in Los Angeles again. For over 40 minutes after her concert began, a steady stream of late comers, disrupted the concert, a rudeness which is uncalled for."

May we paraphrase that not only to the Brice concert was there a rudeness displayed, but to almost any concert punctuality is almost unknown. May we further emphasize, that punctuality is no inherent characteristic of any group. The problem has finally reached a head as a result of a succession of musical events presented in downtown halls by leading cultural and educational organizations. Perhaps these organizations should urge their patrons to a more creditable and decidedly respectable attendance at these affairs. This situation must stop if we expect to ever raise our level of social and cultural consciousness.

NELL DOBSON PLANT

Only rarely does one find a person who, although gifted and magnificently equipped, is withdrawing to the extent that their accomplishments are almost unknown. In Mrs. Plant we find not only sincerity of purpose but a degree of humility which is admirable.

On last Tuesday, this vocalist, assisted by Irma Jones Tresville, was presented in concert in People's Independent Church. Opening with Lungi Dal Caro Bene, of Secchi, the soloist demonstrated her exquisite taste and coaching. Included on the program was Charpentier's Depuis Le Jour, Dell Acqua's Villanelle, and as the aria Pace, Pace, Mio Dio of Verdi.

The English group included Snow Flakes, Romberg's Romance. Among the spirituals were Boatner's Live Humble, and Dett's Ride on King Jesus.

For dramatic flare and nuance, Mrs. Plant showed marked preparation. The higher register was materially decadent. However, the warmth of the lower register greatly compensated for these discrepancies.

EIGHTH NOTES

Bernice Peterson, talented soprano and Atwater Kent winner of last year, has returned to Los Angeles after a year teaching in Alabama. She is as enthusistic as ever. . . . Benjamin, charming organist, has recently accepted a position as a member of the Board of Directors of LAMA, as well as Lorenza J. Cole and Lillie T. Houge.

Last Three Times For You To See Christopher Bean

"The Late Christopher Bean," a three-act comedy by Sidney Howard, will be presented for the last three performances Thursday to Saturday, Oct. 28-30, by the Arena Players of East Los Angeles Junior college. The play will be centrally staged.

The play revolves around Chris Bean, the town artist who had died 10 years ago in the home of the town's undistinguished doctor, Milton Haggett, and about Abby, the Haggett's hired help.

Tickets for the play may be obtained by calling AN. 7274. Reservations must be made due to the limited seating capacity of the Arena Theater.

Nicholas Brothers Breaking Records

London—The world famous dancing team of the Nicholas Brothers is the top drawing act that has played Europe in nearly a decade! The brothers Harold and Fayard have broken box office records wherever they have appeared.

One of the classiest acts in show business, the Nicholas brothers continue to stay right at the top where they belong. They sing. They dance. They do everything but clown. And whatever they do when they're out there on the stage or before a microphone, you may rest assured it will be clean, the peak of perfection and TOPS!

As for the brothers themselves, they're tops in taps—and every other sense of the word!

DOTTIE AND THE THIN MEN, the newest act to shoot across the theatrical horizon in a blaze of glory, will open at the swank Barbizan Beige Room, San Francisco, Nov. 10. Featured in the act is Dorothy Webster, exotic song stylist, formerly with Noble Sissle's band; Herman Mitchell, guitarist (of Benny Carter's crew; and Esquire Award Winning swingster of 1945-46); Juan Panalle, marvel pianist and singer of Republic Studios, and Thomas Pirtle, bass and M.C., who formerly toured the Orpheum theatre with the team Pirtle and Greene.

To Enlarge Station K With Two Story Annex

Increased postal facilities for overcrowded Station K, 1046 E. Vernon ave., were assured this week by Los Angeles Postmaster Michael D. Fanning.

"Inspector W. H. Switzer has worked out and submitted to the Post Office Department details of a plan to erect a two-story annex to the present Station K building which will give us 2,000 more square feet to be added to the 5,050 square feet now occupied by Station K," Fanning said. "This extra space will be reflected in a larger lobby, more boxes, men's swing room, and rest room for women employes."

Fanning also stated that bids were to be let this week for a new carrier station to be erected in the vicinity of Santa Fe and 37th st., which would provide 17 carriers, now working out of Station K, with a new station to work from. These carriers cover the Vernon business district.

"This will mark the first improvement in postal conditions in this district since before the war," Fanning said.

White Says UN Progress Is Too Slow

NEW YORK—Returning to New York this week after serving for five weeks as a consultant to the United States delegation to the United Nations General Assembly meeting in Paris, Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, deplored slow progress being made by the assembly in adopting human rights resolutions.

"When I left Paris on Oct. 18," declared White, "virtually nothing had been done in a month of meetings of the general assembly."

'He-He' Wedding At Elks Sunday

With the many reservations coming in daily for the Halloween Wedding at the Elks Sunday night, looks like there might be a complete sellout. With the entire wedding consisting of Female Impersonators, everybody is anxious to see the affair of this kin. Six beautiful female impersonators just flew down from "Finchio" in San Francisco to help make up the bridal party. The bride "Flossie" can hardly wait to stroll down the aisle.

There will be three complete shows. The doors will open at 8 p.m. and the wedding will take place at 10 p.m. Another show will be on at 11 p.m. and the usual Fashion show will be held at midnight.

The impersonators will be displaying over $100,000 worth of furs through the courtesy of Arkin and Freeman, popular fur dealers, located downtown in the Warner Bros. building.

Of course the swing-mad rhythm band of Joe Lutcher will provide music for the evening and for your dancing pleasure. There will be plenty of room for you to dance since the promoter of this affair, Bill Hefflin, will have the Elks Hall set up in a bowl manner leaving plenty of room to dance. Now don't be disappointed by going elsewhere, to see this spectacular Wedding, the only place you will see anything of this sort will be at the Elks Hall, Halloween night, October 31. Tickets are now on sale at the Elks Hall, Jack's Basket Room and the West Coast Ticket Bureau at 42nd and Central. The Elks ticket office will also be open Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in order that you may purchase your tickets early.

Beavers Asks Mayor to Withdraw Rea's Name from New Commission

Mayor Bowron's appointment of Phillip Rea to the Urban Redevelopment Commission was severely criticized by George A. Beavers, Jr., Golden State Life Insurance Company executive.

In a strongly-worded letter of protest to the Mayor, Mr. Beavers labelled Mr. Rea "unfit for service in such an important position," based on his activity against the recent restrictive covenant decision made by the United States Supreme Court.

"As a result of his conduct," the insurance executive stated in the letter to Mayor Bowron, "he has lost completely the confidence of racial minorities of our city and a large number of other citizens who believe in an effective democracy."

A specific request that the name of Mr. Rea be withdrawn from consideration for appointment to the Commission was made by Mr. Beavers. He emphasized, however, that the Community Urban Redevelopment Plan itself was not under censure, but that "in order to achieve the worthy purposes. . . . it should be administered by persons who are not only progressive, but who can be relied upon to develop and plan so as to serve the needs of our cosmopolitan community without injecting the objectionable patterns of racial segregation and discrimination."

The Golden State Mutual official wrote to Mayor Bowron in his capacity as President of the Pacific Town Club, an organization of more than one hundred business and professional men of the area.

Bi-Partisan Action On Proposition

More than 1,500 unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, the C. I. O., Railroad Brotherhoods and independent unions have through resolutions endorsed the California Committee for Railroad Safety campaign for a NO vote on Proposition No. 3, Senator-Elect George Miller, Jr., campaign director announced today.

"It is significant," Miller pointed out, "that many California legislators of both major parties are also actively supporting the No on 3 campaign."

Democrats like Senator Oliver J. Carter and Republicans like Senator Chris Jespersen "are typical of the strong support the drive to retain the Full-Crew law by a No vote on 3 has received.

To be worth anything, character must be capable of standing firm upon its feet in the world of daily work, temptation, and trial. —Smiles.

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

CORRECT THINKING

"As you think in your heart or mind, so are you." Everything you do or say depends on what you think. Your whole life depends on your thoughts, whether they be good ones or bad ones. You should therefore, concentrate upon thoughts that help you nad those that do you harm and prevent your desired progress, should be eliminated.

Some of the most important things in life start small, but grow very rapidly, so it is with a thought. There are thoughts which really prevent your progress, and others which boost you along rapidly.

Prof. Herman is advising you to cultivate your mind and heart, place them on a higher level, and keep your thoughts beautiful.

S.F. Dear Prof. Herman: I read your column each week and find it very helpful and interesting. Should I return to school?

Plan to Bring Free Health Examinations to Eastside

Mr. Roger F. Chisolm, wealthy prominent builder from San Gabriel Valley, explained to Dr. Jay W. Moss, the operation of a free physical check-up clinic in his neighborhood.

Mr. Chisolm expresses the philosophy that too few individuals have complete physical examinations, asserting that a healthy community is a happy one.

In accordance with this ideal Dr. Moss proposes to do something about it. Dr. Jay W. Moss expects to announce soon a group of doctors who will offer a once a week clinic to Eastsiders free and without obligation. This clinic will be operated from Dr. J. W. Moss' office at 973 East Vernon Ave. There will be specialists in every category, to give needd advice and health guidance. No one need be without an intimate and confidential knowledge of any latent trouble.

Mr. Chisolm, President of the Ross-Rogers Construction Company, pledges the support of the Chamber of Commerce and will aid with other civic organizations in forwarding the program with Dr. Jay W. Moss and his Associates.

This spirit of community betterment under the leadership of Dr. Moss is expected to gain the active support of the City Health Department and other Civic and Professional Organizations.

Civilization moves forward only on promises that are kept.

An Army Of Police Can't Scare Betty

Betty Brown, who is known as "Miss Oklahoma," is sometimes a very uninhibited young lady. Notwithstanding, she knows her rights and an army of policemen can't intimidate her.

Shortly after last Saturday midnight, Betty was accosted by a small army of policemen at the corner of Jefferson and Central. When the California Eagle reporter arrived at the scene, Betty was surrounded by a quartet of law boys, numbers 2859, 3146, 3093, 3280, who were trying to search her handbag. Betty said no, not until (or unless) they arrested her.

The law boys didn't like that one so one of them twisted her arm behind her, then she was handcuffed. With Betty helpless, it was a simple matter for the policemen to search her bag. During the process, they handled her pretty roughly, and used some bad language.

Witnesses who didn't like the way the cops were handling Betty threatened to get out of hand, and it became necessary for the law boys to brandish their nightsticks.

Angered by the brutal treatment given Betty, several persons gave an Eagle reporter their names and addresses so they might be called as witnesses against the policemen. Among them were: Clarence Jones, 128½ E. 30th St., Mrs. Bernice Williams, 3622 S. Griffith Ave., and Willie Brown, 430 E. 48th St.

The policeman wearing badge number 3855 was particularly brutal, witnesses say.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of George and Annie Bell Brown, formerly of Beaumont, Texas, but now thought to be living in Los Angeles, is asked to contact Mrs. Ruby Lee Hitchens, Bor 1102, Route 3, First Street, Picayune, Mississippi. It is urgent that these persons be found.

"Gus Gremlin" Can't Steal All The Credit

DETROIT, MICH.—"Oh, no you don't, Gus Gremlin," cautions the young lady. "You may turn off the light inside the refrigerator when I close the door, but you're just the 'little man who wasn't there' when it comes to defrosting." Model points to timer which controls automatic defrosting mechanism of new Norge refrigerator.

Community Council Operates For Improved Southeast Area

Ten public question boxes were placed on Central Avenue in recent months. This was a project of the Central Avenue Community Council. 524 persons responded.

Street loitering, control of drunks, law enforcement, better motorist and pedestrian protection and need for improved physical appearance rated high as Central Avenue needs.

Following these leads the Council has sought action from the city. With the help of Dr. M. E. Herriott, Principal of Lafayette Junior High School, traffic signals are to be placed at Fourteenth Street on Central Avenue.

Signals will also be installed at Twenty-second Street on Central Avenue. A survey to determine other effective methods of handling the traffic problem is underway by the City Traffic Engineers.

The Central Avenue Community Council is now a part of the Co-ordinating Council Area IV. The Council is under sponsorship of the social agencies in the community. Promise is made that this organization will not only listen to the man on the street, but will do something about his complaints.

TAX REVENUES

SACRAMENTO.—Taxable sales during the second quarter of 1948, totalling more than $2.8 billion, produced revenues of $70,208,567, according to figures released today by William G. Bonnelli, Chairman of the State Board of Equalization.

Saint Peter's Judgement

At the gate of heaven there waited a crowd;
There were saint and sinner, priest and bard,
All a-pressing, jostling and breathing hard
From the sudden flight they were forced to take
When atomic bombs on the earth below
Got out of control of mere men; and so
There they were at heaven's door to make
Solemn pleas for records ('til then preserved)
And to get at last what each thought he deserved
Good St. Peter standing before the gate
To give each spirit his life-earned fate
Judged on calmly until a foursome moved up
With a manner proud and speech so abrupt
The old keeper thought they would surely erupt,
So impatient they were the gate to pass through;
On the other side there was much they could do
Showing God the way to treat Negroes and Jews
And the Gentiles, too, who hold liberal views.
Good St. Peter frowned and 'twas plain to see
He was angry a any saint could be
And he didn't care who saw he was riled
At the stinking stuff right before him piled
By G. L. K. Smith, Rankin, Tenney and a Joe
Who did argue long to have him to know
They were very smart and could easily show
How democracy in their U. S. A.
Had been serving men in a wholesome way.
On Caucasion might Godly stress was laid
And few e'er questioned or failed to give aid
Keeping certain folks in certain places
And in routing others from chosen bases.
Thus spoke Tenney and his companions three Representing their great democracy
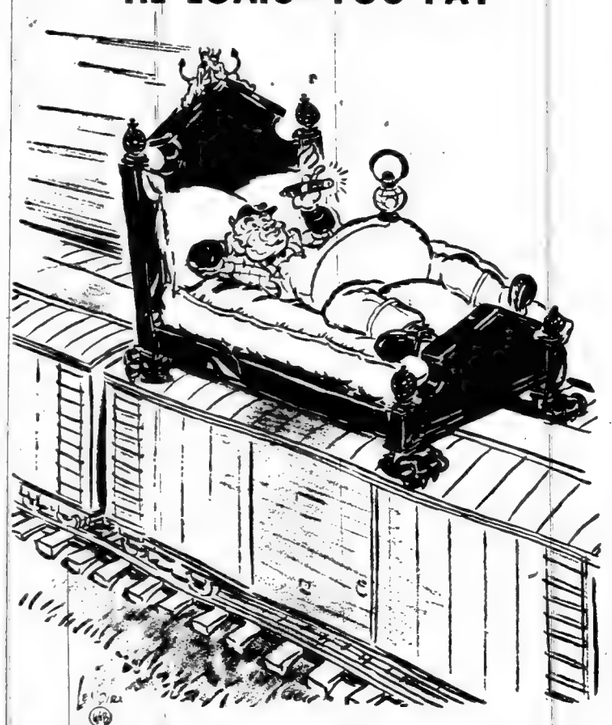
At the gate of heaven when St. Peter stood
Judging wisely and fairly, as all men should.
Far away St. Peter looked over their heads
To a group of liberals misnamed Reds.
With a smile he beckoned in a kindly way
And the souls, led by Wallace, heard him say
"You have made good records and may pass in
To the peace you labored so hard to win."
Then to Tenney, Rankin, Smith and a Joe
He said loud and sternly, "In hell you will glow.
Why, if Jesus had lived on earth with you
Serving all men as he once did do,
You'd have called him Red and heaped on Him woes,
Most especially had he served the Negroes."
As St. Peter talked, in his eyes there was fire;
There was no mistaking his righteous ire,
When he cried: "Begone to the realm below!
True, the place is crowded and there are more to go
But old Lucifer'll gladly take you in tow;
He will find you your old-time jobs
Spreading hate and violence and leading mobs
Yet with Thurmond and Langley already there
With Talmadge and Bilbo, a vicious pair,
You may be more than the Devil can bear."
The last words were said as though no one were near
But G. L. K. Smith who brought up the rear
Of his buddies with whom he'd worked so well
Heard the names called and right quickly did tell
That Talmadge and Bilbo were down in hell,
Then sleek Tenney whispered to Rankin near by
To say they'd be safe with uch allies nigh,
They'd be strong enough to blow hell's fires out
And they'd bully Satan until, no doubt,
He'd give them the keys and feel such alarm
He could give no orders nor do any harm.
And what good times they would have down in hell
Amusing the imps with tales they would tell
Of how up on earth they tormented the good
And kept from America God's Brotherhood.
The words thus whispered, passed on down the line;
And each of the foursome thought they were fine.
So ecstatic in manner those men were
It seemed far better for mortals to err.
But when they were gone St. Peter was sad;
It was shocking to see spirits so mad
That their going to hell didn't seem at all bad.



Halloween Fun

With the objectives of providing recreation for children, youth and the whole family, and at the same time reducing vandalism and delinquency by taking youngsters off the streets, giant community Halloween carnivals will be held at every municipal playground on Saturday night, October 30, under plans set in motion today by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department.

Following the successful pattern of previous years, when hundreds of thousands joined in gala Halloween celebrations at the playgrounds while street rowdyism and property damage were correspondingly reduced, the 1948 observances will be the product of planning and action in which many community leaders will take part.

THE FROST IS ON THE PUMPKIN!

Archivist Discovers Letter Written by Famed John Brown

A hitherto unknown and unpublished letter of John Brown's has recently been uncovered by Dr. Dwight H. Wilson, Archivist of Fisk University.

Written on pale blue, faintly ruled quarto sheet, the ink faded to a snuff brown, the letter was sent from Ingersol, Canada West on April 16, 1858. It is addressed to a William H. Day who was a graduate of Oberlin College, class of 1847.

This letter, according to Mr. Boyd B. Stutler, well-known John Brown authority and owner of the largest collection of John Brown memorabilia, supplies the key for the solving of a question in dispute since 1860, namely, whether or not Brown had ever been in Toronto.

Although a forgotten man in the John Brown story, Day was actually very close to Brown for a short time. It is possible that he knew him at Oberlin or at Cleveland—John Brown's father was an Oberlin trustee for ten years, and John Brown himself was operating in that area when Day was a student.

Dr. Wilson is making a further examination of the Fisk University Archives in the attempt to determine how and when the letter was brought here. He advances the tentative theory that a Mary C. Day, who was on the Fisk faculty in 1871-72, was responsible for bringing the letter.

DR. DWIGHT H. WILSON, Archivist of Fisk University, who recently uncovered an important letter of John Brown's. Dr. Wilson was formerly with the Library of Congress.

Frame Cabin Auction Set

Auction of an old frame cabin and lot at 11233 Antwerp Street in Watts was authorized this week by the Board of Supervisors, according to Supervisor Leonard J. Roach.

The property actually consists of two lots having a total dimension of 50 by 135 feet, and the cabin contains four rooms.

Roach says the County has had an offer of $1500 cash, but by law must offer the property at public auction. The date set for the auction is 10 a.m. Tuesday, November 9, in the Board hearing room, 501 Hall of Records.

Survey Shows Voters Favor Blind Aid

According to a state-wide poll recently completed by Knight-Parker, Inc., public opinion survey analysts, it was found that 85.3 per cent of the voters of California favor the Aged and Blind Aid amendment, which is Proposition 4 on the November 2nd ballot.

"The Citizens' Committee for Old Age Pensions arranged to have this comprehensive survey conducted by the Knight-Parker organization, in order to determine public sentiment regarding the Aged and Blind Aid amendment," George H. McLain, chairman of the Committee, explained.

"The survey shows clearly that an overwhelming majority of California voters favor this measure to give the needy adequate relief and a decent administration."

Perfect Crime Suspect Free

Paul Graver, 32-year-old Los Angeles mechanic, may or may not have committed the perfect crime. Allegedly, the only reason why Upland police chief Mueller has any suspicion in the matter are remarks supposedly made to that effect by Graver himself.

Graver was held last week following an automobile crash that took the lives of his 39-year-old common-law wife, Mary Juarner Graver, and her 8-year-old daughter, Martha. Chief Mueller did some investigating and he says he got witnesses to testify that Graver threatened to kill the woman and her daughter; also that Graver had boasted about committing the perfect crime.

Evidently Mueller's information wasn't enough, because he released Graver this week just before the mechanic's lawyer went to court on a habeas corpus hearing. Mueller says he's continuing the investigation despite the fact that no complaint has been signed.

Graver has steadfastly maintained his innocence, and all signs indicate he's telling the truth. At the moment, it seems clear that he won't take a bum rap, but it will probably never be known whether or not he has, as he is reported to have boasted, committed the perfect crime.

Legislation Is Theme of Sojourner Truth Program

'Current Legislation,' was the subject of discussion at the program and luncheon held at the Sojourner Truth Home, 1119 E. Adams Boulevard Monday afternoon. Representatives of the Democratic, Progressive and Republican parties gave their party's positions on vital questions with which the voters are presently concerned.

Mrs. Echo Stanton Robinson who was to have spoken for the Republican point of view was substituted for by J. H. Shackelford who charged that the Democratic administrations kept the people poor.

Dr. H. Claude Hudson, speaking for the Democratic point of view, outlined his party's position on Civil Rights and legislation that benefits the people.

Charlotta A. Bass, speaking for the Progressive Party of which she is a local national official referred to her party and its Presidential candidate as creatures of destiny. "Always in the time of crisis in our nation's history," she said, "there arises a man to cope with that crisis."

Mrs. Bass cited the service of Abraham Lincoln in opening the attack on racial inequality. She pointed out that despite his hope to save the union without interfering with slavery, Lincoln had lived a life that was free of racial bias.

She pointed to Thaddeus Stevens who took the liberal viewpoint on the race question at a time when Negroes 'couldn't own land, change jobs or intermarry.'

"Henry Wallace," she told her listeners," is the man to meet the present crisis, which not only affects our nation, but which has blighted the entire world. He has demonstrated that he knows how to deal fairly with all people."

Frances Williams, Progressive Party Assembly candidate, told the audience of the evils of inflation and how it is necessary to elect candidates of the people in order to curb the run-away prices of every-day family items. She cited milk as a vital, life-giving commodity that is being used by profit-hungry money-changers to beat poor families into submission.

Mrs. Estella Blodgett made a stirring appeal for support of the community chest campaign, and she told of the benefits that are given to every community because of the chest. She urged her readers to give generously for service that is needed.

Mrs. Nettie B. Reese presented citations to the winners in the Home's recent membership campaign.

Serving on the committee for the affair were: Mrs. A. Hailstock, Mrs. Estella Blodgett, Mrs. Elethia Holcomb, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mrs. Eva W. Jones, Mrs. V. Spears and the Home's Executive Director, Miss Evangeline Woodfolk.

Justice Denman Orders Release of 10 Witnesses
Judge Hall Refuses to Obey, $35,000 Bail Demanded

Judge Pierson M. Hall said he couldn't. He had no specific order from the Circuit Court of Appeal in San Francisco.

The marshall of Los Angeles County said he couldn't, because he had no order from Judge Hall.

And the sherriff of Los Angeles County said he couldn't, because he had no order from the marshall.

And so because of this legal filibustering merry-go-round, the eight witnesses who were jailed because of their refusal to answer questions which they feared might incriminate their friends, were kept in jail. Over election day.

When The California Eagle checked Judge Hall's office for the latest information, Tuesday, and learned those ten martyrs to the cause of freedom were still in prison, the natural question was: "Were they allowed to vote?"

Everyone would have voted for Wallace, of course.

"Well," drawled the clerk of the court, "You just can't vote very well when you're in jail."

These ten prisoners of war in the struggle for civil rights—Mrs. Margaret Noble, Mrs. Delphine Smith, Henry Steinberg, Frank E. Alexander, Philip Bock, Ben Dobbs, Wesley Bissey and Samuel H. Kasenowitz—were sent to jail the night of October 25.

They were sentenced to this prison term by Judge Hall, convicted by him for contempt of court for refusing to answer certain questions of a Federal Grand Jury, who required them to tell the names of the officers of the Communist Party of Los Angeles County.

This they refused to do. They claimed in view of the fact that 12 of the national leaders of the Communist Party were indicted for no other reason but membership in that party, their answer might incriminate their friends.

Because of their refusal Judge Hall angrily declared they might stay in jail, for all he cared, until they did answer. They were handcuffed together like ordinary criminals, and marched off to prison. At midnight, October 25. It was during a night session of Judge Hall's court that they were sentenced.

Two women, Mrs. Dorothy Forest and Mrs. Miriam Sherman, were also given jail sentences, but were given time to secure someone to take care of their small children. They reported at the county jail on Monday night, but because of the reversal of the decision of Judge Hall, they were told they would not need to serve.

Attorneys Ben Margolis and John T. McTernan had flown to San Francisco to lay the case before Judge William Denham, of the Federal Circuit court and he declared the prisoners should be released without bail. He said the defendants had a right to freedom pending a hearing of their appeal before the Circuit Court on the merits of the contempt charge itself.

But the order for release, sent by airmail, did not arrive in time before Judge Hall's office closed. Attorney Ben Margolis showed a certified copy of the release order, but Judge Hall said that wouldn't do.

And so, 'round and 'round they went. From judge to marshall, from marshall to sheriff, from sheriff to attorney, to judge again.

Meanwhile the eight defendants remained in jail. Over election day. Could there be any significance in this?

Judge Hall recognized the mandate of the Federal court of San Francisco, and the 10 prisoners in the county jail were released.

Before they had left their prison, however, they were served with subpoenas to reappear before the Grand Jury and answer the questions the jury asked them. The two mothers who had not been sent to jail were also subpoenaed.

Refusing to answer, all ten were sentenced to bail of $35,000. The Civil Rights Congress called upon all friends of liberty to contribute, and to jam the courtroom where the hearings will be held.

Vol. 69—No. 31 — 44 — The California Eagle, Thursday, November 4, 1948 — AD. 9770

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

"The Christian and Politics" was the subject of a fiery discussion by representatives of the Republican, Democratic, and Progressive Parties in an open forum held Sunday evening in the Scott Methodist Church, Pasadena.

Mr. Fred Roberts, former State Assemblyman, although present, yielded his place on the program to Mrs. Grace Wilson Evans, who ponderously told the story of the Republican Party as having been the good angel for the Negro people, ever its inception.

"It was the Republican Party which freed the slaves," she said. "And it was through the efforts of the Republican Party that the 13th, 14th, and 15th amendments to the Constitution were adopted, the amendments which gave the Negro people the right of citizenship and the right to vote. The Negro people should never, never forsake the Republican Party."

Dr. Claude H. Hudson, civic leader, who represented the Democratic Party, arrived late, but like the firebrand that he is, when he did arrive, all steamed up, he certainly poured it on.

That idea of the Negro people being eternally grateful to the Republican Party for what Lincoln did, or for adopting the 13th, 14th, and 15th amendments to the Constitution, was all fol-de-rol, in his opinion.

"The Democratic Party," he said, "is the Party which has done the most for all the people of America, because it is the party of the common people. The Negro people can work to better advantage in this party than they can in any other, because here they stand on their own feet and work for themselves.

"Like slaves," he said, "the Negro people have stayed within the Republican Party for no other reason than that of gratitude to Lincoln. We Democrats need to go back only a few years, instead of almost a hundred, to find a man who did every bit as much as Lincoln did. That is the immortal Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Dr. Hudson then proceeded to enumerate some of the many benefits we, and all the people of America, won during the Roosevelt administration, such as the Fair Employment Practices Commission, the social security law, the old age pension, the principle that was established that the United States government can and should be responsible for the welfare of American citizens, and if they are unemployed, the U. S. government should provide jobs at decent wages for them.

Dr. Hudson said that if President Truman hadn't had that bad 80th Congress

Yergan Called A New Ally of Imperialism

NEW YORK — "A Stoolie Is Lend-Leased to the British Colonial Office" is the title of an article by a Negro writer, Abner W. Berry, in the October 18 issue of The Daily Worker (New York) dealing with Dr. Max Yergan, who was recently ousted from the Council on African Affairs, headed by Paul Robeson, by vote of the majority of its members.

The article points out how Yergan has abandoned the fight against imperialism in Africa and warns of the role he may now play as an ally of the enemies of the African people.

Wallace Says Progressives Here to Stay

NEW YORK — Henry A. Wallace, Progressive Party standard-bear in the election this week, predicted that the new party would continue as a factor in American political life.

Speaking on the radio to hail the victory of Vito Marcantonio, Progressive Party congressional victor here, Wallace said the Progressives will organize in every state, city and district in the nation.

Wallace reiterated that one of the current major parties will disappear while the Progressives will grow stronger.

"No matter what the final vote for the Progressive Party may prove to be," Wallace said, "I say the need for the Progressive Party is greater now than ever."

Mayor Signs Loyalty Test Ordinance

Mayor Bowron signed the order this week making it necessary for 25,000 municipal workers to swear allegiance to the United States and the state of California within the next 60 days.

Saying he was in full accord with the provisions of the ordinance, the mayor suggested an amendment that would set up an investigating committee to check on employees whose loyalty might be questioned.

The ordinance provides for a committee composed of the police commission, the social service commission and the city attorney.

Truman Election Victory Upsets All Predictions

People scoffed when President Harry S. Truman said he would be back in the White House after November 2.

The laughs of yesterday have turned into smiles today for some and frowns for others.

Late returns from all over the nation show President Truman leading the ticket, and while complete returns are not yet in the President is conceded election even by those papers and radio commentators who had Governor Thomas E. Dewey snuggled away in the White House more than a week ago.

While every political trick was used in this campaign to convince voters that Dewey and Warren were what the nation needed to [illegible] citizens peace, the people decided for themselves and they elected the Democratic candidate, President Harry S. Truman.

The Progressive Party which made an all-out fight for the destruction of Jim Crow and for all measures that would benefit the Common Man and establish the peace, will not give up the fight. It will be in there pitching, giving support to the administration to help make the United States the ideal nation of all the nations of the world.

President Truman's hands are now untied. A Congress that will make his suggestions for the welfare of the people the law of the land, was elected Tuesday. And the people who placed their confidence in him by sending him back to Washington, will expect their president with the help of the liberal Congress to enforce legislation that will grant civil rights to all, that will curb runaway prices, grant rent control, give real housing for all citizens, and all the other things the people of America need for the American way of life.

"Now is the time to begin to fight," as one American citizen expressed it. "We have the tools in our hands. Let's use them."

A new trend in politics is in the making. There is a breaking down of the old method of buying support from Negroes and Mexicans and members of other minority groups—a method used by leaders not elected by the people, but appointed by the political bosses.

The people of America are beginning to realize that if we are ever to enjoy full and equal

Fights Bias In Housing For Veterans

NEW YORK — Charging the owners of Levittown, an FHA-insured veterans' housing project in Hicksville, Long, Island, with forcing "upon unwilling tenants and purchasers a racial restrictive clause" which required that they "should subscribe to a denial of fundamental democratic principles," Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, called upon Federal Housing Commissioner Franklin D. Richards to cease issuing mortgages for the financing of Levittown until the signing of racial restrictive covenants is removed as a condition of occupancy.

Packinghouse Workers Sue

A $1,100,000 damage suit against Wilson & Co. was filed early this week by the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, at the Chicago U. S. District Court, the union announced.

The damage suit, an amendment to an original complaint against the company filed on May 6 while the nation-wide meat strike was in progress, lists damages for the International Union, eight local unions and 400 employes.

In this latest action, the union restates its charges that the company "engaged in a course of continued and widespread violation of the terms and provisions" of its contract with the union.

The UPWA, meanwhile, has negotiated new contracts with three of the Big Four companies

PROTEST REINSTATES JUSTICE—following the repeated refusal of Judge Pierson Hall to admit to bail ten witnesses before a Federal Grand Jury who were jailed for refusing to answer unreasonable and incriminating questions. The ten witnesses who became prisoners were released as the result of demonstrations such as this one in front of Republican Headquarters on 5th Street between Hill and Olive. Another picket line marched in front of Democratic Headquarters at 5th and Spring. Many friends and relatives of the illegally jailed witnesses were in the picket lines which were organized by the Independent Progressive Party. —(See Story.)

POLICE INSULT

BUSINESSWOMAN ABUSED BY POLICE AT RECEIVING HOSPITAL

Action is being planned against police assigned to the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital by Mrs. Marie Holston, prominent business woman, as the result of insulting and abusive treatment she received Sunday night when she accompanied a friend who had attempted suicide in her home, to the hospital.

Marie Holston

Mrs. Holston, who formerly owned and operated the Marble Inn, located on Imperial Highway, was manhandled, questioned insultingly about her race (she is of fair complexion with almost blonde hair) and finally taken to Lincoln Heights Jail charged with a number of things including intoxication. She was held incommunicado until Atty. Thomas L. Griffith, president of the local branch of the NAACP, called Lincoln Heights and was able to have her released on bail of $20.

At a hearing Monday morning, Mrs. Holston pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. The case is scheduled for December 1.

The events leading up to her experience with the police began Sunday evening when Mrs. Norma Lima, who had recently quarreled and separated from her husband, and who was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Holston, became despondent after dinner.

Mrs. Lima held a lengthy telephone conversation with her

Kills Couple Who Sold To Negroes

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. — Henry Burkhard, 50-year-old scion of a prominent family here, was so incensed when a white family that lived next door to him sold their property to Negroes, he killed the husband and his wife.

According to a report made by Deputy Sheriff Andrew Novikoff, Burkhard walked into the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stevens, asked them why they had their home to Negroes, then fired three shots into Stevens and a shot into the body of his wife. Both died instantly.

Chrisman Loses Divorce Action

Mrs. Narveletta Chrisman won a divorce decree October 21st when she appeared in Department 2 of the Superior court. She charged through her counsel, Atty. Everett M. Porter, that her husband, Alfred C. Chrisman, was cruel.

In awarding her the decree, the court also ruled that Mrs. Christman was to have possession of the family home at 901 E. 118th street and the custody of the couple's minor child.

Obeys Court Order

COUNTY ATTORNEY WIPES OUT BAN ON RACIAL MARRIAGES

An order from acting County Clerk W. G. Sharp, acting clerk of Los Angeles County, this week notified the County marriage license bureau in all of its branches to "disregard that part of section 69 of the State Civil Code which prohibits issuances of marriage licenses to persons of the Caucasian race who seek to marry Negroes, Malayans and Mongolians."

The significance of the order, issued on advice of County Counsel Harold W. Kennedy, lies in the simple fact that mixed marriages, banned here since the earliest days of California history, are no longer prohibited.

Kennedy submitted to a California State Supreme Court edict wiping out the ban, following an unsuccessful attempt to get a review of the decision by the same court.

The earlier decision was won by Attorney Dan Marshall, who as counsel for Andrea Perez and Sylvester Davis, sought action to compel Rosamond Rice, marriage bureau head, to issue a license.

Kick-Off Breakfast Launches Area Community Chest Drive

Reminding Community Chest volunteers of the Eastside to be at the kick-off meeting this morning, (Thursday, Nov. 4), 9:30, in Horace Mann junior high school, 7001 South St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles, Mrs. Josephine Brown, Red Feather chairman, stated that it would be the most important meeting during the appeal.

"Immediately following the meeting we will be "All out" to raise our quota of $10,721, our share of the $7,550,000 over-all goal for greater Los Angeles," Mrs. Brown said.

Mrs. Brown stated that she and her workers were attempting to put across the 159 health, welfare and youth services in the Chest on a 12 month basis. In explaining this, she said, "agencies receive their money from the Chest on a monthly allotment basis. Divided contributions on a monthly or quarterly plan are just as welcome, if not more so, than an out of opcket donation."

Mrs. Brown felt that by budgeting the donation, more can be given over the year's period.

Illustrating further, she said 10 or 15 cents a week provides 4 to 5 home visits of a visiting nurse, and 50 to 75 cents a week provides correction of a child with club foot. "These are only two examples showing what our money will buy," Mrs. Brown said.

For any information, Mrs. Brown asked that people call Adams 3-4186 or go to Headquarters offices at 4504 Central Ave.

Tumors Cured Withour Surgery, Says Dr. Lipman

Dr. David H. Lipman, chiropractor, 8754 Wilshire blvd., declares: "Tumors can be dissolved in many cases without resorting to surgery.

"A tumor is a growth or a swelling, consisting of a jelly-like substance of a fibrous substance, and can grow in any part of the human body," Dr. Lipman explained.

"Glandular tumors are innocent growths originating only from pre-existing glandular tissue, which they imitate. This type of tumor is found most usually in theovarian glands in women, or in the female organs.

"It is very sensible to consult your doctor at the first sign of abnormal pain in the stomach or pelvic area. In many instances these tissues can be dissolved without resorting to surgery.

"What may sem like an exaggerated pain could very easily be the beginning of a good-sized tumor. The earlier these conditions are seen by your doctor, the better chance you have."

to block his every effort, he would no doubt have followed exactly in the footsteps of President Roosevelt, in adopting legislation for the benefit of the entire country. He urged everyone to vote on Tuesday for members of Congress who would obey the voice of the people.

It remained for the writer of this colum to close the discussion, as a representative of the Independent Progressive Party. I could not help but point out to the lady of the Republican Party that it was something like 80 years or more since those famous amendments to the Constitution were adopted.

"And," I said, "although the Republican Party may have been responsible for them then, it certainly has done nothing for the Negro people since. Those amendments were simply pieces of paper, and neither the Republican Party nor the Democratic Party has done much, if anything, to enforce them."

I told the audience that the Progressive Party of today is like the new Republican Party organized in 1854. It was organized to set the people free who had been in bondage for hundreds of years. The new party of today, I told them, is taking the place of the Republican Party of 1860, which elected Abraham Lincoln.

"We were never set free," I told them. "That emancipation proclamation was also a piece of paper, and it was left to us to make it real. But so many of us have yielded to the blandishments of our old Republican party that we have only forged the chains of slavery tighter about us. The share-croppers in the deep South, and even here in the North those who dare not speak for fear of losing their jobs, are bound by chains to their masters as truly as if they had been sold on the auction block."

The Progressive Party is concerned with the advancement of all the people of America. There is opportunity within its ranks for all to work together side by side for peace in the world, for jobs for all without any discrimination because of race, or color, or creed; for homes for all; for education, for medical facilities, for all that can make this world the Paradise its Creator intended it to be, instead of the hell it looks we are going to continue to make of it.

That story about Henry Wallace showing discrimination in the appointment of employees while he was a member of the cabinet which one of the opposition had used, I declared was a lie made out of whole cloth, and cited instead how Mr. Wallace had appointed a Negro, Thomas Roberts, as special assistant to the Director of Personnel, while Secretary of Agriculture.

Extra fireworks were added near the close of the program when Mrs. Beatrice Wallace, member of the Republican National Committee Speakers' Bureau from some place in the East, rushed up to platform, and demanded, "I was sent out here to speak. I'd like to know where my place is on this program. I want to speak. I particularly want to answer her," glaring particularly at this writer.

But Rev. Robert D. Hill, pastor of the Scott Methodist Church, who presided at the meeting, suavely ignored the interruption and went on with the program as planned.

After the meeting some of the Big Wigs in the Republican hierarchy, notably Mrs. Betty Hill, Mrs. Echo Stanton Robinson, and Mr. Frederick Roberts, went into a huddle to find some means of appeasing Mrs. Wallace. After all, she was a member of the Republican National Committee from back East, and she had been sent here by that Committee to help carry California for Dewey and Warren.

The meeting closed with the prediction that Dewey and Warren, the Republican candidates, would win the election.

Tuesday election results, however sent President Truman back to Washington and back to the high seat of President of the United States. It takes more than oratory to do the job.

FIRST NEGRO CATHOLIC BROTHERS ORDER FORMED

SMITHTOWN, Long Isand (Special)—The First Negro congregation of Catholic Brothers in the United States was founded here last Sunday at ceremonies in St. Patrick's Church here. To be known as Franciscian Missionary Servants of Christ the King, seven young men received the religious habit and began their religious novitiate (first period of training) in the religious life.

Most Rev. Bartholomew J. Eustace, D.D., Catholic Bishop of Camden, N. J., officiated.

The plan for the congregation originated with a Negro army officer, Sergeant Walter Pierre, while he was with the invasion forces in North Africa. With the cooperation of Bishop Eustace, this plan has now been realized.

The Brothers plan to assist in catechetical, parish visiting, and social work in the United States.

Whereas other societies of Catholic Brothers in the United States have Negro members, this is the first such society to be founded exclusively by Negroes.

Golter, executive director of the institution, which is now in the midst of a building program to make it one of the nation's largest long-term illness hospitals.

Lew Ayres is starred in the "Greater City of Hope," which will be distributed through supporting auxiliaries of the institution in all parts of the country.

Motorist Quota Not So High

Believe it or not, Los Angeles motorists are losing their deadliness!

This observation was made by the Automobile Club of Southern California in reporting that fewer persons were killed on the city's streets during September of this year than in any previous single month since June, 1944.

The club said 20 traffic deaths were reported in Los Angeles in September as compared to 30 during the same month of 1947. This represents a decrease of 33.3 per cent.

Gas is Safe But Are You?

Natural gas is distributed daily to hundreds of thousands of Los Angeles homes for heating and cooking purposes. Its record for safety in the hands of the uninformed or the careless.

Records for the past year indicate that both explosions and fires have resulted from gas leaks. Safety precautions include adequate ventilation of rooms in which gas appliances are being used, careful inspection of appliances and pipes for leaks, and elimination wherever possible of flexible rubber connections which might accidentally become disconnected.

CYO Needs Adult Help

An archdiocesan-wide campaign to acquire new members for the CYO Adult Action Committee was launched recently by Timothy F. O'Keefe, chairman.

"His Excellency, our Most Reverend Archbishop, wishes to further in every way possible the work of the Catholic Youth Organization," O'Keefe said in a statement to Catholic men and women.

"Your parish's activities, if they include grammar school athletic programs such as football, volleyball, track, boxing; teen-age Chi Rho Clubs, Ave Maria Sorority, Catholic Federation, did not just happen. They are the outcome of careful planning to prevent and correct juvenile delinquency through group child development by the CYO under the able leadership of Rev. Richard F. Cotter.

"We need men on the Adult Action Committee to give the CYO program support and the same advantages and recognition as other youth agencies."

Finance Co. Doing O.K.

LOS ANGELES—Operations of Pacific Finance Corporation for the first three quarters of this year resulted in net income of $1,484,871, which was $61,637 more than the total for the full year 1947, President Maxwell C. King announced at the home office here.

The regular dividend of 40 cents per share of common stock will be paid December 1 to holders of record November 15.

The company's nine-month volume of business was $205,-5[illegible]1,320, exceeding the same 1947 period by 10 per cent.

Roach Says We Are Losing Our 'Culture'

The possibility that Los Angeles County may lose its preeminence as a dairy and agriculture center was expressed by Supervisor Leonard J. Roach this week.

Basing his concern on statistics in the annual report of the County Livestock Department for the fiscal year 1947-48, Roach attributes this situation to the mammoth home building program and industrial expansion both of which are using vast tracts of land previously devoted to agriculture.

Surplus Buildings For Resale To Vets

All remaining surplus buildings at Camp Beale, near Marysville, have been purchased from the War Assets Administration for resale to veterans and farmers, it was announced by the State Department of Finance.

H. H. Jaqueth, Chief of the Department's Local Allocation Division, said the final Camp Beale sale, now in progress, included about 40 miscellaneous buildings, purchaseable by eligible veterans and farmers at fixed prices ranging from $25 to $1,060, plus State sales tax.

Supreme Liberty Life Sold 13,000 Policies in 15 Days

Marking a phenomenal record of 13,000 policy sales in the 15 days since they have been operating in Los Angeles, the agents of the Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Company celebrated at a Victory Breakfast at the Crystal Club Center on Avalon Boulevard, next door to the site where their new branch office building is being erected, last Saturday.

Highlights of the breakfast was the report that the company, the fastest growing insurance organization in America, had sold 1008 policies in a single day. This achievement, which has not been equalled by any other insurance company in the nation, was made on Friday, the day preceding the breakfast.

Supreme Liberty is a 28 year old organization with home offices in Chicago. It is the only Negro-owned insurance company that is empowered to operate from coast to coast.

Chairman for the occasion was John W. Roy, California State Supervisor for the company. Mr. Roy presented the company vice president in charge of agencies, J. G, Ish, Jr., who with T. Miller, Assistant Agency Director, was instrumental in establishing the local branch, and other officials of the company.

Among them were: A. Pace, auditor, Mrs. Helen John, agency secretary, Dan Hancock, division manager, W. T. Elston, division manager, H. Clay supervisor, Mrs. Juanita Wilson, supervisor, and supervisors, J. E. Grimett, H. Stallings, H. Barnett, Mrs. Mary Simpson, R. T. Sinclair, D. C. Hatcher and Mrs. C. Boyd.

Each supervisor has direction of seven agents, all of whom were present at the breakfast to receive prizes for their part in setting the remarkable record of the company's newest branch.

Representatives of the press were present and received expressions of gratitude for their cooperation in making the advent of the company an auspicious and successful one.

Noteworthy, was the high moral of the agents and other company personnel, evidenced by the singing of songs written by employees about the company, and the manner in which all hands joined in the singing.

Following the breakfast, members of the press visited the temporary offices of the company.

OPTOMETRIST and Orthopist, Dr. J. T. Buchanan, who specializes in modern eye care, has opened offices at 1028 E. Vernon Avenue. Dr. Buchanan, who holds the degrees of A.B., and O.D. is one of the few members of his race with the exceptional training and qualifications he possesses.

Walking is more than a physical exercise. If you are angry, take a walk—angrily if you must—and you will find reason rapidly replacing your rage. If you are worried, a walk helps to clear your mind. Even if you are tired, a mentally stimulating walk will help to "rest" you.

Dean of Canterbury To Speak Here December 9

Prof. Ralph Barton Perry of Harvard University, speaking for an Ad Hoc Committee of Welcome to the Very Reverend Hewlett Johnson, D.D., Dean of Canterbury Cathedral, expressed gratification upon learning that the Dean's application for a visa had been granted.

"The invitation to the Dean was extended," he said, "by a committee of citizens of various political opinions who believe in the right of American adults to hear, think and judge for themselves.

"This purpose for which the Ad Hoc Committee was created has now been accomplished. It is expected that the Dean will arrive in this country after the election, that is, on or about November 11, and that he will make a dozen or more public appearances in different parts of the country under the auspices of local citnzens' committees and organizations." He will speak in Los Angeles on December 9.

The Ad Hoc Committee of Welcome to the Dean of Canterbury has reached a total of over 130.

Among the committee members are:

Bishop C. C. Alleyne of Philadelphia, Dr. Rufus Clement, President of Atlanta U., Prof. Alain Locke of Harvard U., Dr. Benjamin Mays, President of Morehouse and Dr. Peterson of Tuskegee.

Annual Booker T. Washington Memorial Service Planned

Booker Washington Birthplace, Virginia.—The Third Annual Booker T. Washington Memorial Week will be observed November 14-20, 1948. The theme will be "Tolerance and Goodwill."

S. J. Phillips, President of the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial, announces that a featured attraction of the week will be a radio presentation of "The Burning Bush," Monday, November 15, at 8 p.m. EST, on the Cavalcade of America, sponsored by the Dupont Company. This will be a dramatic presentation of Booker T. Washington's rise from slave cabin to Hall of Fame.

The Dupont Company is using an all-star Negro cast with Juano Hernandez in the leading role as Booker T. Washington. Mrs. Portia Washington Pittman, only living child of the noted educator, will be an honored guest. In this connection Mrs. Pittman states although her father has been dead thirty-three years, his program of Industrial Education and Racial Understanding is still making a large contribution to the American way of life.

Other features of the week will include broadcast tie-ins with outstanding network programs; a presentation of "From Slave Cabin to Hall of Fame" by a caste of 500 in Roanoke, Virginia, and school and church programs over the Nation.

According to Mr. Phillips, these annual observances of Booker T. Washington Memorial Week have helped to focus the attention of the nation on the life and achievements of Booker T. Washington to the extent that there is now a strong national appreciation for the establishment of a Memorial at the birthplace of Booker T. Washington in Franklin County, Virginia.

SACRAMENTO, California.—California's combined revenue from all sources poured into the treasury at the rate of $1,993,504 per day during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1948, according to a report made by State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel.

Total revenue for the year reached the all-time high of $767,629,122 compared to $609,518,563 during the preceding year. Based on recent population estimates, the per capita revenue amounted to $71.34 per person.

In his report, Kuchel compared the income during 1948 with that of twenty-five years ago when the average daily revenue amounted to $160,458, with a grand total of $58,567,026 for the year ended June 30, 1923.

Protest Rally To Aid Jailed Witnesses

U. S. Attorney James M. Carter will have an opportunity to prove his charges that the supporters of the ten jailed grand jury witnesses are misrepresenting the facts when the Civil Rights Congress holds its Protest Rally at the Embassy Auditorium, Sunday, November 7 at 8 p.m.

The Los Angeles representative of the Justice Department was invited to participate in the meeting by Civil Rights Executive Director Anne Shore.

Featured on the program will be new songs on the current civil rights issues written and sung by members of Peoples' Songs of Los Angeles.

The protest meeting is one of a nationwide series of meetings being held in opposition to the recent grand jury sessions and jailings in Denver, Cleveland, New York and Los Angeles.

Illegal Entry of Laborers From Mexico Still Protested

NEW YORK CITY — (WDL)—The Workers Defense League has joined the National Farm Labor Union and the El Paso Building and Construction Trades Council in protesting the unprecedented action of Grover Wilmoth, Texas District Immigration director, in opening the border for large scale illegal entry of Mexican farm workers.

Charging that the result will be "slave labor conditions for the entrants and depressed conditionse for American farm labor," Rowland Watts, national WDL secretary, called upon U.S. Attorney General Tom Clark to reuire Wilmoth to uphold the immigration law.

"We are not opposed to free passage of workers across national borders," Watts said, "but they must be free to contract through the union for the conditions of their labor. The government by permitting these entries and paroling the men to private farmers forces them, under fear of criminal penalties, to work at substandard wages. Unless men are freed from the onerous conditions of the parole they should be immediately returned to Mexico."

Following the protests, Wilmoth announced that the border henceforth "will be closed tight" but made no mention of the Mexican workers who had already crossed. Frank Booth, business agent for the building trades council, charged that some of the Mexicans were working for 40c to 60c an hour where the union scale is 80c to 90c. The reaction of the Mexican government was to end its migrant labor agreement with the U. S. because of what it called tacit approval by Washington of the illegal entries.

Pivot Men Are Game's Best

CHICAGO, Ill.—What is believed to be the Harlem Globtrotters' greatest lineup in 22 seasons pries off the lid on another season of basketball heroics this week.

On Saturday night, Nov. 6, at Chicago Stadium, scene of their unofficial world's championship conquest of George Mikan and the Minneapolis Lakers last February, the Globetrotters swing into action against the powerful Toledo (O.) Collegians. From that night on until April of next year, the Globetrotters will be adding further records and laurels to their imposing array garnered in many parts of the globe.

One thing is certain — this tweny-second annual edition is blessed with the greatest center talent in the years since the peerless Inman Jackson hung up his shoes. In Nat ("Sweetwater") Clifton, the six-foot, seven-inch giant who starred the past two years with the New York Rens and Dayton Mets, and Reece ("Goose") Tatum, their star at the position the last few years, the Globetrotters have a pair of pivotmen deluxe.

Marriage

to the white girl and Negro youth.

The court, in a 4 to 2 opinion written by Justice Roger Trainor, declared the denial of marriage licenses to mixed couples is" arbitrary and unreasonable discdimination against certain racial groups."

Justice Jess Carter, concurring, said the ban, "was the product of ignorance, prejudice and intolerance."

Davis and Miss Perez made no immediate attempt to obtain a license here, and Miss Rice stated she would not issue a license to a mixed couple until ordered to do so by the County Attorney. With the County Athtorney's order, there is no further barrier to interracial marriages.

Tuskegee Gets 3 Fellowships

Tuskegee Institute, Ala. — According to an announcement by the Director, the George Washington Carver Foundation is the recipient of three new research grants which create three new fellowships for students working for the Master of Science degree.

One of the grants is sponsored by the Corn Products Refining Company for the study of carbohydrates. The third is from an anonymous source, for the investigation of dialytics.

Negro Ball Player Is Murdered By White Bartender

TAMPA, Fla. — The ruthless murder of Walter Hosea Allen, popularly known as Schoolboy Allen, in a beer tavern operated in a Negro section by an Italian bartender has aroused citizens of both racial groups in this city.

Since this is just another example of Negroes crowding into places of business operated by people who are not Negroes and seeming to be pleased with the insults and exploitation, nothing more could be expected.

Allen was a local baseball pitcher with much promise of climbing to the top. He had just won a hard-fought game one hour before the Italian proprietor shot him through the heart apparently without provocation in the presence of a crowd of Negroes. The victim leaves a family of six.

Midget Cars Can't Beat Mad Russian

Devising ways and means of stopping Billy Vukovich, the "Mad Russian" from Fresno, is occupying major attention of midget car drivers and car owners this week as they dig in for the final lap of the 1948 season at Gilmore Stadium where the 1948 campaign reaches its seventh, and final, month Thursday night, Nov. 4.

Al Vukovich has done of late is to win four straight main events for a Stadium record for consecutive victories. These four, coupled with two early season victories, tie him with Danny Oakes for 1948 honors with six apiece.

Attended Conference

Mrs. Ro... G. Has U.S. Interference Helped?

Can anyone forget Pearl Buck's description of poverty in her book, "The Good Earth"?

The matter of building a great Empire in which millions of starving people roam the countryside searching for a little more than one bowl of rice a day, while a few known as the rich grow fat on the soil's yield, has long been a sore spot on China's escutcheon.

Pearl Buck described those people, the newspapers call Communists, the poor farmers of China who grew tired of being hungry.

Immediately after World War II the United States went in to help China recuperate—get her factories and other industries working again. This gesture on the part of our government was well taken, and no doubt would have served a noble purpose if not for the fact that there are two factions in China—One, the Chiang-Kai-Shek or Nationalists' Army; the other, the so-called Reds.

Here is to the best of our knowledge, a picture of China today. China's president, Chiang-Kai-Shek is a desciple of a world philosophy advanced by those (the few) who control the wealth in whatever nations or states with a stranglehold on the poor (the masses) to keep them poor and submissive.

This Chinese working-class struggle that goes on is not a struggle for control as some would have us believe, but a struggle for food and better living conditions. The Chinese coolie, as he is sometimes called, is tired going around with hunger pains in his stomach. He has organized to fight for human rights. So they call his "Red."

In this case it seems to this newspaper that, under such circumstances, about the best contribution to peace in China that our government can make is to keep its troops out of China. Stop supplying one side of the altercation with weapons and ammunition to destroy the opposition. Let the Chinese people settle their own trouble.

We certainly fail to see where U. S. interference has helped matters in China.

The Core of the Matter

Those were such brave, hopeful words that Paul Hoffman, administrator for the ECA, connected with the European Recovery Program, spoke to the peoples of starving Europe!

"We believe in you Europeans, believe that your greatness lies in the future and not in the past. We are backing up that belief by not only sending you the products of our workmen and farmers, but also some of our best citizens . . . We stand ready as a partner to help. But the initiative lies with you."

Mr. Hoffman was speaking specifically of the Marshall Plan, and how to make it work. He called his little talk, "The Core of the Matter."

The nations of Europe, however, who are being blessed by the benefits of the Marshall Plan, are not receiving it with whole-hearted faith and trust. They seem to sense that there are strings attached to the gift.

The Danish Workers, in their Labor Day greetings, ask of America: "Will you take the lead to build the new world without war, without need and without fear; with freedom, justice, democracy, and rule by the people?"

That question must be answered by us, not in words, but in deeds. We must prove that we believe in all the peoples of Europe, not only in those who agree slavishly with the particular political faith that is dominant for the moment in America. Political creed, like that of religion, should have nothing whatever to do with the help we offer the Europeans. It should be based entirely on their need.

When we can get rid of this reprehensible attempt of ours to channel the beliefs of Europeans along the same line as ours, which we boastfully claim is "democracy," and gladly and with no drawbacks, extend a helping hand across the sea, then we can be sure the peoples of Europe will answer as gladly as we and together we can enter joyously into the creation of that new world that has been the hope of the ages.

That is the "core of the matter," it seems to us. Not how to make the Marshall Plan work, but how to unite the common people of all the world into one great peace-loving family.

The Mayor Disappoints Again

Mayor Fletcher Bowron has certainly been a disappointment to those earnest citizens who went all out for his election to the high post of City Father.

A few weeks ago when a large group of church, labor, and civic-minded citizens visited the mayor's office to protest the brutal killings of Negroes and Mexicans, citing the Salcido and Burns cases as examples, they got, as Dr. Malcolm Cooley said, "a brush-off from the Mayor."

On Monday Mayor Fletcher Bowron signed a loyalty check ordinance for 25,000 city employees, but offered his own procedure as more legal, direct, and effective.

The ordinance directs that all employees whether appointed or elected, must swear allegiance to the United States and to the State of California. This no real American would refuse to do. No doubt the employees of the city of Los Angeles did so when they took the civil service examinations, and when they entered upon their duties.

But they must also sign an affidavit stating whether or not they are Communists, and whether or not they believe in the violent overthrow of the government.

Such an attitude puts the government, rather than the employees in question, on the spot. For what person riding in an automobile, upon approaching a precipice and asked whether he would rather stay on top of the mountain or try a plunge to the bottom, where perhaps there is a pot of gold, would be persuaded to try the drop?

Such things as loyalty ordinances do not make for loyalty. Citizens have faith in their government and trust in the officials who run the government in proportion to the just methods of operation used by the government and its officials.

To Mayor Bowron and all advocates of loyalty ordinances, we say, "Enforce the Constitution. Abolish the evils that obstruct the democratic way of life for some, while other more favored citizens enjoy all the rights and privileges provided by the Constitution, and use their favored privileges to deny to others what they themselves enjoy."

What America needs is not a test of the loyalty of its working people, but a readjustment of its observance of the Bill of Rights, of the Constitution and all the amendments to the Constitution.

CALL TO ACTION

The Civil Rights Congress, under the captain, "Call to Action," is urging all Americans resident in Los Angeles, and through them to all Americans everywhere, to rise in protest against the unbelievable jailing of ten American citizens last week for refusing to answer certain questions which the Federal Grand jury put to them.

They stood upon their Constitutional rights in not answering. One of the questions specifically could have incriminated their friends, since it asked for the names of the officers of the Communist Party. And although the Communist Party is a legally organized political party in the U. S., and no one should even be subjected to the humiliation of being required to answer "Yes" or "No" as to membership therein, nevertheless the fact that twelve of the national officers of that Party were arrested and will have to stand trial for no reason at all except membership in the Party, would be enough t ocause any decent-minded citizen to pause when it comes to revealing names.

And for this reason they were sent to jail. Handcuffed together, like criminals. Two of the ten were women. And although these two were granted a short time to find baby-sitters for their children, they had to report back to jail last Monday.

Oh, yes, they were released. But this horrible thing happened here. In the United States of America. Not in Hitler's Germany, or Mussolini's Italy. We surely are taking long strides in seven-league boots toward the Fascism which prevailed in those two countries. And if we don't expect to be overwhelmed by the forces of reaction, as the people of those two countries were, we'd better heed the call to action of the CRC, and shout aloud from the housetops ourselves against this tyranny.

Incidentlly the CRC will hold a rally in the Embassy auditorium next Sunday, November 7, at 8 p.m. Better be there.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Now that the shouting and the ballyhoo are all over, and seasoned politicians as well as those new in the field have time to sit down and analyze the situation, one thing must surely strike everyone. That is the great number of groups that took part in the election, groups which formerly were silent when it came to a question of "politics."

There are the churches, organized labor, and the minority groups, especially the Negro.

The Church, as a whole, has scorned politics as being too dirty for its white purity. That is exactly what the leaders in the world of big business, capitalism, and free enterprise, would have it do. But in thus standing aloof from the world, it has become one of the most "worldly" institutions in existence, and consciously or not is one of the most effective tools of the warmongers in promoting war, perhaps World War III. In the World Council of Churches, which met in Amsterdam last summer, it was admitted that the "Church in almost all countries has lost the working class—has identified itself with the cause of the possessing class—and Western Imperialism."

But there are a few individual churches to which this description would not apply. A few who are letting their light shine in the murky darkness, and who dare to preach, as Jesus preached, a social gospel—a gospel that would make this old world a decent place to live in today and not the pie-in-the-sky kind that will let you go hungry here in the hope that you can enjoy a feast after you are dead.

And in that group the Negro Church—the kind of church which should not exist, but which nevertheless does—takes the lead. Virtually every Negro church in Los Angeles had discussion panels on the political issues before election day came around. Oh, yes, many "white" churches did the same. Notably the Methodist Church which national and inter-nationally has now organized "The Social Action Commission of the Methodist Church," and has thereby increased its membership a hundredfold.

But it is the Negro Church which leads the van in imbuing American politics with the spirit of Jesus.

Then there is organized labor. It was only a few years ago that labor unions believed implicitly their job was only to fight for higher wages and better working conditions from their employers. They did not bother with politics either, and nearly all—leaders and lay members alike—voted the straight Republican ticket as representing the candidates of their bosses.

"For," they reasoned, "if we let the bosses know we're on their side, they'll be more likely to give us higher wages and other things when we ask for them."

It took a Taft-Hartley law to wake up the working people of this country, and to make them realize that if they don't want any more laws of that nature, they'd better take an active interest in politics and vote not to please their employers, but for the benefit of themselves and all workers everywhere. The AFL and the CIO at long last are uniting, and Labor's League for Political Action of the AFL worked together with the Political Action Committee of the CIO in electing candidates to Congress who are the friends of Labor and not its enemy.

Finally there is the great mass of common people everywhere, whether members of a church, a labor union, or not. The housewives, the men and women who keep the domestic machinery moving in the homes of the wealthy, the agricultural workers on the great ranches, the little business people—the minority groups whether of race or creed or class.

They like the hundreds who were in distress, or in debt, or in trouble of any kind, who gathered around David some thousands of years ago, are moving together in a great mass today not only here in the United States of America, but in every part of the world. It is part of the great storm of protest, slowly rising, that will soon cover the sky. It is the inarticulate masses, spoken of contemptuously by the few in the higher brackets, who are becoming articulate.

And however the politicians of any group may explain the recent election, of this everyone may be assured. The people of America have just begun to fight. And to those who are uneasily reassuring themselves that they have laid the spirit of resistance, that now the American people will go back to their homes and their work, and think no more of politics, we can say, "You are very much mistaken. You were afraid of us today. But just you wait 'til 1952! Four more years will only increase the force of our resistance, the power of the great storm gathering against you. Then you really will run to the mountains and cry out for them to cover you."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

My dear Mrs. Bass:

I am sure it will interest you to know that we have two die-hard converts to the cause — my Pullman porter and a waiter.

I am speaking to a group this afternoon — also tomorrow — in New Orleans. Will be in Jackson Sunday night. Will hold conference with my women Monday.

I am still rejoicing over the grand address delivered by you Monday at Sojourner Truth Club. You are such an inspiration to thousands.

May God bless and keep you always, healthy, happy, and prosperous. that you may continue to carry the burning torch to lighten the pathway for us (who adore you) to follow on.

Lovingly yours,
Mabel Gray.

P.S. There are five copies of late issues of The California Eagle on the desk of my host and hostess, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Watkins. They will pass them on with marked articles.

To the Editor:

We of the Los Angeles Committee for Employment of the Handicapped wish to express our appreciation of the services rendered by both press and radio during National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Upon reminder, this community does acknowledge the active contribution which physically limited workers give to our manpower. Thanks to news and feature stories, pictures, radio programs and announcements, and other means of public information, Los Angeles was reminded that a worker should be hired on the basis of his ability.

Employers learned that it's better business to hire the handicapped—when they are properly trained and selected for the jobs they are to fill.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,
PAUL DIETRICH, Chairman
Los Angeles Committee for Employment of the Handicapped.

Beware the Avalanche!

This is the title of an editorial in the ILWU Strike Bulletin, calling on the citizens of the United States to beware of the fascism which is slowly creeping upon America now, but which at any moment may develop into an avalanche, rushing down the mountainside, burying everything in its path.

"The first move in the steps Hitler took to establish fascism in Germany," says the article, "was the weakening and control of the trade unions. This move has already gone far in this country; only a handful of militant, fighting unions (of which the ILWU is one) remains.

"Just as in Hitler Germany, these steps have been taken under a 'save-the-country-from-the-Reds' campaign. This witch-hunt campaign has reached the hysterical point where government agencies and the courts are now corrupted by big business. They are being used to undermine constitutional rights and to create further divisions in labor's ranks."

"IT IS LATER THAN YOU THINK," warns this editorial. "Failure to awaken in time or a failure to fight to preserve our civil liberties will allow big business to lead our country down the road to fascism, to enslave the American people and then lead them to war, death, and destruction.

"We must rally and unify the forces of all organized labor fight back against these vicious attacks before it is too late!"

Before the avalanche comes. No matter how disappointed anyone is because of the election results, we must rally and fight all the harder. No matter how elated one may be, if the candidate we voted for happened to win, that does not mean we can now fold our hands and go to sleep.

We must rally and unify the forces of all organized labor, of all labor, of all the common people, and fight back. Hard.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

American Fascism Is Different

Mayor Bowron, Deputy Police Chief Reed, and Under-Sheriff Jewel went before the Grand Jury last week as part of an inquiry into what the Jury called 'an invasion of the civil rights' of non-striking oil workers. The inquiry resulted from incidents that allegedly arose when certain oil workers disregarded the current oil strike and reported for work; in relation, strikers are supposed to have smeared tar and black paint on their homes and to have committed other acts that resulted in the Grand Jury action.

JOHN M. LEE

There is no consistency in the action of the Grand Jury, but it cannot be denied that there is a purpose. Recently, Mayor Bowron has been seeing Communists under his official bed, and the night-mare has stuck with him long enough for him to yell out loud during his waking hours, that Communists are trying to louse up the fine work of his fine police department. The Mayor, if you please, is the chief apologist for the police who killed Herman Burns, and he has yet to announce that he will not tolerate unnecessary roughness by the police.

Neither Mayor Bowron nor the Grand Jury has seen fit to act in the hundreds of cases of cross-burning, house-smearing, telephone threats, and cellar flooding that are still occurring against minority citizens. It will probably take an act of Congress to force the mayor or the Grand Jury to investigate the happenings down in Compton where house-smearing and paint-daubing are almost daily occurrences.

It is difficult to understand how a Grand Jury can see an invasio nof civil rights in the alleged acts against the homes of oil workers, and manage to close its eyes to the continuing campaign of terror that i sbeing carried on against some citizens because of their race or color.

None of us are naive enough to believe, as the Mayor boasted at his recent anniversary dinner, that there is no second class citizenship in Los Angeles. The performance of your Grand Jury, Mr. Mayor, proves that there is. It is not necessary to go hunting for invasion or abuse of civil rights, when only recently the home of a citizen came close to being reduced to ashes from the fire of a cross burned on her front lawn. And what about the civil rights of Herman Burns? Or the civil rights of his brothers who are yet to appear in court on charges slapped against them to make the killing of their brother look legal?

And what about Augustin Salcido? Did he have any civil rights to begin with? Would the grand Jury investigate the police who are responsible for the brutal killing of a Negro or a Mexican? Is a continuing campaign of terror and intimidation an abuse of civil rights?

The pretext for almost every investigation of certain forces is currently based on the screaming fear of Communists. The Grand Jury was supposedly looking for Communist inspiration in the oil strike incidents. Evidently it is not the Communists who are responsible for the acts of violence against the property and persons of minority citizens; ergo, no investigation.

What becomes of these lawless lements who are not Communists, but who threaten and destroy with what we must assume is impunity? Are they the better Americans who alone have civil rights? Are they less lawless because they hate Russia and more than one third of this nation's people? Is what they represent a strong enough foundation on which to build this nation's future?

The Mayor and the Grand Jury are aware that there must be no discrimination in dealing with investigations and prosecutions; a law-breaker is a law-breaker whatever his station or position, whatever his religious or political belief. It is dangerous to base the security of a community on a narrow interpretation of the meaning of civil rights and on a denial of those rights to a mass of the citizens.

Fascism is an ugly word; it is uglier in fact. It comes when the people surrender their rights to protest against injustice because of a national emergency—usually a threat of war. We have that threat of war; we have the daily evidence that the people are surrendering their right of protest. Fascism is different in America. It calls itself, one hundred per cent, white, Christian Americanism.

W. J. Wheaton Says

When this is read, if read, the people of this USA will know who is to govern them for the next four years. As matters shape at this time, it looks like Tom Dewey and Earl Warren. Should Truman be defeated he will go down with colors flying. Say what you will: the President has proven to be a sincere friend of the common people. The men who toil have had no better friend. He has shown courage under pressure. If he had repudiated his Civil Rights stand, the Dixiecrats would have embraced him with open arms. But he stood by his guns and defied the three K crowd.

The fight of the President has been a handicap. President Truman had to fight Tom Dewey, Harry Wallace, and the Dixiecrats, while Dewey had only the President to combat. As we write this it is with the hope that common sense will overcome blinding enthusiasm, and our prognostication be wrong. But as we see it, it is a "forlorn hope."

Whoever wins, the country will somehow muddle through.

The most strenuous campaign in northern California has been the contest between the GOP candidate Maillard vs. the incumbent Democrat Franck R. Havenner, in the Fourth Congressional District. It has been a contest backed by preferred interests against those of "human rights."

Every attempt to smear Havenner with Communism has proved a boomerang. Havenner's record in Congress shows his unbiased interest for the best interest of the nation as well as that of the State and District. We hope he wins! So much for politics. We'll all live through it. Maybe with buttered bread, or maybe with soup. There has been no promise of the cars in the garage or chicken in every pot. All in all, this has been a clean campaign.

Very little name calling, and just a few distortions of facts. Some of us have lived in the clouds with visions of the "Utopia" and some have hidden in the "Slough of Despond," but we all have come to the conclusion that the old USA is the best government in the world.

It has its deficiencies, and many faults may be found in her structure, but skilled workmanship can, and will make the structure strong. That skilled workmanship is being provided by our schools and universities. Education, with understanding, is rapidly lowering the bars which discriminate against and divide the people. To be a united nation there must be a united people. The doctrine is being understood, if slowly, by thinking minds. The process might seem slow, but every sign of the times points to success.

There is no power that can stop it. The full rights of citizens must be for all. We don't believe in the crying Hepzias, or whatever that crying fellow's name was, but we do like to march beside the fellow who knows what he's fighting for; knows who he's fighting; knows his strategy, and the most vulnerable point to attack. Of course there will, for some time, be those in the group that will offer panaceas for a price. They must be watched and eliminated.

We are leaving to spend the week end with our friends at the farm, where we will receive the results of the election. The three Mary Anns and Josh have promised us a treat. It will be a pleasure, and we look forward to it with pleasure; to meet with our old and treasured friends. We long to hear the philosophic sayings of the senior Mary Ann, and the naivete of the younger.

As we are dieting, we shall be careful that we do not partake too freely of the many tempting foods. But we know that they will be as solicitous, concerning our health, that it will be of a benefit to us.

At any rate we are looking forward to the visit with delight. There are many happy moments in this drab existence when a sincere friendship is a boon. It's like a weary traveller finding a spring in the desert. There is a plaque which we hung in our den. It was received from a friend of long ago, who has solved the great mystery. It reads like this:

"When the beauty of understanding
Into our lives has trod
We often call it Friendship
Though we know that it is God."

We have cherished that little memento through the years, and often when we are about to doubt the motives of some one we revert to that plaque. We know that our friends up on the farm are friends, proven friends.

Aside from suicides, bank holdups, and the general run of city happenings San Francisco, after the Portola Carnival, has been very quiet. Nothing out of the ordinary has occurred to create any undue excitement. As has been noted, the quadrennial "fly by night" political clubs have closed their doors, and the occupants are hard to find. They have milked the gullible fellows

☆ POTPOURRI ☆

This election campaign has proved, among many things, that mud-slinging will not win votes. The candidates on the Republican ticket for the 14th Congressional district, went the limit when it came to part-truths, inuendos, and lies cut out of the whole cloth. There seemed to be nothing too small, and nothing too big to hurl in the form of mud against the Democratic candidate, Helen Gahagan Douglas.

But "Our Helen," who was endorsed by the Independent Progressive Party, and who has fought so courageously for us in Congress, was sent back with an overwhelming majority.

No, mud-slinging doesn't help.

In this election campaign, all of the Negro newspapers except The California EAGLE, backed the candidacy of the entire Dewey-Warren ticket. The editor of one newspaper especially, who had been a Democrat for 16 years, came out for Dewey and in a sizzling editorial told why he was forsaking the Democrats now, and joining the ranks of the Grand Old Elephant Party.

He and all the others are now trying to figure out what happened.

A pre-election rally held in the Pacoima School last week, was highly successful. William B. Esterman, candidate for Congress in the 20th District; Henry Marquez, of Amigos de Wallace, and Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of THE California Eagle, were among the speakers. A 20-minute skit staged by the Young Progressives was very much enjoyed.

A rally under the auspices of the Civil Rights Congress will be held in the Embassy auditorium, Sunday, Nov. 7, at 8 p.m. to protest the jail sentence of the ten witnesses who refused to answer questions of the Federal Grand Jury as to the officers of the Communist Party in Los Angeles County.

Ten who were in jail on election day, were kept there. Two women who were given time to get some one to care for their children, were not required to serve.

If it is true that the head office of the NAACP advised the branches all over the country to take no action in a budding nationwide loyalty test campaign, designed to find out who is and who isn't loyal to the government, then in the opinion of the plemaker the organization is derelict of its duty.

Daily we hear on the radios this statement: "Ours is the only free country in the world where you may vote according to the dictates of your conscience."

If this is true, why all the excitement about loyalty tests?

The executive committee of the Independent Progressive Party will meet next Thursday, November 11, at the county headquarters, 2960 West 8th street, at 8 p.m. The executive committee meets every second and fourth Thursdays of the month.

The people who bet on Truman are gleefully hauling in the shekels this week especially from those who bet 15 to 1 on Dewey.

We're going to have a liberal Democratic Congress for the next two years. No excuse now to blame anything on Congress.

Bombay dockworkers have gone on strike for living wages and for the abolition of the notorious sarang system which permits contractors to hire men by the day and fire them any time they want to.

The Indian dockwallopers are demanding seniority rights, and the hiring of workers on a permanent basis. The present earnings of a dockworker in India are between $12 and $13 a month.

United Electrical Workers, Local 1012, Ontario, is doing a bang-up job aiding the strike of the ILWU. They not only have given contributions and collected food, but they are now running a series of their own ads in local newspapers for public support of this strike.

"This is the kind of support that wins strikes," says the ILWU. "We salute and thank the Electrical Workers."

BOOKS and AUTHORS

A LOOK AT BOOKS

PLACE: Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi Avenue. Vernon Branch Library, 4504 South Central Avenue.

TIME: Monday through Friday, 1:00-9:00 p.m. Saturday, 9:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m.

The librarians urge you to take advantage of this free service in your own neighborhood.

The Helen Hunt Jackson Branch has received the following new books recently:

"How to Read for Self-Improvement" by Frank K. Levin is a "practical guide to efficient study habits." It is planned to help those who want to get the most from books and the most from life. The author feels that reading is a skill so closely associated with a person's capacity for leadership that its importance cannot be overemphasized. Just as there are technicians in any activity so there are principles which will improve the ability to concentrate and to make reading more effective. It is an excellent book for anyone who finds reading a grind and wishes to make it a pleasure. A careful study of the suggestions given should help anyone to read faster, concentrate better, grasp meanings more quickly and improve the memory.

"The White Witnesses" by Helen Spalding is the story of a sculptor who places his work before his wife whom he had married for convenience. Her great love for him makes this way of living intolerable for her and she commits suicide. After her death she becomes almost an obsession with him as he realizes how much she had meant to him. His sister and another woman who loves him both try to break down his wall of loneliness. His lively young daughter becomes involved in a hopeless love affair with a married writer. Events move to ultimate catastrophe which finally brings him back to the world of reality and to the three women who each love him in her own way. It is an absorbing psychological novel convincingly told.

"Juvenile Delinquency: Practical Prevention" by Ben Solomon emphasizes the fact that something must be done about this problem. The author gives little about causes and statistics but tells of concrete types of action that we can take immediately to reduce delinquency by cutting off the supply. In his closing chapter he lists "One hundred and one things to do now" bringing his plan for action into sharp focus. He goes into the home, the school, the recreation places, the neighborhoods and gives Do's and Don'ts for policemen as well. He raises the question of how we ourselves are helping and stresses the fact that children are bound to copy what they see in others.

"The Room Beyond" by Robert Spencer Carr is the result of twenty years of travel and study. During that time however he has done some newspaper and magazine writing, worked in factories, driven trucks, and was in the war as a private, from choice. In this novel Dan pursues the elusive, gay and saint-like Christine from boyhood to old age, from Ohio to New Mexico. She hides her rare beauty in the obscurity and self-sacrifice of nursing. Other women appeal to Dan's passions only and his goal is to find his first love and to discover the source of her strange power and insight. It is an exciting story, full of action, both physical and psychological, and rises to a climax in which the fear of death is challenged and defied.

"Roanoke Hundred" by Inglis Fletcher is another exciting novel of the Carolinas. It is a vivid re-creation of the dramatic exploits of Sir Richard Grenville, powerful English landholder, and his ill-fated settlement of Roanoke Island, the first English settlement in North America. There is the ever-mounting suspense of the voyage and the swift defeat of the Spanish Armada, the exciting account of the heroic sea-battle when he stood against the massed Spanish fleet with only the Revenge and his fighting men. The author has traveled extensively through the regions she portrays and studied the original documents of the time to familiarize herself with the age she depicts so realistically.

"Your Baby; the Complete Baby Book for Mothers and Fathers" by Gladys Denny Shultz, contributing editor of Ladies' Home Journal, and Dr. Lee Forrest Hill covers everything from the time of pregnancy is first suspected to the time the child is ready for school—advice for fathers as well as mothers. There are many photographs and drawings which help to prove that parenthood can be fun. As a result of the work of these authors many thousands of people have been helped to get a good start in life in spite of extraordinary difficulties.

"Lonely Passage" is by Loula Grace Erdman who again gives us a novel of the countryside in Missouri, her native state. It is a quiet tender study of the human heart and mind of Thurley Renfro, daughter of Jennie Pemberton who is lonely in spite of her place in the Pemberton Clan, which is so self-sufficient and self-contained and so numerous that they almost form a community in themselves. The author won the Dodd, Mead Redbook novel contest in 1947 with her first published novel "The Years of the Locust."

"Here is the Veldt" by Attilio Gatti is profusely illustrated with photographs of people and places and animals of South Africa. The author has headed many expeditions to Africa and here he takes us with him as he discovers a cave with the rock paintings of Bushmen, the oldest South African race of which we have any knowledge. His camera records strange ceremonies in a Zulu village. He takes us to the gold mines and to modern Johannesburg, "a great luminous city with wide beautifully planned streets at 6,000 feet above sea level." We get something of history of the Union and the problems and possibilities of the future.

By Their Food You Count Them

Measuring new population by the food it consumes, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reported today that newcomers who have settled in the Southland since 1940 keep 3,200,000 hens and 48,790 cows working overtime to supply their annual egg and milk needs.

What's more, the 1,625,567 new residents eat vegetables from 21,790 acres, oranges from 3,400 acres and potatoes from 11,000 acres.

Chairman Roy M. Hagen of the Chamber's Agriculture Committee came up with these statistics.

Bacon may be pan-fried or broiled, as desired, but the heat always should be kept low.

● Job Counsellor

QUESTION: I always seem to miss the announcements of good civil service jobs. Isn't there some way that I can be placed on the list for notice? Pete L.

ANSWER: The method of handling notification differs in each community. Some localities are willing to notify you of an examination due to be announced within the next 30 days. Others will advise you when to watch for announcements in your occupation. Public libraries, schools, community centers, civic buildings, some churches and all offices of the California State Employment Service set aside regular bulletin boards for the posting of current civil service opportunities.

If you sincerely desire to enter civil service you will need to make a definite plan of action. You will first of all wish to know whether there usually are openings in city, county, federal or state civil serviee in your line of work. You then will wish to make inquiry of the local civil service representatives concerning your possibilities for employment. Files are maintained in these offices of previous announcements. You can check your qualifications against the examination requirements.

Interviewers at the California State Employment Service offices in metropolitan Los Angeles keep informed of current civil service examinations scheduled for the fields in which they specialize. Oftentimes they have application forms on hand; they do not have extra copies of the announcements, however. You would want to secure your own copy of the announcement in orrer to plan your study program and to guide you in preparing your application.

TIP: Keep your employment record up to date. Slip two or three extra carbons into the typewriter when filling out your civil service application. Then when you do hear about an examination you'll have your material ready to be one of the first to apply. Order of filing is used in case of a tie but such instances are rare.

who paid them a price for votes they could not control, and for influence they never had, nor never could get.

We were greatly impressed by the understanding attitude taken at a meeting of some high school students recently. We were sorry that some of the high school students were not there, because it concerned the admittance of a non-Aryan into one of their select circles of learning. Their discussions showed the broad trend of thought that the young people of this era are taking on the problems that are world wide.

It's a hopeful sign and speaks well for the future for those young men and young women are the potential leaders of the future.

One of the students quoted Abraham Lincoln's "No nation can survive half slave and half free." Another stated the brotherhood of man was the foundation of world peace. Those young students showed a knowledge of world problems that would make many of us blush, if we could, with shame.

Cooking sausage in the oven takes longer but is convenient and economical if the oven is being used for other foods.

Job Counsellor

By WILLIAM L. WOOD

DEAR READER: Let me get acquainted with you so you may have a good idea as to what I have set out to accomplish. I have been given a commission by the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the state of California of which I am a member.

My commission has for its purpose, to further and establish your rights, to look after the cause of the Negro and to establish and see that he gets his rights from the standpoint of Law and Order. I shall put forth my best effort to keep you informed upon all efforts set forth by me to bring about better conditions in general. That means for better housing and school conditions, clean streets, and above all, better street cars. These in service now are just about ready to fall apart and they go to make up the worst condition that now exists on the Eastside. If you don't believe me, take a day off and see for yourself.

I am writing and telling those who are still trying to cram down your throats that this is the richest country in the world, best fed, best clothed. For whom? To, my friend, not for you, I mean the plain people of which I am one myself. Just let me quote one of Abraham Lincoln's sayings, God bless him, I wish he were here today to see what this cock-eyed world is doing for the plain people. He said, and I quote him, "God must have loved the plain people for he made so many of them." I am sure it was not his wishes that they be shoved around and handed so many idle promises, none, if any, had any sincerity.

That's what you have been getting in this campaign that is now coming to a close. Take the Governor of this great state who has been galivanting all over the country at your expense telling people how they should put their house in order when his own in so rotten that it has begun to smell. Do you remember the increase in gasoline which gave to the City of the Angels (without wings) a slush fund of a hundred million dollars for your Speedway which will displace about eighty thousand families?

Has he done anything about it? Did he make this state great? No, I will say, he didn't; climatic conditions made it so. But what has he done to take care of the people of this great state? He has done very little here.

Do you remember how he has been telling the other 47 states what he and Brother Tom will do for them? Promise Promise Promise is all we have had from the party of the rich (God bless them) and relieve them of their worry to try and get what little is left outside of their clutches.

Remember a car in every garage and two chickens in every pot. Well, it could turn out that you haven't got a chance to get the garage, they are so valuable on the East Side because you have to live in them, and will be darn lucky if you have a pot to put the chicken in (if you can get the chicken).

Well, here is the story for this issue. All the things I have told you about could be known to you, but you are still receiving the Brand of Salve that they are dishing out. It must be a good one and you don't like it but you are not doing anything about it.

Don't you think it is about time you were waking up? Go out and register and vote at all times. Stop fighting among yourselves and perfect and organize so that you can get what belongs to you. And by all means, vote and elect someone to office whom you can depend on and will give you without discrimination until my next issue which I know you will enjoy reading, I am,

Sincerely yours,
William L. Wood who says, "Need any more salve? If so, get your own brand."

The Road to Health

TB—Completing the Cure

By HUGH A. BROWNE, M.D.
Superintendent, Medical Director
McRae Memorial Sanatorium
Alexander, Arkansas

If a carpenter tried to give you advice on legal matters, or if a truck driver offered to make you a suit of clothes, chances are you wouldn't pay much attention to either man. Naturally you go to a lawyer for legal advice, or to the tailor or clothing shop for a good suit.

Why is it, then, that some tuberculosis patients take the advice of well-meaning but ill-informed friends—or even try to decide for themselves— when it comes to their hospital stay? No two cases of tuberculosis are exactly alike and the doctor caring for the individual case is the only one qualified to give advict on this score.

A few years ago, a friend of mine whom I shall call Henry Evans found out that he had tuberculosis. At first he cooperated wonderfully with his doctor, going to the sanatorium as soon as arrangements were completed and generally doing everything that was advised by his doctor. The doctor was very pleased with the good progress that Henry seemed to be making against his illness.

Henry had a life-long friend from whom he had never been separated until he became ill. The two had gone through school together, went on vacations together, and, as they grew up, spent their free time together. Now with Henry in the sanatorium, his friend had temporarily lost ris favorite baseball and bowling companion.

Henry's friend came faithfully to the sanatorium to see him. But as the months passed, his visits became bad for Henry, because the friend, impatient for his companiosnip, kept telling Henry that he looked fine and well enough to leave.

Without meaning to, Henry's friend gradually shook the patient's faith in his doctor. One day, Henry asked the doctor if he could leave the sanatorium. The doctor told Henry that, while he was doing very well, it was not safe for him to go home yet. He warned Henry that if he left the sanatorium too soon he might have another and more serious breakdown.

But Henry listened to his impatient friend, and a few days later left the sanatorium against his doctor's advice. Moreover, he immediately went back to baseball and bowling and late hours.

Tow months later, Henry was a very sick man. Just as the doctor had feared, this time his illness was more serious and would take a longer time to cure. As a matter of fact, Henry had a very difficult time during his second stay at the sanatorium and at first it looked as if he wouldn't pull through. But Henry had learned a very costly lesson. This time he stayed at the sanatorium until he was completely well and to this day he takes good care of his health and goes frequently for check-ups to the doctor whose advice he once ignored.

36th Street PTA

The regular meeting of the 36th Street school PTA will be held Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 2 p.m. Meeting will be held in the school auditorium with Mrs. Cecil McLinn, president, presiding.

Guest speaker will be Miss Elizabeth Gunn, Primary Superintendent of Social Studies of the West District.

Following the meeting tea will be served in the school cafeteria.

The Common Defense,

Those who think that progress cannot be made in the struggle against prejudice should consider what is happening in college fraternities and sororities.

In 1946, the 13 fraternities at Amherst College were told that they had to abolish racial and religious discrimination. They all agreed.

The Student Council of Brooklyn College suspended a local fraternity which failed to remove discriminatory clauses from its constitution.

An honorary journalistic sorority at Hunter College withdrew from its national organization because of a discriminatory clause against Negroes.

Honorary societies at the University of Chicago may not continue in existence unless they abolish discriminatory practices.

National fraternities and sororities may not establish chapters at Arizona State College if their constitutions discriminate on the basis of race, creed, or color.

The University of Minnesota's Inter-fraternity Council has agreed to abolish discrimination in fraternities. The Pan-Hellenic Council has taken similar action where sororities are concerned.

An honorary law fraternity at the University of Wisconsin withdrew from its national in order to admit members of every race and creed. At the University of Vermont a sorority was willing to have its charter revoked by its national office rather than bar Negroes from membership.

The University of Colorado has refused to approve new societies, honorary and social, which have constitutions limiting membership in terms of race or religion. The University of Washington will not grant recognition to any new organization having religious or racial restrictions on membership eligibility.

Local inter-faith and inter-racial fraternities have been organized at Ohio State, Ohio Wesleyan, Marietta, Baldwin Wallace —with similar groups on the way at Bucknell and Minnesota.

Prejudice knows no boundaries. Neither does the offensive against it. And America is on the offensive against it. We are making progress. Join the fight against prejudice—NOW—wherever you may be—in your community, office, factory, union.

husband which added to her feeling of depression. She went to the bathroom. Later when Mrs. Holston entered the bathroom, she found Mrs. Lima writhing in pain. A bottle that had contained iodine was on the floor.

Mrs. Holston administered an antidote and an emetic. An ambulance was summoned. By the time the ambulance arrived, Mrs. Lima had ejected some of the iodine from her stomach.

The policemen on the ambulance made no examination of the suffering woman, and instructed her to walk, downstairs to the ambulance. On the way to the hospital, Mrs. Lima continued to throw up as the result of the emetic action. Because she was sitting up with Mrs. Holston holding her, Mrs. Lima "threw up" indiscriminately. Some of the matter got on Mrs. Holston's dress. When she asked the policeman who was in the ambulance with them for a towel, he threw it to her.

When they arrived at Georgia Street Hospital, Mrs. Holston was in a highly excited state. She was forcibly removed from the receiving room when she kept demanding that Mrs. Lima's stomach be pumped out. When she insisted on watching the examination and treatment of her friend, Mrs. Holston was forcibly taken out of the building by a policeman who put her in a squad car.

In the squad car, the policeman asked Mrs. Holston insulting questions about Negro people, and he acted in a suggestive manner. When Mrs. Holston asked could she go inside to clean off her clothing, he asked, "What for? You put it on there, didn't you?"

He later released her, and she went into the hospital where she saw Mrs. Lima sitting with her head hanging over a sink. She repeated her request that Mrs. Lima's stomach be pumped out, and she asked to be allowed to take her to a private doctor. As she walked to the elevator with Mrs. Lima, Mrs. Holston was seized by two policemen and placed under arrest.

Mrs. Holston's husband, William Holston, runs in charge of special club cars on the Southern Pacific. He went to Georgia Street Hospital to drive his wife and Mrs. Lima home. He was told that his wife was under arrest.

Mr. Holston explained to the officer in charge that his wife was upset by the near tragedy and that he would take her home. He was told she was under arrest and would be taken to Lincoln Heights jail. His offer to put up bail for her release was refused, and he was told he could not do anything to obtain her release for five hours.

At Lincoln Heights, Mrs. Holston was told she would be given a sobriety test. She expressed willingness to undergo the test, but it was never given. Despite this, the final charge placed against her was intoxication.

Mrs. Holston told a California Eagle reporter that the police at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital, believing she was white, asked her why she associated with Negro men, and they were surprised to learn she considered herself a Negro. They asked her about her father's race and made disparaging remarks about mixed Negroes.

The Holstons live at 1803½ W. 29th st. Mrs. Holston is presently engaged in private catering.

Chicken With More Meat On The Way

Poultrymen in California will have an opportunity to win cash awards while working toward improvement of their own flocks by competing in a new three-year, nationwide program launched at a meeting of leaders of the nation's three-billion-dollar poultry, industry at Lexington, Ky., recently.

The new Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest announced by H. L. Shrader, senior extension poultryman of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, is designed to bring superior meat-type chickens to American dinner tables by encouraging the breeding and development of plumper, meatier birds which can be more economically produced.

rights granted in the Constitution such as throwing off Jim Crow and all that goes with that term, as Henry Wallace advocated, we must renounce the kind of political leadership that would keep people in ignorance in order to buy their votes.

It is understood that one of the major parties made substantial contributions along this line in the campaign just ended. That party must have learned, or should have learned, that it does not bring results to pay some people to smear others. That sort of thing has simply got to go. The people are on the march. And corrupt politics, mud-slinging, the buying of votes, and all that goes with that outworn method of winning elections, must be crushed never to rise again.

Anent the propositions and amendments on the election ballot, the people showed a disinclination to vote one way or the other on them. Not nearly so many voted for them as for the candidates for office. Perhaps this negligence of duty on the part of the voters can be traced to the complicated and ambiguous wording of the measures.

"It would take a Philadelphia lawyer to understand them," said one worried woman, trying to figure out what one meant.

Beta Pi Sigma Sorority Makes Ready for Annual Around the Clock Show

The average woman spends many hours planning her wardrobe yet ever so often she is disappointed for she finds after completing her dress she has not achieved that "Dressed Up Look" she had hoped to obtain.

The women of the Beta Pi Sigma Sorority have in store for the clothes conscious individuals of Los Angeles a preview of winter and early spring fashions to be worn AROUND THE CLOCK, on November 28th, at the Club Congo from 5 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Nora James is the capable chairman of fashions for the third annual review by Beta Pi Sigma. Mrs. James majored in textiles and design at Southern University after graduating from high school and has continuously delved in fashions for more than ten years so her background assures the guest of a well planned show.

If you want to dress up, look nice, be neat at all times whether at the office, spending a quiet evening at home, downtown shopping or out after "five," you'll want to see FASHIONS AROUND THE CLOCK, says Mrs. Ameera Clark, co-chairman of Promotions along with Mrs. James.

Mrs. Juanita L. Jones, president of the sorority, announces this will be the biggest and best show yet. She is asking for the support of the public to assist in putting over this affair whose proceeds will be used for scholarships throughout the year.

Mrs. Maggie Rawls and Mrs. Bernice Nance may be contacted for tickets and reservations.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE PAST WEEK END bowed out in a blaze of parties and more parties. There were many private shindigs and a mass of public gatherings. Most of these affairs are a general run of the mill, so to speak. However, occasionally a party takes place that has a different flare which results in terms of enjoyment for all present. Hence on Saturday, in the ultra modern West 27th street home of Dorothy Nicholas, the Crop 'N' Tails aided and abetted by a glittering guest list, put on a soiree that will long be remembered by those present for its subtle combination of opulence and good taste. In the first place there were only about 50 guests invited. Secondly, all present followed the invitations and wore colorful costumes that were exclusively in the realm of men's pajamas, with the exception of Morriston Washington, Bill Farrington and the Beavers brothers a foursome who chose to add even a gayer note to the Pajamerino by wearing long wool night dresses. The evening's fun got off to a rapid pace with Hazel Shumate leading the newest relay in the game family "Orange." We spied Cris Wright slowly but surely catching on to the swing of the hilarious game, while the competing team, led by Leonard Grimes walked off with the prize. Lovely Carolyn Henington showed up to the surprise of many, looking fit as a fiddle. The Crop member has been out of circulation due to illness. Bob Ellis, the "Ebony" man, spent most of the evening trailing the new Pacific Coast representative of "Our World," who covered the Pajamerino from beginning to end. Chatted with Alma Collins for the first time since her return from Chi University, her escort was, as it use to be, Joe Henderson. Marcela and Donal Miller, as quiet as it was kept, were celebrating their first wedding anniversary by having fun galore. The former Jean Brown (Harrison) arrived on the scene a bit late but in time to enjoy the chili feed in the patio. Odessa and Vance Jones were especially pleased with the show, that was complete with dancing girls. Dotty Bass and Dotty Nicholas; two good joke crackers, Dr. Nate Fearonce and Leonard Beavers; a singer of songs we love to hear, James Patton; and two Apache dancers, LeRoy Beavers and Dorothy Fearonce. I can't begin to put on paper the hilarity that held sway at this affair. Believe me, it was a long and fastidious night and one that wont be forgotten soon by such as Dr. Ellis Toney and his Wini, Joe Saunders, Sara Jones, Bill Milton and Maethilde Kenner, Dessie and Jimmy Reese, Chester Hill, down from Cal University for the game; handsome Gene Walker, who escorted Fay Hopkins and seems to be getting quite serious; Van Dow, Becky Farrington, Jane Criner, Gloria and Stan Malone and a host of others.

Just before the guests started giving the hostess their umble adieus, Ernie Andrew of recording fame and the Tranier twins sang most of their hit numbers. John Brewer served as official M.Cee of the show assisted by Emmet Ashford. Must mention winsome Jeni LeGon, for she was much in evidence claiming the attention of all. By the way, if and when the Crop 'N' Tail Pajamarino party comes out in "Our World," be sure to get a copy, for the pictures will tell the story better than ye ole chronicler. Rest assured, however the party was the greatest yet.

Same night, same time, found most of the collegiates at the home of Shirley Spencer where the glamerous Spinsters stirred up brew for the goblins and black cats to sip in true Halloween style. Spinsters and company included, Phyllis Williams and Charles Singleton, Louise Meza and Jim White, Kathleen Mason and Sherril Luke, Joyce Finney and Herbie Howard, Mary Pollard and Teddy Williams, Joan Johnson and Bob Williams, Weldina Hefflin and the Phi Beta Kappa man from the East, Bill Alexander, of course the hostess, Miss Spencer danced more than once with Frank Davis. As per usual, this collegiate affair had its proper amount of gate crashers who seemed to enjoy the dancing and eats more than the invited guests.

The Halloween holiday was reason enough for party giving. Several affairs were occasioned by the Cal-S.C. game. Hence James White, Kappa man from Pasadena had guests from the Berkeley campus including the best dressed coed of the campus Frances Williams, formerly of L. A. Gay Williams and Tom Pritchard. . . . Marjorie Garrott is another local deb who put out the welcome mat on Saturday night in honor of visiting northerners. Pretty Joyce Purnell from Oakland was the honoree and among local pretties present were, Norma Williams, Jackie Lewis, Gerry Barnum and a bevy more. . . .

Still in the festive mood, but with a definite purpose, Chiquita Adams chose Saturday night to entertain in grand style. Bubbling champagne accompanied by fitting toasts told the friends of this younger social set that her sis, Cover girl, Peggy Adams and Leon Rene Junior, have decided to tie the knot. This courtship has been going on for quite some time. Of course Leon Jr., comes

Phi Beta Sigma Undergrads Climax Day With Neophyte Party At C. W. Hill's Home

Sunday, Oct. 31, was a very eventful day for the men of Alpha Upsilon Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity. The activities started early in the afternoon when the men attended enmass the beautiful wedding ceremony that united popular basketball star Douglas Shaw and the lovely Jean Patterson. The Sigma gents were also much in evidence at the reception that followed at the couple's 9th Avenue home.

The scene of Sigma activities changed Sunday night to the lovely hill top setting of Dr. C. W. Hill's Hollywood residence. This Hallowe'en night climaxed a week of probation activities for eight potential sigma men, and ended 12 months of pledging in the Crescent Club of Phi Beta Sigma. The sobriety of the initiation ceremony and speech by William Hendricks, president of the undergraduate chapter, changed when the men of Sigmas were joined by their wives and sweethearts in the rumpus room and bar of the abode to enjoy the entertaining of Lemuel C. Williams at the piano. It was a great night for the neophytes who were honorees of the evening. Enjoying the buffet supper and dancing were the following Sigma gents and company; the Howard Holts, Irving and Doris Smith, Bill Land and Nancy Balch, Fred and Mattie Bluett, the Theodus Marshes, Fred and Clarica Williams, Joe Mayfield, Clarence McNeely, Arthur Spencer, Alphonse Triplett, Jordan Daniels, Sir Howard and company, the newly married DeMille Prices and a host of others.

The complete initiation and pledge period was under the leadership of I. C. Smith, Dean of Pledges; Phil Middleton, Jake Jenkins and Bill Land. The initiates first met at the home of Dean Smith for hazing and orientation.

The neophytes are eager to join the brothers of the undergraduate chapter in presenting the annual Phi Beta Sigma "Honey Ball" that is slated this year for Nov. 20, from 9:00 p.m. until at Alena's Club House, 29th and Western Avenue. Scholarships will benefit the proceeds, and the men of Sigma are expecting this to be the affair of the year...

"COOKIE," sweetheart of the Lampados (Lamps) pledge club of Eta Sigma chapter, Omega Psi Phi fraternity. The 41 members of the organization unanimously selected the winsom lass, who is really Marcella Donnelly, senior student at Lincoln university (Mo.) from St. Louis. On the occasion of their pre-homecoming formal dance, she was presented orchids, a bouquet of flowers and a gift. She will reign for one year as their sweetheart. A. A. Dunson is sponsor of the chapter and Robert W. Hicks is dean of pledges.

Dorothy Maynor In Concert At Philharmonic On November 19

Los Angeles will play host to another great singer when the diminutive soprano Dorothy Maynor sings under Mary Bran's auspices in Philharmonic Auditorium on Friday evening, November 19, at 8:30 p.m.

The daughter of a Methodist minister, Dorothy Maynor originally planned a career as a teacher of home economics and handicrafts, and enrolled as a student at Hampton Institute.

But there her voice won the attention of the great composer Nathaniel Dett, whose recent death was so great a loss to American music, and under his leadership she toured America and Europe as a member of the world-famed Hampton Institute Choir.

Thanks to her understanding of all phases of music, by virtue of her studies at Hampton Institute, and later under Dr. John Finley Williamson at the famous Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N. J., Miss Maynor immeasurably added to her prestige as an orchestral soloist in later years.

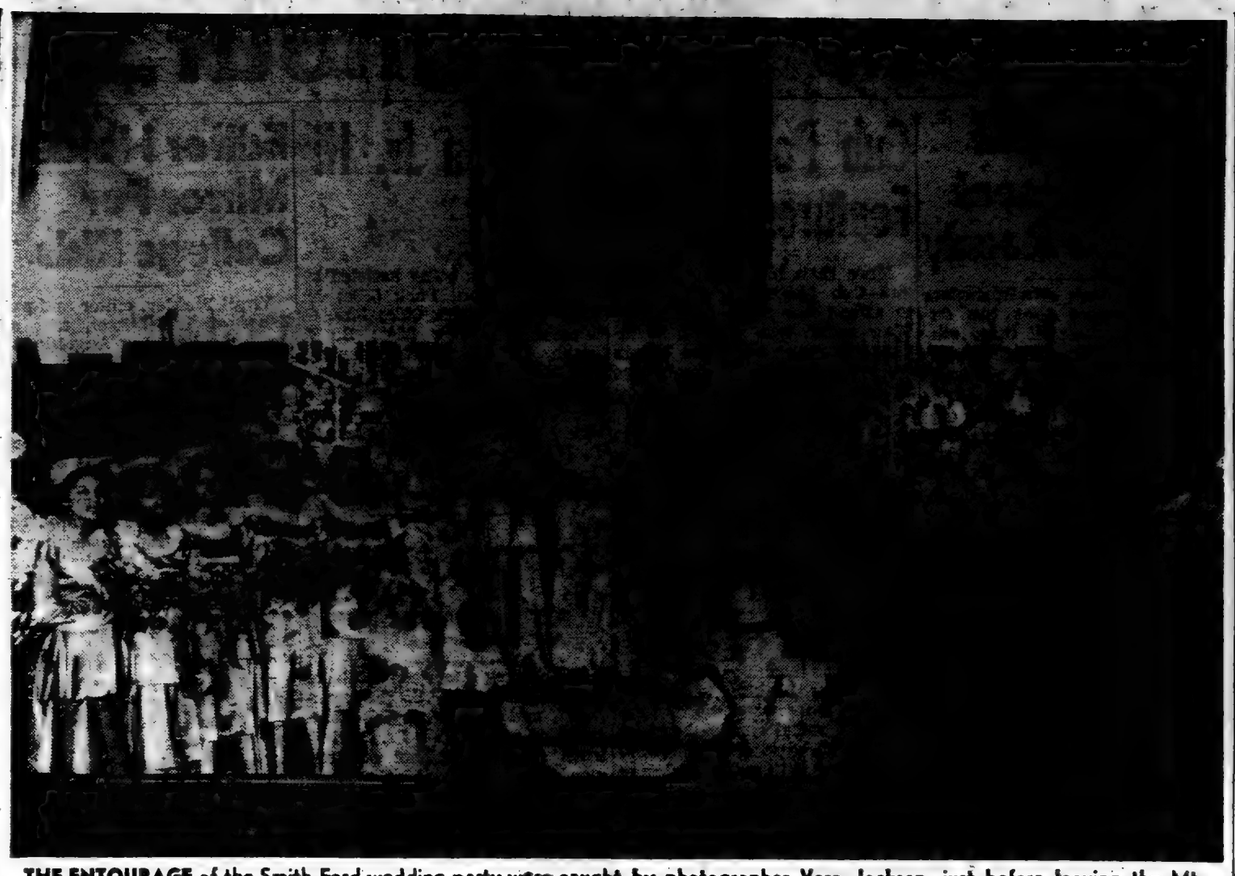
from the family of Renes so very well known in the music and recording circles, Rene Senior being president of the Exclusive Recording company. The wedding date is yet undecided....

HERE AND THERE

Beauteous Joyce Maynard, AKA coed residing at Stevens House on campus made it to the semi-finals in the recent campus queen polling out Westwood way. It's true that Joyce didn't win top honors, but she made a famous first in being the number 1 tan lovely to take part in this all important campus venture. In mentioning Stevens's House, brings to mind, the fine job the Auxiliary women of the Medical Dental Pharmaceutical Association have planned to benefit the House that is strictly interracial and is at present a big help to several race girls now living on campus. Proceeds from the Auxiliary's Harvest Ball planned for Nov. 23, will be used to furnish a room at Stevens House. Some of the women working very hard on the project are Emily Portwig, Glenna Hays, Marjorie McPherson, Vada Somerville and of course many another....



As quiet as its been kept, the Junior League girls of West View have been working like eager little beavers to put their Coronation Ball over in a big way on Nov. 11. Hear that Benny Carter and his orchestra will be on hand as music makers, and a certain young lady of the League will be crowned "Miss West View," for having sold the most tickets. The Leaguers who have already given several successful money making ventures to help complete construction of West View Hospital expect this Avadon affair to be the best yet. Be sure to red letter November 11, and be on hand at the Coronation Ball. Naida Blackwell, as per usual, is working at a rapid pace to put this affair over in grand style....

With this four year college business going into effect at L. A. City College, there has been a definite change in the greek letter life that at one time was limited solely to interest groups. The Sprits of Delta Sigma Theta were dissolved last semester and welcomed into the Pyramid Pledge group. Now we find that the Alpha Phrateries, for years one of the leading campus organizations at L.A.C.C. has been officially taken into the realm of Ivy Leaf Pledgedom to Alpha Kappa Alpha, so went the news of the Greek's last week. Jackie Regard, Dossie Townes, Sally Jones, Gloria Crouch, and the rest of the glamorous membership are now attached to the Ivys of Sigma Chapter. Under the leadership of prexy Gerry Barnum, who recently belonged to the Phrateries, the girls have already made plans for a "Before Party," that will put all in the mood for the Black and White on Nov. 24.

While mentioning events to come, the PARTY PATTERN goes something like this....The B.V.A. Benefit at Earl Carrolls on Nov. 8, promises to be one of the greatest shows yet.... Nov. 13, the Sigma Chapter will take over at 1918 S. Harvard Blvd. with an Apache Dance, much on the French side. All will be expected to wear the Apache garb and the affair will be open to the collegiate public.... Nov. 17, the Doll Leaguers will hold their annual Story Book Ball at El Sombrero. Of course the affair will be strictly formal, Atty. Cris Wright will make the introductions, and all guests will be expected to bring dolls.... Nov. 20, S. C. plays UCLA and the Deltas will top the evening with a party at Jeni LeGons Studio. On Nov. 23, the already mentioned Auxiliary Harvest Ball. The Black and White on Nov. 24, then on Nov. 27, the Douze Mignonettes will top the Thanksgiving week-end with a grand affair at the C.I.O. Hall. So goes the pattern....

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Herbert Simmons, while awaiting his grade from the recent Bar examinations, is assisting at Atty. H. L. Richardson's office across from the EAGLE....By the way, J. T. Gipson celebrates his birthday on Friday. The staff joins me in saying many happy returns of the day....So sorry I missed out on Sunday's invitation to view the baseball game from the Press Box, but just couldn't make it. Hear that Rachell Robinson, Jackie's better half was looking very chic as she watched her hubby in action.... Arthur and Thelma Houston will definitely move in their ranch home up Corona way next week. The place is the last word when it comes to modern design and furnishings....In mentioning Corona, Cliff and Bessy Wilson deserted L. A. for about two weeks and spent the time at their ranch....Received a very interesting letter from Yvonne Cole, who finds life on the Fisk University faculty very interesting, the Doctors on the Meharry Campus, quite intelligent and the folk in that part of the country not bad at all. Hellos are sent all of her friends and sorority sisters.... Lula Green will entertain the Turnabouts on Friday night. The date for the club's Semi-formal Charity dance will be December 13. ...The Beta Pi Sigma Girls are out to give the most outstanding fashion review of the year. And believe me, the girls will do just that....Social and civic doings are keeping Mrs. Ray Long as busy as can be. As per usual, around this time of year, her mind turns to benefits and making the holiday season a happy one for those less fortunate....Chatted a spell with Albert Hicks a day or two ago and learned that Dorothy Johnson of New York, became his bride in a Catholic Ceremony during late September. Albert, who loves to keep things on the quiet side, did a very good job, for it was just a week or so ago that we learned he had stepped from the single realm....So we say belated congratulations... and make deadline . . 'Till Next Week.

Sally Stewart Federated Club Women Hear Speaker

Many visiting friends and members of the Sally W. Stewart Club were delightfully entertained laste month when the club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Ruth Williams, 1346 E. 41st Place. Dr. Bryant's lecture on raising the standards of education was both interesting and entertaining. Mrs. Dodge, who is past-president of the State Association of Colored Women's Clubs, gave an interesting discourse on topics of general interest. Mrs. Claudia Jernigan, president of Sally W. Stewart Club, gave a brief outline of the highlights of the recent convention of National Association of Colored Women's Clubs which she attended at Washington. Ruth Naomi Ford Wears The Traditional White Satin Gown In Elaborate Ceremony

On Sunday afternoon, October 24, the altar of Mt. Zion Baptist Church was transformed into a bower of fragrant white flowers and bridal arch, as a wedding setting for the popular Ruth Naomi Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Ford Sr., to Mr. James Clarence Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Smith. The marriage took place promptly at 4:00 p.m. with Rev. Prentice officiating.

The bride was exquisitely gowned in Ivory satin, fashioned in Period Style with bustled back and a slight apron front, covered with tiny satin rosebuds. The finger tip veil was held in place by a crown covered with tiny satin rosebuds. The neckline of the gown was very simple. The bride's only jewelry was a string of genuine pearls that have been in the family for more than 25 years, and was a gift to the bride from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Matteal Ford. Complimenting the neckline of the gown, was a row of 30 pearl buttons down the back of the gown. The bride carried a white Bible, covered with orchids and satin streamers.

The warm colors of late fall were used in the gowns of the bride's attendants. Her sister, Mrs. Thelma Houston, served as matron of honor, and wore gold satin. The bridegroom's sister, Dorothy Mae Smith, served as maid of honor, and her gown was of green satin. Both carried bouquets of yellow roses. Aqua Blue and Orchid satin were worn by bridesmaids Gloria Adams, Veleter Adams, Ida Harris, Elouise Brown and Ophelia Huntley. The maids carried Talisman Roses in their bouquets. The large picture hats worn by the maid and matron of honor and the smaller hats worn by the maids were designed and made by Mrs. Ruth Douphine. The little flower girls were Romelle Lee Jones, Rhonda Jones, Carlia D'Antignac and Diane D'Antignac, who wore blue net over taffeta slips.

Wearing strictly formal attire, Rondle Morgan served as best man and the ushers were, Joseph King, Morris Hubert, Clyde Johnson, Virgil Givens and Louis Hudson. Little Michael Ford was ring bearer.

The bridal hymns were beautifully sung by Mary Young and Beatric Hurrel, with Mrs. Billie Washington at the organ.

The bride was given in marriage, by her oldest brother, Howard D. Ford Jr.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Receiving was Mrs. Howard D. Ford, the bride's mother, her gown was of Agua blue crepe with Rhinestone accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. David C. Smith, chose a gown of black and white. Both wore a corsage of red roses.

Mmes. Mabel Harper and Mary Fitzgerald handled all arrangements for the reception that was attended by a host of friends of the popular young couple. After viewing the many bridal gifts, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith slipped away on their honeymoon, the destination was not disclosed. The newlywed plan to make their home in Los Angeles.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

THE END MARKS BEGINNING

At this time, I turn to put the old "Raisin' Cain" desk in order. But as I do, I see so many bills that haven't been accounted for that the red American blood in my veins bubbles mildly as it boils. The campaigns are over; the election is over. We are ready to settle down for another four years . . . of what?

It is good the campaigns are over. They did little good, anyway, and perhaps a great deal of harm. In order to make print, I shall simply say they were the dirtiest, most vicious melees in the twentieth century; the century of words and blood. The contesting was hot and close. The methods were those devised by the smartest people in the world today . . . and some who are equally filthy.

Some of the accounts that haven't been settled? There is a long list. Yours to study and gape over. To mention a few, I say briefly, the lynchings haven't been settled, the Draft and Taft-Hartley Laws haven't been repealed. The cold war—as those so anxious for a hot war to start call it—is still going on with fiasco. There is neither war nor peace in the world. You're still working your own head off for simple existence because of high prices, and within two years you'll not have to mend any holes in your pockets. Sees that the common people are destined to stay hungry either way . . .

And about our century, the twentieth. We got off to a bad start from the very beginning. In actual battles, there are about thirty million crosses to mark those killed in the TWO GREAT WARS. But that's nothing to what we have on the agenda for the third one. Those figures will be scoffed; are being scoffed right now by those preparing your execution and mine. Words and blood I said before. The politicians' words and common men's blood. Perhaps that's why they call it THE CENTURY OF THE COMMON MAN. I'm not certain, either way or the other. Words at the League of Nations and the United Nations; blood from Ethiopia to Hiroshima and Nagisaki. And now they say we've just got to fight Russia; fight Russia or bust. I say let them bust, for the sake of the innocent men, women and children who would be killed. If the wars we've fought so far haven't solved things, then maybe we'd better do it peacefully. Maybe we'd better make the munitions makers pay up the long over-due bills . . . let them loser on this trip while the people of the world live in harmony and laugh in their faces. Have you had enough?

We forget too easily the heartache and pain the wars are costing us. We think only of some evil cartoon appearing in some of these daily newspapers. We're sidestepping the United Nations . . . as we did the League of Nations. I propose to go back to the United Nations—as we did not do before under President Wilson. I propose that America stop violating United Nations agreements by preparing a large army instead of it's disarmament program . . . Ipropose a prayer to God that someday, as the Chinese philosopher puts it, he will reform his world, beginning with me.

Yes, the end truly marks the beginning. The fight must go on in the years to come. Crosses will be burned, people will be lynched. The poll-tax will endure, the Ingrams . . . ? And all the time, we hear words, and words, and words—flowing as freely as a brook . . . .

Sometimes when I bow down upon my knees, or take a long walk in the dark under the stars, I try hard to elevate myself and see the word as God must see us . . . I wonder what He would have us do at certain times, when life's ventures abandon His Will and Spoken Word . . . and my heart aches. For here, some of the "righteous" are the most deceitful. Some of the leaders of man's struggle make mockery of certain divine principles. And all around us there seems to be a growing tide of wrong, and violence, and corruption that only the hand of God could ever quiet.

Youth Chorus Presentation At Philharmonic – For Free

An all-Mozart program presented by the city's outstanding young chorus has been scheduled for Philharmonic auditorium, November 26, J. Arthur Lewis, coordinator for the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, announced today.

Lewis said the city-sponsored Concert Chorale, directed by Roger Wagner, supervisor of City Youth choruses, will present Mozart's "Serenade" and "Requiem." Robert Hunter, accomplished young pianist with the group, will be featured in Mozart's "Piano Concerto Number 20 In D Minor." The Mozart Festival orchestra will play accompaniment.

The all-Mozart program, Lewis said, is the first opportunity the chorale has been given to present a complete concert of serious music.

Lewis said the Concert Chorale is composed of the finest voices selected from the city's more than 25 youth choruses. Members of the group have passed a rigid vocal audition and written examination and all have expressed a desire to continue music as a career.

The November 26 concert will be free to the public.

Still Urges Youth Study Serious Music

"Negroes can still be pioneers in serious music," says William Grant Still in December Negro Digest, "and with the proper training and attitude can achieve hitherto unheard of successes."

Mr. Still insists, however, that he does not urge young colored people to adopt music as a profession unless they are meant for that work and for none other. And he continues in the Negro Digest feature:

"The first question an aspiring musician should ask himself is, 'Do I want to make music or do I want to make money?' For you can make money in the entertainment world with a very small amount of preparation and a great amount of personal magnetism."

We Can't Afford This

Lack of building space for official needs is reported by Supervisor Leonard J. Roach to have cost the County $411,394.33 in rentals during the fiscal year 1947-48.

Mental hospitals throughout the United States are overcrowded about ten per cent on the average. Many much more seriously.

Ritter School Youngsters In Colorful Holloween Parade

At 1:15 Friday afternoon, October 29, the entire body of over 500 youngsters enrolled in Ritter school located at 11108 Watts Ave., staged a colorful parade costumed as witches, goblins, clowns and what-have-you.

The bizarre procession wound in and out and across before the proud eyes of over two hundred parents and to the awe and delight of big-eyed baby sisters and brothers, ending finally with each group assembled as a unit to await the advent of their several teachers, who had surprisingly disappeared.

The mystery deepened when, instead of a bunch of prosaic pedagogs an earie troop of specters suddenly materialized and went into the ghostly gyrations of La Bamba Entrale En Ayunas and La Raspa. Parents and children were vocal with delight over the novelty of teacher giving the program with pupils as the guests.

With every child in costume the emphasis on home-made rather than purchased ensembles, insisted upon by principal Norton, added to the goodwill and bolstered the pride of those chosen for honorable mention during the afternoon. Between two and three o'clock the booths full of goodies were opened and heavily patronized.

No Xmas Is Successful Without Them

Women experienced in the wrapping and packing of gift packages, china, and confections will be assured of work during the holidays if they register now with the California State Employment Service at 728 West Tenth Place, Albert B. Tieburg, manager of the Service and Labor office annuonced today.

Willowbrook Carnival Time

In their program of promoting interracial goodwill among the student body Willowbrook High encouraged a general turnout and all-student participation in its highly successful Carnival Hour between 7 and 11 p.m. on October 29 at the school building. 129th and Wilmington.

Pupils and teachers in costume circulating in an atmosphere of merriment and clean, wholesome fun, not only ignored the tensions so potent for racial disharmony in the community but gave the lie to the necessity for them.

Highlight of the evening was a showing of the film The Phantom of the Opera. Among items on the agenda for the immediate future principal Wagstaff reports will be a presentation of the drama Galloping Ghost with an interracial cast.

Watts Council Represented at Conference

Watts Coordinating Council Agencies were well represented at the Federation of Community Council's annual conference on Thursday, October 29, when it convened at First Baptist Church, 760 S. Westmoreland Ave. Among the group of Watts folk who took an active part in discussions and question periods were: Walter Giles, civic leader; health nurse Pacifico, social worker Hawkins, Sabina Montez, Jordan PTA, and Cora Moten, of The Eagle.

12 Negro Surgeons Receive Fellowships in Am. College

Twelve Negro surgeons received fellowships in the American College of Surgeons last Friday, October 29, in the Philharmonic auditorium.

They were: Drs. I. B. Higgins, H. C. Walcome, R. L. Jackson, of Baltimore; R. Brooks, of Chicago; H. E. Hampton, W. H. Sinkler, W. D. Morman, of St. Louis; L. A. Mahone, of Tuskegee; J. J. Greene, R. S. Wilkinson, J. B. Thorne, L. J. Wilson, of New York.

Dr. George Beadle, of California Institute of Technology, gave the Fellowship address. His subject was, "Hereditary Errors in Metabolism."

The procession of the 943 surgeons in cap and gown was very colorful. A reception followed in the Biltmore ballroom, where the men, their families and friends, enjoyed an appetizing repast and the music of a ten-piece orchestra. The wives of most of the men attended the exercises and the reception, and looked very charming in their formal gowns.

The previous Wednesday evening, the Medical Dental and Pharmaceutical Association, headed by the president, Dr. T. Roy Peyton and the chairman of hospitality, Dr. Roy Kingsley, gave a dinner in honor of the 12 men and the visiting surgeons. These included: Drs. Taft, Raines, Roscoe Giles, J. D. Rogers, of Chicago; R. S. Nicholas, of Englewood, N. J.; and O. Farrow Allen, of New York.

The dinner was given at the Association Club House, 1748 West 21st street. Places were laid for 80. Each visitor received an appointment book. Several pictures were made of the group.

Prominent Realtor Ill

Wilfred Charles, prominent realtor and communicant of St. Martin's Episcopal church where he serves in the choir and on the altar, especially interesting himself in the training of the young acolytes, is seriously ill at his home, 13300 Anzac Ave.

It will be recalled that the Charles home was one of those chosen by a bunch of irresponsible hoodlums as targets for minor acts of vandalism in an attempt to stir up trouble over the purchase and occupancy of homes by persons of color in a hitherto restricted area. Largely due to the manly stand of Mr. Charles and the others the effort to incite the large majority of decent residents in the neighborhood to violence has been entirely ineffective.

NCNW Participates In Salute To Youth Program

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Council of Negro Women this week urged all of its members and friends to buy and use the 3c "Salute To Youth" Commenorative postage stamp. 'Women must get behind the Nation's 'Salute To Youth' campaign in general, and the wide use of the stamp in particular," said Mrs. Jeanetta Welch Brown, Executive Director who represented the Council at the ceremony held at the White House at the time the first sheet of this stamp was presented to President Truman. Forcefully appealing for support, Mrs. Brown called upon the members of the Council and women in general, to "become more deeply interested in and realistically concerned about the problems of youth. Our youth need the unselfish love of their mothers, their sisters, and their friends to help them develop a deep feeling of belonging to, a wholesome feeling of achievement, and the great satisfaction of contributing to the world in which they live and must eventually run. This is their world and we, the women of the Council, of America and of the world, must begin now to help the youth take over their responsibilities."

The Council is one of the groups cooperating with the National Conference on Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency to sponsor the "Salute To Youth" program.

Father Moore At St. Martins

A program for periodic exchanges on the altar and in the pulpit worked out among the priests serving St. Martin's in Watts, St. Barnabas in Pasadena and St. Phillip's in Metropolitan Los Angeles, was instituted at the morning celebration of the Mass for All Saints day, November 1. Father Moore, rector of St. Phillip's, served St. Martin's while Father Moses, vicar of St. Barnabas, officiated at St. Phillip's, and Father Hogarth, vicar of St. Martin's, took charge of the celebration for St. Barnabas. The innovation was heartily received and well attended by the congregation and visitors at St. Martin's where it was designated as Loyalty Sunday.

Hiawatha Temple 91 Reports Activities

The regular meeting of Hiawatha Temple No. 91, was quite a success. We were highly honored by a visit from the Grand Legal Advisor, Brother Perry Howard, of Washington, D. C., also Exalted Ruler, Brother Vail, and Brother Roberts, of Golden West No. 86.

On October 25, 1948, Dtr. Ruler, Jessie B. Hill, of South Los Angeles Temple, and, Dtr. Hostesses honored Dtr. Ruler Echo S. Robinson, with a lovely reception at the home of Dtr. Hightower. It was a grand affair, and, we are proud of the friendship of our neighbor Temple.

This Is It . . . Rose Meta Beauty Hints of Worth

Every woman enjoys being told she is most charming, beautiful, lovely, pretty, gorgeous, or that she looks as if she just stepped out of a "band box."

So let us take one of the things listed in the first column —"The right frame of mind" . . . so that you will enjoy all other discussions which follow.

Remember "As a man thinketh so he is"? . . . Of course it is more than that because let us think toward that Charm and Beauty which we wish to posses.

Know that there are three words which can not be separated—Charm, LOVE, and Beauty because without one you do not posess the other.

Begin now by turning all thoughts toward Love for everyone or all things so that those facial expressions wil be void of those wrinkles or frowns . . . Physical features are ours largely thru inheritance but that inner spiritual love can beautify us to such an extent that the radiance of beauty can never go unnoticed . . . Then the Makeup adds its magnetisim to what is already there . . . It is like simple mathematics—something added to that which you already have makes more.

Try these to establish that right frame of mind: Love, faith, always doing and thinking only that which is good, sympathy, forebearance, tenderness, truthfulness, wisdom. . . Thus, you will be in the receptive mood for these helpful HINTS on CHAM . . . as well as for that proper line of Cosmetics which are made especially for you, you and fou.

Mention of the word Cosmetics should set us thinking out our own salvation, as we might say —using these which are products of our own folk who know and have analized our skins . . . Seemingly an Italian can best know about Italians . . . An Indian abo ut an Indian . . . A French about the French, etc. . . . so clear thinking tells us that one of us will best know what we can use to the best advantage.

How can the person who manufactures Permastrait know what the hair of the Negro will take unless he experiments with some one of the race—Why be a guiena pig? . . . Experimentation is sometimes costly.

Not so with Cosmetics—and Beauty Hints coming from an authority—Olivia Clark—Consultant for this column—It's like a 300 pounder telling you how to be thin . . . isn' tit?

And so we might say: Take Love and Beauty—well developed—the result is Charm.

Now chart yourself for best results . . . and send for information along these lines to Lou Swarz— % Rose Meta Beauty Products—9 West 125th St., New York 27, N. Y.

For storing sweetpotatoes must be "cured"—that is, held at the right temperature and humidity to bring out thei rstarch, help heal cuts and bruises, and make the skin firm.

Plan Leisure Activities for Watts Children

The persistent and tireless work of the Rev. Mr. William S. Brinkley, pastor of Hope Presbyterian church at 1920 East 92nd Street, in the interest of a more adequate program of leisure time activities for the Watts area, has received the official benediction of the Los Angeles Presbytery. The event was celebrated Friday, October 29, from 4 to 7 p.m., by Open House to introduce Hope Youth Center at the above address.

Mrs. Vida Van Brunt of the Church Federation group work division, and Miss Ignacia Torres from the social service department of the Los Angeles Presbytery, were present in their official capacities to lend a hand in the formal organization and registration.

More than 100 youths between the ages of 6 and 15 were enrolled with a number of adults. The list of club activities include classes in cooking, sewing, woodcraft and drama. A well equipped game room, however, was a strong contender for the favor of the young registrants on the opening day.

The Center will be open to the public from 3 to 5 daily except Saturdays and all activities are free. Scout troops, boys, girls and Brownies will share in the privileges and activities of the Center.

Donkey Brays For Novel Ball Game

A baseball game to end all baseball games was the featured event at Will Rogers Park last Sunday evening, Oct. 31 at 8 o'clock. The participants were Sr. and Jr. Teams of Will Rogers.

A bizarre group, the opposing teams, all except the catcher and pitcher, mounted on donkeys poised to go. Dismounting at the plate the batter whacked the ball far afield and scrambling back onto the waiting donkey set out for first base. The fielder nearest the ball retrieved it and set out in pursuit also mounted, in an attempt to tag the runner. However matters became a bit complicated when the runner's donkey balked on the edge of the base and the unforunate player was tagged in mid mount. So it went to the end with the Juniors winning.

The game played under floodlights was engineered by Assistant Direct Dorothella White of Will Rogers recreation staff, which is headed by Hal Parks. These donkey games were so well received that they will be made a regular monthly event.

Preceding the feature event a soft ball game played between Corregidor Girle and the middy Girls of Will Rogers was decided in favor of Corregidor.

Metropolitan Area Camp Fire Girls

Los Angeles Metropolitan Area Camp Fire Girls will observe their third national Better Breakfast Week November 1-7, according to Mrs. Esther C. Morgan, executive director.

"Economy will keynote this year's campaign for better breakfasts," Mrs. Morgan said.

"How to Prepare a Better Breakfast" was the theme of the Camp Fire Girls demonstration at the Matchless Kitchen (of the Department of Water and Power) 3956 Wilshire Blvd., on Novmeber 1 at 3:45 p.m.—marking the beginning of the project. Attendance at the demonstration is limited to 70, so representatives from the various Horizon Club, Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups attended.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mercedes Gaffney, home economist of the Department of Water and Power, Camp Fire Girls will participate in the preparation of breakfasts containing sufficient calories and nutrients to furnish one-fourth to one-third of the day's total food requirements, which is the least everyone should have each day for best health. Fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter will be the basic breakfast patterns, and the girls will learn how to prepare and serve these foods attractively in the time it takes to make coffee for the adults.

During the Better Breakfast Week, Camp Fire Girls throughout the city will present skits, demonstrations and exhibits, stressing the importance of a good breakfast, to PTAs, service clubs, mothers' groups, etc.

Things That Interest the Women

With the drastic and almost complete reverse in hat styles for Fall and Winter, one wonders whether we have the "New Old or the Old New Look." However there is somewhat of a crown in them and a bit of brim.

In trying to fit one's face to the hat of the Season, I dare say, will take a bit of doing. To begin with, you simply must have your locks shorn, or you will have to mold your hair-do very close to the head.

Selecting Your Hat—Not only must you look at yourself seated when buying a hat, but appraise your figure before a full length mirror.

Don't select a hat if you have just left the hairdressers. Almost any hat then would be becoming and later may look different.

If you have a round face and short neck, select a hat that is not too small. A small hat will make your face look larger.

A broad brim is more becoming to the very tall girl, it tends to dwarf the short figure.

A very high crown will give the short girl needed height, but the brim should be proportionately small.

Watts Community Welfare Banquet Forecasts Unity

Watts Community Welfare League introduced a contemplated monthly get-together with an elaborate banquet featuring a complete turkey dinner prepared and served by Lus Baldenramia, once chef of the famous Brown Derby but now conducting a Spanish restaurant and bakery here in the Watts area.

A representative from the 77th street police department was the featured speaker. He pledged the support of the department in the planned program of the league to make the area a better place to live.

Mrs. Fannie Leonard, acting hostess, and Dr. Simon Jaime, host, spoke briefly. Ralph Banks, master of ceremonies, called on various guests who responded graciously. Leon Hawkins, personnel councillor of the Veteran's Bureau, Rayfield Lundy, attorney, Susie Hawkins, social worker, H. Ewing, housing manager, Fanny Rembert, civic leader, Cora Ball Moten and Leon Washington Jr., of the Press, each talked briefly and extended good wishes and approval of the objectives toward which the group's activities are directed.

Watts Girl In Orchestra

Eleven-year-old Frances Reed, daughter of Mrs. Zelma Reed and granddaughter of Mrs. Frances Verner of 2064 E. 105th street will be among the violinists when the Junior Orchestra of the Los Angeles Public Schools plays at the Biltmore on the afternoon of November 11th in commemoration of Armistice Day.

Frances is a pupil at 102nd Street school in Watts and was among those children chosen by the director of music of the Los Angeles schools to play with the Junior Orchestra because of outstanding musical promise and ability. Frances comes by her musical talent naturally. Her mother, Mrs. Zelma Reed, a musician of considerable talent, is majoring in music at Pepperdine College at present.

The Orchestra, and Frances who is, by the way, the only person of color in this particular group of players, are scheduled to appear at Los Angeles High School, Vermont near 3rd, at an early date.

Watts Pioneer Seriously Ill

Mrs. Laura Johnson, one of Watts' old, highly respected and beloved citizens, was ordered into bed last Thursday by her physician and cautioned to remain there until all danger from an attack of a particularly virulent cold is over and past. Her many friends are pulling for a quick recovery.

Dr. J. W. Bailey Returns to Post of Duty on the Coast

The Superintendent of Evangelism, California State Baptist Convention, Dr. L. B. Moss, President. National Evangelist, and Dean of Evangelism, Providence Baptist Association, has made us all happy to see him back.

DEEP SOUTH ONCE MORE

I was among the first to leave for the National Baptist Convention, September 2, and the last to return on October 21, 1948, one month and 21 days out of the city. I arrived in Houston, September 4th and remained until September 12th. Made a great address on "NEW TESTAMENT EVANGELISM" to the National Baptist Convention, and preached at a great church on Sunday morning. One happy soul converted.

LARGE CHURCHES VISITED

I visited and preached at a number of large churches in the state of Texas. Among them are the Bethseda Church at Marshall, Texas, where I was baptized many years ago. Antioch Church at Leigh, 1,000 members, where I pastored for 8 years. Galilee at Marshall, where I pastored a number of years, and also where President Roads of Bishop College was converted and baptized during my pastorate. The largest church with a fine brick edifice.

I also visited New Bethel and preached at St. Paul and Jerusalem Churches at Marshall, Texas. Sweet Union Church, Jacksonville, Texas and the C. M. E. Church. Then closed with a great service in Jefferson, Texas with 2 converts. There were also 2 converts at St. Paul and 2 converts at Bethseda in Marshall, Texas.

BISHOP COLLEGE

Approximately 1,000 students greeted me at the Friday morning chapel hour, 10:00 A.M. on October 1, 1948. The Theme was "A TREE OF LIFE" and the text was found in Proverbs 11:30. "The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life: And he that winneth souls is wise."

1. God weaves the Christians fruit into a tree of life.
2. Not a sappling, but a tree.
3. The big trees of California.
4. Bears fruit during life.
5. Bears fruit after death.
6. Bears fruit till Jesus comes.
7. Soul-winning the greatest fruit.

The whole student body was made to rejoice. We begin bearing fruit early in life. The faculty was encouraged to continue to do their best toward helping students to bear good fruit.

ASSOCIATION AND STATE CONVENTIONS

The Texas and Louisiana Association was largely attended with the Women's Department. We lectured to the women and preached one sermon to the Association. I was informed that it was the greatest sermon preached during the whole session. I can say I only did my best. hankful indeed was I, for it was the Association in which I joined the church many years ago.

BOTH STATE CONVENTIONS

The B. M. & E. Convention met in Pittsburgh, Texas in one of the most beautiful and largest new brick churches. It was largely attended. This Convention is the one in which I spent 13 years as Superintendent of Missions and Evangelism; and 7 years with the Southern White Baptists. Then, years as founder and Superintendent of Evangelism of the National Baptist Convention. Iaddressed this Convention. But one of the greatest events of the Convention while I was there was this. A great Methodist minister of a great Methodist Church, which paid him $3,000 per year at Marshall, Texas joined the Convention. The Convention then went wild in great rejoicing. He is indeed a great preacher.

TEXAS BAPTIST CONVENTION

This great convention convened in Dallas, Texas. I arrived Thursday night before the evening session was closed. I was with them through Friday to the close on Friday night. What a time they did have. I was asked to make the closing address. But the big thing about this Convention was not my address. The big thing was the $16,000 raised for Missions, Education and Evangelism. Doctors Alexander and Chambers are great leaders and pastors. The education objectives are Bishop College and Butler College. God is greatly blessing their labors.

THE THIRD SUNDAY, FORT WORTH

I filled the pulpits of two of the greatest Churches in the City. The Mt. Gilead Baptist Church whose pastors were Doctors L. K. Williams and A. L. Boone. Now under the leadership of Dr. C. C. Harper. Under the leadership of Dr. L. K. Williams, I lead in a great revival, 300 happy souls were won to Christ. The morning service was great as usual.

In the evening I attended the Greater Mt. Zion Church of which Dr. A. W. Pryor is Pastor. What a good service we did have. Usually the evening services are poor—not so here. The sermon on deacon "STEPHEN AT HIS BEST" set the house on fire. At his best when being stoned to death and also severely persecuted.

THE EVANGELISTIC TOUR

This closed my Evangelistic tour of more than 4,000 miles. One of the greatest surprises while down South. I preached in August here, one of the annual sermons of the Providence Association on "JESUS AT HIS BEST." To my surprise, great joy and humiliation the news of which beat me to the South. I could hear it ringing all around. Who spread the news—I do not know. ON THE JOB again.

Special Announcement

Looking towards the West. At 1794 West 36th Pl. The Little St. Andrews Missionary Baptist Church, Nov. 21st, 3 p.m. Ground breaking in view of fifty thousand dollars worth of improvement. This appeal and announcement goes to the Members and friends of the Christian Family of the City of Los Angeles. Come and help us. This is one of the Must numbers on the list of the Christian Church.

For quite some time we have had notice that our Church building did not meet the requirement of the building and safety department of the city. Laboring under a great strain to keep the church in its present location. Paying off debts, etc. has prevented us from beginning this building program. All debts are paid and we are beginning at once to build for the Lord Jesus Christ a beautiful church with a seating capacity of 300 or more. We need your help in addition to what we have three thousand dollars to began this work. Will you and each of you hear our feble cry and come to our rescue Nov. 21st, 3 p.m.

Dr. L. D. Steven, the minister who presided with his membership when St. Andrews was organized several years ago. Will conduct this service. Pastor Holt and members are all ready to lead a great drive for the building program. Friends are already throwing in money towards the work. Remember every contributor will be given a souvenir. Something you will appreciate for years to come.

Come one and all. Address all communications to Rev. I. Walter Holt, 1794 W. 36th Pl., Los Angeles 7, Calif.

Christian Science Topic 'Adam and Fallen Man'

"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from Genesis: "There went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul."

The Lesson-Sermon includes this Scriptual selection also from Genesis: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. . . . And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. . . . And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. . . . Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them."

On this subject Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Popular theology takes up the history of man as if he began materially right, but immediately fell into mental sin; whereas revealed religion proclaims the Science of Mind and its formations as being in accordance with the first chapter of the Old Testament, when God, Mind, spake and it was done."

Bethel C'm'ty Church Observes 3rd Harvest

The church will again feature the horn of plenty, symbolical of the phenominal success of the church since its founding. A number of leading churches will participate in the celebration. The public is invited.

A photograph to those you love
Is something sweet to give,
But only loving memories
Can make a portrait live.

MATTA CHOK'D WITH DATA . . . . .

Week-end passed caught all the local residents of this fair city in a very "gay" mood . . . . For utterally the "Avenue" jumped. Can readily say, that this Halloween passed was one of the gayest and most exciting to be remembered. The "girls" really had a time, the Elks Hall was really too small for the large crowd that came out to see them "perform" one had to push, shove and "fight" his way through the crowd — even the Club Congo and the Last Word had an over-flow of crowd and entertainment . . . . Yes the 'Ole Avenue' seem to have taken on new life!! . . . . In case you just don't have anything to do, you might run out to Billie Berg's and catch the show featuring Slim Galiard and his 19 piece orchestra, which incidentally is OK when they decide to play - - - but what with Slim trying to put over some "corney" material one has a tendency to become restless . . . So you sorta go away with the feeling that the show "Stinks!!!" Dolores Parker a beautiful package of brownskin loveliness does a little "tonsil-tickling" also "Tiny" Brown is featured as a vocalist . . . . 'Tis rumored around the town that a certain "Deb" is in love with three (3) young men who happen to be "veedy veedy" good buddies. Hope she knows what she's doing . . . . Aside to Atty. Walter Gordon (Esquire's best advertisement) you really stand at the head of our (personality) list . . . . Nelson Creswell's "Cresbar" is still at the top of our No. 1 list for the place to go for 'you know what I mean atmosphere.' . . . . Lavere Austin is proudly displaying a beautiful diamond on the third finger - - left hand - - - hope that certain guy who use to love her doesn't do anything drastic . . . . Sudden thawt: Connor-Johnson Mortuary has what we call the "sharpest" staff of funeral directors this side of Chicago . . . . Well in the country, even . . . they look so cool . . . . calm . . . . and collected (they answer to the names of S. P. Johnson Jr., Rudolph Walker, Julian Green and Gerald Santisteban). Jimmie Jordon, the handsome sportsman back in town dining in the Last Word surrounded by a bevy of beautiful brownskins . . . . A MUST NOT FORGET NOTE . . . . the BVA Variety Show at Earl Carrols' on the 8th of November . . . . I will be there!!! . . . . Have heard recently that some of my friends are rather shy about going out to the Melody Club . . . . This I will have to look into . . . . Wonder whats happening?????? Alex Penland was asked the other day if he liked "bathing beauties" he answered back 'don't know . . . . never bathed any' . . . . Caught a glimpse of Nick and Velma Ramirez the other night . . . . Quite a good looking couple.

If you've never tried climbing a wall . . . . Try it sometimes it will naturally gas you! Dug a local playboy on the 'Stem' the other evening yelling like mad at a 'fly' little girl in a Buick convertible . . . . When she stopped to see what he wanted . . . . "Lo and behold" 'twas his own daughter . . . . Yep his face was very red!! A very likeable person and we mean "lovable" is our other Brother Dynamite Jackson . . . . SOUNDS AFTER DARK . . . . 'I love to love and be loved' . . . . 'How are you gonna act?' . . . . 'Nothing wrong with that' . . . . 'That's what I said—same thing only different' . . . . 'I love life and I want to live' . . . . 'He's a shy guy — but needs watching. 'ASIDE TO MOVIE GOERS — catch John Wayne in "Red River" - - he will naturally 'move' you — he's what this column calls 'a man's man and a woman's lover!' . . . . A "secret" that's being whispered all over town is that 'Sis Lil' is very much in love . . . . With whom we wonder???? . . . . Heard that our 'fave' entertainer Cab Calloway stole the show from Satchel Paige and Jackie Robinson last Sunday afternoon at the baseball game . . . . Had them coming from every place for his autograph.

Flossie who was the center of attraction Halloween at the Elks Hall says "she is glad the whole thing is finished . . . because she is a nervous wreck". Callie Mae Choyce has a secret and she's smiling about the whole thing too! won't tell a soul . . . Martin Wilkins In Monogram Pic

Wilkins portrays a safari leader, 'Mufti' who gets himself killed in an encounter with a leopard. Johnny Sheffield, who was a sort of junior Tarzan in the Tarzan series starred by Johnny Weismuller, plays the title role in the picture.

Also, in the picture playing a neat role is Sepia actor Smokie Whitfield who essays the screen role of 'Eli'.

Wanna Rent a Juke Box? Just Call Red

News of interest to all clubs and organizations planning dances, parties, etc., who can't afford high price bands, is the announcement that Johnny Calloway and Norman Betz, proprietors of "Red's Music Service," have available juke boxes for rent, with the latest in popular recordings.

Andy Kirk Opens Tonight at the Congo Club With All-Star Show

Muscially, the Andy Kirk band is twirling like a top and in tip top shape for their grand opening tonight at the Congo club, 4215 So. Central avenue.

In addition to the Kirk band of Steller swingsters, Joe Morris has possibly Jimmie Witherspoon, Mabel Scott and Beverly White in as part of an all-star show lined up for the Kirk opening.

Kirk arrived in town last week from a successful theatre-nitery tour of the east where they've chalked up records galore. Kirk has always had one of the top bands in the music biz and has been on top for years. He plays a sweet swing style of music, and has a terrific following.

This will be Andy Kirk's only nightclub appearance in California. The discoverer of the late Pha Terrel, who made Until the Real Thing Comes Along famous, Kirk is also the man who first made the public aware of the musical merits of Mary Lou Williams, Dick Wilson, Ben Thigpin, June Richmond and other top stars who at one time or another performed with his famous Clouds of Joy.

Joe Turner Keeps Saying "I Love Ya"

Joe Turner, whose latest recording, "I Love Ya, I Love Ya, I Love Ya", was featured by Hunter Hancock on his Harlem Holiday broadcast last week, is making a come-back at record counters all over the country.

This fine recording proves that when given good material, Joe is still the King of The Blues.

This platter is backed with "Born To Gamble", which was featured by Joe Turner on his last appearance at the Million Dollar Theater.

Ex-Trumpeter Gip Thinks Louis Armstrong Greatest Trumpeter!

And there I stood in front of the bandstand, marvelling in wide-eyed amazement at the intricate riffs that emulated from the bell of his golden horn. The occasion was Dixieland Jazz Jubilee staged by Disc Jockey's Frank Bull and Gene Norman Friday night at the Pan Pacific Auditorium. The guy tooting the trumpet was Louis Armstrong, often referred to as Satchmo.

Armstrong has been riding the popularity wave for more than 20 years. It was his trumpet-tooting that first made the nation swing conscious. Yes, long before a Goodman named Benny was out of high school. Goodman gets the credit (or blame; take your pick) for giving swing to the nation. He first popped on the musical scene back in 1936. Armstrong, back in 1932, when he recorded "Confessin'," "Shine," "Sweethearts on Parade," and other tunes with the Les Hite Orchestra, was playing then the same kind of music Goodman, James, and other swing greats are playing now!

True, it was called jazz back in those days, but Armstrong's trumpeting was even then blowing out pure unadulterated honest-to-goodness swing! How Downbeat magazine can rate the late Bix Biederbeick with Louis Armstrong makes about as much sense as our awkward city editor Lee trying to dance a ballet. Biederbeick is the only trumpeter the music mags rate on a par with (and some say, even better than) Louis Armstrong.

There are dozens of trumpeters around today who would make the late Biederbeick even afraid to take his horn out of its case. To name but a few: Harry James, Sonny Dunham, Roy Eldridge, and a gup who once tooted the trumpet with the Les Hite band named Lloyd Reese. Now there was a trumpeter!

So maybe "Satchmo" doesn't play as much flawless trumpet today as he did in the roarin' twenties. He still blows enough to outplay any of the present-day crop of horn tooters. And there's a bit of Armstrong in all of the trumpeters. It's his style they imitate and he's the daddy of 'em all!

Want To Play In A Band?

East Los Angeles Junior College is accepting volunteers for a military band to be seen at all college events. The band will be connected with the Organized Army Reserve Corps, 13th Armored Division.

Students from East Los Angeles Junior College and non-students have been invited to join. Musicians will be classed as specialists and may be exempt by Executive Order of the President from Selective Service.

To enable non-students to join the band a special class has been scheduled to begin in November as part of the 10-week accelerated session.

Men between the ages of 18 and 35 who are band instrument musicians are eligible. To become a member of this band will require an enlistment for a period of three years.

Bill Walker Has Part in Picture

Stage and screen actor Bill Walker, has been signed to a lucrative role in a current Monogram stud in production, entitled "Bad Boy." The story material concerns itself with a Texas community of boys modeled somewhat after famed Boys Town in Nebraska, which is under the sponsorship of the Variety Clubs.

For national and local coverage of the theatrical profession from Harlem to Hollywood, read J. T. Gipson, an exclusive Feature in The California Eagle.

JOE LUTCHER and his Capitol recording band broke all existing records last week in Bakersfield when they played a one night dance at Bearsley's. Lutcher (Nellie's bro., tho he doesn't capitalize on the fact, and he doesn't have to) has a terrific young jump band and Halloween night at the Elks Hall played to over 3000 persons!

La Hathaway Injures Jaw in Fall At Niteclub

Songstress Maggie Hathaway had to cancel San Francisco nightclub bookings last week because of injuries. Miss Hathaway was scheduled to open in a smart Frisco nitery next week and decided to celebrate her going-away with her entertainer-friends at the Bal Tabarin.

While seated in one of the booths talking with members of the Mosetti Trio, Miss Hathaway suddenly became ill and upon getting up from the table she fainted, thus falling and fracturing her jaw. She was rushed to Georgia St. receiving hospital where she was given aid.

Miss Hathaway, whose Black and White Recording of "Here Goes a Fool" is still a top record favorite, is now up and about and will be one of the featured stars on the mammoth benefit program Nov. 8 at Earl Carrol's.

Benny Carter Has Great Opening At Downbeat Nitery

Benny Carter's band opening at the Downbeat Club last Thursday night was a smash success. The news comes as no great surprise to any of the followers who have followed Carter's career down through the years. He has always had a good band. Today his seven piece combo is even greater!

Hubert "Bump" Myers, probably one of the greatest tenor sax players ever produced in California, blows a terrific horn. Jesse Price, the K.C. drummer who made the song, "I Aint Mad At You" famous (and vice versa) also handles a few of the vocal chores with the group. Gerald Wiggins is a very capable pianist and fits in the Benny band as snug as a bug in a rug.

Teddy Buckner, who tooted his trumpet in the bands of Les Hite, Lionel Hampton and other greats of the swing kingdom, is featured on trumpet and his playing is rated tops. Henry Coker is the trombonist with the crew, and—but then, what can be said about Coker that hasn't already been said before? He's great!

As for Benny Carter, he's the Amazing Man of Music with an amazing little band.

Andy Kirk Band Signed for Pre-Thanksgiving Dance

That sensational band that opens tonight at the Club Congo, (of course you know we are speaking of the band of Andy Kirk) will provide the music for the gala Pre-Thanksgiving Dance and Show at the Club Congo Friday night, Nov. 12th.

A night of entertainment well worth the admission of 65 cents has been planned for this event. Kirk will always be remembered as one of America's outstanding maestro's of music, and if you didn't know it, after listening to one number from his aggregation, you'll soon agree.

At this Pre-Thanksgiving Dance and show, two real live turkeys will be given away to the persons having the lucky numbers. So you'll want to be on hand for an evening of fun and entertainment listen to the music of Andy Kirk, enjoy the gala stage show, and get a chance at one of those large Thanksgiving turkeys. The Club Congo is the place.

Nat Meeks to Form Be-Bop Orchestra

Nat Meeks, popular young trumpet star, is organizing a small Be-Bop combo complete with bongo drums. Meeks, a local boy who plays terrific trumpet, has Clyde Dunn, Eric Dolphy, Hadley Caliman, Morris Edwards, Joe Harrison, Johnny Lawson and Leroy McCray lined up as personnel.

Stuff Crouch Gives a Groovy Party for Satchmo Armstrong

Julius "Stuff" Crouch, Backstage Theatrical club proprietor, feted Louis Satchmo Armstrong, world's greatest trumpet player, with a breakfast party last week at the favorite hangout of the local theatrical crowd.

The party was studded with stars galore and more than 200 fans and friends of the famed trumpeter was on hand to celebrate "Pop's" Dixieland Jubilee success Friday night at the Pan Pacific when Satchmo, leading the greatest aggregation of jazz artists ever asembled in musical history under one roof, literally tore the place apart.

It is only natural that a party should have been given Armstrong. He's the greatest trumpeter who ver lived. And it is only natural that the party should have been given by his friend, Stuff Crouch. Crouch is everybody's friend, and he and Pops have been bosom-buddies down through the years.

The party was a success, and (to re-corn a phrase) "a good time was had by all!"

Browsing In Bronzeville: Mabel Scott's name has been added to the list of stars scheduled for appearance at the BVA's mammoth benefit Nov. 8 at Earl Carrol's theatre-restaurant. Other singers in town shouldn't even be mentioned in the same breath with Mabel! She tinsel-tonsils a terrific vocal . . . Barbara Rhodes' piano-version of Warsaw Concerto is Big Time stuff. She's a Hi-School student destined for success . . . In H. Allen Smith's book, "Low Man On The Totem Pole" (page 170) appears this paragraph on Moon Pickcha actor Wallace Beery's visit to New York: ". . I been out buying dresses for nigger gals. You ought to see the faces on these here New York salesgirls when I walk up and say I wanna buy a red dress for a nigger lady. I suppose they all think I been out changin' my luck. At home I got nigger gals for servants and when I come to New York I always buy them red dresses. They are the same G-- D-- red dresses you can buy in California, made out of the same G-- D-- material, but you ought to see them nigger gals strut when they get their NEW YORK red dresses on." That, ladies and gentlemen, is an interview between H. Allen Smith and Wallace Beery. How did it ever pass the censors ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? . . . Mabel Scott's latest lullabye is a zippy little thing titled "Just Around The Corner From Basin Street." Made it's debut on Franque Bull's air show the other Monday evening. Sing-sational . . . The Jackie Wilson-Rocky Graziano bout has been set back to Dec. The Rock hurt his hand in training. Don't bet against Jackie when they meet! . . . Paula Pyles is one of the reasons guys flock to K-H cafe. She's real sweet . . . You could hear a tear fall in Jean Robinson's heart Sunday night when she saw Pete Wilson out with another doll. Pete usta be her usta be . . . Lilith James and hubby Dan (they auth'd the Broadway-Hollywood hit, "Bloomer Girl") discussing writing with a columnist the other two in the yawning at Stuffs. Lilith is my idea of an ah-tractive bundle of loveliness if you ask me, and evers if you didden.

On The Bronzeville Scene: Lena Phillips (Gene's wife) who has a lovely personality and the prettiest pr. of legs ever you seen! . . . Detective Les Friday (my school mate at Riis) enjoying the fights at the Olympic. He's a vice squadsman, and one of the toughest! . . . Johnny Shadrack and Dick Bailey (a terrific team) packin' 'em in at Peacock Alley . . . Newsman Howard Baker cornered me in the corner saloon the other ayem and gave me a verbal spanking.

All that drivel you write about Almeana Davis, he said "is damaging her reputation." Her WHAT????? Correct me if I'm wrong, but I always thawt one had to have a reputation before one could have one's reputation damaged . . . And speaking of Dogs, a wealthy dowager went into a pet store to buy a Pekinese. "That bitch over there," the proprietor said, "sells for $50 . . this little bitch here is $40." Whenever the man used that nawdy word the dowager flinched. Sensing her uneasiness, he asked: "What's the matter, madam, haven't you ever heard that word before?" . . "Yes," the matron replied, "but I didn't know it applied to DOGS!" . . . Baby Dutch Culbertson and Willie Bean do 10-rounds at Ocean Park Monday night. Should be a good lite . . . Managing Editor John Lee tells the one about the Horse that dropped dead over on La Cienega Blvd. Cop couldn't spell La Cienega so he moved him over to Virgil! . . . Jimmy Adamson called me this morning before sunrise. "Hey, Gip!" he bellowed in the phone, "want something for yer colyum?" I said yes—natch. So he told me the one about the Moron who took his nose apart to see what made it run! At five o'clock in the morning yet! . . . Juanita Coleman is very pretty and very friendly. It isn't news, I know, but it's my col'm . . . Santa Anita opens Dec. 22. That's where, faster than anything in the world, a dollar will change from hand to hand and a woman will change from man to man . . . An Eastside reporter is dreaming out loud about a cute little thing named Gloria Forman. And she's something to dream out loud about! . . . Local politicos literally tore what's left of their hair out trying to figure who the Jean Le Courier is who got out that terrific 14th District Reporter-Election paper for Helen Gahagan Douglas. I'll set yer mind at ease, boys. He's the managing editor of the Nation's oldest and greatest weekly. His initials are John M. Lee! . . .

Names In The News: Lillian Johnson enjoying a nite out at the Barrel House and applauding the singing of a blueshouter . . Here's what I can't figger. The Ku Klux Klan (still in existance, but hiding behind new names) broke up becuz it owed the Gov't back income taxes. How cum the Klan hasn't been prosecuted for breaking the income tax law? . . . Joe Lutcher's band played to over 3000 people Halloween night at the Elks Hall . . . isn't that a record? . . . Zelda Grissom, the pretty brunette, looks like a date waiting for a screen test! She oughta be in pickchas, Mr. Talent Scout . . . Speakin' of undiscovered talent, Betty Alston (Detective John's lovely wife) is a top artist! And that guy Leonard Young? Gawd!! Wotta terrific artist he is. Ya' oughta see some-uve his work. A miniture Rembrandt whose Petty pretties are more refreshing to the eyes than a Boric Acid bath! . . . It's easy to understand why Harold Martin is Traffic Superintendent of the Yellow Cab Company. The guy is courteous and friendly. A credit to the company . . . Rachel Currie flew to Frisco to see her b. f.—singer Jimmy Witherspoon. They'll wed by Xmas . . . Antoinette Marie Brown, the Poly doll-face, asked the col'm to bring a show over to the school some assembly time. Okay, Tee, itsa date. I'll work on it this wk. How would the kids like Lena Horne and Louie Jordan? Both are due in town any moment . . . Hildreth Jones (of the Hi-Hat cafe) is wearing a ring on the usual finger. Not to scare the wolves away, either. She's in love way up to her heart with Oh-What's His Name? . . . Speakin' of Models, (nobody was, I know, but I gotta fill this space) Nora James is just about the loveliest thing since Duke Ellington's Solitude! . . . Wont be much fun gettin' out the colyum this wk. Secretary Melrose lost all my notes. She doesn't drink. Left 'em in Frisco in the back of a Cab!

The Ticker Tape: Coupla cuties got maad last wk when I wrote that they were top dancers of a decade ago. Hell! That's only 10 yrs.!! I know, it just sounds longer. Sorry, gal-pals. No offense meant. Let's face it. I'm in yer corner. Win. Lose. Or draw. Right or wrong! . . . A very popular musician was stabbed the other night, nearly to the point of death. He refuses to prosecute his wife, who wielded the knife . . . I'm trying to find out if wedding bells rang for our buddy, Eugene McNeil, last wk just prior to his leaving on a hunting trip. A friend of his told a friend of mine and this friend of mine told me! . . . Yvonne Shelton (McClain Bail Bond Agency, Secretary) has gotten rid of her cold, thank God! She's too nice to suffer . . . Williams is one of those easy-going type of guys you like right off the bat. Sincere, friendly and an interesting conversationalist! . . . Harry Spragin and Lester Wilkins is a good example of local boys who made good! Former international playboy-sportsmen, they've now settled down to running a barber shop on Fifth. The Esquire . . . My birthday is Friday, November 12th, and I'll celebrate it by spending an entire afternoon playing Charles Browns' records. He's the wonderful torchanter with Johnny Moore's 3-Blazers . . . Whenever things get quiet Detectives pick up Mickey Cohen "for questioning." And nobody's been able to pin anything on him since he was a baby! . . . Joe King (the town's top tailor) and his buddy Louis Hudson making the rounds of nite spots and shaking hands as tho they were running for some kind of office. They've got more friends than a dollar bill . . . The attention-arresting beauty of the doll in back of the Press Box at Wrigley Field Sunday last made most of us sportswriters forget that we went there to work! Don't know her name, but she's a miniture Lena Horne! . . . No truth to the rumor that Earl Carter will wed. Earl figures it this way: Why buy a Cow when Cream's so cheap?

Wife Runs Amuck In Fine Brown Frame Contest

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—The "Fine Brown Frame" contest staged by bandleader Buddy Johnson as he and his orchestra played a one-night dance date in this community last week ended on a sour note and a "no decision" finish, all because of a "Fine Brown Frame" contestant who objected too strenuously to the idea of her own husband lending his support to another competitor in the contest.

Maestro Johnson was in the process of asking the audience of some 3000 persons to select the winning "Miss Fine Brown Frame" after having eleminated all but five contestants. Mrs. Hazel Conwell, one of the finalists, spotted her husband, Ernest, in the act of applauding for another "Fine Brown Frame."

Seeing her mate turn against her, Mrs. Conwell snatched a clarinet from the music stand of Johnson bandsman David Van Dyke. Then, leaping over the stage, she set out after Conwell and might have wrapped the instrument around his neck but for the quick intervention of several members of the crowd.

Johnson wound up the proceedings by announcing that it would be impossible to name a winner under the existing circumstances.

In explaining his actions, Conwell declared that he had told his wife he didn't want her to enter the "Fine Brown Frame" contest and that she did so against his orders. His applauding for another contestant, he said, was a means of expressing his dissatisfaction at hi wife's entering the contet. Mrs. Conwell's only comment was that she would take care of the matter in her own way, if and when Ernest came home!

Johnny Moore's 3-Blazers At Elks Hall Sunday Nite

Johnny Moore and his famous 3-Blazers will appear in person Sunday, November 7, when the famed foursome bring their lilting melodies to the Elks auditorium for a one night stint. A top orchestra will play for dancing.

Johnny Moore, leader of the group, has one of the top musical outfits around today. His playing has been rated on a par (and over, by some) with that of Nat King Cole. Depends upon whether you prefer Charles Brown's chirping to Nat's. Both are sing-sational, but this boy Brown wraps his heart around a vocal and walks away with all honors in my book! Cole is terrific, and it's hard to compare the two. Both sing different styles, but Brown will be on hand Sunday, Nov. 7, at the Elks all with the Blazers, and you can rate your favorite yourself.

Charles Mingus Is Back in Town With New Combo

Local boy Charles "Baron" Mingus, who made good with Lionel Hampton's famous orchestra, has left that band to form one of his own. Only the Baron's outfit won't be a full-sized crew, but will be comprised of five of the most accomplished musicians available.

Now in rehearsal, Mingus has surrounded himself with a group of enthusiastic fiddlers who know music like a cat knows catnip. The Baron himself is rated and recognized as a top exponent on the Bass, and his latest record release, "These Foolish Things Remind Me Of You," displays his bass-playing ability fully.

Buddy Collett, Chuck Thompson, Jimmy Bunn, Mingus and a very promising young singer, on an Eckstein kick, make up the combo. Mingus organized his band in San Francisco where they recently concluded a smash engagement at one of the smart niteries there.

Some smart local nite spot should grab this band, they're definitely Big Time and their brand of entertainment would pack any club!

Harlem Rumor Says Robinson Is Broke

NEW YORK (CNS)—The rumor that Bill Robinson is flat broke is becoming more and more apparent. 'Tis said his young wife, Elaine, left their Dunbar Apartments home several weeks ago with their adopted baby and went back to Brooklyn to her mother. No reason was given. Recently, the grapevine insists Bill passed a rubber check on a prominent community man for a century note, then returned to make an additional loan of fifty bucks. . . . However, the people whom Bill has befriended these many years will turn out to Blumstein's Dream House and honor both he and Elaine this week. . . . Bill is still recovering from a recent illness of which the doctors have been warning him to "take it easy" for quite a time.

INDEPENDENT MUSICAL

On last Tuesday evening the Cathedral Choir of People's Independent Church presented an Anniversary Musical celebrating the Thirty-Third year of the Church.

Anna Griffith Morrow, Vice-President of LAMA and Musical Director of the Second Baptist Church presided as Mistress of Ceremonies while Edna Hammet Porter, Musical Director of the Progressive Baptist Church and National Baptist Convention Chorister acted as guest director.

Eleanor Yates, soprano, opened the evening with Mozarts' Alleluia; the artists' unusual flexibility was demonstrated in the clarity of the florid passages. The Cathedral Choir under Mrs. Porter's direction sang Mozart's Gloria and Handel's Hallelujah Chorus.

The director evoked a pronounced attack and a clean release. Mary Louise Jones in Liddell's The Earth Is The Lord's was thrilling and produced the high B-flat magnificently.

Gwendolyn Harriel, also a soprano and assistant director of the McNeil Choir, thrilled her audience with David Guion's popular I Talked to God Last Night.

Lillie T. Hogue and the Radio Choir of Triangular Church of Truth were presented in two spirituals in clever arrangement. Eloise Lee Crawford, contralto, sang O Salutaris Hostia (O Saving Host) a religious arioso of sincere character.

We were greatly surprised at the "new" voice which Mrs. Crawford has acquired. We can recall when she sang soprano selections profusely. It is interesting and certainly gratifying to hear the warm satisfying depth of vocal delivery which this artist has cultivated.

MT. OLIVE MUSICAL

In Second Baptist Church last Thursday evening the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, a new religious organization, presented an evening of music. The concert opened with the singing of Malotte's Lord's Prayer by Eloise Lee Crawford, the wife of Mt. Olive's minister.

Margaret Pett, popular soprano and recent stellar attraction at the Nash Opera production, sang the L'insana Parola from Verdi's Aida. Miss Pett has certainly achieved a great deal of dramatic control since her recent operatic experiences.

Her Italian was fluent if not always coherent. Orpheus Anderson, tenor, contributed Allitson's The Lord is My Light. Rocksy Horton, contralto and Pasadena church musician, sang the aria Connais-Tu Le Pais? from Thomas' Mignon and the spiritual My Father Tooka Light and Went to Heaven accompanied by her son.

Mrs. Horton although a contralto, sang the aria with a small tone, almost devoid of depth. Her spiritual was handled effectively and displayed the true warmth not heard in her first selection. The McNeil Choir's offerings were MacFarlane's Open Our Eyes and Thompson's Alleluia.

As encore selections the choir offered Spirit of the Lord and Dry Bones.

Lungi Del Caro Bene of Secchi was Mrs. Crawford's selection opening the second half of the program. Hall Johnson's Fix Me Jesus was the companion offering.

Margaret Pett and Allen Lamont sang the duo, Ciel Mio Padre from Verdi's Aida. Mrs. Pett was coherent and genuinely sympathetic in the role. Mr. Lamont, a baritone, was consistently and uncomfortably out of the tonality.

Eleanor Yates was the final contributing artist. Clarence Hargraves was the genial Master of Ceremonies, and Geneva Bass Moore, the capable accompanist.

BACH FESTIVAL

Four days, November 18th through 21st will mark the Fifteenth Annual Bach Festival in Los Angeles' First Congregational Church under the direction of the new Minister of Music, Melvin L. Gallagher. At the opening performance, 7:30 Thursday the 18th, the Concert Choir, Chamber Orchestra, and Dance Workshop of LACC under the direction of Ralph J. Peterson will present The Coffee Cantata.

The same evening at 8:30 the Brandenburg Concerto No. 1 with Jacque Rachmilovich conducting the Santa Monica Little Symphony. Harry Kaufman, Joachim Chassman, and Leonard Posella will be the other contributing artists.

The LACC aggregation will repeat the Coffee Cantata on Friday evening at the 7:30 hour. At 8:30 the music Department of the Los Angeles City Schools will present Part I of the Christmas Oratorio and Cantata No. 50 under the direction of Harriet P. Wenig, Fred Graichen and William C. Hartshorn.

Noted Voice On Telephone Hour

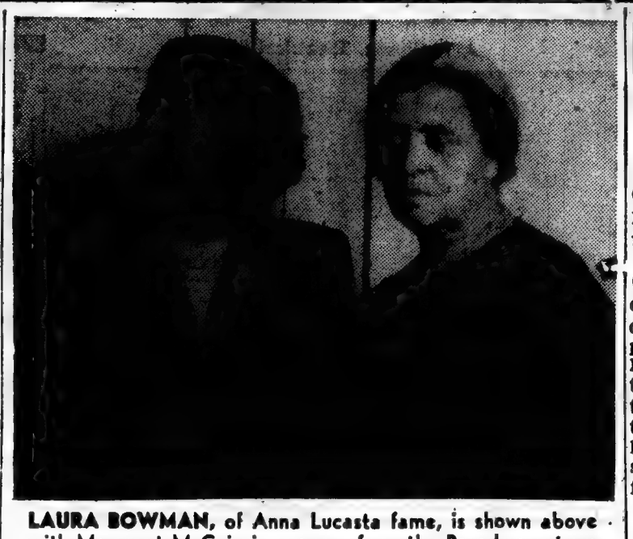
Offering both new and familiar guest concert artists to fall radio listeners, The Telephone Hour will broadcast four special programs during November, it was announced by E. S. Ricker, manager of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The weekly program is heard on Monday evening at 10 p.m. over NBC stations. The November 1 broadcast, however, will not be heard as the time has been relinquished to last minute political rallies.

Guest artists scheduled for the remaining November programs are Polyna Stoska, Jussi Bjoerling, Marian Anderson, and the three young winners of the 1948 Walter W. Naumburg Musical Foundation Auditions.

Screen Contest Winners Named

Winners in national Writers' Talent Scout Contest, sponsored by Allied Artists and Roy Del Ruth in search for original screen material, were announced last week. First prize of $1,000 went to Samuel F. Roeca of San Gabriel; second prize of $300 to Mrs. Carolyn English of Salt Lake City; and duplicate third prizes of $200 to Mrs. N. L. Burns and the writing team of Virginia Bostick and Charles S. Spaulding.



Orson Welles' Film Rates High Acclaim

Orson Welles' production of Shakespeare's immortal masterpiece, "Macbeth," is generally conceded to be one of the most unusual films ever to come out of Hollywood. Reports from the few places where it has been shown already indicate that it will be the most discussed of this year's pictures.

Dusty Fletcher Thinks Police Jealous of His New Cadillac

NEW YORK — Clinton (Dusty) Fletcher, famed comedian of "Open the Door Richard," turned up his nose at a traffic charge this week to appear at the uptown court and pay a $15 fine.

Dusty claims he parked his car, a new powder blue Cadillac, on West 49th Street while he went into eat chop suey. When he returned, one hour later, four cars were parked on his side of the street. His was the only one with a ticket. Dusty insists the cop ticketed him because he was the Negro. This belief made him so angry he decided not to show up in court nor to pay the fine.

In a similar incident, Dusty relates that recently he was on his way to hte ballgame. Three cars passed a white line. The cop watched two but when his car passed the white line, the cop waved the rest by and signalled him to pull over. At court, Dusty told the judge it was a clear case of prejudice. Dusty reprimanded the cop who said "Who do you think you're talking to?" Dusty bellowed back, "I'm talking to you—a man like I am." The judge saw his point.

Dusty, enroute to St. Louis, also remarked on the manners of drivers. "I'm a courteous driver," he said. "I'm always concerned about the fellow behind me. Of course men are the best drivers. Women are plain crazy at the wheel. Whenever you see a woman with her hand out the window you can only be sure of one thing. Her window is open!"

Ann Baxter, who stars opposite Tyrone Power in the 20th Century-Fox production "The Luck of the Irish," has a striking new fall ensemble consisting of a two-piece woolen suit topped by a suede three-quarter length coat.

Ebell, Sun. Nov. 14

Americans for Progressive Israel will present Arnold Eidus, violinist, in a benefit performance for the thousands of Jewish orphans from Europe and Cyprus, in the Wilshire Ebell theatre on Sunday, November 14, at 8:30 p.m.

These Jewish orphans are being absorbed by the 51 settlements in Israel known as Kibbutz Artzi. Millions of dollars are needed for school buildings and houses. Americans for Progressive Israel have pledged themselves to help finance the needs of this emergency. All proceeds of this concert will go for this purpose.

Arnold Eidus is the winner of the Jacques Thibaud international competition for violinists in 1947, out of a field of 140 contestants. He has appeared in many engagements in Europe as well as in America, and critics rank him with Kreisler and Heifetz as master of the violin.

Tickets for the concert may be secured from the So. Calif. Music Co., TU 1144, and all Mutual agencies, or Wilshire Ebell Theatre, 4401 W. Eighth street.

Loretta Young has played the title role in 16 of her films, including the one which won her an Academy Award.

EAGLE SPORTS

Jefferson Bee's Battle Fremont

What appears to be the best B team in over a decade is causing a flurry of excitement over at Jefferson High. Coach Bert ("The Finger") Watson has developed a team which is becoming increasinly more and more adept at razzle dazzle football. So far this season the Bee Busters have powered over four opponents with a total of 107 points to the oppositions nothing. In succession the team has walloped Bell 12-0, Jordan 25-0, Los Angeles 39-0 and Washington 31-0.

The Bees are out for Fremont's hide today and it promises to be quite a battle. Right now there is a contest between the varsity and the Bees for total scoring honors. Last week the Bees scored 31 against Washington while the varsity amassed 26. Both teams are high for the Fremont contest, and it may be the opportunity for Jefferson varsity to get back in the Southern League running.

Homecoming Game At Savannah on November 13

SAVANNAH, Georgia — The Georgia State College Tigers will meet the Florida Normal Eleven of St. Augustine, Fla. here in a homecoming contest Saturday afternoon, November 13 in Grayson stadium.

This year's GSC homecoming will be the largest in the history of the institution, according to Antonio Orsot, chairman of the homecoming committee.

Harlem Negro Knocks Out Title Holder in 4th Round at Garden

In a surprise upset to nearly everyone but the Eagle Sports Editor, Sandy Saddler defeated Willie Pep (as predicted here a few editions ago) via a fourth round knockout last week at Madison Square Garden to win the Featherweight crown of the world. The end came in 2:38 of the fourth as Pep, a 14-5 favorite who never before had been knocked out in 136 previous bouts, went down for the full count from a barrage of right and left jabs and hooks thrown from the spindle-legged Harlem Negro graduate of the New York Police Athletic League.

Saddler, 22 years old who resembles Panama Al Brown, a former bantamweight champion, floored Willie twice in the third round and once in the fourth. It was a clean cut knockout for Saddler, a clean cut lad who reads the bible before each fight, doesn't carouse around and will prove a credit to the boxing profession.

The bout drew 14,685 paid fans and a gate of $55,751.

Saddler at 124 gave a pound and a half to Pep, who weighed 125½.

Prior to the Saddler bout, Pep had held the featherweight title since 1942.

Gene Bearden Rookie of Year In Amer. League

Gene Bearden, clutch-pitching hero of the world champion Cleveland Indians, is the American League's choice for rookie of the year honors.

Bearden, now making his home in Long Beach, Calif., received 90 votes to nose out Billy Goodman, Boston Red Sox first baseman, by two votes.

Satchel Paige, Bearden's teammate, was fourth with 12 votes.

Satchel Paige Will Pitch Nine Innings Sunday at Wrigley

Bob Lemon and his major leaguers treated the one and only Satchel Paige rather roughly last Sunday at Wrigley Field before 15,000 fans, getting 8 runs from 9 hits during his five inning hitch on the mound and the Satchel fellow asked for another chance. It was the first time in Los Angeles that Paige had left the game behind, so he issued a challenge to Bob Lemon and Gene Bearden, his firm buddies during the summer, to go nine innings next Sunday, November 7, at Wrigley Field. Quick as a flash, Bearden accepted the gauntlet and so the fans are in for a rare treat.

Paige will oppose Bearden in the first game and the Royals, smarting under the fact that they have never actually beaten Lemon, asked for him in a second game and he responded with the promise to pitch the full game. Paige and Bearden, unless driven from the mound, will lock horns for the regular nine-inning contest.

Jackie Robinson, who played second base for Lemon and his crew last Sunday, will again be in the line-up at second base and batting in the second spot. It will be the last appearnace of the major leaguers this year as their 30-day limit runs out on Nov. 11. In case of inclement weather, the game will be played Tuesday night, Nov. 9.

Paige will have the Royals behind him and they promise to back their star to the hilt. An unadvertised feature may occur between games if both parties can be persuaded. Paige has always said he could outrun Chet Brewer, manager of the Royals, and a foot race between the two tall gentlemen is being arranged by neutral parties. The distance will be from right field to home plate and the time limit it one hour. Reservations may be made and tickets bought at Wrigley Field second floor and the West Coast Exchange, 42nd and S. Central ave. The first game starts at 1:30 p.m.

Boston Braves Will Have Negro Player On Team Next Season

BOSTON, Mass.—The pressure that has been leveled by the Boston colored press seems to have paid off. At a recent testimonial dinner honoring Dave Egan, liberal Boston sports columnist, John Quinn, owner of the Boston Braves, announced the fact that the Braves would definitely have colored baseball players on the team in 1949.

When queried further by W. Daniel Holder as to whether these colored players would be on the farm team of the Braves or in the regular line-up of the team, Quinn only stated that for a year at least he had this under consideration when the colored newspapers began hammering away in print as to the reason for no Negroes on the Boston team, and he intimated that the Braves already had two colored players on the farm team and there was a strong possibility that one of the rookies would be brought up this next season.

The Boston Red Sox have remained non-commital, as it is known that this team had the first chance at Jackie Robinson more than two years ago. They ignored Jackie and have maintained their lily-white attitude even to their admittance of Negro sports writers from Boston.

The Boston Times, leading Boston weekly, has taken a leading part in spearheading the drive to get colored baseball players as well as football players on the Boston teams.

CALIENTE OLD MEXICO—Trying to make a comeback after nearly a year away from the races, No Wrinkles, a former handicap star failed in his try last Sunday in the feature attraction of the day. Altho made favorite on the morning line with Indian Watch, the son of wise Counsellor-Crows feet could do no better than finish third. Beaten three lengths by Indian Watch and the longshot Nitrate. Indian Watch paid in the mutuels $8.00, $5.20, $3.60 across the Board as second choice. In this race at the last minute plenty money showed for the Roguish Housatonic, who finished sixth in the field of ten. Housatonic was made post time favorite by the fans. In the Secondary Eventbilled as "The Halloween" at 1-16th miles saw Fox Brook who was claimed not long ago for the small sum of $800 beat the Odd Entry of Peepalong and Soup and Fish. Coming from far of the early pase set by Peepalong, the daughter of Brooklyn-Petite caught and passed Peepalong at the sixteenth pole to score a handy victory. Paying in the mutuels $5.60 straight. What two year old will beat Mytal? Starting only twice in his young career the son of Imported Agigotal My O'Silver Won" the Lodge 1125 six furlong sprint as he pleased beating the best two year olds on the grounds. Backed down to 1 to 3 in the mutuels the winner paid $2.80 for two. The daily-double combination of Major Mike Victor of the second race and Shasta Taw winner of the third paid $78.00 while the Qunieia backers of Love's Arrow and Broadline who finished in that order received $85.00. Favorites divided the card six out of twelve were able to visit the charmed circle of Presiding Stewart Judge George Shilling. Shasta Taw was the longest price winner of the day paying $14.20, $11.80, $8.40 across the board. All in all in was good program arranged by racing Secretary Judge James O. Cunningham. This Sunday the popular General Manager Walter C. Marty. Named the feature attraction "The Pershing Handicap" at 1-16th miles. "The Armistice" will be the secondary event at six furlongs. And for good measure to support the two main events "The Victory" at 1 mile and seventy yards will add to the twelve race program. Four races will be over one mile while the rest of the card will be at six furlongs. Tanner busses are still leaving the Biltmore Hotel for the track at 8 a.m Sundays.

The Sporting Scene

Hello Sports fans, first I would like to thank the "Gip" for asking me to write another guest column. It gives me an opportunity to present my grievenances. I would like to apoligize, however, to Roy Small, V. Terrell, J. C. Dandridge, Joe Adams, J. T. Gipson, Bernise Ray and many more of the cities leading sportsmen. I know you all have wondered why I haven't been present at all the latest sports events. I know that there are always politics when it comes to purchasing tickets at the leading stadiums. But I think that's carrying it too far when a certain person whom Kunin furniture store sponsors on the air have a special standing place in front of his television set. And besides I'm tried of seeing the window display there. I'm setting in a new section now. And it's the "Berry Jerry". My good friend and sportsmen Henry Compton and his lovely wife have extended us a weekly invitation to see the sport events over their telivision set. Note' We have a very comfortable seats, Also they serve sandwiches, beer, and coffee.

I have spent the last two Sundays afternoon watching the K. C. Royals and the Major League All Stars play base ball. You find your self spending half your time watching some of the greatest atheletes in the country perform, and the other half watching some of the greatest clowns perform. I realize this is a free country, and you pay your admission and applaud, or boo as you feel or see fit. But I wonder if there shouldn't be some ethics among the fans too. Since we demand so much from an athelete and a colored one especially. Personally I fell the urge to boo when a competator has conducted himself unsportsmen like, or when an official has rendered a bad decesion. You sit in the stands and pull for one athelete, hoping to see him get the better of the contest. But that hardly gives us reason to boo, his opponent, who probably has as many fans pulling for him! There are lots of us who give this reason "He's not trying", "He is laying down". But very few of us in the stands are able to judge when a guy is, or is not trying. If you will notice, you very seldom hear an athelete, wether active or retired make that accusation. And they should be the ones to know!!

Milo Savage came over after a straineous work out last week. He is a fine fellow, and I believe he is on his way to the top. He makes interesting conversation, seems to know exactly what he wants and is going after it. And you can't beat that. He has nothing but praise for his trainer and manager. In many cases fighters I have talked to, put the entire blame for their failure on the trainers and managers. They often say, I would have been champion had I not been pushed too fast. But Milo says it is intirely up to the fighter, if he can diliver.

In my last column, I wrote about Tim Stein Jimmie Pitts, John Buchanan, and many of the great golfers dropping in for their massages, ect. after a busy day on the golf links, and as usuall I forgot the women. So after reading the column, Mrs. Dorothy (Danrige) Nicholas asked, "What about us?" After all, she had a very stiff neck from her day on the links, and you should hear her rave about how much time she is going to spend skiing in Switzerland after joining her husband. Gerry says she plays ball with her son. Margaret Wilkerson has gone all out for golf too. She has a set of clubs that probly cost more than it took to raise me. Tena Anderson says it is tennis all the way for her.

We would like to give a big "thank you" to J. T. and everybody's friend, Rev. John L. Branham, who always finds time to drop by with many out of town visitors to say hello. He seems to bring Sunshine in your front door when he enters.

With Gip and all the other top notch sports writers interviewing the many base ball stars, I thought you might be interested to know what the Mother of one of the greatest atheletes of all time has to say. So I called Mrs. Robinson and asked her just how it felt to be the mother of a great star and gentleman like Jackie Robinson. She said, "I'm naturally proud of him, it is simply wonderful. After all these years of hard work this is the fruits of my labor." I hope that these words will serve to inspire many who are mothers of young atheletes.

Thanks "Gip."

Bob ("Bath House") Johnson.

ARE WE SLIPPING?

Are we as Americans becoming too confident and self-centered? Things have been going fairly easy for us up to now. Has this prosperity made us soft?

Some of us accept charity as if it is what we should be getting, with no thought of trying to overcome it. Others work, but cease to save for old age, as we should. We go heavily into debt, and pay as we see fit.

Working conditions are steadily improving but we have much discontent among workers. Various organizations are allowed to threaten our workers, and far too many strikes are called. Why, when everything is so much better, should there be so much trouble and misery?

Let's wake up! Take advantage of our many opportunities and thank God we live in America.

D.R. Dear Prof. Herman: Hearing of you through some of my friends, I decided to write you for help. My wife and I do not get along, do you think we will be able to reach an understanding soon?

ANSWER. Probing into the matter I find that your arguments are based on trivial matters and can easily be avoided if you both try to do so. Remember you each have different personalities and characteristics which must be coped with.

T.T.B. What does the future hold for me?

ANSWER: According to your Zodiacal Sign, you are destined to meet some new friends and your financial conditions are going to improve. Many other events are revealed, but I am unable to relate them because of the limited amount of space. Why not write for your Personal Horoscope today, and learn what the future holds for you.

M.D. Does this man really care for me?

ANSWER: A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that your friend is very fond of you. As long as he gives you no cause to doubt his sincerity I suggest you put your suspicions and distrust out of your mind.

E.U. What should I do?

ANSWER. Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet, indicate the fact that you are undecided as to whether you should marry the father of your child. If you did not love him, my answer would be "no", but, since you care so much for him, and it seems that he is also very fond of you, I see no reason to hesitate.

J.I. If you will write in for a private reply, I shall be more than glad to help you. Only 1 question is answered in the column, due to the limited amount of space.

City employees who wish to gain promotions will have an opportunity to enroll in the 10-week Municipal Government classes sponsored by East Los Angeles junior college and to be held at the Los Angeles City Hall.

Registration will commence November 15 for the session ending January 27, 1949.

Girl Scouts

Our neighborhood is quite proud of the fact that Ladenta Fullbright, Millicent Anderson, Iowata B. Hall, Doris Rabb, Doris Worthy, Irene Wakamatsu and Norma J. Pitts were used as color guards in the flag ceremony on the steps of the city hall. Sandra Shields, Shirley Bowling, Janie Williams, and Carmen Garrott were used as the background. They officially opened the beginning of Girl Scout Week.

The Jr. Hi troop which is now being organized by Mrs. Holtzman, went on an early morning cookout last Sunday at Griffith Park.

The Brownies of Troop 632 made preparations for their annual Halloween party. With Mrs. Howard's help, they cut pumpkins and black cats. This year they will have as guests the members of the new Brownie troop. Visitors to troop meeting were Mardell Shelton, Eleanor McCoy and Sylvia Jackson.

Last Saturday members of troop 524 attended a radio broadcast "It's Fun To Be Young," at CBS.

As part of Girl Scout Week activities, the troop attended services Sunday at Holman M.E. Church.

The girls of troop 970 are now working on clothing kits to send to children overseas. Their sponsors are also helping them by giving the troop some of their clothes.

Neighborhood Scribe,
Sandra Shields.

Care Package Increased In Quanities

Altered food conditions in Europe have resulted in changes to make a bigger and better CARE food package, Edward J. Flynn, Los Angeles CARE Director, announces.

With increased grain harvests in Europe this fall, Flynn indicated the seven pounds of flour in the former CARE package has been reduced to two pounds.

Meat items have been increased from 3 pounds to four and a quarter and a pound of lard added to meet winter diet needs for proteins and fats.

Caloric content of CARE packages has also been increased from 40,000 to over 42,000. A pound of honey and two pounds of rice have been added, with preserves substituted for dried fruit.

Southern California Center for CARE is located at 217 West Ninth Street, Los Angeles.

New Director At Boys Town

BOYS TOWN, Neb.—(Special)—Rt. Rev. Msgr. Nicholas H. Wagner, new director of Boys Town, has been formally installed in his new duties at ceremonies in the Dowd Memorial Chapel here. Monsignor Wagner succeeds Boys Town's famous founder, Father Edward J. Flanagan, who died several months ago while on an inspection tour in Europe.

More Taxable Property

Taxable property in Los Angeles county for the current fiscal year, assessed at $4,843,228,535, shows an 88 per cent increase over the prewar $2,581,841,644 valuation for 1941-42, California Taxpayers' association said, making public its study of trends in taxable valuations in California counties.

Radio's Fibber McGee, named by the household goods industry as its "most prominent prospect of the year," re-enacting his familiar air role as owner of the nation's best known overstuffed closet. Molly looks on patiently.

According to the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association, cluttered closets are something the industry would like to see uncluttered, with excess household goods going into storage.

The warehousemen say that when Fibber opens his radio closet and things come clattering out he typifies many a husband who is always going to do something about jammed closets, attics and basements.

They admit that getting the McGee closet cleared may be a real challenge to the storage men's patience. It might take some time, if they wait for the laughs to die down.

Ex-GI Builds Export Trade

Chicago—A modern Midas is 27-year-old Dunbar McLaurin, a Negro vet who is an ex-GI who amassed nearly a million dollars in the few years since his discharge from the army at the end of World War II.

Holder of a Ph. D. in economics, McLaurin is the head of the Far Eastern Trade Association and operates offices in New York, Manila, Shanghai and Hong Kong.

A native of Oklahoma, when he was discharged as a lieutenant in Manila, he went into the used car business selling army surplus jeeps. Known there as "Honest Mac — The Poor Man's Friend," he cleared $18,000.00 in his first deal and has been in the business ever since.

McLaurin's sales manager is white and works with him in his New York office just off Fifth Avenue which has a staff of five. His staff of Filipino workers in the Pacific boasts 400 workers and a weekly payroll of $22,000.00.

Two Hard Games Coming Up

LOS ANGELES—A richly deserved rest is in store for the University of Southern California football team this weekend. Following five successive Saturdays of rough and tumble competition, the open date enables Coach Jeff Cravath to spend two full weeks on developing more offensive punch.

The Trojans have scored just seven points in each of their past four games against Rice Owls, Oregon Webfoots, Stanford Indians, and California Bears. Coach Cravath figures it will take more than one touchdown to beat Washington, UCLA and Notre Dame, SC's three remaining opponents.

Time off until they play Washington Saturday, Nov. 13, in the Los Angeles Coliseum will also make it possible for injured Trojans to work back into the lineup. Tackle Bob Hendren, 6-ft. 8-in. 225-lb., veteran in the Troy line, took part in scrimmage previous to the Cal game and will definitely be ready for the Huskies.

Barney Docusen Beats Bratton

CHICAGO—Bernard Docusen, New Orleans welterweight, rated number one ring challenger for the welter crown, won an easy 10-round decision over Johnny Bratton here Saturday night.

There were no knockdowns. Docusen weighed 143, Brattan 141.

In the other feature bout, Harold Dade, Chicago, former bantamweight champion, outpointed Charlie Riley, St. Louis, in an 8-round bout, flooring Riley for a four count in the third round.

Mabel Fairbanks Teaching School Kids How to Skate

Red-haired Mabel Fairbanks, who can cut as neat a figure 8 on ice as any starring skater today, has turned into a school marm with schoolkids. Only, when the school bell rings, they are off to the rink to get their lessons on ice.

She has as many as 12 skaters, all colored, under her direct supervision at once. This is a step forward. Two years ago, there were no colored skaters in sight. The interest has been boosted only since Mabel arrived in Hollywood from New York.

Her first pupils were white, many of them children of movie stars. But as the news spread that there was a colored girl down at the rink who could "skate the pants off Sonja Henie," the kids came flocking from far and near to see this marvel.

Still Winner as Truman Wins

Politics may come and go leaving a havoc of broken promises, freyed nerves and empty pocket books. But my friends that is the nice thing about WALTER WELLMAN (better known to all his friends as the Smiling Irishman). Politics do not play any part in his being one of the oldest car dealers in Los Angeles and the owner of one of the largest car lots in L. A.

"Yes Sir." Win or lose the Smiling Irishman can still give you some of the finest bargains in used cars in the city.

Long known as the working man's friend. The Smiling Irishman continues to make new friends. His cars are clean and not overly priced.

Mr. Wellman is aware that one satisfied customer is better than 10 un-satisfied customers. Therefore his instruction to his sales-force is this: "QUALITY NOT QUANITY" . . . If you sell a customer a good car one that he or she can rely upon . . . you the salesperson automatically fall into the Quanity bracket. Because one satisfied customer tells another . . . thus bring about more sales. But—10 sales of un-realible cars—cars that may perhaps leave you stranded 10 miles from home or the ungodly embarrasement of finding yourself astride of a street car track . . . with the street car conductor CLANG CLANG CLANGING that cussed bell. "Oh every one within a radius of fifty miles just what he thinks of that D——d used car salesman and believe me people just naturally like to hear about the bad things in life. So to avoid any of the above un-pleasant things, please do purchase your used car at the "Smiling Irishmans." You will be happy . . . Mr. Wellman will be happy and his sales-force will be happy. So stealing the phrase from one of the finest guys in show business and one whom I have had the pleasure to meet . . . The famous "TED LEWIS" I'll say: "IS EVERY BODY HAPPY"? The answer is "YES" if you purchase your car from the "Smiling Irishman" . . . located at the corner of Pico and Vermont.

WHERE THE JACKRABBITS PLAYED—This air view of present-day Los Angeles shows a solidly populated area where, upon the founding of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce 66 years ago, a handful of sleepy communities existed. First settlers in Pasadena (background) bought land at $5 per acre, came to Los Angeles by stagecoach, and complained of overabundance of jackrabbits.

Saddler Knocks Pep Out of Pep

Sandy Saddler, new featherweight king of the world, was the underdog in his bout last week at Madison Square Garden with Willie Pep. Pep has engaged in 136 fights, with only one loss. That one was to the old master, Sammy Angott, back in 1943. An oscure gent, Jimmy McAllister got away with a draw in a bout at Baltimore in 1945.

Saddlers record in no way compares with Pep's. But he's a dangerous hitter, can take a punch and lives a clean life. Sandy has knocked out 63 of 93 foes but he's lost six times. One lose was to Chico Rosa on a disputed split deciion at Honolul last June 30. Another was to Humberto Sierra, a Cuban who was knocked out by Pep last February.

"MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY" Says—

Dwight D. Eisenhower recently told America's students: To develop fully your own character you must know your country's character. That's a good thought for older folks, too. If we regularly set aside some time to study our country's history, its habits and its problems, we'll move closer to the most important goal of all—being a good American.

School days are here again and winter driving is just ahead. Consideration for the other fellow is the basis of good driving. So watch out for the kids.

Fred, the postman on our street, airs his views on all sorts of things. He doesn't place much stock in failure by itself. "It's the kind of try you make that counts," he explained the other day. "If a man doesn't succeed at small things, he's most likely a failure. But you've got to admire someone who aims high even if he fails short of the mark."

KITCHEN MEMO BY JOAN CLARKE

When friends drop in for tea or coffee, your own home-made bread will add a gracious touch. Make Orange Nut Tea Bread ahead of time for it slices better after 24 hours. Cream together ¼ cup shortening, 1 cup sugar. Add 1 egg, beaten. Sift together 3 cups flour, 4 tbsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. baking soda, 1 tsp. salt. Add alternately to creamed mixture with ½ cup milk, ½ cup orange juice. Add 1 tsp. grated orange rind, ½ cup chopped nut meats. Pour into greased loaf pan 10½" x 5" x 3½". Bake in gas oven 350° for 1¼ hours. If you want to keep the Tea Bread longer than a few days, add ½ cup dates.

Broiled potatoes turn out crisp and brown when peeled raw, sliced quarter inch thick, dipped in oil and placed on pre-heated broiler pan under medium flame. About 6 to 8 minutes on one side and 5 on the other make them just right for a quick-broiled dinner.

When the gas flame is turned down to simmer point after bringing vegetables to the boil, you save about 75 per cent in fuel.

If you are buying a new automatic gas water heater, be sure that it is adequately sized. Your utility company or dealer will tell you, for example, that some automatic appliances use more hot water than the manual types.

If baked apples are filled with jelly for the last 5 minutes of cooking, the children will eat every bite.

Vaughn - Jacquet Combination Makes Box Office Record

DETROIT, Mich.—Illinois Jacquet and Sarah Vaughan will interrupt their nationwide concert tour to check into this city for a week's engagement on stage of the Paradise Theater, starting Friday, November 5.

Following their engagement at the Paradise, Jacquet and Miss Vaughan will invade Canada for their first and only joint concert in the Dominion, at Massey Hall, Toronto, Saturday, November 13. Both the frantic instrumentalist and the incomparable singing star had attracted record crowds in single appearances at Massey Hall earlier this year.

The good man imparts knowingly and unknowingly goodness; but the evil man also exhales consciously and unconsciously his evil nature—hence, be careful of your company.—Mary Baker Eddy.

He who wishes to exert a useful influence must be careful to insult nothing. Let him not be trouble by what seems absurd, but consecrate his energies to the creation of what is good.—Goethe.

A good man does good merely by living. —Bulwer.

Beau Jack Biff Bangs Boon in Washington Bout

WASHINGTON — Beau Jack, former world's lightweight champion, won a three-round technical kayo over Eric Boon, ex-British welter and lightweight titleholder last week when he gave the British fighter such a sound beating that the referee stepped in and halted the one-sided bout after one minute and 21 seconds of the third round in what was billed as a 10-round bout.

Jack, making good on his comeback campaign, weighed in at 143½, and Boon tipped the scales at 144.

P.-T. A. NOTES

The 6th Ave. P.T.A. led by the new president, Mr. J. A. Majors, promises to be an inspiring year for the community at the first meeting of the year. The new principal, Mr. Florence Sobrero and Miss Broughton, one of the new teachers, spoke earnestly on the U.N.E.S.C.O. and the part the city schools are planning to take in learning about "OUR NEIGHBOR." Community singing was led by the music chairman, Mr. C. E. Younger and Winona Bell gave a piano selection.

Mrs. Daisy Smith community chest chairman, will appreciate the help of everyone available for the red feather campaign. Please call her at Parkway 1011 or meet at the school at 9 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 4. No one will be asked to take more than one block.

Friday, November 5, is paper drive day at the 6th Ave. School.

Funds available for the maintenance and treatment of mental patients do not provide adequate housing, food, clothing and other necessities.

Flash!

On our way to press, the flash came over the wire that 11 Negroes, one Mexican, and two white men, employees of the U.S. Post-office in Los Angeles, have been indicted under the loyalty test.

Full details will be given in next week's issue of the EAGLE.

Police terrorism struck the Burns family again last week when Nelson Burns, 48-year-old father of Herman Burns, who died as the result of a police beating several weeks ago, was arrested on a minor charge, taken to jail and severely beaten.

The senior Burns, who had previously reported to the Civil Rights Congress that police patrol cars drove slowly by his home indicating careful and unceasing scrutiny, was driving his truck about 10:30 last Wednesday evening when he was stopped by police at Jefferson and St. Andrews.

They told him his tail light was out, and they asked to see his license. When he produced his license, one of the policemen examined it and asked him if he were any relation to the boy who was killed. Burns replied in the affirmative: "I'm his father," he said.

He was immediately placed under arrest and taken to the University police station. The use of the phone was denied him and when he insisted that he be allowed to notify his family as to his whereabouts, he was beaten. Until early this week, there was a bruise under his eye inflicted by a policeman. Later he was taken to Lincoln Heights and released on $150 bail Thursday.

Monday morning a hearing in the case was held and the trial was set down for December 15 at which time two of his sons are also scheduled to be tried on disorderly conduct charges placed by the police who were present when their brother Herman was beaten to death.

In his report to the Civil Rights Congress, Nelson Burns stated that he had gone to a friend's home earlier in the evening to pick up a check that had been sent from New Orleans to aid in the expense of prosecuting the murderers of Herman Burns. He was, on his way home when he

AMERICAN ACTIVITY

INDICT CONGRESSMAN ON KICKBACK COUNT AND PAYROLL FRAUD

WASHINGTON— Congressman J. Parnell Thomas, Republican head of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, who was re-elected last week from his New Jersey bailiwick, stands indicted by a Federal grand jury on charges of fraud and salary kick-back, charges which carry a maximum penalty of 32 years in prison.

An avid publicity and headline hunter, Thomas was exposed at a time when he planned an onslaught against liberal Americans who refused to be intimidated by his unsubstantiated attacks on their loyalty.

At the outset of the investigation which led to the indictment, Thomas demanded an opportunity to testify before the grand jury. He charged the investigation was a smear-attack to weaken his election chances. When an invitation was extended for him to appear, he went before the official body with his counsel, and refused to testify on the grounds that to do so might tend to incriminate him.

It was substantially because of such a defense that Thomas was able to prompt indictments against 10 Hollywood screen writers and other outstanding figures.

Also involved in the charges against Thomas (charges that were brought about by an expose by Columnist Drew Pearson) are instances of keeping soldiers out of combat and getting blank expense checks from the Un-American Activities Committee, as well as special airplane travel

Water Crisis Threatens Val Verde Park

Val Verde Park civic leaders will meet Sunday, November 14, to discuss plans for a better water supply.

Each year, for the past ten years, it has been pointed out, the water supply for Val Verde has been growing steadily worse. The blame for this cannot be laid upon any individual or organization. It is simply the result of a growing community, which has outgrown the capacity of the present water system.

Those who have been asked to speak at this meeting are: J. Howard Scott, S. T. Phillips, Z. Bruce, James Barksdale, Ed. Guss, A. J. Page and R. Wilkins.

The Val Verde Park Community Sing will be held in the A M E Val Verde Park Sunday, from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

STILL SILENT

ALEXANDER BLASTS REPORT HE TALKED TO THE GRAND JURY

Over 1500 persons rallied with promises of support and a defense contribution of $3000 Sunday night at the Embassy Auditorium when the Civil Rights Congress presented the "ten silent witnesses" in a stirring assault on the extra-legal procedure that imprisoned them, though none of them had committed a crime.

Highlight of the meeting was the theme echoed in the words of John McTernan of defense counsel who said: "If Tom Clark's FBI has been investigating the Communist Party for as long as he says it has, and he doesn't know the answers to those questions, the FBI ought to be abolished for incompetence."

Blasting this attempt of assistant Attorneys General James Carter and Max Goldschein, to divide the white and Negro people concerned, Frank Alexander, who faces jail for refusal to answer questions that are an invasion of his civil rights, told the near-capacity audience:

"There is no courtroom big enough to hold the witnesses who would testify that reaction uses the most brutal force and violence against the Negro people. Because of this fact, the Negro people have learned early that only through united action, such as the Scottsboro Case, the Herndon Case, the Ingram Case, and the Burns killing, can they make any progress in their struggle against the divide and rule

Attorney Slater Elected Judge In Chicago

Atty. Fred (Duke) Slater was a popular choice Tuesday, November 2, at the Chicago polls, when he was elected to a judgeship of the municipal courts of his home town.

Atty. Slater, the famous Duke Slater, all-time, all-American football star of Iowa University, is the brother of Mrs. Aurora Slater Hoskins and the nephew of Miss Pauline Slater, well known teachers in the Los Angeles City Schools. Two other aunts, Mrs. Jennie Graham and Mrs. Bell O'Neal, also live in Los Angeles.

Atty. Slater's father, Rev. George W. Slater, Jr., and his grandfather, George W. Slater, Sr., were former pioneer residents of Chicago and figured prominently in the early religious education and political life of the Windy City back in the '80's.

Atty. Slater's wife, the former Etta Searcy, daughter of Rev. W. M. Searcy, well known in the A M E churches of Iowa and Illinois, is also a graduate of the University of Iowa, and is a very able moral support to her popular husband, Judge Fred W. Slater.

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

Harry Truman, who sat down at a piano and drummed out the tune for his campaign march, established a rhythm that was perfect.

In and out of practically every state in the Union went Truman. He spoke to farmers, businessmen, church people, and just little folk. To all of them he told virtually the same story—how the 80th Congress had tied his hands while it cooked up Taft-Hartley and other legislation that enslaved the working people and denied their civil liberties.

Well, Mr. President, you are now free to act, and the people are expecting you to act swiftly and decisively.

The enemy is not at our gates, but within our gates, and our democracy is threatened by those who profess to be its friends.

Who are our enemies?

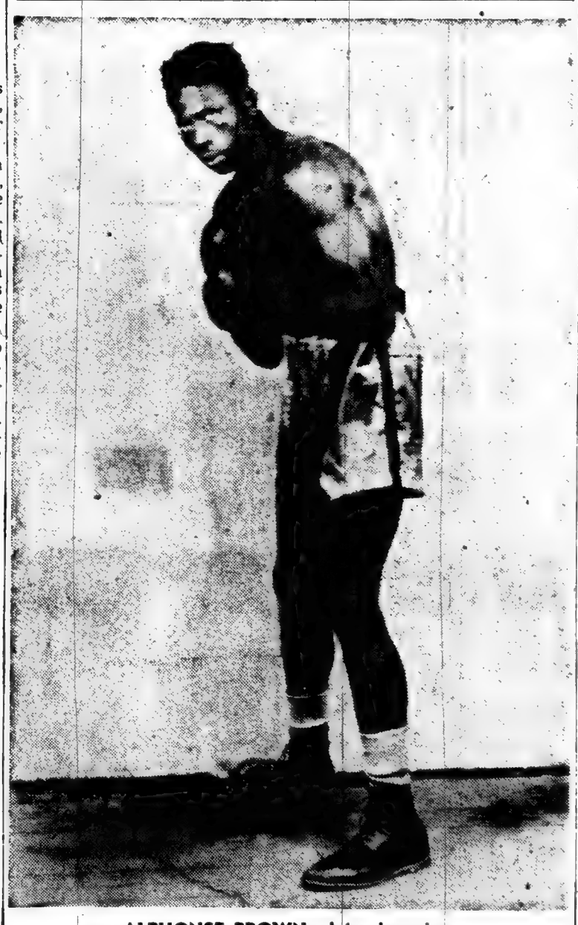
Our enemies are those who deny segments of our citizens the right to vote. Those who refuse to enact legislation that would stamp out lynching. Those who filibuster in the U. S. Senate, and kill with words the laws that would grant full employment to all regardless of race or color or creed. Those who are opposed to housing, medical attention, jobs, decent wages, and all the other needs that go to make up the real American way of life.

You, Mr. President Truman, with the help of the 81st Congress now largely liberal, can change all that. And we hope you will. We are simply reminding you of the fact that we, too, must make America such a nation of democracy that all the world will imitate us.

We are reminding you of this in the same spirit as that shown in the letter by the officials of the Campaign to Resist Military Segregation, addressed to the directors of the defense forces of the United States. That letter in part reads:

One cursory glance through the history of the last 75 years will show a rather consistent and determined policy of jim-crow throughout all the army installations . . . The military has been one of our sturdiest bastions of misunderstanding, frustrating, under the guise of law and expediency our natural forces of social evolution.

In the past many of us, as Americans, have tacitly acquiesced and participated in this national tragedy for the sole reason that the national defense seemed to warrant it, each time the problem arose. We have fought with the promise, always proffered at those times, that the situation would be changed when the security of the nation was not so seriously jeapordized. It is needless to say we have witnessed repeated evidences of bad faith.



Nothing to be gotten from the most searching examination of all available sociological data substantiates the convenient army opinion that the elimination of segregation would weaken the American fighting potential. This argument has been perniciously and maliciously advanced to deprive the Negro of his chance to die as a citizen, without any real regard for the effect of segregation upon the Negro American, the general welfare, or the national security.

We think it hardly possible for the 2½ million

Alphonse Brown Golden Gloves Champion Killed in Frisco

Alphonse Brown, 27 year old middleweight boxer who showed great promise before he retired in 1941, and who was seen locally at the Olympic Auditorium, died two weeks ago as the result of stab wounds inflicted by a woman in a San Francisco restaurant.

Details are hazy, but according to a report received by the California Eagle, Brown was eating in the restaurant around midnight when a woman stabbed him without warning. It is believed a man held him during the altercation that followed.

In 1940, Brown fought in the Golden Gloves competition and won the middleweight championship. During the course of the competition, he fought in New York, Boston and Chicago. He won the two professional fights in which he figured at the Olympic Auditorium here. Glad-young, impressionable soldier-trainees to escape the ever present inference of Negro inferiority implicit in segregated military service. And when we realize that these same youngsters will just five or ten years after the termination of this experience in mis-education, be expected to meet the difficult social and other problems which will command their attention, it becomes clear that we can take no other action.

If we recklessly adhere to these policies of the military, American democracy and then world democracy will be lost. More than even must legislators and statesmen in the United States understand group antagonism and conflict, and the minority groups, if we are ever to solve the simple problem of living democratically. It would be an unpardonable sin to train our current youth on falsehood. To lead them to believe that a democracy limited to only nine-tenths of the American people can ever be achieved.

Never before has America meant so much to the free peoples of the world. We have today the responsibility of proving to the world the virility of the democratic process. This responsibility for world leadership in times of growing darkness, demands our unequivocale rejection of the law of the fascist state and the unhesitating espousal of that which we know to be just and right to the end of protecting all in the nation. We must be guided by justice, humanity, and law. Not passion, prejudice, and whim.

This letter was signed by Milton R. Henry, chairman of the Campaign to Resist Military Segrgeation; and Joseph L. Constantine, Jr. co-chairman. Inclosed are also almost 1000 names of young men, black and white who have pledged themselves to refuse to serve in the army if segregation is maintained.

Not only in the army, but all through the country, a new hope has arisen that now the civil rights program will be consummated. We have faith in you, President Truman. We are telling you this to remind you that we shall do all we can to help you make your promises come true.

Data on Negro Banks Issued By U.S. Commerce Department

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Sixth Annual Report of Banking Institutions owned and operated by Negroes released by the Department of Commerce, reveals that a total of fourteen banks are now domiciled in nine states and the District of Columbia. Of this number eleven are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

An analysis of their 1947 statements of condition, prepared by Emmer Martin Lancaster, Adviser to the Secretary of Commerce on Negro Affairs, indicates that peak records were attained in several of their operations. Their total assets of $31,307,345 are the highest of record, exceeding the preceding year's total by $2,150,658.

The following banks have been selected as depositories for public funds of the Federal Government and of the various cities, counties and states wherein they operate:

The Mechanics and Farmers Bank of North Carolina, The Crown Savings Bank of Virginia, Danville Savings Bank and Trust Company of Virginia, Douglas State Bank of Kansas, Citizens and Southern Bank and Trust Company of Pennsylvania, Citizens and Savings Bank and Trust Company of Tennessee, Consolidated Bank and Trust Company of Virginia, The Citizens Trust Company of Georgia, The Farmers State Bank of Oklahoma, The Industrial Bank of Washington and the Tri-State Bank of Memphis.

Penny an Hour Might Prevent A Burglary

Residential burglars are going to town!

A little thoughtfulness, and a penny an hour while away from home, will put the skids under the residential burglar who has committed 3,435 burglaries in Los Angeles this year to September.

If you go out at night, pull the shades so the burglar can't see there is no one home; also leave the radio playing and a light burning in the most used room of your home. Be sure to close and lock the garage; it takes a second, and will not give the burglar an open invitation.

Parties over the holidays have a habit of attracting unwanted and acquisitive strangers who are out for themselves. The best precaution is to put personal belongings of guests in closets. If bedrooms must be used, lock the windows and pull the shades and leave a light on.

Artisticas Open Project Of Year

Sunday morning will find the committee of entertainment of Diez Y Sies Artisticas at the home of Mrs. Lilla Moore, planning their menu and guest list for the club's first annual Christmas party.

Mrs. Mae Bradford, one of the city's leading feminine tailors, was accepted into the membership.

The Ways and Means Committee opened the discussion on the purchase of materials with which to make a hooked rug as a club project. Heading this committee are Mmes. Louise Nicklson, and Erma McCoy. Upon completion the rug will be auctioned and funds will be given to one of the charity clubs of the city. Since this club is not one of charity, its intention is to give one hand made article each year as a token of good will.

The next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mable Bennett. The club is expecting the return of member Hazel Moreland next year.

Baby Burned Fatally in Freak Fire

(N.P.B.) Eighteen months old Alfred Brown died Monday afternoon in the tent ward of General Hospital, where he had been rushed for treatments of burns he sustaned in a freak blaze at his home, 745 East Vernon Avenue, earlier in the day.

Also hospitalized by the flames which enveloped her older brother, was five months old Mary Ellen Brown. Hospital attendants reported the little girl "doing fne."

According to reports, the two children were left in a rear house for a short period while the mother was attending important chores in the front. Both children were left lying on a bed. In some unaccountable manner 18 months old Alfred fell from the bed.

It is believed his clothing became ignited by a nearby heater and set the bed afire. The flames, after burning him fatally, attacked his five months old sister. The mother, Mrs. Harold Brown, attracted by the screams of her infant children, raced to the house and with the aid of neighbors beat out the flames. But, not until they had almost fatally consumed her son.

some time prior to the fatal shooting of Jordan, and this fact is expected to provide the foundation for the prosecution's demand for a verdict of first-degree murder.

The slaying of Jordan grew out of a fierce fight with his wife on July 25, during which she screamed for assistance, and was rescued by Willis' entrance through the back door of her home. When Mrs. Jordan arrived at the Watts police station, beaten, and bruised about her face, and with a gash in her head, she told officers she had shot a man.

Further investigation brought Willis into the picture and resulted in his being charged with murder. Willis denies guilt of the crime, and his counsel advised the press, when interviewed, that the defendant's version of the occurence will be told to the jury.

Howard Attends Conference Of Home Financing Agencies

NEW YORK—H. A. Howard, Los Angeles business and civic leader, took an active role when the conference of home financing institutions sponsored by the U. S. Department of Commerce, met last week-end in Washington on a proposal advanced by him last April before a meeting of Negro business people.

The president and general manager of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles arrived here last Saturday morning aboard the crack new 20th Century Limited. He was greeted at the Grand Central Station by Walter Miller and William R. Hudgins, leaders in the formation here of the Carver Federal Savings and Loan Association.

As a speaker at the third annual "Conference on the Negro in Business," held last spring, Mr. Howard recounted the amazing and rapid growth of Broadway Federal.

His was the second such group, organized by Negroes, to be chartered by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. In his talk he suggested that similar institutions being operated by Negroes should organize a national association to cope with common problems.

Emmer Martin Lancaster, special adviser on Negro affairs to the Commerce Department, undertook the spade work, and recently sent invitations to some 22 institutions with a potential interest. More than half accepted.

While in New York Mr. Howard will attend the annual meetings of the U. S. Savings and Loan League, an independent organization of savings and loan associations. He will also meet with other Negro business leaders of the community.

Report Phony Solicitors

A flood of complaints has come to the attention of the Los Angeles county health department recently that commercial solicitors are representing themselves as official agents of the department. Dr. Roy O. Gilbert, county health officer, warns the public that his department never engages in, or endorses, any activity of this nature.

Doctor Gilbert further points out, especially to housewives and merchants who have been the chief victims of recent solicitation, that Department agents carry official identification. Any person unable to produce such identification should be reported to the county health department headquarters at 808 North Spring street, Los Angeles, or to any of its thirteen health centers throughout the county.

Rent Decision Aids Tenants In Eviction

A decision of great importance to local tenants and landlords has been handed down by Judge Daniel N. Stevens of the Los Angeles Municipal Court, it was disclosed by attorneys of the area rent office, who termed it the first written comprehensive opinion on the subject to be issued by any court in the United States.

Substance of the decision is that a landlord cannot evict a tenant by claiming he is taking the property off the rental market" when his real motive is to get rid of a tenant he considers undesirable.

The matter came up in an unlawful detainer action brought by Thomas B. and Rosemary E. Holt to evict Marie Lonergan from an apartment at 854 South New Hampshire Avenue, Los Angeles, on the "withdrawal from the market" grounds provided in Section 209 (a) 5 of the Housing and Rent Act of 1947.

The Holts contended that they intended to use the apartment as an office for work at home in the evening, and for living quarters for a relative whose visit was impending.

Judge Stevens found, however, that "the dominant reason the plaintiffs desire the defendant's eviction is because of dislike for the tenant." Since this motive, rather than the desire to take the apartment off the rental market, was the main cause of action, he ruled that the landlords did not show good faith and were not entitled to regain possession.

Slight Decline In Harvesting Work

Major seasonal agricultural employment declined slightly on November 1 with completion or near completion of several late fall harvests, Edward F. Hayes, Chief of the California Department of Employment's farm placement service, reported. Almonds, figs, prunes, raisin grapes, and alfalfa are nearly all harvested.

Hayes pointed out, however, that employment continues at a high level because of the large cotton crop and heavy tonnages of wine grapes, walnuts, rice sugar beets and miscellaneous vegetables yet to be harvested.

FLOOD FIGHTERS

How telephone people plan far ahead of emergencies to keep calls going through

1. When wild water breaks its bonds, telephone men get on the job fast to size up the damage and begin plotting their repairs. At the same time, if long distance circuits have been cut, your calls will already have been routed over other lines by the Traffic Control Bureau . . . often without your being aware of a delay.

2. Emergency materials like this are stored in special yards . . . set aside and reserved especially for disasters like floods and fires. They're assembled by fast-working crews and rushed by rail, truck or air to spots near the damaged area. They're then sent on by truck . . . and sometimes by boat . . . to the individual repair jobs.

3. The trouble's remedied . . . often while the water is still high. Some calls will be going through in a remarkably short time. For although problems like major floods and forest fires are infrequent, telephone people are always prepared to make teamwork match emergencies . . . to keep your telephone working well for you.

4. Around the clock, day in and day out, your telephone is ready to take your voice where you want it to go . . . quickly and dependably. And telephone men and women take pride in keeping it that way. Sometimes it takes an emergency to demonstrate the real value of a service so often taken for granted.

Japanese Express Gratitude For CARE Instead Of Bombs

Toyohiko Kagawa, noted Japanese teacher and philosopher, thanks America for "loving kindness," in a letter recently received at CARE headquarters.

Kagawa wrote acknowledging a gift of one hundred CARE Japanese food parcels, sent to him for distribution to members of his congregation.

"As one of the first recipients of CARE packages in Japan, and on behalf of every one of the one hundred individual beneficiaries to whom they were sent, I want to thank you very much for your loving kindness," Kagawa's letter said.

"Certainly these packages did a lot of good for them, as they express in their own words their profound appreciation. One widow says that she received the parcel just on her birthday, as if it were her birthday present.

"Children were so much excited as they opened the carefully packed box and watched so many articles appear. Persons who were sick for a long time were helped very much.

"Some thought it was 'manna' instead of 'bomb' come down suddenly to help them in time of emergency when the food ration is the lowest of the year.

"They have all learned a great lesson of Christian love in action and what 'CARE' stands for."

Will Rogers Appeals for Navajo Relief

Will Rogers, Jr., asked public support for the Thanksgiving appeal for aid to Navajo Indians at the meeting of the Southern California Executive Committee held in Los Angeles.

Speaking as chairman of the SCF National Advisory Committee on Indian Affairs, Mr. Rogers spoke of the critical needs on the Navajo reservation where the average yearly income of families is less than $400.

The abnormally high infant mortality rate of 30 per cent is due to inadequate child care, clothing, food and medical supplies.

"Every American should support this Federation's program for aid to Navajo children," Rogers said. "I suggest Thanksgiving as a fitting time for schools, civic clubs, women's organizations and churches to send layettes, clothing or contributions for sponsorships to our Navajo neighbors."

CONGRESS PRESENTS worth over $10,000 will be given away Thanksgiving Day, sponsored by the Southern California Women's Division, American Jewish Congress. Among the presents is the 2-door Hudson sedan, 1948, being admired by Mrs. C. A. Bass, Editor of the EAGLE and Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Pransky. A television consolette, O'Keefe and Merritt stove, and 20 other valuable gifts will be given to some lucky person who has donated $1.00 to the Jewish Congress.

Haiti Struggles To Grow Better Coffee

WASHINGTON, D. C. — How Haiti is attempting to produce higher quality coffee in order to expand its export market is described in the October issue of "Foreign Agriculture," a U. S. Department of Agriculture publication.

Written by Giles A. Hubert, agricultural attache of the American Embassy in Haiti, and former professor of economics at Fisk university, the article gives a detailed account of the little country's efforts under new legislation to improve the position of its coffee in the world market.

We Lead Here Too

Ranking first among the states in the number of vehicles registered — with 3,527,128 reported in 1947—California's highway transportation business is one of the leading industries in its entire economic structure.

100 Million Cars Made By Auto Industry

DETROIT — This year the American automotive industry has reached a significant milestone—production of one hundred million motor vehicles.

The 100 millionth vehicle, like millions ahead of it, rolled off the final assembly line in one of 112 car and truck plants scattered over 77 cities in 24 states.

Historians generally credit Charles E. and J. Frank Duryea with building, in 1893 at Springfield, Massachusetts, the first U. S. automobile powered by a gasoline engine.

Since the first Duryea car 55 years ago, the industry has turned out motor vehicles at an average annual rate of nearly 2,000,000.

One out of twenty 15-year-olds will some day be a patient in a mental hospital.

Rev. Baxter Duke Officiates Farley-Calhoun Wedding Rite

In an impressive candlelight ceremony before an arch of camellia and painted doves, Dorothy Calhound became Mrs. Louis Farley Jr. last Sunday at Avalon Christian church. Before the ceremony, Miss Nadine West and Mrs. Lucille Bradley formed a duet to sing "Indian Love Call," Harvey Huggins sang "Because," and Miss Mary Johnson played "Ave Maria" on the violin. During the ceremony, performed by the Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke, Miss Georgiana Brown sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Members of the bridal party, who wore pastel gowns of brocaded satin with matching halo hats and carried sprays of white dahlia, were Mrs. Harry Wellington, cousin of the bride and matron of honor; Miss Catherine Dow, maid of honor; and Misses Patty Ruth Jones, Ethelyn Gray, and Betty LaBeau, bridesmaids. Flower girls were little Vivette Clemens, and Joyce Pettaway. Master Freddie Sims was ringbearer.

The attractive bride wore the traditional gown of white satin styled along princess lines and featuring a bodice of rosepoint lace. With it, she wore a silk net fingertip veil, trimmed in lace, and carried a lone orchid on a white prayer book.

Best man was Elmo Espree. Messrs. Irsie Henry, B. T. Davis, and Agnew Scott were ushers.

In the receiving line along with the newlyweds at the reception were: Mrs. Edna Jones, who wore a pale green crepe floor length gown with a double gardenia corsage, and Mrs. Louis Farley Sr., who wore a gold crepe gown with gardenias. The huge reception was held in the church social hall immediately following the ceremony. Greeting guests at the entrance were Mrs. Mignon Braxton and Misses Betty Jones and Marion Jackson. In charge of gifts were Miss Doris Gray and Mrs. Daisy Elmo. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Sadie Henry and Mrs. Willie Tucker, the latter a guest from Houston, Tex. especially for the wedding, presided at the refreshment table. Other hostesses included Mrs. Yvonne Blackwell, and Misses Barbara Woodruff, Josephine Maddox, and Vivian Johnson, Mmes. Beulah Dow, and Clara Boswell.

The former Miss Calhoun is a graduate of Jefferson high school and is a popular member of the Douze Mignonettes social club. Her husband is a graduate of Dorsey high school. The couple have temporarily taken residence at 718 E. 41st pl.

Only You Can Start a Fire

Hot dry desert winds, lack of early rainfall and low humidity keeps our brush covered areas ripe for fire from a carelessly tossed match, a smouldering cigarette, a defective incinerator or an open fire left unattended.

The brush fire in the Santa Monica Mountains during the past week once again forcibly drives home the obvious results of such carelessness.

These areas are closed to smoking, open fires, and burning in defective incinerators unequipped with spark arrestors. Only greater public cooperation can prevent their constant reoccurrence.

Councilman Hann Really Gets Results

If you have noticed the bright lights on Compton and Hooper from Vernon to Slauson lately, it is because Councilman Kenneth Hahn had the Department of Water and Power clean the dirty lights.

Hahn noticed that these lights needed cleaning on an inspection trip of the district and he immediately notified the Department to do the work as soon as possible.

"This will give better protection to the citizens at night," Hahn said, "especially crossing the streets."

He Showed the Rabbits and Shot His Gun

James Price can produce a rabbit when he says he will, and he can also produce a gun—a process, he learned to his unhappiness, that can result in a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Saturday night Price, just a wee bit under the weather, went into a beer parlor at Wilmington and Imperial and got into a scattered sort of conversation with the manager, Benson Johnson of 11648 Croesus. Price also lavished some of his flavored conversation on Cornelious Outley, who sat at the bar imbibing in solitude.

As inspired conversation will on an occasion such as this, Price's become a bit bothersome, and the manager asked him to leave. Price registered a reaction that is a cross between indignation and chagrin. He invited the manager outside — to see his rabbits.

The manager accompanied him outside, and sure enough there were the rabbits. The manager looked, then returned to his duties. Price followed him inside, and instead of rabbits this time, he produced a revolver.

His response to Johnson's remonstrations was a single shot that hit Johnson in the right chest and emerged under the armpit, lodging in the leg of Outley. Price is being held for assault with a deadly weapon.

PAUL ROBESON, left by plane earlier this week for an extended visit to Central America. Robeson an internationally known concert singer, radio and stage actor, was one of the leaders of the Progressive party's initial national campaign.

White Caps Still Here

The example of devotion to the welfare patients set by Linda Richards, America's first professional nurse, still inspires the Japanese "white caps" who have come after her, says the American Nurses' Association, currently observing the Diamond Jubilee of Nursing which marks the 75th anniversary of Miss Richards' graduation from nursing school.

Why the Los Angeles Transit Lines Was Granted a Fare Adjustment

A new single zone fare schedule has been approved for the Los Angeles Transit Lines by the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California. The new schedule becomes effective midnight November 20, 1948:

BASIC FARE 10¢ Tokens will be redeemed by operators or at Company Ticket Offices.

UNIVERSAL TRANSFERS will be accepted by Pacific Electric Locals and L. A. Motor Coach Lines anywhere within inner or 10¢ Zone.

WEEKLY PASSES $1.75.

SCHOOL FARES No change.

INCREASED EXPENSES

This fare adjustment was necessary due to the increased expenses and decreased revenues experienced by the company.

Recently, faced with the threat of a crippling strike, the company granted wage increases and a Pension Fund plan which total an annual cost of approximately $1,400,000. This increase added to the operating costs is greater than were the net earnings of the company for 1947. The wage concessions were made by the company to maintain service and thereby prevent a serious disruption of the City's economic life.

In granting the fare adjustment the Public Utilities Commission also took into consideration the increased costs of materials, necessary for the operation of a transit system.

DECREASING REVENUES

Another factor taken into consideration by the Commission was the decline in the number of riders using coaches and cars. This has been due to greater availability and purchase of new automobiles. Patronage has been decreasing at the rate of approximately 7% per annum for many months.

ADDED SERVICE

Since 1945, the Los Angeles Transit Lines has consistently invested in new improvements to meet the transit demands of a growing metropolis, and this new fare structure will do much toward assuring the continuation of the company's long-range modernization program. The following table shows the increase in the number of vehicles in service since 1945:

1945	720 vehicles	1947	1,023 vehicles
1946	893 "	1948	1,120 "

Forty new Super-Streamlined street cars have been added in the last thirty days and within sixty days, fifty new trackless trolleys will also go into service.

COMPARISON OF FARES AND LIVING COSTS

The Los Angeles transit fares have lagged behind wages and living costs in their upward climb between the 1935-1939 base and current rates. During this period, percentages of increase are:

Company's wage rate per hour increase . . 125.6%
Cost of living increase (U.S. Labor Dept. Index) 71.0%
Company's average fare increase 48.2%*

*Compare this increase in Los Angeles Transit Lines' fares with the increased prices for housing, meat, milk, clothing and other commodities.

COMPARISON OF FARES WITH OTHER CITIES

Fares for Los Angeles transit patrons have always been bargains in safe, long-haul riding. It must be remembered that Los Angeles is spread over 400 square miles—the largest city in terms of area in the United States.

The following figures represent the basic fares in a number of large metropolitan cities:

*New York City, Rapid Transit	10c
*Boston, Massachusetts	10c
Pittsburgh, Penn. (Rail)	10c
(Coach)	12½c
Cincinnati, Ohio	12c
*Cleveland, Ohio	12c (3/35c token)
*Chicago, Ill. (Surface Lines)	13c
(Rapid Transit)	15c
*Detroit, Michigan	13c (4/50c token)
Kansas City, Missouri	12c

*Municipally owned systems, exempt from paying many taxes assessed against private companies. On numerous occasions, municipal transit systems have operated at a loss, requiring special taxes to make up deficits. During 1948, the Los Angeles Transit Lines will pay approximately $2,000,000 in Federal, State, County, and City taxes.

Significant is the fact that the basic fare of today—1948—is equal to the basic fare of 74 years ago when the first horse car rolled down Spring Street. In those days lamb chops were selling for 16c a pound, and a man's all-wool suit could be bought for $12.50!

Portsmouth Hotel

LANDLORD EVICTS COMMITTEE BECAUSE NEGRO ATTENDED

The Civic Betterment Committee, an association of American citizens working together for the improvement of government through legalistic approach to all problems, had an office rented during October, 1948 in the Portsmouth hotel, 516½ So. Hill, Room 219, Los Angeles, for the purpose of conducting meetings of up to 25 members of the association to study problems, etc.

At a regular meeting held Oct. 26, 1948 with 25 members present one Negro member attended and conducted himself with splendid deportment. No disturbances or other occurences of an unusual nature occured at the meeting.

During the forenoon of Oct. 27 the officers of the Civic Betterment Committee were confronted by the landlady and landlord, the latter signs receipts "W.R.R." who ordered the organization to give up its office that day because "you let a nigger come in to your office here in the hotel as your equal"—we declared that the hotel had colored employees in the hotel at all times and that we knew nothing about their "Jim Crow" rule.

Mr. W.R.R." answered, "Oh, those two are our servants and we do not treat them as our equals — but you folks treated the nigger in your office just as if he was as good as a white man and we won't stand for that here."

The Civic Bettermen Committee requires the following qualification: that all members be adult citizens of the United States of America and or other adults legally in the United States without regard to their origin of race, religious faith or political affilation, all are required to pledge to uphold the constitution of the United States, so being unable to agree to the "Jim Crow" rules of the hotel, the organization had to submit to the eviction and leave the hotel.

Supreme Court Will Not Hear Lawson Case

WASHINGTON, D. C. — John Howard Lawson, noted screen writer who fell as one of the first victims of the J. Parnell Thomas' ruthless witch-hunt, has been notified that the United States Supreme Court will not consider his appeal until the matter has been heard by the Federal Court of Appeals.

Lawson, under sentence of one year in jail and a $1000 fine because of his refusal to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities whether or not he is a Communist, had petitioned the high court for an immediate hearing of his case.

Nine other outstanding Hollywood screen writers are concerned in the Lawson appeal. They are: Dalton Trumbo, Alvah Bessie, Herbert Biberman, Eddie Dmytryk, Ring Lardner Jr., Lester Cole, Sam Ornitz, Albert Maltz and Adrian Scott.

Dmytryk is currently working in London on a British film entitled "Obsession." Rumors have it that Hollywood, fearful of the competition offered by a British film directed by a top American, will attempt to boycott Dmytryk's work.

John Howard Lawson is one of the screen city's best known film writers. He authored the film "Sahara" which portrayed actor Rex Ingram in a manner that won the praise of film-goers all over the world. He has stated repeatedly that questions about political affiliation and union membership are an invasion of civil rights.

National Guard Opens Ranks

Military service obligations of 17-18½-year-old youths may be met in the 40th Infantry Division, California National Guard, it was announced by Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Hudelson, commander, who this week ordered the Division's recruiters to reopen their offices in 38 towns and cities in Southern California.

The Guard outfit, which more than doubled its strength in the enlistment rush preceding effective date of the draft act, ceased swearing-in of recruits last June.

General Hudelson explained that under provisions of a gubernatorial proclamation, authorized by the draft act, young men 17 to less than 18½ years of age may enlist in the Southern California National Guard organization and retain a draft-exempt status as long as they maintain 90 per cent drill attendance records.

In addition to the 17-18½ age group, Hudelson said, the Division is permitted to enlist veterans of all services possessing military specialist qualifications applicable to army ground forces.

Olympic Star Arrested for Gun Assault

Fred Satterfield, who made history as a 100-yard dash man in the Olympics of 1937 clouded his former glory last week when he went off on a rampage that will bring him up in Superior Court on December 16 to answer on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

The events involving Satterfield began shortly after midnight last Thursday when he accosted Abraham Lewis, 26, of 10457 Zamorra, as Lewis emerged from a rest room at the rear of the premises at Imperial and Antwerp.

Speaking to his former brother-in-law who accompanied him, Satterfield said, "Yes that's the man," then he fired several shots from a revolver at Lewis. His brother-in-law grabbed Satterfield's arm and caused the shots to go wild.

The brother-in-law disarmed Satterfield saying, "Don't shoot, he hasn't done anything to you."

Satterfield got into his car and drove away. At 41st and San Pedro streets, Satterfield encountered Margaret Shannon who was driving home from the theatre accompanied by a girl friend. Miss Shannon's car had been acting up, and she had just received a push. The Olympic star approached her as she stopped for a traffic signal and asked "Is everything alright?"

Miss Shannon replied in the affirmative. When the signal changed, she drove on. Satterfield followed her and when she pulled into a lot near her home to park, he came over to her car with a gun in his hand and forced her to get back into her car. Miss Shannon pushed the gun away from her, got out of the car and ran screaming. Her friend followed close behind her.

Satterfield fired a shot at Miss Shannon, then he left the vicinity and returned to the scene of his first escapade to get his revolver from his brother-in-law. Seeing detective John Alston and his partner in the vicinity, Satterfield drove away hurriedly. He was later arrested at his home by Alston and other police.

He was arraigned before Judge Kaufman and held to answer on two counts of assault with a deadly weapon. Police are still trying to figure out where he got the second gun.

Diamond Jubilee of Nursing Marked by Achievement Award

A Linda Richards Achievement Award will be offered to one outstanding professional nurse in each state as part of the nationwide celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Nursing the American Nurses' Association announced today.

Each State Nurses' Association has been asked to select one nurse in its state on the basis of her achievement, scholarship, appearance, personality, leadership, aptitude for nursing and devotion to duty.

To be eligible for the award, which will be presented b ythe American Nurses' Association and State Nurses' Associations, the contestant must have graduated from an accredited school of nursing and be registered during the year ending July 31, 1949.

The ANA emphasized that so long as she is a registered, professional nurse, it makes no difference in which field he is employed, whether it be in private duty or hospital staff work, in public health, industrial, school, Army or Navy nursing, or any other branch of the profession.

Through the interest aroused by the presentation, the ANA hopes to stimulate recruitment of student nurses.

Labor Secretary Favors Closed Shop

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, pointing out that the administration is pledged to outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law, said this week that labor legislation passed by the new Congress, "definitely will have to restore the closed shop."

Interracial Clinic Report Meeting Scheduled Sunday

A "report to the public" on two years' experience in operating an interracial clinic in Los Angeles for medium and low-income families will be made at an open meeting Sunday evening, November 14, Edward R. Roybal, president of the Community Medical Foundation, announced yesterday. The meeting will be held at 5164 Santa Monica Blvd., starting at 8 p.m.

The foundation was established in 1946 by a group of Los Angeles doctors and laymen to organize and manage the Community Medical Center at 5503 S. Broadway. Approximately thirty full-time and part-time doctors now practice at the Center. Alexander M. Riskin, M.D., is clinical director.

Mr. Roybal said the Center has served more than 5,000 patients in its internal medicine, surgery, psychiatric, and other specialized departments.

An important source of income to California's citizens is the vacation industry.

Milk Should Cost Less Says Expert

Safeway Stores milk expert, R. W. Blackburn lashed out at gougers this week when he testified before a joint interim committee of the State Legislature.

Blackburn charged that over the counter milk sales should represent a price from two to three cents cheaper than home delivered milk. Blame for the rigid price was put on the 'fixed' levels maintained.

Home delivered prices could remain fixed, Blackburn said, but over the counter sales should be competitive.

Facing the Facts

Now that the November election is history in the past tense, President Truman has returned to the White House, and the 80th Congress is a chapter in Republican Party history it no! doubt would like to forget, we the people of the United States have settled down to the business of making our Democracy a reality.

While we realize that the president encountered a real problem as head of the nation with the Republican dominated Congress, we observe now as we did in the campaign that his first two years in the White House were weak and uncertain. But our hope for the future behavior at Washington is this: we are expecting Mr. Truman to use the same dynamic force in putting through the 81st Congress the sort of legislation that was promulgated by the Franklin Delano Roosevelt administration which started this country on a course that leads in truth to "one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," that he, President Truman, used in winning the election in 1948.

We want no turning back, Mr. President. Despite the fact that there were and still are those in our midst who denounced the Third Party and Henry Henry Wallace, we say and know that we voice the sentiment of more than a million American citizens when we say that Henry Wallace has made the greatest sacrifice and contributed the most towards the saving of this nation and the world from a catastrophic destruction than any other American, living or dead.

In your campaign speeches we were proud to note that you were not ashamed nor afraid to copy from Roosevelt and Wallace, which gained for you a profound response from the voters.

We do not frown on a two-party system. But as truly as the sun shines by day and the moon by night, Republican control ended with the 80th Congress. If the new President Truman and the new 81st Congress take advantage of the course charted by Henry Wallace and the Third Party — that course, Mr. President, leads to the eradication of Jimcro in the army and the navy, to a Fair Employment Practices Act, to price and rent control, to making an end of lynchings, to fredom and equality at the voting polls for all Americans, and to a foreign policy that is not a foreign Communist scare.

Let us remind you that this nation can not endure under two forms of government—one in the North and the other in the South. In the early 60's when this country split in half on the issue of slavery, Abraham Lincoln, elected to the presidency on a Third Party ticket, pleaded with the Dixiecrats (under another name, to give up their resistance against government rule and God's edict that all men are created equal. When the South rebelled the same weapons used to protect our borders against our enemies from without, were used to defend the Union from within.

What happened in that early period of our nation's history-building period, must happen again if we hope to preserve the Union that Lincoln saved for posterity.

Stop the Un-American Activities Committee's, unless they work to destroy the real agents of destruction in our country—the fascist warmongers who would plunge this country and the entire world into another inferno for their selfish gains.

It has been said, and well said, that everyone wants rights for himself, but it takes a special kind of person to want them for everybody else. "In the days of King John and the Magna Charta, the nobles put the pitchfork to the king's rear as a means of getting their rights."

The Dixiecrats hold as fast to their belief in White Supremacy as Hitler did in his belief in Arian purity and supremacy over all other races or racial extractions. Just as this selfish attitude on the part of Hitler and his disciples destroyed Germany, Dixiecrats made up of Rankins, Thurmonds and Talmadges, who chase Communists in the day time and lynch Negroes by the light of the moon, will destroy this country by their own Un-American activities.

The people who built this country, Mr. President, are on the march. They have started under the new leadership of Henry Wallace and the Progressive Party. Nothing but victory will stop them, that victory which insures freedom and liberty to and for all.

Losing, But Yet Winning

A review of the complete election returns shows Progressive candidates Frances Williams, in the 63rd Assembly District, and Sidney Moore, who withdrew from the Congressional race in 14th District in order to throw his support to Helen Gahagan Douglas, making a good showing.

And what is true of these two candidates, running in what are called the colored districts, is also true of Progessive candidates running in other districts.

The Progressive Party in California is satisfied with its showing in this November election. It knows that every effort in and out of the state was made to discourage voting for Wallace and the Progressive Party. Not satisfied with the "red" smear to kill of the Wallace support, a last minute "Voting-for-Wallace-is-a-lost vote" campaign was peddled to the unsuspecting voter who, even though he realized that Wallace inspired him with a new faith in the American way of life with the evils of Jimcro and discrimination deleted, gave way to this false propaganda and also that which said Wallace was an agent of the Soviet government.

In their campaign speeches both President Truman and Governor Dewey went all out in denouncing Wall street, high prices, and the Taft-Hartley slave labor bill. They played the pro-New Deal sentiment for all it was worth. It was the same sentiment expressed by Henry Wallace that got him the title "Communist."

Mr. Truman and Mr. Dewey were forced to wage this type of campaign if they hoped to win. Henry Wallace believes peace can come to a war-torn world without engaging in a shooting war with Russia. He said so again and again. And that seems to have been his unpardonable sin in the opinion of the Wall Street recipients of war profits.

But this truth, brought home to the American people, has nevertheless sunk deeply into their hearts and minds. It will bear fruit in the future, and perhaps will yet save America and the world from a holacaust worse even than the one we just passed through.

The Opinion of American Educators

A number of American educators wrote recently, "We are much disturbed by one of the by-products of the presidential 'loyalty order'—the listing of a number of schools as 'subversive' organizations by the Attorney General of the United States. The charge that these schools appear to be 'adjuncts of the Communist Party' could be made against any institution that teaches Marxism, and could thus always be used as a device for labeling Marxist teaching subversive."

General "Ike" Eisenhower, in his inaugural address as president of Columbia University, stated flately that he advocated the teaching of Communism at Columbia. "How else," he queried, "shall we know what Communism is? And how can we fight it, if we do not know what it stands for?"

"We believe that every group, including Marxists," continues the letter written by these American educators, "has the right, under the American Constitution, to teach and propagate its ideas, and that students whether they are Marxists or not, have the right to study Marxism and to judge for themselves the validity of its teachings."

This letter, of which only part has been given, was signed by 153 American educators and presented to Attorney General Tom Clark and to President Truman. Let us hope it bears fruit.

Burns Father Attacked

Nelson B. Burns, father of Herman Burns who was beaten to death by police officers, was a victim of the same type of treatment this week.

Stopped by the police because the tail light on his car was out, without waiting for any explanation, the officers—three of them, in uniform—began beating Mr. Burns. He was taken to jail on the charge of being drunk, but released the following morning.

Nelson Burns denies that he was drunk and declares that the officers beat him only after they learned that he was Herman Burns' father.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

And still the alibis keep pouring in, of why virtually all the newspapers and the radio commentators were so dead wrong in predicting the election results of this 1948 presidential election.

The American people like a fighter. And Harry Truman certainly was one. The American people always sympathize with the underdog. And President Truman seemed to fit in that classification. The American people showed a strange apathy to the election. Only about 50 percent of them voted. But seldom more than half of the American people who could vote, if they made any effort to do so, ever take the trouble to go to the polls on election day and cast a ballot.

So those theories cannot be correct. Millions of people do not care so much for a fighter or sympathize so strongly for an underdog that they are willing to make his President of the United States. The theory that the American people were afraid of another Hoover, with the breadlines, the Hoovervilles, the unemployed walking the streets, that that name connotates, and so voted for the "lesser evil," as these theorists choose to label President Truman, evidently carries some weight.

But none of these strikes at the real reason, it seems to me, for the overwhelming victory of the Democratic candidate for president on Tuesday, November 2. Couldn't the awakening intelligence of the American people have something to do with it? No one seems to have thought of that.

We Americans have the reputation, all over the world, of being among the most gullible people, when it comes to politics, that have ever lived. We're simply downright stupid. "Dumb," if you wish to use that term. We don't know "anything about politics." We don't want to know. We think it's smart not to know.

Accordingly, heretofore, we have believed every lie and half-truth which the opposition has foisted upon us. And in nearly every case we have followed the line of Republican reasoning, and voted Republican, for no other motive than that the Republican politicians were clever enough to offer us mor inducements than any other party.

"Oh, I don't vote for the party," we used to declaim proudly, as if that were the height of wisdom. "Parties don't mean anything to me. They're all alike. I vote for the man." With very special emphasis on the word man.

But this year it was different. We certainly did not vote for the man in this election, no matter how much we admired him or sympathized with him. We voted for principle this time. We voted for the party. For what the party stands for. For what the representative of that party stands for.

You noticed surely, that in all the speeches of President Truman and of his colleagues for any kind of office, they stressed not the individual but the Democratic Party? They made it plain as day that the Republican Party is the party of Big Business, and that the Democratic Party, at heart, is the party of the little man. Of the workingman. Of the small business man. Of the common people.

The Republican Party puts property rights above human rights. The Democratic Party put human rights first. Always. Republicans will vote huge sums of money to subsidize the big steamship companies, the railroads, Big Business and industrialists generally. And then expect the little people to pick up some of the crumbs that fall from the rich man's table.

Democrats, on the other hand, will vote money to give people work. To give them homes. To give them schools. And hospitals. And libraries. Democrats will think first of the working people, and of the people who have no work, and expect the rich man at the top to take care of himself.

This truth was brought home to the American people in every talk, every speech, that a Democrat made in the election campaign. And at long last, we American voters have begun to realize that it isn't the man, it isn't the individual at all. It's the principle of the organization to which the candidate belongs. Its' the Party.

This short step is nevertheless a long step in the right direction. It shows in an unmistakable degree that the intelligence of the American people is being aroused. But we haven't come so far yet that we'll accept what is labeled Communistic, even if in our hearts we want the very thing that has the red smear on it. Witness the candidates and the measures thus labeled that were defeated.

Then what? We who claim to be progressive should not condemn those who cannot take the step clear across. If the American voters can accept what the Democratic Party offers, then common sense would say "Work through the Democratic Party. Give the American people what they want, and what we want, in the form they will accept it. Like giving a child a sugar-coated pill. If the mountain will not come to Mahommed, then Mahommed must go to the mountain."

If we do this, the victory for the people in 1950 and again in 1952 will be even greater than it was November 2, 1948.

THE CERTAINTY OF UNCERTAINTY

By PAUL FRENCH

Perhaps you thought, and maybe dolefully, that the U. S. election settled something on Nov. 2. Well, brother, you were both wrong and right. You were right in thinking that it settled who is going to be President of the U.S.A. for a while. But you were wrong if you thought that that fact really settled anything about the future of American imperialism, its strength or weakness—or even its ability to exist.

The fate of American imperialism was being settled on Nov. 2, not at the ballot boxes in America, but on the frost-bitten plains of Manchuria, where—as a lot of people in America were dunking their breakfast rolls—the Communist-led People's Liberation Army occupied the great city of Mukden, with its 2,000,000 population, capturing 200,000 of Chiang Kai-shek's "crack" troops, and swept southward 115 miles to cut off two more divisions trying to "pull a Dunkirk" at Yingkow.

The capture of Mukden is, of course not all-important by itself But that it symbolized the certainty that the Communist-led People's Army is going to take not part—but ALL, of vast China can be understood by the fact that as a little haberdasher from Missouri returned to Washington on Nov. 5 to occupy the White House his government was compelled to order all women and children of Americans in Shanghai and Nanking to evacuate get out and go home before "the Communists" captured those two key cities

If you don't realize the importance of that—just hunt up the family atlas or borrow the kid's geography and take a gander at the map. The U. S. consuls, telling 4,000 Americans to "git," said that "Communist armies" were poised near these great cities, threatening Nanking from both north and south, and that transportation out of the fabled port of Shanghai might soon be made impossible by Communist investment of the great delta of the Yangtze.

Evidently, the People's armies are by-passing Peiping, China's old capital, leaving it to "wither on the vine," while throwing their main attack against the heartland of Chiang Kai-shek's China, the immense Yangtze Valley, with its teeming cities and great areas of populous farm lands. It can further be taken for granted that, not only will this campaign succeed, but that before it is well begun, revolt against Chiang Kai-shek's government will spread throughout South China, embracing Canton and the rich province of Szechuan, to the borders of India and Burma.

This will take time, it is true. I am giving no schedule. But it is certain. And, with the liberation of ancient China, with its 450,000,000 people, from the century-old grasp of imperialism, nothing could be more certain the death of all imperialism, including that of Wall Street. Already, Thakin Nu, the "Chiang Kai-shek' 'of Burma, is facing the same disaster as his more noted prototype in China.

In Indonesia, another "Chiang Kai-shek," Hatta, has gained nothing by the murder ("execution") on Nov. 2 of one of the noblest and bravest of Java's sons, the aged Communist, Alimin. For revolt among the 72,000,000 Indonesians is shaking the ground under his feet. They are done with imperialist rule, no matter how disguised behind a "native" puppet.

And how long can the 500,000,000 people of India, where rules the "Chiang Kai-shek of India," Nehru, be hold down by that traitor to his people in the chains of feudal agrarian slavery, when the peasantry of China has won its liberation from painful centuries of serfdom under arms and led by Communists?

These events, uncertain as to time, are certain to come. And they spell out the death of imperialism, as catastrophic to this so-called "civilization as we know it" as if the Pacific ocean were to tilt upward, flooding our Pacific coast and pouring through the Rockies, leaving nothing above water in these United States, but the mountain tops.

Because this outcome is just as elemental as an earthquake which could cause such a disaster, it is only a subject for laughter that U. S. "statesmen" and Marshall-planners are chattering like monkeys over "What to do now?" All their pretty "plans" will amount to about as much as Tom Dewey's carefully prepared "acceptance speech" meant on the morning of Nov. 3.

However, they are "planning." Roger Lapham, shipping tycoon, and Marshall Plan "administrator" for China, admitting that the outlook is "gloomy," wants to give "more aid" to Chiang Kai-shek. That will be just fine. For the Communist-led armies are now fighting with the billions of dollars worth of "aid to Chiang Kai-shek" already given. The 39 divisions, trained and armed by the U. S., which Chiang sent into Manchuria to "stop the Communists," have gone over to the Communists, and with them went all the vast mountains of equipment America donated.

This settles the question as to "Where do the Communists get their arms?" They are using the

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Post Mortems and the Future

Jack Kroll, CIO-PAC director stands out as reputedly the only figure of significant proportion who was confident of the Truman victory. It is possible that Kroll, like some of us lesser lights, saw the arrogance of the Dewey campaign and the lop-sided polls. Certainly the voters were not willing to be swept by the tide artificially created by the controlled press and the opinion samplers, who naturally saw to it that conclusions favored the side that was paying the bills.

JOHN M. LEE

Actually, much of President Truman's success was achieved because of Henry Wallace and the Progressive Party and not in spite of them. Voters who had fully intended to cast their votes for Wallace, became alarmed at the sure-thing aspect of the Dewey candidacy in the closing weeks of the campaign, and they concluded it would be better to throw their votes away on Truman who then had a fighting chance, than to stand with Wallace on a pure gamble.

What is truly remarkable about the election is the tremendous shift of votes from Wallace to Truman in the last days of the campaign. It is conservative to estimate that between three and four million voters, scattered throughout the 45 states where the Progressive Party was on the ballot, swung over to Truman in a desperate effort to halt the supposed Dewey landslide. The significance of this is the utter uselessness of polls in the future. The voters demonstrated that they still reserve the right to think up to and including election day.

Forgotten in the cloudburst of assigned causes of the so-called 'upset,' is the tremendous weight of the Negro vote; Negroes all over the nation, troubled by a strong rumor Wallace had, or would withdraw in favor of Truman, and puzzled by the millions of words in the daily press conceding the election to Dewey, scurried en masse to the Truman bandwagon with both eyes on civil rights and at least a chance of liberalism.

What really happened is, — a loaded election blew up in the faces of the experts. The American people had been listening to high-handed summations of how they were going to vote. When they realized the danger of what was forecast for them, they expressed themselves in no uncertain terms. The pollsters, accurately, perhaps, noted the shift of Wallace votes in the last weeks of the campaign, but they didn't tell where they were going.

Remembering that the president-elect is the same president who once stooped to strike-breaking, and recalling his use of the abominable Taft-Hartley Law when it served his purpose, labor should not lie down and play dead out of respect for his achievement. It is incumbent upon the leaders of organized labor to unite their badly-split forces and concentrate on recouping their losses.

Red-baiting, and witchhunting should be left to the reactionaries. Labor cannot afford an internecine political war any longer. President Truman's advisors will urge him to disregard the demands of disunited labor forces. The election gave present leaders of labor another chance to fish or get off the dock.

Already the experts are predicting that Taft-Hartley Act will not be repealed; that it might be modified somewhat. There is also some doubt about civil rights. The Dixiecrats, champions of white supremacy, hold bargaining power on this one,—the experts say. Failure of repeal of Taft-Hartley, and failure of enactment of an effective civil rights program can mean total failure. Even with evidence that President Truman intends to fulfill his campaign promises, he will need support against the threatened Dixiecrat-Republican coalition.

Considering the need for price control, housing and rent control that really protects tenants from gouging landlords, organized labor has a job to do. As matters stand now, organized labor came within a Gallup poll of losing its leadership of the common struggle. It dare not face another test so badly disorganized.

The future of our relations with Russia, and the future of our non-conforming citizens who refuse to hate on order, should be a trifle more peaceful if President Truman pays attention to the voice of the people. He would do well to consider that he took a few thousand votes from the opposition when he 'fumbled' on that Vinson mission to Moscow. The people want peace.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Well, the battle is over. We can say without fear of contradiction that this has been the most surprising, as well as the most convincing fact, that the majority of the people in this USA are doing their own thinking.

The political dopesters were so wrong in their analysis that it will be several decades before they regain the confidence of the people. Then, of course, several generations will have come and gone. The majority had faith in Harry Truman. They believed in his sincerity to give them a good and stable government, free from bias.

He defied all opposition, even that of his own political party, to have him deviate, one iota, from the principles he espoused. As far as any assistance from the top members of his party was concerned, practically, he fought a lone battle. Except in a very few cases, the support, if given, was luke warm.

But as has been proven, the majority of the people had faith in his integrity and sincerity of purpose. Some of our leading journals and one nationally known magazine had already made Dewey a winner. So sure were they that they had placed Dewey's picture on the outside cover, and placed them in circulation.

When the result was known there was a mad scramble to get them back, and the post offices were besieged by requests to not forward the mailings.

Mr. Dewey in a statement to a reporter attributed his defeat to over confidence. "He said that one million Republicans were so confident of victory, that they failed to exercise their right of franchise." Which, in the language of the street, is pure "phooey."

The only ones who did not vote, and that was not forgetfulness, were the Negroes of South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. We believe that the President will use his best endeavor to have this Congress enact laws for the protection of that class of citizens. There will no doubt be strenuous opposition from the Southern bloc. That can be looked for.

The president will not have fair sailing. The mere fact that there is a majority of Democrats in both branches of the legislative department, does not signify that there will be full acquiesence in his proposed program. Big business will seek to block the income tax, and there will be pressure by labor for a full repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

That measure may be drastically modified, but its entire repeal, is doubtful. The President has promised to do his best, and over one million others of the United States believed he meant what he said.

The most surprising was the votes of California. The popularity of Governor Earl Warren was thought to place California safely in the Republican column. It is one thing to be a local favorite, and another to be a national bearer of a standard in a secondary place. If Warren had been the chief standard bearer there would have been no doubt as to the outcome. That is, as far as California is concerned.

But in California Warren was carrying Dewey and the burden was too great.

We are glad to have the Governor at home. There are a great many problems to be solved; great things to be accomplished. There are many things affecting minority groups within the boundaries of the State that need attention. And other things like conservation of the States natural resources, tide lands, the tendency of some public corporations to raise prices on utilities that serve the public.

Those things need looking into for the public welfare.

We are more than pleased to note the re-election of Mrs. Douglass of the 14th Congressional District and the Hon. Frank R. Havenner of the Fourth District. Our personal friendship for Congressman Havenner and the knowledge that he is a man of integrity and sincerity of purpose, who means what he says and does what he believes is right.

It is amusing that some of our pseudo leaders, who have been residents of California for less than two or three years are so opinuated that they know more about the life records of citizens than people who have been associated with them for years.

A strongly segregated district is being formed at what is known as "Hunters Point." We understand, from certain sources, but have not been able, so far, to ascertain the correctness of the assertion that the moveto segregate is sponsored, morally, or approved by men who expect to gain political prestige. Should we know with certainty that such Evidently alarmed over an over-emphasis on the part of a large number of voters backing the successful re-election of President Harry S. Truman and congresswoman from the 14th California district, Helen Gahagan Douglas, the Rev. Clayton D. Russell, leader in local Democratic circles, warned members of the press against printing news slants which might be interpreted by the reading public as an invitation to continue party rivalries and bickerings after the election.

"Our nation at this hour, and many others to come, needs and demands the complete unity behind the President of every individual member of the American family of a nation," the young and militant minister declared.

The Rev. M. Russell was a member of the California delegation to the Democratic convention in Philadelphia. As such he was repeatedly heard voicing his opinions on the air. He waged a brilliant election campaign on behalf of President Truman and Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas and the entire Democratic slate in California and various parts of the nation through organizational connections and his own weekly broadcasts. Local GOP leaders laud his stand on national unity.

The Republican American Council of California met last week and formed a permanent organization.

The convention elected Mrs. Bettye Hill as representative to t heRepublican Policy Committee, and Carl J. Johnson of Los Angeles, as chairman of the Council.

Other officers are: Clarence King of San Francisco, first vice-chairman; Mrs. W. W. Bogans of Bakersfield, second vice-chairman; Doris Grose Penland of Los Angeles, secretary; Ray Frazier of San Diego, treasurer: Fred M. Roberts of Los Angeles, legislative adviser: Rev. Mansfield Collins, chaplain. Members of the board of directors include: Rev. Eugene Robinson and Morris Major Bowles of Los Angeles: Genevieve McCalla, San Francisco; Gladys Harris, Pasadena; Harry Johnson of Sacramento; Leon Washington, publicity director.

HOLLYWOOD — Charles Williams, head of the California School of Photography, one of the few institutions of its kind anywhere in the world, headed by a Negro, told members of the press that he was at a quandary over repeated inquiries being made by numerous groups making plans to produce sepia cast motion pictures who plagued him for experienced cameramen.

William said: "At the moment, there just aren't any Negro motion picture cameramen." He added, however: "While at the present our school, one of the largest in the west, is teaching all phases of portrairs, commercial photography, color, etc., our program of operations has not yet, at the present, reached the point where we are prepared to teach motion picture and television camera technique."

La Vonne Busch, state director of the Progressive Party of Nevada, issued the following statement:

"To the Progressive Party members and all peoples of Nevada: The issues facing all of us are peace as against war, freedom as against restriction of civil liberties, and abundance as against poverty and misery. These are th eissues still facing we the people of the United States, regardless of who is in the White House. The Progressive Party is here to stay and will continue the fight for peace, freedom, and abundance."

NEW YORK—Harlem believes the "stroke of genius" that greatly helped President Truman to get elected was his speaking at Dorrence Brooks Square just five days before election. . . . Truman became the first President of the U. S. to ever speak in Harlem. . . . At the 65,000 estimated turnout there were black peoples of all occupations — stevedores, porters, maids, school teachers, students, waiters, shoe shine boys, lawyers, painters, undertakers, doctors — all types of professional men and women, and when the President's 101-motorcycle brigade rode up amid much fanfare, those common people rose and screamed welcome, waving banners and hankies, shouting their slogan, "Give 'em Hell, Harry." And Harry, with a sun-tanned bronze face, helping his wife and daughter to the platform, beamed back at them with sincere thankfulness.

One Harlem candidate for assemblyman made the dramatic remark: "The trouble with the Republicans is that they don't know yet Abraham Lincoln is dead." . . . One hour after Dewey conceded, the afternoon papers carried an ad from the Nathan Co. selling office furniture used in the Republican campaign at greatly reduced prices.

Local newsmen are sympathizing with Leon H. Washington, California publisher of one of the largest sheets, who at the last minute switched Republican after being Democratic for many many years. . . . And the newsboys also laughing that Warren couldn't carry his own state.

PORTLAND, Ore. — Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will be one of the principal speakers at the tenth CIO constitutional convention to be held here, Nov. 22-26. Other nationally-known figures who will address the group include U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, and Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin.

LEGISLATORS INVESTIGATED

After investigating financial irregularities of Senator Homer Ferguson, Republican of Michigan, and Representative Alvin E. O'Konski, Republican of Wisconsin, the American Federation of Labor this week demanded also an FBI investigation.

LIFTS BAN

Ban on musical recordings has been lifted by agreement between the American Federation of Musicians, AFL, and the recording industry.

"OPERATION RAT-HOLE"

An American pilot predicts that the fall of China, under present command, is inevitable. Arthur C. Young, 32, of Berea, Ohio, says that American aid to nationalist China is like putting money in a rat hole.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR

Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, of Montclair, N. J., has been named America's "Woman of the Year."

INCOME TAX

Rep. Eberharter (D., Pa.) expects President Truman to make some revision in the 1948 income tax cut. He suggests that more of the savings be passed along to lower income groups by boosting the levies for those in the upper brackets.

A TWO-ACT DRAMA

It is said that fine wines have been laid in the basement of Buckingham Palace to be used in the celebration of the English Princess Elizabeth's first-born, who is due Sunday. The second heir presumptive will be received in an atmosphere of pomp and splendor. Guns will be fired and parades staged.

We, the United States, will no doubt help pay the bills for this gigantic celebration.

In the news also is the announcement that 760,000 veterans, their wives and children, all over the United States, are digging in again for their third winter in "tin fox holes," labeled quonset huts, where their babies will be born.

"The people by their votes have repudiated the Wall Street Republican platform," stated Hugh Bryson, state chairman of the Independent Progressive Party. "At the same time they expressed their support for the rights of labor, for the civil liberties of the people — the fight for peace, freedom and abundance will continue—in the legislative arena and in the community instead of the election campaign."

NEW YORK — Mrs. Ada B. Jackson, candidate for Congress for the 10th District, New York, on the American Labor Party ticket, lost to Andrew L. Somers, liberal Democrat, by a score of 14,633 to 44,287 votes. Mrs. Maude B. Richardson, the second Negro woman running for office in New York City, also lost. Her opponent, Bertram L. Baker, Democrat and American Labor, won with 21,036 votes to Mrs. Richardson's 11,528. Mrs. Richardson ran on the Republican ticket.

Rev. Elder Hawkins, in the Bronx, who got on the ballot only after Bronx Negroes protested bitterly that they had never had a race man to run, lost by 13,015 to his opponent, Louis Peck's, 27,719.

NEW YORK — It seems every woman voter used her "weapon" to swing the election for Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., Democratic and American Labor Party. He polled a grand total of 63,062 to Harold Burton's 13,997. Burton, the Republican, had heavy backing by C. B. Powell, owner of The Amsterdam Star News.

NEW YORK—Carl Lawrence, a local political newsman for the Dewey - proclaimed Amsterdam News and who as a rule is never right on a prediction, for once came through with the foresight that Harry S. Truman would be our next President. Three weeks ago, Lawrence insisted Truman would make it by some miracle, though Dewey admitted he plainly saw his victory written in the stars.

WASHINGTON — Admitting that the Federal Housing Administration does not prohibit racial restrictive covenants in housing projects on which they insure mortgages, Federal Housing Commissioner Franklin D. Richards denied this week that the Supreme Court restrictive covenant decisions in any way affect the FHA, and asserted that the FHA lacks authority to refuse to insure mortgages for private projects practicing race discrimination.

Commissioner Richards' statement was made in answer to a request by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that the FHA cease insuring mortgages for further financing of Levittown, a Hicksville, L. I., veterans' housing project where prospective tenants are forced to sign agreements stipulating that the premises may not "be used or occupied by any person other than members of the Caucasion race."

NEW YORK—Expressing gratification over the defeat in last Tuesday's election of a $16,000,000 bond issue for a proposed St. Louis slum clearance project which failed to guarantee adequate housing accommodations on a non-discriminatory basis for persons to be displaced, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People congratulated its St. Louis branch for its "hard-fought victory" in achieving defeat of the proposal.

The NAACP held that housing conditions of Negroes in St. Louis would have been made infinitely worse had this measure been approved.

Judge Stanley Moffatt will preside at a panel discussion, "Protection of Our Minority Groups Today," to be held in the Unitarian church, 2936 W. Eighth st., on Sunday, November 14. There will be speakers from the Civil Liberties Union and the Civil Rights Congress.

THE COMMON DEFENSE

Indispensable to the health of our republican form of government is the recognition of every American's right to live in a decent house in a decent neighborhood.

Yet, the Mayor's Interim Survey Committee on Human Relations in one Western city reports that 90 per cent of its Negroes and 75 per cent of its Spanish population live in an area where housing is so bad that the authorities have marked most of it for condemnation. In two districts over three-fourths of the houses had neither private toilets nor baths, in others three-fourths had no central heating facilities, many no refrigeration of any kind. Population growth, without a corresponding increase in the construction of new houses, forces 13,500 persons in two Negro neighborhoods to live where 7,000 lived before the war. Overcrowding breeds disease and crime. Even in 1941 infant mortality among the Spanish population was twice as high as for the city generally, juvenile delinquency in the areas of substandard housing more than double the rate for the city as a whole.

High among the causes of these deplorable conditions, never to be reconciled with American principals of social justice, is racial and religious prejudice, showing itself in the widespread use of the restrictive covenant which bars Americans of some racial and religious groups from living in certain neighborhoods and condemns them to the misery of the modern ghettos.

In this western city a Negro family, which had bought property in a white neighborhood, was driven out when neighbors placed a bomb under the house and partly destroyed it. A real estate man sold a house to a client who brought his Spanish-American wife and their children with him when he came to look at it. The neighbors objected so violently that the sale was revoked. Three Jewish families bought homes in a section covered by restrictive covenants. Two of the families were driven out by social ostracism, their neighbors snubbing them and forbidding their children to play with the Jewish children. All of this speaks for itself. It is un-Christian, un-American, unjust.

After exhaustive research in two large Midwestern cities the Department of Race Relations of the American Missionary Association located and examined 600 racial and religious restrictive housing covenants.

THE SURVEY GRAPHIC, issue of January 1947, states that in California restrictive covenants proscribe land use by Armenians, Chinese, Japanese, Hindu, Mexicans, and "persons who are descendants of former residents of the Turkish Empire." An American Indian couple, occupying a house covered by a race restrictive agreement forbidding use by "non-Caucasians," was ordered by the court to vacate. Charles Abrams, noted housing authority, says that "no subdivision in California is without its covenant barring one race or another."

In Virginia restrictive covenants directed against Jews forbid land use by "persons who customarily observe the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath." More and more covenants in Midwestern cities have been directed against Jews while others seem to be attempts "to bar Jehovah's Witnesses and other dissident religious sects."

These are the facts. What are you doing to change this un-American state of affairs in your community?

BOOKS and AUTHORS

By KEN CROSSEN

(Reprinted from the Los Angeles Daily News—Nov. 6th, 1948)

Turning the pages of history: History of Zootsuit Riots traced in fine documentary book.

It lacks just two months of being the 100th anniversary of the appearance of "Civil Disobedience" by Henry Thoreau. In a way, the publication of this essay was world shaking, for Mahatmi Gandhi once said that it had been an important influence in his life. Its influence in America has been much slighter, yet when I was about 14 and read it for the first time I was profoundly moved, for the roots of my family went deeply into American soil and here was the type of thinking which first nourished those roots.

Therefore it was not surprising that when I finished reading "American Me" by Beatrice Griffith (Houghton Miflin, $3.50) I once more thought of the Thoreau esay and, in particular, of the pasage in it:

"There are thousands who are in opinion opposed to slavery and to war, who yet in effect do nothing to put an end to them: who, esteeming themselves children of Washington and Franklin, sit down with their hands in their pockets, and say that they know not what to do, and do nothing; who even postpone the question of freedom to the question of free trade. , . . They hesitate, and they regret, and sometimes they petition; but they do nothing in earnest and with effect.

"They will wait, well disposed, for others to remedy the evil that they may no longer have it to regret. At most, they give only a cheap vote, and a feeble countenance and godspeed, to the right, as it goes by them. There are 999 patrons of virtue to one virtuous man. But it is easier to deal with the real possessor of a thing than with the temporary guardian of it."

It is difficult to put any literary label on Beatric Griffith's fine book. It is neither fiction, nor non-fiction, but a little of each. Her technique, although not new, is one which I feel is particularly good in this case. Throughout the book she alternates short stories and chapters of factual material which are related to the stories. The final effect is to give you literature and yet take you behind the curtain for a photographic view of the people who live in that literature.

Specifically, Miss Griffith's book is concerned with the Mexicans living in Los Angeles and surrounding areas, yet the problems which are posed are American and are ones which are repeated through other peoples in all parts of our country. It is the story of all minorities, written in their own blood, in what we like to call the greatest democracy on earth.

This is part of the story which proves that being the greatest democracy on earth is not enough. The several short stories in this volume are fine, but I specially enjoyed "Saturday Night Ride," "La Jura," and "The Dream of Eddie Martinez." The first of these three is as fine a short story as I've read in a long time.

In the factual department there is so much information that I, frankly, don't know where to begin in summarizing it. There is a wealth of material on the zoot-suit riots of Los Angeles, the so-called delinquency problem among the young Americans of Mexican descent (with quotes from local officials which sound like something from the files of Dr. Goebbels), and on the discrimination practiced through industries, politics, schools and churches.

Since there is no space to discuss all these factors, I will mention only those which interested me most. As one who read only what was carried in Eastern papers at the time, I was glad to read a detailed account of the zootsuit riots here in Los Angeles. It would be, of course, easy to pile all the blame for that on the officials of this city, but a careful reading of the facts will convince you that the blame was one which every part of the country must share with Los Angeles.

The record of the Americans of Mexican descent in the recent World War is an impressive one —as impressive as the record of of their treatment at the hands of fellow Americans is shameful. They more than did their share of fighting Hitler and company, and they returned, their breasts covered with medals, to once more face the same ideology they had gone abroad to eradicate.

Two weeks ago I mentioned that the chief task of a writer is to give his readers a sense of responsibility for life—a task which Miss Griffith has done most admirably. "American Me" is one more indictment against our Anglo-Saxon, gentile "superiority" and it is also a record of the few voices which are being heroically raised in our social wilderness.

It is the moving story of one more group of Americans who must be accepted as such before America can hope to approximate the dream of its founders. If you fail to read this book, the loss is yours—and America's.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Board of Recreation and Park Commissioners desires at this time to express its sincere appreciation for your outstanding help and cooperation in making the Halloween carnivals held at all Los Angeles municipal playgrounds on Saturday night, October 30, conspicuously successful.

These carnivals very satisfactorily achieved their objectives, which were to provide wholesome recreation for many thousands of children, youths, and families, and at the same time to take potential Halloween mischief-makers off the streets.

Without the wholehearted cooperation of the many volunteer groups, individuals, and civic organizations in each district, each playground director would have found it almost impossible to conduct so large a Halloween program involving so many participants.

Without the fine publicity given by the press and radio, it would have been impossible to attract so many Halloween participants to the playgrounds on the night of the carnivals.

Accordingly, the Board of Recreation and Park Commissioners is happy to acknowledge with gratitude the fine cooperation received. The many who contributed to this year's successful playground Halloween carnivals can take pride in the knowledge that they helped to bring happiness to a vast number of children, youth, and families, and also assisted in making this year's observance of Halloween one of the quietest and most orderly in the city's history.

arms America gave Chiang to fight Communism. They are even using the soldiers America trained to fight Communism. Fred Hampson, writing from Shanghai (Long Beach Press-Telegram, Oct. 31) puzzling over his own question of "What can America do?" — writes disgustedly that: "The average Chinese isn't half as concerned about saving China from Communism as the Americans are." He suggests "direct intervention" in "terrific amount." But do you know what that might mean? It would mean millions of American soldiers sent just to China, an endless war—and final defeat.

"Stopping Communism in Asia," he concludes, "boils down to stopping the Chinese Communists. But beyond that point it no longer boils down. It boils up."

"It boils up"—is right. Mao Tze-tung, head of the Chinese Communist Party, reported on Nov. 1 that the People's Government now controls 24.5 percent of the area of China, 35 percent of its population, and has captured or killed 2,640,000 soldiers of Chiang Kai-shek's armies. No matter who was elected on Nov. 2, American imperialism's sun is setting.

is the case, there will be an expose.

There are citizens of San Francisco who have been fighting for years to keepthe venom of racial segregation from spreading its virus. If political prestige can be obtained by other means than segregation of the Negro populace, then we will have to forego all.

For the right to live where we choose, and are able to buy, is of more interest to the residents of California than the aspirations of a politician, or politicans.

A nationally known life insurance company is erecting buildings in a district, and wish to discriminate on racial lines. The project is being fought on that line. Such projects as the advised segregation at Hunters-Point is an argument used in favor of restricted residential districts in this city.

We certainly trust that the move to create a segregated district is incorrect, that selfishness on the part of those who seek to lead, will not prevail. That the welfare of the people as a whole is of more benefit in the long run than any move for political expediency.

It has been a hard fight to break down the barriers of racial segregation, where residence is concerned, in Los Angeles, where it had deep roots. The fight was made hard from the fact that there were many who preferred to live together. With that we have no fault to find, but there are others who believe that they have the right to live where they have the money to buy. That should be the right of all.

Nearly a million persons now are employed in U. S. firms manufacturing motor vehicles and parts.

The Negroes Cause

All over but the shouting! Who said that? The wise ones, Gallop and Roper, speaking for the Republican Party, Dewey and Warren.

Well, let me tell you something about Dewey. If you will look into this matter carefully, you will find out what a narrow escape you had from getting into the clutches of two of the world's greatest hypocrites. Dewey was born in Owosso, Michigan (about 15,000 population census 1940). It never knew a slave economy, yet its Unwritten Laws call for a type of Racism beyond that of the Deep South. Its Jim Crow is carried to the point of complete exclusion.

This town which produced the Republication Presidential, is a pure shrine of smug and sanctified Bigotry as can be found in these United States. A tablet found in a park called Piety Hill, placed there by a local historical society known as, "Daughters of American Revolution." It was the D.A.R. that kept the great Negro Artist Marion Anderson from singing in the Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C.

A Negro who strays into the town is given 24 hours to leave and cannot get a meal there. However, the C.I.O. United Auto Workers gained a foothold there in 194g. The people in the Local Union offices no longer felt as if they were being pointed out on the streets and the union has brought some strange new ways to the town. The U.A.W. sent a staff member to handle some business with the local branch of State Employment office. it was necessary to have lunch brought for him to the Union ofice and he was able to do his work.

I have observed many Negro papers that were given a page advertisement showing many fine looking and intelligent colored people (of which we have many here) holding nice salary positions, Why yes, let me tell you why, because the Negroes have a powerful organization in New York City (Harlem) of more than 400,000 voters (Take Notice) REGISTER and be a Voter, you can have the same.

I don't believe you will receive any attention from Governor Warren. So far, he has done nothing. The legislature gave him 18 new Judges. I know a minority party that was given several but not one Negro, and we have many very able Negro Lawyers here. And as for John Foster Delles being Governor Dewey's adviser, Dewey and Warren could not cram him down the peoples throat because he belongs to the Wall Street Gang who doesn't have any time for the little man. Strange company our Governor Warren got mixed up with and then offered the excuse that Truman got too many votes. You have to take your hat off to Truman, he had the people's confidence and that will make you win anywhere in the U.S.A. I have listened to many reasons for this grand and glorious upset, and find I cannot agree with any of them. (Just a little fellow).

Now, let me tell you what I think. I have belonged to organized labor for 50 years, and I am still a member in good standing. President Truman told the people what to expect from Dewey and Warren who endorsed the rotten 80th Congress. This time labor made up its mind and kept it to themselves. Didn't talk, kept them all guessing. (I mean the know alls) and with such a determination, you can't lose.

AN OPEN LETTER TO GOVERNOR WARREN

Dear Governor: For your information, inefficiency at Sacramento is very much in the lime light at this time, and I happen to be one of the victims. I have been trying to get my Pink Slip for my automobile which went to Sacramento early in March. It is now November. It doesn't sound very good, does it or will you get my letter? I will certainly mark it Personal.

Now may I call your attention to the Street Cars (yellow). Yes, I have had a ride on them, they make so much noise from rattling that you can't hear the streets called by the conductor and (dirty and filthy to). Public Utilities Commission has just given them another raise, passes raised 25 cents and they have done away with Tokens altogether. But now, Governor, the most serious of all is the raise in Milk. I personally appeared before your W. B. Woodburn, Chief of the Bureau of Milk, a Martin H. Blank, representing the so-called big six. To be exact, you would be sae in calling it a form of Milk Trust.

I listened to so many figures that I considered having no bearing on the case whatsoever. I am sure from the procedure, it was in the bag for Bank was running the show. When he finished I was permitted to be sworn and register my objections against the increase by stating I represented more than half million people, including the Negro people of California. I was asked if I was a Negro. My reply was, No, I am White. Born in Virginia. That I had credentials to represent the Grand Lodge of Negro Masons, and that I was proud of it.

This man, Blank, even tied into Mr. Ralph, of Ralph's Stores, having the audacity to even go so far as to question his right to sell Bread at 18 cents a loaf. Mr. Ralph and the Safeway stores made a request that milk be reduced 1 cent a quart. The questions I asked Mr. Blank were very much in order. Mr. Woodburn made no effort to make Mr. Blank answer, but stopped me from asking questions.

Now Governor, I am an experienced Committee man, and as a Newspaper man, have spent more than six months investigating living conditions in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana giving me a wide experience. I have never seen anything like this one, these are your appointments and suppose to represent the people. I don't think they have a chance. This all happened when you were absent from the state. May I ask you, what can we expect?

Next week will be very important.

Good News! Congressman Dawson (Negro) becomes Chairman of the ALL POWERFUL EXPENDITURE COMMITTEE, a very responsible position.

Your neighborhood libraries offer an excellent opportunity of self-education and the librarians urge you to take advantage of their service. If you do not see what you want do not hesitate to ask.

Place: Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Avenue, Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Avenue.

Time: Monday through Friday from 1:00 to 9:00 P.M., Saturday from 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M.

A few of the books recently received at the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch are:

"Last of the Conquerors" is a first novel written by a twenty-year-old Negro author, William Gardner Smith, who has been a reporter for the Pittsburgh Courier for five years. He is now a student at Temple University after having spent a year in Germany. This book is the story of a young man who learns for the first time — in an enemy country — how it feels to be treated as a human being. Hayes Dawkins, a Negro soldier with the Army of Occupation in Germany, finds himself accepted as an equal by the Germans and falls in love with a German girl. Suddenly he is transferred to a new post where Army regulations are strictly enforced and fraternization forbidden. There he never allowed to forget that he is a Negro, and Ilse becomes just a wonderful memory. He is bewildered, lonely, and finds himself caught in a current of prejudice and injustice and is forced by his own countrymen to leave Germany or be court-martialed. It is a moving picture of a young man caught between two worlds.

"Elementary Radio Servicing" by William R. Wellman is intended to serve as a medium of instruction for those who have already mastered some of the principles of radio receiver construction and now wish to apply their knowledge and skills to radio servicing. Its aim is to assist the reader in developing the logical orderly procedure which is so vital to successful servicing, and to aid him in acquiring familiarity with the steps necessary in isolating, diagnosing, locating and clearing radio troubles. It is a practical book with a minimum of theory and no mathematics as it presupposes such knowledge. It is made as simple as possible and there are many clear diagrams and illustrations.

"Wisteria Cottage" by Robert M. Coates is a psychological thriller. To all casual observers Richard Baurie seems to be a pleasant young man, perhaps a bit moody and arrogant, but gay and sensitive enough to be good company. There is nothing to cause one to suspect that he is a potential murderer. Widow Hackett and her two attractive daughters invite him to spend summer week-ends in their cottage on the Long Island shore—Wisteria Cottage. There is a tenseness in the story from the first and as we follow the workings of Richard's warped mind we experience real terror. Step by engrossing step his criminal intention evolves down the path to explosive action.

"The Garnered Sheaves" by Elizabeth Emerson is a continuation of the story of the Rees family of Quakers which was started in "The Good Crop." This pioneer family history is an authentic account of these quiet simple people living in the Illinois farm country in the late 19th century. The book is filled with kindliness and gentle humor and the sorrow which comes to all. Each member of the large family is clearly drawn and Sibyl who never achieves poise nor beauty in the usual sense becomes the mainstay. The "call" to be a preacher follows her from childhood through motherhood and she finally is recognized as one.

It Shows Something

A report by Ernest J. Armer, chairman of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce domestic trade committee, that 15 trade shows will be held here from this week until Jan. 28 emphasized growth of Los Angeles as a market place both for locally manufactured and Eastern products.

He had not been drinking, and there was not even the smell of liquor on his breath when he was arrested, yet the charge placed against him is intoxication.

The Civil Rights Congress is investigating the case and it was learned from that source that the elder Burns is disturbed over the death of his son Herman. He has lost 15 pounds and he is close to irreconcilable.

Some weeks ago the grand jury asked the NAACP for a report on the Herman Burns case with a view toward investigating the circumstances of his death. To date no word has come to indicate what progress is being made, and the only official action in the case is the arrest last week of Nelson Burns.

He was a member of the Board of Directors of the 28th Street YMCA, and he served in a similar capacity in the NAACP. A charter member o the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, he set up the local chapter and the one in San Francisco.

Among the other organizations in which he was an active member are: The Pacific Town Club, of which he was a charter member, the local Elks, the Langston Law Club and the National Lawyers Guild. He was a member of the Second Baptist Church.

A man of courtly manners, with a rich, throaty voice, Attorney Jones was proud of his Virginia ancestry.

Surviving are his wife, Edith, who was his classmate when they attended Ohio State University. They were married in 1917. Surviving also are three daughters, Edith Boyd of New York, research librarian for TIME magazine, Gwendolyn Simmons and Connie Kemp, both local school teachers, and two grandsons, John Simmons II and Ballenger Kemp.

Denouncing as false the reports that he had given the requested information to the Grand Jury, Alexander said, "I want to state for the record that I have answered no questions to the satisfaction of Mr. Clark. I have only answered questions about my personal life as the other witnesses have also done."

Alexander stated that he will appear before the Grand Jury and I will remain in the case until freedom is won for all."

for his son, and election contributions from his secretaries.

Because of the Democratic congressional landslide, Thomas loses his committee chairmanship after January 20. Other members of the committee were overwhelmingly defeated, and the fate of the committee itself is in doubt because of the popular resentment against it.

Indicted with Thomas was his secretary of 11 years, Miss Helen Campbell, who is named in one of the counts. She resigned from Thomas' employ almost simultaneously with the revelations of fraud and payroll padding.

It is believed Thomas will attempt to stall the beginning of his trial until the opening of the 81st Congress, at which time he hopes to be protected by congressional immunity. Observers believe, however, that the mass of evidence against him is so strong he will be tried and convicted before the new congress convenes.

no written appeal had been filed in the case. Carter insisted an appeal had been filed, and after considerable argument, the court granted Carter permission to submit a written request for reconsideration. It will probably be heard by the full court in San Francisco next week.

Meanwhile the ten witnesses whose freedom Carter seeks to curtail until they answer questions put to them by a Federal Grand Jury, are out on $500 bail, pending appeal from the decision made by Judge Pierson Hall jailing them "until they talked."

Most of them will go before the Grand Jury today (Thursday) and it is believed that Carter's unprecedented appearance before the Circuit Court was an attempt to have them thrown into jail again should they refuse to answer questions put to them.

Five additional persons are being sought for questioning. They are: Julia Houdek of Compton, Irving Caress, Elvador C. Greenfield, Charles Swanhuyser and Robert Blair.

Civil Rights Program Urges NAACP

NEW YORK.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People congratulated President Truman on his re-election and renewed its plea for full administrative and legislative support for a federal civil rights program.

In a telegram to Mr. Truman, Walter White, NAACP secretary, stated: "The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People congratulates you upon your well-deserved victory and wishes for you a most successful administration. Your triumph, achieved over both the extreme right and extreme left, is a mandate under which you and the new Congress can proceed to carry out the program you outlined so clearly and courageously to the people, including housing, labor legislation, civil liberties and inflation, all of which were cavalierly rejected by the 80th Congress. We especially urge you to continue to maintain your forthright position by giving your full and complete support to your legislative and administrative program for civil rights."

Both Despol and DeShelter have avowed a finish fight on the forces now remaining in the Los Angeles CIO Council, forces which Despol calls the leaders of a 'reactionary Communist conspiracy.'

The rift between the two groups began with the red-baiting crusade opened by national president Phillip Murray. It widened when the Council endorsed Henry Wallace, and has grown to proportions that threaten to weaken CIO in this area.

Rank and file CIO members, expressing disgust over the bitter rivalry between the two forces, see in the charges and countercharges being hurled, the usual battles for power and control.

The present bombardment of words between the two groups grew out of an invitation to the to the local CIO Council.

Pre-Nuptial Shower For Popular Dorothy Redd Heralds Holiday Wedding

The approaching marriage of Miss Dorothy Olivia Redd, charming daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Ernest S. Redd, to Frank Herman Cloud was the inspiration of a miscellaneous shower of unusual appointment, tendered by Miss Bernice O. C. Wright at her residence, 2901 S. Raymond Avenue.

Against a background of autumn foliage, the spacious residence provided a unique setting for the 20 guests drawn from the close friends of the hostess and bride elect.

The honoree was quite lovely in a pearl gray suit with red accessories. The bride's chair was marked by a huge cluster of white wedding bells and ribbon. The charming hostess wore a blue crepe dress with taffeta insets and circular collar. Her only ornament wos a long string of pearls.

Standing on a white ladder, the hostess hung an illuminated sign bearing the names of Dorothy and Herman, over the chancel as a signal for a series of stunts in which the guests gave last minute tips to the bride-elect. Miss Redd's stunt was to find the end of the white ribbon streamer which led to the gifts, falling from a massive golden horn of plenty, mounted on the appointed table. Tiny golden bells dangled on golden streamers from the chandeliers. Radient with joy, Dorothy opened the beautiful assortment of gifts including a pair of sterling silver candle holders, gift of the hostess.

From an improvised bar beverages were served. A tasty menu was served in buffet style. Assisting the hostess with duties were Mrs. Lovise Debose, Mrs. Mimi, Miss Ruth Redd, Mrs. Florine Deslandes.

Miss Redd is a graduate of the University of Southern California, a former National officer of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority in addition to holding membership in several honorary and professional groups.

The hostes of the day, Miss Wright, has the unusual distinction of being the youngest person to be awarded the Masters degree from the school of Medical social work of the University of Southern California. Hailing from Virginia State College where she made an enviable record. She is presently employed at Children's Hospital in Hollywood as Medical Social worker. A member of Alpha Kappa Alpha, she is very proficient young woman active in social, civic and church circles in the city's young set.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE ANGEL CITY'S BRILLIANT B.V.A. show that took its initial bow at Earl Carroll's on Monday night recaptured some of the charm and glamour of the good ole past for many a lady of the ensemble who had put her dancing days in the book of treasured memoirs. The big show gave each a chance to get back into the act. And from where this writer sat, the girls who had retired from the business were just as graceful and quick of timing as the girls who are still dancing for a living. The press table, located in the very first row, slightly at a left angle, wasn't just the right location for the type of coverage your social editor tries to bring you, so it was my pleasure to sit in on the Rayfield Lundy Party, that was just a perfect spot for note taking. Claiming the attention of all was the star of the keyboard, Dorothy Donegan, as she entered the portals of Earl Carroll's Theatre Restaurant. The young lady who makes more in one night than some people make in a month, playing the piano, is in the group of new brides. So while admiring the exquisite full length mink coat, smart French bootery and new length hair-do, must say that the bridegroom, John T. McClain, local theatre owner, has quite a wife of talent, fashion and charm. Arriving minutes before the curtain went up were the Sandy Jacksons, Mrs. Jackson (Sydney) just back from quite a vacation in New York and other points east. By the way, the usherettes were members of the newly organized "10 Ladies" club, headed by that ever busy little lady, Wini Orr. Marion Spencer happened to be working up front center, where Leontyne King, the Mitchell Miles, Walter Gordons and Eugene Hardimons were seated. Couldn't help but glimpse the glamorous Blossom Douglas McGinnis and hubby Essix, as they thrilled at the acting of Jack Benny, Phil Harris, Rochester and the many other star performers.

The Jester Harriston Choir made quite a contribution to the wonderful program, and of course there is no surprise at that, with such singers as Georgia Ann Lassiter and Josephine Cooper in the lineup. Also singing their all were Kitty Bilbrew White, Sara Lumpkin and many another member of the Lit-Phis of 8th and Towne. Would bet money that the Leon Renes, and the charming ladies seated at Louie Jones' table found the Norma and Eddie Green act one of the highlights of the program. Maxine Lundy, Atty. Ray's beautiful little blonde wife, was taken away with the singing of George Dewey Washington's immortal "Laugh Clown."

All shows must have their beautiful women who do nothing but pose, so on the scene strictly for posing were Juliette Ball, Julia Jones Lewis, Lena Torrance and many another, including Earline Kemp, who was enjoying her first stage appearance as much as her hubby and other family members enjoyed it from the audience. The grand finale to the show, that will be completely covered in this week's EAGLE by Gertrude Gipson, was the singing of Mabel Scott. Maybe you weren't quite close enough to take note, but La Scott, who has gone strictly Hollywood with her timely Reno divorce, was wearing a sparkler on that right finger. All smiles and really happy over the whole idea, she told ye scribe of her coming marriage to Charlie Brown of the Blazers. So happens that Charlie has always been her first love. The vows will be spoken during the holiday season. Ann McClain, Cris and Helen Wright's younger sis, was much in evidence as she enjoyed the show. There is no business like show business and believe me, there are no people like show people. Monday night's big event proved that. So to Nadine Coles, who worked hand in hand with the press and the rest of her B.V.A. girls, we say loads of luck, may you help many needy people of the profession, and may your plans for a new home for needy ex-show people soon become a reality . . .

THE SHOW GOES ON

Grant Venerable, one of the hardest working gents of the Alpha House committee, was by the EAGLE office a few days ago almost walking on air anticipating the fun that will take place at the next House party. Saturday night at the Club Congo. So happens that Mrs. Baskett, widow to the late Jimmy Baskett, is doing her part for the Alpha gents by getting a real show in readiness for the big night. Many of the girls who will be helping out in the lineup are key members of the B.V.A. club. By the way, the women of Alpha have taken over the job of staging the House Parties that run in a series of six. The 13th will mark the third affair and the half mark. Members of the Building committee are hoping that the goal will be reached by the time the last house party is held some time in February . . .

Lorenza Jordan Cole, local artist and school teacher, is ready to take to the concert stage of the Embassy tomorrow night (Friday) under the auspecis of the 34 Club. Jay-LoftLynn informs ye scribe that this concert will be the mecca of the city's music lovers and socialites.

The gents of the Kappa's Black and White Formal dance committee got together Tuesday night at Tilliman Thomas' home to make final plans for THE formal of the year. A good cross section of the frat's younger undergrads as well as the well known Alumni chapter members were in on the planning. The dance will be strictly dawn, starting at 10:00 p.m. and ending at 3 in the early bright of Thanksgiving morn. To wit, Sherril Luke and Herbie Howard are two of the younger set members taking part on arrangements. Don't be a bit surprised if this year's formal has a goodly number of the collegiate crowd. In fact, this group might be in the lead. Heretofore, the alumni have taken over the Black and White . . . By the way, the invitations will be a little scarce this year, with all names appearing on the master guest list at the door . . .

New Sponsors To Les Femmes Takes Position

Members of the popular Les Femmes are all smiles and for a good reason. Mrs. Marie Cole has become the new club sponsor. Position formerly held by the club organizer, Miss Laura Slayton.

A delightful evening was spent by the members of the club as guests of Mrs. Cole in her Muirfield Road home.

The girls enjoyed sipping cocktails as plans were formulated for the December 4th Cocktail Dansante. All friends and patrons of the Women of Today, are urged to red letter the date.

Sweetpotatoes should be used within a week or so after they are purchased to be at their best. Like bananas, they should never be put in the refrigerator.

Mothers, Daughters Tea Given By DAP Auxiliary

The Mother and Daughters' Tea held by the Deputy Auxiliary Police Girls at Holy Name School proved a great success with an attendance of approximately 200. Use of the auditorium was granted by Very Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Dignan, head of all Parochial Schools, and is endeavoring to help the DAP cause. A Halloween theme was carried out in a very nice manner in that all decorations, refreshments and entertainment followed the theme.

The coordinators and leaders of this University DAP Company wish to extend the greatest thanks and appreciation to all in the community whose appearance and interest in these girls made their first venture a very successful one.

Highlights of the entertainment were the appearance of Mr. Allen Bradshaw and Mr. John W. Baleria of the City Water & Power Public Relations Office, who gave up their valuable time to show both educational and entertaining motion pictures to the group.

After the Water & Power pictures, Horace Henderson and his band provided the music and entertainment arranged by Mr. Esban Mosby and Mr. Maxie Thrower, who did a masterful job of presiding over the entertainment.

A very beautiful center piece was donated by Mrs. Barbara Ganzie of Dostey's Florist Shop. We wish to give very special thanks to The California Eagle staff for their wonderful cooperation in helping these girls put over their first social affair.

Several Fathers have called since this social and expressed their idea that the boys should not be outdone by the girls in that they are now planning a Father and Sons' Dinner to be held the middle of December.

chatting with the petite barrister, that one of the highlights of her trip to Los Angeles was her day spent with Atty. Martha Jefferson, our only tan toned feminine attorney. The two women made the court house rounds and discussed law and other points of interest.

The Doll Leaguers felt certain that John Public would understand that BALL meant formal at all times. Therefore they didn't add formal to the door card. If in doubt, the dance will be strictly formal, so ye gents get out your bib and tucker while milady picks picks out a beautiful doll to add to the League's collection for needy children . . .

The showers have started for the two well known holiday brides elect, Jane Hampton and Dorothy Redd. On Sunday Clo Gland entertained with a Linen Shower for Miss Bronze America Hampton, while Bernice Wright chose the same afternoon to have an array of miscellaneous gifts showered upon the former National officer of AKA, Dorothy Redd. In passing, Jane has decided to say her vows a few days after Thanksgiving, Lou Boswell and Joyce Steward will be showering Jane on Nov. 21, with Lingerie. Many another popular young lady about town has been invited to take part . . .

Speaking of weddings, when Helen Juniel and Randolph Lomax take to the middle aisle in February, the expected guests will witness a beautiful ceremony. Hear that plans include a twilight ritual with a representative group of their friends taking part. Of course Randolph's uncle, Rev. Grant Harris, will officiate the ceremony . . .

HARVEST MOON

Received a call from the Auxiliary of the Medical Dental group to learn that the ladies have dropped the date of their Harvest Moon Ball until early spring. The name of the event will be changed, however, the proceeds will still be used by West View Hospital Building Fund and the Stevens House project at UCLA. Keep Harvest Moon in mind however, for on Nov. 27 Los Angeles will witness her first Dance Festival at Olympic Auditorium. The mammouth interracial affair has grown into an institution, having been staged in New York and Chicago for more than 15 years. Preliminaries for the Texas Hop and Jitterbuggers will be held at Club Congo on the night of Nov. 21. All you dance enthusiasts are urged to take part in the Festival. A registration blank may be found in the theatrical section . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

So Vincent and Guy Hawkins are now living on South Arlington. The gents were eastside residents for many a moon. . . . Little Elizabeth Galloway will be celebrating her first birthday on Nov. 16. Her proud parents are Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Galloway. . . . It is a future debutant for Mrs. Elsie Butcher. Though the couple wanted their first to be a boy, they are pleased as punch over the Stork's choice. Speaking of youngsters, Dorothy Lewis' son is now two months old. Fred and Cornelia Scott are awaiting the arrival of their second child with crossed fingers, hoping it will be a Junior . . .

Many clubs will be taking advantage of the new offer at Jeni LeGon's Dance Studio. Fay Jackson, the lady who handles the studio business, is certain this is the offer of the year and should be included in the club programs of both young and older groups. . . . So congratulations are in order for the former Pearl Marlowe, who took marriage vows about two months ago and tried very hard to keep it a secret. . . . Gwen and Roy Andrew will soon be celebrating their "paper" anniversary, while Jessiel Reid Kings, mother and father, will be celebrating their 25th. . . . Ethel Bran Ida Bowman, Helen Wright and a few others have recently joined a knitting class and are learning by making a dress for the first article. Believe me, the teacher must know her business. . . . While While mentioning knitting, Doris Galloway is working with pink and blue yarn, for she and Nelson expect a new addtion to the family. . . . Ted and Cathy Schaffer entertained last Friday for the Kappas. . . . Jean-Ella Elkins will wed soon.

In making deadline, deepest sympathies are extended the Jones family in the passing of Atty. Clarence Jones.

'Til next week.

Bennett College Notes 75th Year As Exclusive Institution For Girls

The Rt. Rev. Alexander P. Shaw, Bishop of Baltimore Area, Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, delivered the Founders' Day address at Bennett College, November 2, when the institution observed its seventy-fifth anniversary.

In pausing to pay tribute to the "Bennett pioneers" who laid the historic foundation of the college, two events of great significance for the Methodist Church and Negro education was brought into focus—the founding of the college in 1873 and its reorganization in 1926 as an institution devoted exclusively to the training of young Negro women.

When the small group of Negro ministers met in the basement of St. Matthews church here, to organize a school which later became Bennett College, they were moved by a common desire to broaden the educational opportunities for their youth.

These were the pioneers who gave birth to Bennett College, which was in the beginning known as "Bennett Seminary," in honor of Lyman Bennett, who gave the first $10,000 for a building and who raised the funds for the college bell which still rings on the campus today.

The reorganization in 1926, at which time David Jones became president, is historic in that this step marked the determination of the Methodist Church to make available an institution for Negrom women which would meet a need not being met by any other Methodist-supported school.

Throughout the years, the generous support of friends of both races has been of great importance to Bennett's welfare. Men and women of both races have served as members of the board of trustees, participating actively in the administration of the institution.

Through the benevolence of foundations and friends, the psysical plant has grown from four buildings in 1926 to 28. There have been more than 929 graduates and, today, the college serves a capacity number of 465 students, representing 27 states, the District of Columbia, and three foreign countries.

HELLO, MISS AMERICA

For several days, I had seen the girl and said to her "Hello, Miss America," and she always replied with a smile "Hi, Mr. America." (Talking to me!) And yet, it seemed to be an ascertained fact between the two of us that I could never be Mr. America, and she could never be Miss America. But still we more or less pretended. But then I started to think about the case from time to time. The next day I said:

"Do you think you'll ever be Miss America, in real life?"

"Are you kidding," she answered, "that's for cute girls with fine shapes and so forth."

Now she wasn't bad looking and she didn't wear a size forty. But I knew and she knew she would never become Miss America. There isn't a possibility in the world.

Why, Because, as everyone knows, Miss America is chosen because of her cute face and fine shape—to face the facts. And too, it's a beauty contest. But the idea of choosing a girl, to represent female America because of these traits alone, and a man of his physique is something of a paradox, or is just plain silly.

For America isn't known in history and in the minds of civilized peoples throughout the world because of it's beautiful mountains and forests, its rivers and plains. In the beginning, the beauty of city lights and the waving fields of grain and the shape of the continent meant very little, actually. It was the spirit of fair play and freedom that mattered. It was a new land in which EVERYONE had a fair chance to become anything he chose that brought us this far, though we still retain blemishes in our latest coat of paint.

It's true that if the system of choosing Miss America were changed, the name of the national contest would be changed. ..wever, I see little wrong in calling the prettiest girl MISS AMERICA'S QUEEN, or perhaps something more suitable. But Miss America should mean something more than beauty. What? Maybe her intellect should be tested; the extensiveness of her efforts to maintain peace in the world through practical means at home; perhaps the number of hours spent in Red Cross and Community Chest and other charitable organizations should be considered, or the depths of her American thinking. All these things might even determine the one girl who would be chosen Miss America under a new democratic America and not a partial system, and the same would apply to the selection of Mr. America.

Through these such means, we probably will someday be able to hew a better America and a better world. We have to start somewhere, don't you think? And then when I say "Hello, Miss America," I could say it with feeling, for I'll know she has a chance.

ABOUT THE HOLIDAYS

The memorable 1948 Halloween has just elapsed, Thanksgiving is coming up, and Christmas is enforcing the rear of our thinking. It's true that we all went out and had fun on Halloween; some were possessed for weeks afterward with the ecstasy in seeing Flossie, others with getting loadly drunk, and the kids with those really tremendous hauls they got from a game called Tricks or Treat. Thanksgiving we will eat turkey from door to door of our friends until—well, we'll eat a lot of turkey. And this is all expected, just as the average American expects his Christmas present and egg-nog.

But upon this Thanksgiving, it might be nice to go to church and, to give thanks to God, as well as to donate part of the money we'll spend for a lavish dinner either to the Community Chest or to the Ingram fund. The choice is purely yours. Here, we have the opportunity to go to church and donate to any cause. That rule doesn't apply everywhere. Abroad, while you overflow, others are starving. And CARE in New York will accept your donation. Finally when Christmas comes, the wise person will spend moderately and not run up any huge debts, for before another Christmas or so comes around, we shall have felt the depression that will follow World War II.

Tinker-Town Carnival For Kids Sunday

A genuine children's Tinker-Town carnival will be one of the main features of the one-day festival to be held on Sunday afternoon, November 14, at Holy Name Church on Jefferson and Cimarron.

It is the plan of the committee that the carnival and "movies" will afford entertainment for the children while the parents enjoy the dinner, the games, and the "doll booth."

All proceeds from the one-day festival will be used for the church building fund and the expansion of the parish school.

Watts Civic Leader Named Lay Representative to Conference

In recognition of sincere interest and arduous service in the community Mrs. Sabina Mendoza was invited to acompany Public Health Nurse Pacifico as a lay representative from Watts to the convention of the California branch of the National organization of nurses which convened in Long Beach last week. Such representation will, it is hoped, stimulate intelligent interest in the health problems of the community.

To this end no better choice could have been made than Sabina Mendoza, whose record of service is unsurpassed in this area. Mrs. Mendoza, who has been a lifelong resident of Los Angeles besides serving her second term as president of the PTA of Jordan High school, is vice president of Watts Coordinating Council, a devout communicant and ardent worker in St. Leo's Church and parish, and a major in the current Community chest drive for funds.

In addition to her services to her fellows in church, school and community Mrs. Mendoza and her husband, James Mendoza, have found time to raise a family of six children, all of whom are married except the youngest son, Arthur, a graduate of Jordan High school and a veteran of five years service in the Merchant Marine, now studying the fine art of watchmaking.

Mrs. Mendoza's continuing interest in youth and its problems

YW Committee Sets Work Plan For Watts Area

An ambitious program for an intensive attack on the betterment of conditions in the Watts area has been planned by the women of the Watts Y.W.C.A. Area Committee.

Details will be discussed and definite procedures decided upon at the regular meeting scheduled to be held in the home of the secretary, Mrs. H. A. Bush, 1941 E. 115th Street, at three o'clock, Saturday, Nov. 13th. Actual work on the program will get under way as soon as the women of the committee are free from their arduous duties as volunteers workers in the current Community Chest drive that is at present engaging their best interest and energy.

Lincoln PTA Active Again

After a long period of dormancy the PTA meeting at Lincoln School, 118th and Compton Ave., Friday, Nov. 5, at 7:30 p.m. started out with new vigor to rebuild interest among the parents and expand opportunities for the children of that institution.

A program dealing in a practical way with the various problems of the district during the current year was discussed with tentative plans for implementing it. It was agreed that the first phase was to engage the active support of more parents and action toward that goal was set as the objective of the next meeting.

Violet Yates, principal of Lincoln, with C. Winge, president of the reinvigorated PTA, and J. Thomas its efficient secretary may be counted on to do the big job ahead of them effectively.

Secretary of Watts Chamber Given Honors

The secretary of Watts Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Faustina Johnson, who is also editor of the Advertiser-Review received indisputable evidence of appreciation for service rendered, when a group of 103rd Street merchants, all of the dominant racial group, took time off from their businesses last Monday noon, Nov. 1 to gather in her office at 1631 East 103rd street for the purpose of registering their personal approval of her work in very concrete terms.

The committee, representing most of the businesses on 103rd street, in the heart of Watts, commended Mrs. Johnson highly for all she has done in the community and in acknowledgement of the high value they set on her services, presented her with a handsome and fully fitted brief case of turned cowhide leather, complete in every detail, with her name imprinted on each article including a Schaeffer pen and pencil set.

As an further mark of their personal esteem the committee added the summa laude of a check for $124.61 to attest to the sincerity of their evaluation of Mrs. Johnson and her work.

Take It Easy When It Rains

The dangerous rainy season is approaching. The Los Angeles Police Department Traffic Education Unit warns the motorists of the additional hazards which will make driving more complicated. Pepperdine College Meets Arizona State Saturday

Finished with a tough travelling schedule on which they failed to gather a football victory, Pepperdine's Waves are home to complete the season with games on successive Saturdays against Arizona State, Cal Tech, and Loyola. Coach Warren Gaer has told his team it can win these three if it plays the football of which it is capeable.

Having drawn a bye last weekend, the Waves have had time to consolidate forces and polish up some new plays for the game Saturday night at Wrigley Field against Arizona State of Flagstaff. Gaer expects to field an eleven completely renovated and overhauled — revitalized both physically and mentally.

Star of Coach Nick Ragus' invading Arizona Lumberjacks is a rangy end, Vince Cisterna, who won Little All-American and All-Border Conference honors last year. A 6' 4" lad weighing 190, Cisterna last season placed third in the nation in the NCAA small college statistics as a pass receiver, and this year he again is out front in his conference in number of passes caught.

The man who throws to Cisterna is 160-pound George Haley, who runs the Jacks' modified T-formation. Haley's capable replacement, who sees plenty of action, is Dub Bryan, a left-handed tosser.

Starting backfield for the Waves Saturday will be Ed Hyduke and Terry Bell at halfbacks, Darwin Horn at full, and Hal Batesole at quarter. The latter is expected to give Pepperdine some extra punch at the blocking back.

Uncle Sam Nicks Weems For Back Social Security

Bandleader Ted Weems received a bit of sad news last week when the Internal Revenue Bureau informed him they had stamped an $8,900 tab on the leader for social security, plus interest and fines, on sidemen employed by Weems during 1939-40.

Downbeat magazine reports that since th esupreme court last year nullified the AFM form B contract, ballroom and club operators, formerly held as employers of the sidemen, have been getting refunds from the government. But, this marks about the first instance where the government has placed the debt on the leader.

Orchard pruning is starting in some of the coast counties, and there is considerable activity in miscellaneous vegetables. The sugar beet harvest is more than three-fourths complete.

Irene Surola, regional director of Camp Fire Girls, uncovered a reservoir of parent interest when she met with a group of mothers at Ritter school Thursday afternoon, Nov. 4, to organize units of her organization in the neighborhood, which is sadly in need of channels for character-building leisure time activities.

This meeting, which was a follow-up of the recent PTA discussion of the problems facing the district, was a mother and daughter affair with daughters bringing mothers to the meeting.

Out of this effort two Camp Fire and a Gray Y group were organized with the following adult personnel of mothers: Leaders, Esther Henderson and Mary Luna; assistant leaders, Lena Miles and Lupe Martinez. The pathetic plight of the children as depicted in a film that was the feature of a Community Chest worker's meeting at the Trianon Ball Room in Southgate last week, according to Thelma Berkely, accomplished music teacher and civic worker, representing Palm Lane volunteer workers at the meeting, is the sharp stimulus that urges to make a strong appeal for funds to help carry on the Chest program. Health Program Gets Under Way

A community program for attacking the problem of nutrition in the Watts area was the subject of discussion at a luncheon conference held at Jordan High School, 103rd and Gorman, Thursday.

Organizer Richard Hickman, a supervisor of city health education, spoke briefly on the subject of health problems in general. He was followed by Helen Funsteen, who talked in some detail on the importance of breakfast in building good health. Dr. G. Burton, school doctor for Jordan, said that much apparent illness among students could be diagnosed as hunger and malnutrition due to breakfastless days.

As an outcome of general discussion following the talks the council decided to sponsor a program emphasizing better nutrition for the whole community.

Owing to the press of school work principal Mann could not accept the chairmanship and U. S. Griggs, manager of Jordar Downs Housing project, was elected to take his place with the following official staff: vice chairman, Adrian Wilson; secretary, Raymond Henderson. An organizational committee headed by Gladys Wilson, who was empowered to select the other two members of her committee, was created. Chairman Wilson named Cora Ball Moten and Sabina Mendoza to assist her.

Others taking an active part in the meeting were Dr. R. F. Kolts, District health officer; Wm. F. Gordon of Hacienda Village, Nurses Pacifico and Williams of the public health dept. F. Johnson of the press and principals of several Watts public schools.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Prophecy in the Bible. Lesson Text and Outline. Amos 5:21-24; 7:10-15; Micah 4:1-4. Motto Text Micah 6:8.

Introduction

The scope of this lesson is to show how little God valued Israel shows of devotion, how much he detested them, while they went on in their sins. When they saw that they were reprieved in order that they might have space to repent and that they could not obtain a pardon unless they repent.

It would endear prophet Amos to them, who had not only shown his good-will to them in praying against the judgements that invaded them, but had prevailed to turn away those judgements, which, if they had had any sense of gratitude, would have gained him an interest in their affections.

But it fell out quite contrary; they continue impenitent, and the next news we hear of Amos is that he is persecuted. Micah is the other prophet who prophesied at Jerusalem, the capital of the Southern Kingdom.

Comments

1. The sacrifice itself is of small account with God in comparison with moral duties; to love God and our neighbor is better than all burnt offering and sacrifice. The sacrifice of the wicked is really an abomination to him. Dissembled piety is double iniquity, and so it will be found when, if any place in hell be hotter than another, that will be the hypocritic's portion.

Let judgement run down as waters, among you, and righteousness as a mighty stream, that is. "Let there be a general reformation of manners among you; let religion (God's judgement) and righteousness have their due influence upon you; let your land be watered with it, and let it bear down all the opposition of vice and profaneness; let it run wide as overflowing waters, and yet run strong as a mighty stream."

"In particular, let justice be duly administered by magistrates and rulers; let not the current of it be stopped by partiality and bribery, but let it come freely as waters do, in the natural course; let it be pure as running waters, not muddied with corruption or whatever may pervert justice; let it run like a mighty stream and not suffer itself to be obstructed, or its course retarded by the fear of man; let all have free access to it as to a common stream, and have benefited by it as trees planted by the rivers of waters.

2. The malicious information brought to the king against the phrophet Amos by the informer Amaziah the priest of Bethel, the chief of the priests that ministered to the golden calf there, the president of Bethel, that had the principal hand in civil affairs there.

He complained against Amos, not only because he prophesied without license for him, but because he propesied against his altar, which would soon be deserted and demolished if Amos's preaching could but gain credit. Great pretenders to sanctity are commonly the worst enemies to those who are really sanctified. Priests have been the most bitter persecutors.

It is no new thing for the accusers of the brethren to misrepresent them as enemies to the king and kingdom, as traitors to their prince and troubles of the land, when really they are the best friends to both. And it is common for designing men to essert that as the sense of the country which is far from beings so.

And yet, I doubt, it was too true, that the people could not bear plain dealing any more than the priests. Those that make gain their Godliness, and are governed by the hopes of wealth and preferment themselves, are ready to think these the most powerful inducements with others also.

Amos justified himself in his constant adherence to his work and to his place; and that which he was sure would not only bear him out, but bind him to it, was that he had a divine warrant and commission for it. God made him a prophet, and a prophet to them, appointed him his work and appointed him his post.

Therefore he ought not be silenced, for; he could produce a divine commission for what he did. Those that have a warrant from God ought not to fear the face of man. The mean character he wore before he received that commission strengthened his warrant, so far was it from weakening it. He had no thought at all of ever being a prophet, and therefore his prophesying could not be imputed to a raised expectation or a heated imagination, but purely to a divine impulse.

He was not educated nor instructed in the art o fmystery of prophesying, and therefore he must have his abilities for it immediately from God, which is an undeniable proof that he had his mission from him.

He had a honest calling, by which he could comfortably maintain himself and his family, and therefore did not need to prophesy for bread, as Amaziah suggested, did not take it up as a trade to live by, but as a trust to honor God and do good with. He had all his days been accustomed to a plain homely way of living among poor husbandmen, and never affected either gaieties or dainties, and therefore would not have thrust himself so near the king's court and chapel if the business God had called him to had not called him thither. God often chooses the weak and foolish things of the world to confound the wise and mighty; and a herdman of Tekoa puts to shame a priest of Bethel, when he receives from God authority and ability to act for him.

Comments on the Motto Text

God has shown us our end, which we should aim at, in showing us what is good wherein our true happiness does consist; he has shown us our way in which we must walk towards that end in showing us what he requires of us. There is something which God requires we should do for him and devote to him; and it is good.

It is good in itself; there is an innate goodness in moral duties, antecedent to the command; they are not, as ceremonial observances, good because they are commanded, but commanded because they are good, consonant to the eternal rule and reason of good and evil, which are unalterable.

We must love mercy, not only be just to all we deal with, but kind to all that need us, and that we are in a capacity of doing good to. We must walk humbly with our God. This includes all the duties of the first table, as the two former include al the duties of the second table.

We must take the Lord for our God in covenant, must attend on him and adhere to him as ours, and must make it our constant care and business to please him. This is that which God requires, and without which the most costly services are vain oblations; this is more than all burnt-offerings and sacrifices.

Christian Science Text 'Mortals and Immortals'

"If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live." Paul's declaration to the Romans will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson Sermon on "Mortals and Immortals" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

A Bible passage from Luke relates that "There was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "A grain of Christian Science does wonders for mortals; so omnipotent is Truth, but more of Christian Science must be gained in order to continue in well doing." "Mortals obtain the harmony of health, only as they forsake discord, acknowledge the supremacy of divine Mind, and abandon their material beliefs."

Father Roach's Faith Built Texas Interracial Hospital

(By John Gavin Nolan)

HOUSTON, Tex. — SPECIAL — Father John J. Roach, white Catholic priest here, is a man who makes his wishes come true. With quite a bit to spare.

Five years ago he wished for a medical clinic, staffed by Negro physicians and Negro nurses, to provide for Houston's 110,000 Negro population. Most Negroes in Houston lacked adequate medical care.

The Catholic Bishop of Galveston approved the priest's plan and commissioned him to campaign for $10,000.

Today St. Elizabeth's Hospital stands as a reward for the man who did not stop wishing. Built at a cost of $450,000, the hospital has 60 beds and facilities for 20 infants. The building itself is in the heart of a Negro urban district, with an interracial staff.

DESIRES

Happiness consists in the attainment of our desires, and in having only right desires.—Augustine.

A wise man will desire no more than he may get justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and leave contentedly.—Richard E. Burton.

Desire is prayer; and no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be moulded and exaleed before they take form in words and in deeds.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Therefore I (Jesus) say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.—Mark 11:24.

Maybe He Thought He Was Barney Oldfield, Huh?

JT Gipson, once known as The Little Trumpet King of The Blues, celebrated his return to the music profession last week by appearing in Big Time Fashion on a Hollywood television show. His celebration was short-lived, however, when the former trumpeter with the Les Hite, Louis Armstrong, Lucky Millinder and Don Albert bands, on his return home following the broadcast, struck a bolder in the road and was thrown from the car in which he was riding, injuring his left side.

Taken to Rose Netta Hospital by Bandleader Joe Lutcher and singer Bill Day, Gipson was treated for internal injuries by Dr. Audley R. Mamby and sent home.

Warned by his physicians that his trumpet tooting days were definitely over, Gipson will devote his future editing the Eagle's Theatrical-Sports pages and singing blues songs at the various benefits in which he is called upon to appear.

At the time of the accident, Gipson's car was traveling at a rate of 70 miles per hour, police say.

Joe Lutcher at CIO Saturday

The De-Luxe Queens Social club presents Joe Lutcher and his Second Annual Rockin' Boogie Dance, at the C.I.O. hall, 5851 Avalon Blvd., Saturday evening, Nov. 13. Guest stars and celebrities will appear in person with JT Gipson and Bill Day introducing the various guest artists who will drop in from time to time throughout the evening.

Dance gets under way at 9 p.m., with three prizes being given for the best Rockin' Boogie couples.

Lutcher, whose swing band have broken records galore the past several weeks (i.e., in Bakersfield, at Beardsley's, where they broke the all-time mark of any band, and Halloween night at the Elks hall where they played to over 3000 persons) will move into the Million dollar theatre on the 16th for a one-week stay.

His recordings are selling like the proverbial hot cakes, and following his Million $ theatre run the band is set for a future date at Paul Rubin's Cricket club.

The 'Baron' to Record When Ban Is Lifted

Charles Mingus, the Bass-playing fiddler better known as the Baron, whose latest record release, "These Foolish Things Remind Me Of You," is soaring the heights, was informed last week by one of the major recording companies that his band had been chosen to do a series of swing recordings as soon as the record ban is lifted, which is expected any day now.

Mingus, who left Lionel Hampton's band to form one of his own, will go into the Last Word within a few weeks, and at present is holding forth each Sunday afternoon at Billy Berg's in Hollywood.

(N.P.B.—The [illegible]ed Mills Brothers, topnotchers of the stage, radio and recordings realm, are returning to the coast. The quartet is due to open on November 23rd at the Casbah. Orioles Latest Due

NEW YORK—The "Orioles," who are currently sweeping the country with their sensational recording of "It's Too Soon To Know" on the Natural label, will come up November 15 with their second wax effort, this time on the Jubilee label.

Local Girl Janet Collins Is Making Good In Hollywood

Janet Collins, a tall, suntanned and charming dancer, a product of Katherine Dunham, and a Rosenwald Fellowship winner in her own right, has been standing the movie colony on its ears when the Dance Theatre presented her in something different—actually dancing spirituals and folklore.

Janet has everything complete, from a native drummer (Gaucho) to duo pianists and music specially composed for "Protest", the earthly sinful songs of the Negro—his blues—his work songs on the chain gang . . On the spirituals, "Nobody Knows The Trouble I've Seen", and "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel", Janet commented as being "from the abyss of slavery they emerged—the spiritual—a whole people—moved as one—lifted its voice to God for deliverance! . . in the world beyond." The audience, mostly white dance enthusiasts, goes wild over Janet's interpretations of executions as they have never once seen them. They thrill to the young girl's accuracy, preciseness, sense of humor and creative ability. And Hollywood itself is claiming this ambitious, vigorous worker of the arts as one of their most promising stars of not tomorrow, but today.

Les Was Playing Be-Bop Long 'Fore Be-Bop Was Born!

NEW YORK—When bandleader Lester Young takes his six-piece combo into Broadway's Royal Rooset on Thanksgiving Day, it will be the climax of a year's work of building his crew into what he considers a top outfit. The tenor sax star was more than satisfied with his recent one-night stands in which music devotees hailed it as the best band of his career.

Welcoming the opportunity of being bookesd into Broadway's number one house of bebop, Lester feels that his relaxed style of playing this newest vogue in music isn't really new at all. While with Count Basie's Band, he was playing the same type of horn as he plays now, and what thousands are calling bebop.

If we hear any more on the matter, we'll print the year they actually started dancing! And then watch 'em howl!! . . . There may be other pianists in town greater than Gerald Wiggins, but I haven't heard any. He's the ivory tickler with the B. Carter Band. . . . Carlton Waide (you know him as "Pus") is on the sick list. He's one of the town's top tenor-tooters. . . . Dorsey And Top Stars Greet Ella's Return

NEW YORK CITY — It was early Friday morning when a nineteen-year-old girl on Pier 90, North River and West 50th St., shouted "She's docking." Immediately after this signal, 300 other people began to chant, "We want Ella, we want Ella."

The cheers and chants were for Ella Fitzgerald, the famed songstress, who arrived last Friday, November 5, aboard the Queen Elizabeth with her noted husband, Ray Brown, the bass fiddler.

Returning from an appearance at the Palladium, in London, where she garnered rave reviews, Ella was greeted by a huge crowd of loyal fans who presented her with a wreath offlowers and hundreds of records, pictures and autograph books to sign. Gently pushing their way through the mobs to say "Welcome Home" to Ella

Appendicitis Attack Prevents Miller From Joining 3-Blazers

An acute attack of appendicities last week prevented Johnny Miller's debut with Johnny Moore's famous 3-Blazers when the famous 4 played a one night stand Sunday night at the Elks Hall with Joe Lutcher's band.

Miller, who formerly played with the King Cole trio, and recognized as one of swingdom's ace musicians, was set to join Moore and his Blazers following a short stint at the Barrel House where he had been featured on bass with Johnny Otis' band since leaving the K. C. trio.

Miller recently filed suit against Cole for record royalties and 2 weeks back salary allegedly owed him. In a similar suit three weeks previously Oscar Moore (a former King Cole alumnus, now with the Blazers) sued his ex boss, Cole, on the same charges instigated by Miller. Both suits were settled out of court.

Miller's attack of appendicitis came at the time the popular young bassist was set to join his former buddy, Oscar Moore and the Blazers.

His condition at press time is satisfactory and he will join the Blazers within a few weeks, replacing Eddie Williams, currently on bass.

DORTHEA FEARONCE isn't in show b'sness. She's the beautiful wife of Dr. N. A. Fearonce, popular local Dentist. There is no particular reason for our running the picture this week other than the fact that devilish little Gip wanted something pretty to decorate his theatrical pages, and the prettiest picture we could find was that of Dorthea. Lovely is the word for Dot, eh fellows?

It Would Have Been Too Much Music Anyhow

The deal to put Phil Moore's 50-piece "swing-phonic" 'orchestra into Billy Berg's for an indefinite stay, fell through. Original booking called for Moore, who recently returned from New York where he penned some special material for Lena Horne and Pearl Bailey, to showcase his 50-piece jazz symphony band two or three times nightly, but when Berg totaled the salaries he found the nut a littel too rich for his blood. He said it might be worked out at a later date. Moore, meanwhile, took his quartet into Le Papillon on the Strip.

Joe Turner Has Another Blues Tune on Market

Big Joe Turner, who usually shouts the blues for a living, is still shouting the blues for a living on his latest recording, "I Don't Dig It," backed by a blues chant titled, "My Baby Done Left Me."

Tunes recently recorded are from the pen of Florence Cadrez, and are already soaring stratispheric heights via the juke boxes.

Joe is currently resting his vocal chords (and my ears!) on a vacation visit with family and friends in Chicago.

NEW YORK.—Cootie Williams, the All-American trumpet star, may have uncovered one of the potential music greats of our time in Willie Jackson, sensational tenor sax discovery, if the enthusiastic applause of the dancers at the Savoy Ballroom, where Williams just completed a two weeks engagement, can be taken as a criterion.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

On last Wednesday evening we were privileged to be present at the first performance of Milkos Rosza's cantata "To Everything There Is a Season" as the guest of Dr. Norman Soreng Wright. The concert of contemporary compositions opened Marcel Dupre's "Verset des Psaumes No. 5" a short organ interlude. This was followed by Dr. Wright's anthem setting of the Psalm Twenty-Third. Phyliss Brenneman, soprano, Eric Zeisl's "The Prayer." This composition is almost Israelic in character.

Mr. McNeil

Milkos Rosza, who incidentally is director of music at Columbia Pictures, Incorporated, has embodied in this work a profound feeling for the dramatic and emotional text. The composition is not extremely modern in form, that is complex dissonance, but bespeaks a fluency that is understandable and interpretative. The use of major and minor seconds with accompanying whole tone harmonies reminded of us of several of William Grant Still's recent compositions.

The choir although superbly trained lacked a balance of inner voices. Dr. Wright demonstrated his virtuosity as organist-director in the unusual control effected despite his accompanying chores.

PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

With Alfred Wallenstein as conductor, the local orchasera will open its 30th season tonight at 8:30 p.m. Few Angelenos realize that Mr. Wallenstein is a product of the Los Angeles City Schools. He studied here with the grandfather and mother of the now famous Ferde Grofe. Wallenstein subsequently became cellist in the San Francisco Symjhony under the direction of Alfred Hertz this was followed by a South American tour with Pavlova. Then came several seasons with our own Los Angeles Symphony. The conductor ultimately became first cellist of the Chicago Symphony under the baton of the late Frederick Stoak.

Completing seven years in Chicago, he became the first cellist for the world famous New York Philharmonic Symphony under the venerable Arturo Toscanini who has been his great friend and guiding light ever since. Seven years as musical director of Radio Station WOR followed.

It was with such a wealth and experience behind him that Wallenstein became conductor o the Los Angeles Symphony in 1943, at that time being the only American to hold such a position among the major orchestras of the nation.

The opening program tonight will include William Grant Still's "In Memoriam", Schubert's "Seventh Symphony", and the first performance of Aaron Copland's "Third Symphony"... IT IS SIGNIFICANT THAT NO NEGRO ARTIST WILL APPEAR DURING THIS 30th SEASON; however, compositions by several Negro composers have been included.

THE MESSIAH

Sunday afternoon, December 5th at 4:00 p.m. will mark the first area presentation of Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" to be given in this vicinity under the auspices of the Los Angeles Church Federation. Albert J. McNeil Minister o Music at Independent will direct the East Los Angeles Montebello presentation of the "Messiah" at the same time . . . Independent's presentation of Handel's "MESSIAH" will be presented in ehe church sanctuary on Sunday afternoon, December 19th at 4:30 p.m. with a special carol pageant to be given by the Children's Choir.

Ella Mae Hillson, soprano; Jeanne Jackson, contralo; Paul Troy, tenor; and William Valentine, bass will be the soloists. The string orchestra from Los Angeles City College will play.

Muriel Rahn Trys For Met Aida Role

NEW YORK—Sooner or later the 'Met' must give qualified Negro singers a chance, but Muriel Rahn is not waiting for this to happen. She wants in, now. (And what singer doesn't?) The noted concert star and former Carmen of "Carmen Jones" who returned this week from a Mid West concert tour has written Edward Johnson, manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, that she would make "a pretty good 'Aida'" for the 'Met' if given a chance.

MURIEL RAHN

Moreover Miss Rahn has invited Mr. Johnson and the New York music critics over to the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Saturday evening, November 13th, to "see and hear" for themselves. At that time she will perform "Aida" for the second time with the Salmaggi Opera Company, and will again be the only Negro in the cast.

Hungarian String Quartet In Concert Here Next Week

The next MUSIC GUILD CONCERT, on Wednesday evening, November 20th in Wilshire-Ebell Theatre, will be distinguished by the first Los Angeles appearance of the HUNGARIAN STRING QUARTET.

This ensemble was formed in Budapest in 1935 and its eminence in the chamber-music field has just been re-affirmed at the Edinburgh Festival and in Geneva, Switzerland where the group just played a series of concerts featuring all the string quartets by Beethoven and Bartok. Their Los Angeles program lists:

The "Lark" Quartet, by Hayden.

Quartet No. 5, by Bela Bartok.

Quartet in D Minor "Death and the Maiden", by Schubert.

Igor Gorin at Philharmonic

After an absence of almost three years, baritone Igor Gorin, star of concert, opera and radio, returns to Los Angeles for another of his inimitable recitals under the Behymer banner on Tuesday evening, November 23, in Philharmonic Auditorium.

A favorite of concert audiences everywhere, the name Igor Gorin has become a household word in millions of American homes as a result of numerous appearances on the nation's radio networks. Star of "Hollywood Hotel" for four years, Mr. Gorin has also been repeatedly heard as guest soloist on the Firestone, Telephone and other big-time radio programs.

The public is invited to an exhibit of water colors, sketches and oil paintings by City College art students. The Art Club-sponsored exhibit will be on view at the Campus Book Store until Saturday, November 13. Next year two art shows will be held each semester.

With Homecoming on the LACC campus set for Wednesday, November 18,

Dorothy Maynor Philharmonic Concert on November 19th

Dorothy Maynor's concert Friday night, November 19, in Philharmonic Auditorium, will present the diminutive soprano in a beautifully-balanced program of spirituals, French and German songs, operatic arias, and songs by modern composers.

Miss Maynor's meteoric career as a singer has brought her to the very pinnacle of international fame and respect as an artist since her "discovery" by conductor Serge Koussevitzky in 1939. And her success has been maintained by adherence to the loftiest cultural standards—in keeping with the traditions taught her by Dr. Nathaniel Dett of Hampton Institute, and Dr. John Finley Williamson of the Westminster Choir School.

It is, therefore, no surprise to find her programming two rarely-heard opera arias, from Bellini's "La Sonnambula," and Nicolai's rollicking "The Merry Wives of Windsor," and two remarkably beautiful songs by the American composers Samuel Barber and Paul Bowles.

Miss Maynor's Philharmonic Auditorium concert on Friday evening, November 19, is being presented by Mary Bran, who will also sponsor Miss Maynor in a Long Beach Municipal Auditorium concert this Sunday evening, November 14.

All Mozart Memorial Program Features All Young Soloists

Five outstanding young Los Angeles soloists have been chosen for the all Mozart Memorial program November 26, at Philharmonic auditorium, J. Arthur Lewis, coordinator for the Los Angeles Bureau of Music announced.

Lewis said the program, which will be amemorial to the late L. E. Behymer, will present the 70-voice Concert Chorale under the direction of Roger Wagner.

The major portion of the program will be devoted to the Mozart Requiem. Other features will be the Mozart Serenade for strings and the Mozart Piano Concerto No. 20 in D Minor presented by Robert Hunter, talented young pianist. Both chorus and orchestra will be under the direction of Roger Wagner, supervisor of City Youth Choruses.

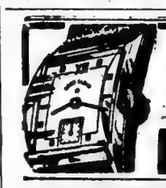
Enola Laws to Sing In Times Hall, N.Y.

Miss Enola Laws, director of the Women's Choir at Shaw University, who is a soprano soloist of note, will appear in concert Sunday, November 14, at Rocky Mount under the auspices of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. She will also sing at Times Hall, New York City, Tuesday night, December 7. Harry Gil-Smythe, head of the Shaw Music Department, will accompany her.

Fisk Concerts Feature Noted Music Names

NASHVILLE—Three musical artists, all of international reputation, will be brought to Nashville this winter under the auspices of the Fisk University Concert Series, it has been announced by the Fisk Music Department.

The Series will be opened by Dorothy Maynor, one of the greatest sopranos of the present day, on Tuesday, November 30. She will be followed by Virgil Fox, brilliant young concert organist, on Tuesday, February 8.



The final event will be a concert by the eminent Hungarian piano virtuoso, Gyorgy Sandor, on Wednesday, March 2. All three programs will take place in Fisk Memorial Chapel.

Shaw Celebrates 83rd Birthday

The 83rd anniversary of Shaw University will be celebrated Friday, November 19, when exercises honoring the memory of its founder will be held. The annual Founder's Day address will be delivered by Dr. Dennis Branch of the class of 1909, a prominent physician of Newport, Tenn. Memorial services at the grave of the founder will begin at 10:30 Friday morning and will be followed by the annual program in Greenleaf auditorium.

Shaw University, the oldest Baptist college for Negroes, was founded in 1865 by Dr. Henry Martin Tupper, after he had been honorably discharged from the Union army. The institution was named after Elijah Shaw, a resident of Wales, Mass., who contributed largely to the erection of its first building. Tribute to these men and to others who have figured in the history of the school will be paid at the exercises.

One World Ensemble Triumphs In Recent Mid-West Concerts

NEW YORK—The One World Ensemble, sensational interracial quartet of Oriental, Caucasian and Negro voices, returned to New York last week after a triumphant tour of the leading concert halls in the Mid West.

The tour which was arranged during United Nations Week saw the group giving concerts at Orchestra Hall in Chicago, Masonic Temple in Cleveland, and Music Hall in Detroit. The Ensemble which consists of a Japanese soprano, Scot-Irish contralto, Negro tenor and English basso, received top praise from critics everywhere.

Stopping off at Wilberforce State College for a concert enroute, the group was not only applauded by students, but they also served as photographic subjects for college camera bugs.

Dr. Charles Wesley, President of Wilberforce University, congratulated Dick Campbell, Manager and Organizer of the group for his "wisdom and courage in assembling such a heterogeneous attraction", the only one of its kind before the public today.

Said Dr. Wesley, "It is a pleasure to see people of all races living, working and playing together harmoniously. Our country, in fact the whole world, needs more of this. We wish you God's speed."

Just Data But What's the Matta With Data on Commission?

What is wrong with the State Athletic Commission? If there is something California can well do without, it is the State Athletc Commission. Or at least a change of faces.

I'm paid to report the facts. And here they are:

In my first attack on Norman Houston (here several editions ago), I was asked rather politely to "lay off." It is only out of respect for my church readers that I can't name the place I told the party requesting the favor to go.

This time, my attack isn't on Norman Houston as an individual, even tho he hasn't guts to fight for his own race in his white-collared job as member of the boxing commission. My attack is on the whole shebang.

A few of the commision employes tried right up to the last minute to kill the Mexican benefit at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night. A benefit scheduled to raise funds for our Mexican cousins to build a community center. Pull up a chair and siddown.

Stanley Paul, who sponsored the affair and had an okay from the City's Social Welfare office, wrote a couple of checks totaling $190 that were returned by the bank marked 'insufficient funds.' Now we all know that constitutes a misdemeanor, even tho the checks were made good. So what happened. His application for a manager's license was turned down by the commission, and the commission (in a last minute effort to kill the show) threatened boxers with suspension if they fought. Referees were ordered off the card, even tho the refs and boxers were ref and boxing for nothing.

As my Uncle Gordon Macker (of The Daily News) pointed out in his col'm of the other day (11-9, if you're keeping score), "this same commission office issues licenses to fighters and managers guilty of criminal acts and crimes; licenses to fighters dishonorably discharged from the armed force for going AWOL, a crime that can call for the death penalty." But to a little joe who applies for a license, he's turned down because he has a small blot on his record. The commission doesn't give-a-damb whether or not Paul's family starve. The Commissioners eat regularly. They have other jobs.

As Uncle Gordon so truthfully stated, "instead of the commission always investigating boxers and managers it's time somebody in Sacramento starts investigating the commission!

The way the commissioners handle their jobs, what a beautiful plot for a comedy motion picture!

As for our Mexican cousins, in spite of the Commission meddling, the show grossed around $15,000.

ON THE TURF

GEORGE RAMSEY

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—After Bumptybump won the feature event at six furlongs last Sunday, the consistent 5-year-old son of Pasha-Fair So became the sprint champion of the border course, beating the same field he did two weeks ago. No wrinles, a former good stake horse , was well supported by the craowd aof niearly six thousand lovers of the spor tof kings to defeat the champion. After breaking on top, Jockey F. Rodriguez took the son of Wise Counsellor-Crows Feet back to nearly last place in the field of seven. Turning into the home stretch, No Wrinkles was last and about five lengths off the leaders, came to the outside for the run to the wire, but the best he could do was to finish fourth, beaten two lengths. The time was 1:11 4/5. The winner paid $4.40.

In the secondary attraction, Timber Tac came off the pase to catch Gold Fortune at the eighth pole to score a handy victory, paying in the mutuels $9.00.

The daily-double combination of Kentyrun, winner of the second race, and Heroine Air, victor of the third, paid $18.20. Both horses were the favorites.

In the fourth race E. O. Johnson, the only Negro jockey in the west, staged one of the best finishes seen here in many months to win on Sir Melody, a longshot. It was one of those Snapper Garrison rides that won the race. Market Street sport fans who backed his mount, sent up a big cheer after the photo showed that he had won. The winner paid $43.00 for two. This was the longest price winner of the day. Six favored horses greeted presiding steward, Judge George Shilling's charmed circle. Jockey R. DeBelloy was the only double winner of the day, scoring on the last two winners, Bumptybump in the feature, and Balaruc in the twelfth. The Quinela rewarded the lucky holder of Balaruc and Bonnie Trace, who finished in that order. $76.80. Again this Sunday general manager Walter C. Marty has arranged another fine program of twelve races, featured by the Reno Handicap at one mile. The opening race will honor the city of Las Vegas with a combination, allowance and claiming, for maidens at six furlongs.

The Pacific Coast will soon see the greatest race horses in years. The champion three-year-old of the year, Citation, will race at Tanforan in the $50,000 handicap and then ship to Santa Anita for the winter season.

Midget Speedsters

HOLLYWOOD, Nov.—Gilmore Stadium, west coast home base of night speedway midget car racing, "ups" its main event distance to 75 scorching laps for the Armistice Night Sweepstakes Thursday night, Nov. 11.

The holiday special race is the longest Gilmore thunderbug battle before the 12th annual Grand Prix, the traditional 150-lap classic that rings down the curtain on the season, Thanksgiving night, Nov. 25.

Bernard Docusen Beats Tex's Champ

Bernard Docusen, rated No. 3 man for Sugar Ray Robinson's title, looked like a champ Tuesday night at the Olympic when he pounded out a fourth round tko over Bert Linan, Welter champ of Texas.

Linam, as game as they come, was literally a punching bag for Big Duke's murderous left hand jabs and right hand smashes. The Duke easily outclassed his heavier foe and had Linam rocking and reeling from bell to bell with dynamite laden punches.

If Babe McCoy, Olympic match-maker, is earnestly searching for a "worthy opponent" for Docusen, why look any further than California Jackie Wilson?

What a fight that would be! And a sell-out house.

Should Be Fite Of The Year If Jackson's Right

In what is expected to be the battle of the year, Maxie Docusen, undefeated young lightweight fighter who looks more like a movie actor than the dangerous little fighter he is, will take on seasoned Bobby Jackson next Tuesday night at the Olympic Auditorium, 18th and Grand, before what is expected to be a sell-out house.

Little Duke, as he is more familiarly known to boxing fans, throws punches a mile a minute, while Jackson (no slouch himself) keeps punching from bell to bell.

They'll probably recommend me to Patton for saying this, but if (IF, I said) Bobby Jackson is in condition and doesn't cut in the early rounds, he'll put a halt to Little Duke's win streak.

Not that we want to see Little Duke blow the duke. He's been a credit to boxing. Clean kid. Good liver. Nice guy. And all that sort of thing, but Jackson is dangerous as a stick of dynamite when exploded.

And he'll explode Tuesday night at the Olympic Auditorium when he meets Maxie Docusen!

Joey Barnum Is A Proud Father

Joey Barnum, probably one of the ring's most beloved little warriors, was passing out the traditional cigars Tuesday to announce the arrival of a baby daughter, Yolanda.

The little doll made her appearance at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday and weighed in a 8 pounds 8 ounces.

This is the first child for Esther and Joey Barnum, and mother and daughter are "doing nicely," while papa Joey is suffering from a stiff arm—the result of pasing out 25 cent cigars!

Milo Savage to Battle Matthews

Willie Bean Beats Dutch Culbertson

Whoever said Willie Bean had skidded should hightail it to the nearest Psychiatrist. Wallopin' Willie walloped Baby Dutch Culbertson around the ring last Monday night at Ocean Park Arena to win a unanimous 10-round decision.

Bean, who tipped the beams at 207, dropped Culbertson for a count of nine in the eighth round.

Culbertson, in losing, looked like a champ and a rematch should prove very profitable and also very interesting.

Both boys are dangerous punchers and superb boxers.

The Sporting Scene

This weeks news is a hodge-podge of rumors. First off is the one making the rounds that Rocky Graziano will back out of his scheduled bout with California Jackie Wilson. If he does, who can blame him? Wilson is one of the ring's most feared fighters. Packs a wallop in both mitts. A gentleman in and out of the ring, and a top boxer.

Most of the leather-slingers who invade the coast invariably evade a match with Wilson. None relish the idea of getting their respective blocks knocked off. 'Taint fair, men. If Wilson is deserving of a bout with some of these so-called top-notchers, then the commission should see that a bout between two WORTHY opponents be arranged, instead of letting some easterner come into our town and build up his rep fighting palookas.

Graziano will meet Fred Apostoli in San Francisco. Apostoli was fighting when Chalky Wright was in knee pants. It is even rumored that Apostoli was one of the waiters at the Lord's supper.

And another thing, what about a bout between Bernard Docusen and Jackie Wilson. Is Docusen afraid to risk his reputation? He's big-time, isn't he? Supposed to be rated up among the big four, isn't he? Then why is he ducking a Wilson bout?

That, chum is the $64 question.

Usually in the sporting world you find guys about as sincere as a Rankin handshake. Of course, this is no indictment against all of the guys in the sporting profession. Some are grand guys. Others I wouldn't trust in a wide open field with a tractor out of gas.

One guy in particular who rates a mention in any column is a sportsman who knows more about the Sporting world and sportsman than most of those who are in it. He's a Physician named Audley R. Mamby, on the staff at Rose-Netta Hospital.

What he doesn't know about sports isn't worth knowing. The other evening in lieu of going to the BVA benefit show out at Earl Carrol's, Dr. Mamby, who hails from Chicago and at present in the division of Graduate Medicine at White Memorial Hosp, dropped by my pad (that's french for Apt.) and we discussed politics and fights.

He likes fights and fighters. Especially Joe Louis and Ray Robinson. Eager to show my learning, I started popping off about Jack Johnson. When Dr. Mamby finished telling me things I didn't know about Johnson and other fighters I was ready to crawl into the hole I have specially reserved for Almeana Davis.

In case you're passing the time of day, drop around to the Rose-Netta hospital (when he isn't busy assisting Dr. King—another wonderful guy!) and discuss Sports with Dr. Mamby.

Bobby Baker, the boxer called to say: "They haven't invented scales fine enough to weight the grain of sincerity to be found on Central avenue!"

Bobby's salty 'cause his manager did the run-out act when Bobby's eyes went baaaaad and he couldn't fight anymore.

More about that next week!

Sports Writer Predicts Doby Will Be Leading the League

Within two years Larry Eugene Doby, Negro outfielder for the Cleveland Indians, will be the best outfielder and hitter in the American League.

This prediction is made by Jim McCulley, leading New York sports writer, in the current issue of BaseBall Digest. McCulley forecasts the Indians' leading world series batter—.318 average—will be the American League's "Stan Musial."

Doby's record with the Indians this year bears out his backers. He batted .300 most of the season, finishing with .301, drove in 65 runs, knocked out a home run in every park (but in Sportsman's in St. Louis) including his homer that won the fourth World Series game.

"Doby is the most improved ball player on our team, for that matter in the whole league," Lou Boureau, Cleveland manager, has declared. "He has been an inspiration to us all."

Thirty-five homers next season is predicted for the 23-year old ball player, who McCulley, New York Daily News staff writer, says will surpass even Joe Louis in public esteem.

Students At LAJC HOLD Men's Week

Members of the Associated Men Students organization at East Los Angeles Junior College are busy making plans for the coming Men's Week activities which begin Monday, November 22, and continue until Wednesday, November 24.

Because of the Thanksgiving vacation Thursday and Friday of that week there will be only a three day celebration.

Two main highlights of the week are scheduled to be the all-men's assembly on Tuesday noon and a Thanksgiving dance Wednesday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Women's week will be held the following week, November 29 to December 3, climaxed by a backwards ball.

Miss Smith Leaves For N.Y. For Special Work

Miss Celestine Smith, formerly YWCA counselor, left this week for New York City, to avail herself of the opportunity of doing specialized work with Mrs. Francis G. Wickes, one of America's outstanding analysts and consulting psychologists.

Miss Smith plans to return to Los Angeles early in the spring to begin her new work as a consulting psychologist and counselor. She has done preparatory psychological work here in Los Angeles with Dr. Fritz Kunkel and Dr. and Mrs. James Kirsch, and her Rorschach work in personality testing has been done with Dr. Bruno Klopfer, a great authority in the field.

Before returning to Los Angeles, Miss Smith will visit in Detroit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. May, Jr. and their two daughters, Yvette Patricia and Celestine Elizabeth. Mr. May is membership and program secretary of Detroit's Antoine St. Branch YMCA.

YMCA Leader Speaks At Lincoln Univ.

Mrs. Leo C. Marsh, associate secretary in division of National Services of the National Council of the YMCA, spoke at the Thursday assembly of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Marsh spoke on "Positive Approaches of Youth in Today's Crisis." He admonished the Lincoln men that college people must have a concern in these crises which are disturbing the world today. He stated that educated people concern themselves too little with such matters and that they look upon politics as something to be left to the other fellow.

Hahn Is Head Of Conference

Councilman Kenneth Hann will head the Los Angeles County Conference On Community Relations for the ensuing year. Mr. Hann, the city's youngest councilman, was elected at the annual meeting of the Conference last Saturday in a session held at the Second Baptist Church, 24th and Griffith.

John Anson Ford and Dr. W. Henry Cooke were elected vice presidents. Cooke and Floyd Covington, local Urban League executive director, served as president and vice president respectively, last year, and Mr. Covington is now a member of the executive committee.

The conference was presided over by Mr. Cooke, who outlined the aims and purposes of the organization. George Thomas, who worked in a similar capacity in Portland, Oregon, and who is a consultant on interracial relations, is the executive secretary of the conference.

The conference comprises some thirty organizations working among themselves for better intercultural relations. Emphasis is placed on civil rights, housing and equal employment rights.

HOSPITALIZED — James Cooper, a local mechanic, formerly of New Orleans, underwent an operation at General Hospital yesterday (Wednesday), and he is expected to recover and be out of the hospital soon.

Since World War II, the U. S. automotive industry has added 34 new plants and thousands of new machines and tools to its facilities.

VD Showing Up But Old Cases Still Rampant

Syphilis is on the downgrade in Los Angeles, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said this week.

"Present indications are that this year's incidence will be about 20 per cent lower than that for 1947, which itself had dropped 14 per cent from 1946," Dr. Uhl declared.

The drop is based on the number of patients whose diseases were acquired in the last two years and are, because of this, considered to be in the early stages, he explained.

More than two new cases of syphilis are now being reported every day, but there are more than fourteen cases found daily which are in the later stages of the disease, he added.

The drop in new cases, he felt, is due to a combination of "more stabilized peacetime conditions," increased local services for combatting VD, and fewer military contacts than in previous years.

"There are hundreds of old cases which are unknown even to their victims who have not had periodic physical examinations. These, of course, represent potential physical and mental breakdown patients unless they have competent medical attention to cure their syphilis now," Dr. Uhl said.

Classes in restaurant sanitation for those people who serve the public's meals are scheduled for every community in Los Angeles county according to Paul Ballinger, director of the bureau of sanitation for the Los Angeles county health department, and owners and managers of public eating places will be invited to attend conferences to formulate plans for the institutes in each area.

Teachers Hear Dr. Martin in Workshop Talk

Okmulgee, Oklahoma — Sixty-six teachers representing twenty-eight schools in Okmulgee County attended a two-day workshop here last week.

The idea of the workshop grew out of the desire of Mrs. Mabel C. Haygood, Jeanes Supervisor of the County, to provide an opportunity for in-service teachers to gain insight in defining their problems and in proposing courses of action that might be employed in solving these problems.

Among those present was Dr. W. H. Martin who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Martin of Pasadena, California.

A product of the Pasadena City Schools, he holds Ph.D. from Ohio State University. He is recognized as a specialist in Teacher Education.

NAACP Campaign In Final Month

With a little more than a month to go, the annual membership campaign of the NAACP is being accelerated. The campaign workers will meet tonight (Thursday) at headquarters, 1105 E. Vernon Avenue to report all unused campaign material.

Sunday is NAACP Day at St. Pauls Baptist Church, the pastor of which is the Rev. John L. Branham. Dr. W. M. Small of New Light Baptist Church will sponsor NAACP Day in his church this Sunday also.

Workers are being asked to step up their production so that the closing weeks of the drive will offset the slowness with which it has been proceeding thus far.

Truman Must Act Now Says Randolph

"Upon a basis of the nation-wide returns in the Presidential Election unmistakably expressing the sentiment and will of the people on the issues discussed during the campaign, a mandate has been given to President Truman and the Congress to abolish segregation in the armed forces and enact FEPC legislation and resolutely push through Congress the Civil Rights Program, violently condemned and resisted by Thurmond's States' Rights Party," A. Philip Randolph, International President of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, stated in his headquarters in New York City, following the election.

HPA MEETS FRIDAY

The Home Protective Association will meet tomorrow (Friday) evening, November 19, at 8 p.m. in the apartment of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, 4073 South Central avenue.

Mrs. Bass is the founder and president of the HPA, which was organized to fight restrictive covenants, especially the case of the Henry Laws family. That case has been settled satisfactorily, and the United States Supreme Court has decided restrictive covenants are illegal, but there still seems much work to be done along the line of seeing that the law is enforced. All interested are urged to come to the meeting tomorrow night.

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

On November 19, 1863, Abraham Lincoln delivered that immortal masterpiece in English literature, his Gettysburg Address. These are his words:

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great Civil War, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting-place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion. That we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain. That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

In commemorating the 85th anniversary of the occasion of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, in the light of our present obligations to Lincoln and all who believe that our nation can not survive half-slave and half-free, we should at this time rededicate ourselves to the proposition that all men are created equal.

We have come a long way since Abraham Lincoln uttered those words of advice to a nation in the process of development, but in the meantime engaged in a bloody war to decide whether or not it should build a free nation or one in which human beings should hold in bondage other human beings as chattle slaves.

The issue was settled on the side of the ledger for freedom.

Since that struggle waged in our native land, bathed in the blood of our people for freedom's cause, we have fought other wars to preserve that freedom and to establish peace for ourselves and for all the appressed everywhere.

It seems that after some eighty-five years since this pronouncement was made by Lincoln we have detracted rather than consecrated our efforts for the complete establishment of that freedom promised to all Americans, especially those emancipated, who were the inspiration back of the

Home Owner Hit In South Gate By Prejudice

In spite of the fact that the United States Supreme Court has decided that restrictive covenants are a violation of the rights of American citizens, residents of South Gate met last week to circumvent this decision some way and prevent a Negro who bought a home there from bringing his family into the home there from bringing his family into the home and living there.

The property involved is located in the vicinity of Cypress and Mt. View avenues. The original owner is said to have sold it to a man who in turn sold it to a Negro. The name of the Negro could not be ascertained, but the property is now in escrow.

South Gate leaders are planning to fight not only this sale, but also any other which may involve non-Caucasians. It has been a 25-year policy in that little city of white supremists to permit no Negro to live within its gates. City Attorney Woodworth says that the restrictive

Wallace Ready For Party Call

CHICAGO — Henry Wallace is willing to head the Progressive party ticket again in 1952, if by so doing he will be serving the best interests of the party.

Wallace made that announcement in an interview following the two-day national conference of the party here last week-end.

He will run in 1952, Wallace said, "if it would be the best thing for the party."

DR. GARDNER TAYLOR, nationally-known pastor of the Concord Baptist Church of Christ in Brooklyn, New York will address the fourteenth annual Young People's Congress of the Western Baptist State Convention of California at the Calvary Baptist Church in Santa Monica. CALIFORNIA EAGLE UNDER FIRE IN P.O. LOYALTY CHECK-UP

(Eagle Staff Report)

The possibility that many innocent citizens may be caught in the Federal government loyalty test net was indicated by what happened this week in the local Post Office Department.

Among the fourteen persons cited to prove they are loyal Americans are eleven Negroes, two white men, and one American of Mexican descent. These individuals are known to be the anti-Jimcro and pro-labor. Under President Truman's loyalty order (Executive Order 9835) they are threatened with removal from the government payroll, not because of any act of disloyalty to the government or neglect of duty, but it appears mainly because they have been outspoken and militant in their opposition to racial discrimination and unfair labor practices.

The three men comprising the Postal Department's Loyalty Board (all white) are E. B. Jackson, from Georgia, chairman; Hugh E. Alford, of Mississippi; and Roy C. Frank, of Washington.

This unholy trinity of the Federal government, preferred the charges against the fourteen now awaiting trial.

A Caliofrnia Eagle representative has tried in vain to find out what specific charges have been made and substantiated by corroborated evidence that would warrant the removal of these men from service in the local Federal Post Office Department.

It was discovered that one of the white men charged with disloyalty had been unusually friendly with Negroes, having joined and taken an active part in the National Alliance of Postal Employees, an organization dedicated to the cause of combatting Jimcro and the hate and discrimination directed against all minorities and people because of their race, religion, or nationality.

One of the Negroes who is being made a victim of the purge is Homer Garrott. Mr. Garrott who grew to manhood in this community, where he is outstanding in his service to the community organizations, such as church, civic, and cultural—has been hailed as one of the active members of the Postal Alliance. He has fought a long, tough battle against promotional discrimination and racial bias in the local Post Office Department.

In his effort to discourage such undemocratic practices in a Federal government set-up he often consulted and sought the support and advice of the leaders in the community—the head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored

Negro Women in Protest Over Judge Matthews Appointment

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Council of Negro Women in a letter to the members of the U. S. Civil Service Commission protested the appointment of Judge Annabel Matthews to the recently created Fair Employment Practice Committee and requested her removal therefrom. A copy of the letter was sent to President Harry S. Truman.

In a statement made by Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder-president of the council, upon hearing of the appointment of Judge Matthews to the Commission and upon review of her actions in the case of Mrs. Mary Church Terrell and the Washington Branch of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Bethune said:

"At a time when the world is searching for the basis of human understanding, America cannot afford to permit one distracting element to upset the democratic course we are now pursuing. I feel that all appointees to important boards and agencies should have the spirit and fair play to all regardless of race, creed or color. Only then can we effect a lasting peace and harmony among all men."

National CIO Conventions Due

PORTLAND—National CIO will convene here beginning November 22. James Carey, national secretary, here to make final arrangements for the convention, indicated that repeal of Taft-Hartley Act would be high on the agenda.

Carey did not give any indication of what action would be taken to unite CIO forces badly split by the recent elections. It is reported that out of the convention will come an appeal for all unions that have seceded from local councils to return and unite for the purpose of writing a new set of regulations after discussion and agreement between labor and management.

Citizens Meet To Protest Burns Beating

The Citizens Action Committee will hold a meeting at Beckie Berg's Park Manor, 607 S. Western in Los Angeles, protesting the ever present wave of police brutality in Los Angeles. Committee spokesmen said, "The Negroes and Mexican Americans are fed up with the police who are a law unto themselves, acting with the blessings of Mayor Fletcher Bowron.

HAZEL SCOTT

HAZEL SCOTT REFUSES A SEGREGATED CONCERT

AUSTIN, Texas—Concert pianist Hazel Scott refused to play an engagement here Monday night as a protest against segregation. Miss Scott was adamant in her refusal to play despite a sold-out house of 7000.

Slated for an appearance on the University of Texas Campus under the sponsorship of the University's cultural entertainment committee Miss Scott had come to Austin with the understanding she would stay at the Halstead House, a cooperative dormitory on the campus grounds. Instead she went to the home of a Negro dentist here.

Miss Scott who is the wife of Representative Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., of New York, recently elected to his third term in the House, arrived here with a painful sinus headache. When she learned Negro members of the audience were to sit in a segregated section of the hall, she declined to go on.

"What justification," she asked, "can anyone have who comes to hear me and then objects to sitting next to another Negro?"

Pointing out that she had played concerts in the South before and had never encountered segregation, Miss Scott revealed she had just completed an engagement in Rolla, Missouri, and that she was going to New Orleans for a concert.

Rated as one of the outstanding concert pianists in the field, Miss Scott has a repertoire that ranges from Bach to Boogie Woogie.

Paul Robeson Heads Memorial Committee For Dave Hedley

Launching of the David Hedley Memorial Fund has been announced by the California Labor School. A national committee, with Paul Robeson as Chairman, will conduct the drive in various states, where Hedley was known and loved.

Over the signature of Julian Hicks, Director of the Los Angeles Division of the California Labor School, announcements of the drive have gone to hundreds of former students and friends of the school.

In appealing for funds to establish the school in a David Hedley Memorial Building, the letter states "we do not ask you to honor Dave, his life has honored him beyond our power to add or detract. We ask you to keep him alive. For this we must have the dollars, the tens of dollars and the hundreds, of every progressive person who recognizes the vital need for education of the whole mass of the people."

Volunteer assistants are vitally needed for the school building program. Those who want to join in strengthening and extending the school should call at 112 West 9th Street, Room 812, or phone Madison 9-1231.

Proposition 4 Sponsor Hits Warren Action

"The majority of the people of California have apparently expressed their approval of Proposition 4, Aged and Blind Aid," George H. McLain, sponsor of the pension amendment, pointed out today.

"In the face of efforts to upset the democratic processes and guaranteed constitutional rights of the people, it seems strange that the Governor has not called in representatives of both sides of the question.

"Instead, he appears to be consulting only with a few state officials, such as State Finance Director James S. Dean and Charles M. Wollenberg, who will be removed as state welfare director by Proposition 4. These men have opposed the Aged and Blind Aid measure from the start, and could not be reasonably expected to be sympathetic now.

"The proponents of Proposition 4 are ready now as they always have been to consult with the Governor or anyone in authority," McLain emphasized. "We welcome any consultations which will result in benefit to the people of California."

Lincoln Prof. to Edit Teachers Journal

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Among the officers elected at the recent meeting of the State Teachers Association, held in Kansas City, Mo., was M. C. Langford, who will serve as editor of the Journal of Education official organ of the organization. Mr. Langford is assistant professor of education at Lincoln University.

JOSEPH E. FORD

Fords, of New York, Visit LA Friends

Joseph E. Ford, of New York City, who flew to Los Angeles this Week to visit his brother, Rev. E. Ford and other relatives, is avorably impressed with this western metropolis.

Mr. Ford holds many important positions in his home city. He is a member of the Trustee Board of the great Abyssinian Baptist Church, secretary to Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., a member and advisor of the 12th District Democratic organization; and chief examiner of the borough of Manhattan.

Mr. Ford is accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Caruth Ford. They were guests of the Rev. Clayton D. Russell at the morning service of the People's Independent Church last Sunday. Their stay in Los Angeles will be brief, but indefinite, say the Fords.

NAM Wants 119,457 Employees Laid Off

The National Association of Manufacturers have advanced a proposal for the removal of 119,457 employees from the Federal pay-roll to effect a saving of $310,000,000.

According to Lane D. Webber, Los Angeles chairman of the association's government spending committee, there are at least 500,000 Federal employees who are unnecessary.

Weber is vice-president of the Southern California Edison Company.

The SPEAKER

Gettysburg address.

Lincoln asked that those who fought for freedom should not have died in vain.

A good many people feel, and justifiably, that the present state of this nation is in serious need of a reaffirmation of our faith in the principles of democracy.

The nations of the world had roles in the two world war dramas, hear on the radios and through our newspapers, glowing words of praise of our own democratic way of life which insures freedom and justice for all. Our interference in other government's internal affairs, and our demands for the raising of iron curtains, has caused others to take a closer view of what happens behind our national curtain.

Now, they are asking us: What do you mean by the statement, "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people"?

Lincoln said that such a government shall not perish from the earth. Are we making Lincoln's words come true?

It seems to me that we are moving in the opposite direction. The benefits to us, or our posterity, from two world wars have been making the rich, richer, and the poor, poorer. Instead of strengthening the bulwarks of the freedom, Lincoln intended we should establish, we have disintegrated that freedom by allowing such termites as racial, religious, and national discrimination to undermine the foundation of that structure established by the forefathers of our country.

Despite the fact that the Americans of African descent who by the same process that keeps the poor working people victims of exploitation by the rich bosses, are 85 years after their emancipation, the targets for racial hatred, restrictive covenants, the KKK, lynchings, poll tax, and the lack of equal opportunities for education and employment.

The American Negroes' record of loyalty to the government that once tolerated slavery was a hundred per cent good, during even that period when his master left him in charge of his farm and his family, while he, the master, joined the Southern army and fought to keep slavery intact, is no guarantee against an attack now being made specifically against Negroes by the bogus loyalty tests, especially in the Federal government.

Freedom is the heritage of all who are willing to fight for it, no matter what the color of his skin or hair or eyes.

Only such an American as that described in Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and united behind a leadership dedicated to the cause of peace in our world and peace with the other great powers, can achieve the objectives set forth by Lincoln, in the Bill of Rights, and the Four Freedoms.

This is the type of America that guarantees to the Negro and to the Common Man of whatever race or clime that freedom prescribed by our forefathers when they wrote the constitution.

Company Unionism

According to reports, the General Electric Co. together with the Atomic Energy Commission, under the pretext of "national security," is now engaged in a conspiracy to return the workers of GE to the company unionism of the twenties.

Repeal Is Not A Certainty

(Cal. Eagle Washington Bureau)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Leaders of organized labor who see in the re-election of President Truman the indubitable possibility of outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law, are disturbed by a survey which shows a 50 to 46 majority in the Senate against outright repeal.

Union leaders who supported Truman have been confident that they would have clear sailing, but it is indicated that they will have to fight for every point they gain.

In the House, the horizon is brighter, but the hurdle in the Senate is higher than labor leaders are willing to admit. Thirteen Dixiecrats are among the 15 Democrats who voted to override the president's veto. There is no indication they will change and only one of the fifteen has expressed an opinion that Taft-Hartley Act should be modified.

The changes of modification are good, but how satisfactory modification will be to labor is problematical. Truman campaigned on outright repeal, and it will take tremendous pressure to get both the House and Senate behind him.

Labor, badly disunited over the campaign, shows little tendency to close ranks behind a program to repeal Taft-Hartley Act. The wounds made by the recent election campaign are not healing and observers point out that red-baiting within the unions themselves is continuing with sufficient strength to indicate that the anti-Communist affidavit will remain in whatever labor law finally comes out of the hopper.

Father and Son Banquet at YM

Over 200 Y.M.C.A. boys and their Dads will gather at Jefferson High, tonight (Thursday) at seven o'clock for fun and fellowship at the forty-second Annual Father and Son Banquet. A big array of screen and radio stars, youth talent, music and stunts has been arranged for entertaining the group.

Headlining the program will be Frank Bull of radio fame and an ardent supporter of youth serving agencies.

Outstanding in youth talent will be seventeen-year-old Elzie Emanuel, youthful writer and poet, who is the nephew of Hattie McDaniel, screen star and star of the Beulah Show heard nightly on the radio.

The affair is being sponsored this year by the "Y" Mother's Club with prexy Evelyn Flood at the helm. Doing yeoman service is the Dining Car Employees local 582. Due chiefly to the efforts of Claude McGuinn, the union is furnishing experienced dining car chefs to prepare the banquet.

This gala event is open to any boy and his dad or sponsor who would like to attend. A few reservations are still available and may be obtained by calling the "Y".

Confessed Spy Bentley Found

The question about 'who's got Bentley' was answered this week when it was revealed by the New York Daily News that Elizabeth Bentley, self-styled ex-communist spy ring figure, was in retreat receiving instruction in the Catholic faith.

According to the report, the confessed betrayer of her country's security who has been sought for service in a libel suit growing out of charges she made before a Congressional committee and later repeated on a radio-television broadcast, is under the sponsorship of Msgr. Fulton Sheen.

Louis Budenz, former editor of the Communist Daily World, who recanted and returned to the Catholic faith, will act as godfather for Miss Bentley when she is received in the Catholic faith.

New Savings and Loan League

WASHINGTON — Representatives from 7 of the 12 building, savings and loan associations owned and operated by Negroes, with aggregate assets of close to $5,000,000, founded the American Savings and Loan League during a two-day conference held here last Friday and Saturday. H. A. Howard, president and general manager for the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles, was unanimously elected president of the new organization.

Emmer Martin Lancaster, special adviser on Negro affairs for the United States Department of Commerce, initiated the conference. Sessions were held at the Commerce Department.

Proposal for the organization had come from Mr. Howard in an address made before a business conference sponsored by the Commerce Department last spring. He saw that common problems confronting established associations, and groups seeking to organize, needed a common approach.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer addressed the conference and gave the project his official blessings. Dr. Frank Horne and Dr. Booker McGraw, assistants to the administrator for the Housing and Home Finance Administration, told the group also of the special need they can meet through their joint effort.

C. C. Spaulding, dean of Negro finance and president of the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Durham, a participant in the sessions, outlined the growth of the Durham financial center and the five corporations with $30,000,000 in assets which he heads.

He told of the unwillingness of white companies to provide insurance, bonding and other financial services to Negroes which led to the establishment of his firms. He lauded the effort of Negro savings and loan association people to set up the American League, and pledged his cooperation for its success.

The president of the league is a business and civic leader on the West Coast. He is also director of Phi Beta Sigma's "Bigger and Better Business" project.

Other officers elected were: Vice-presidents, William R. Hudgins, Carver Savings and Loan, New York City; Arthur M. Simmons, Home Federal Savings and Loan, Detroit; J. Henry Smith, Tuskegee Savings and Loan, Tuskegee; secretary - treasurer, Maurice E. Collette, Berkley Citizens Mutual Building and Loan, Norfolk; and assistant secretary-treasurer, Wilbur Halyard, Columbia Savings and Loan, Milwaukee.

Loyalty Oath Freely Given Sadly Taken

Los Angeles County school employees who voluntarily put their Americanism down on paper, discovered this week that even that is not enough.

Although the 123 state-paid employees signed a loyalty oath for the County as an act of super-patriotism, the Board of Supervisors received the affirmations with an official grumble and asked where the heck were the answers to the questions about those 142 organizations that Jack Tenney says are un-American.

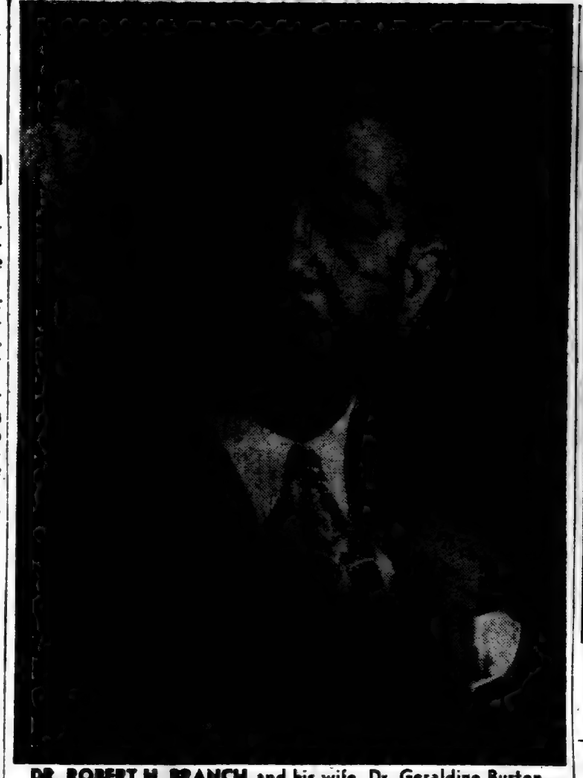
Supervisors Roger Jessup and Raymond Darby told Dr. Trillingham (school superintendent who submitted the oaths) it would have been so much nicer if they had just signed the regular affidavit prepared by the county.

CIO Factions Plan Battle At Convention

PORTLAND, Ore.—The CIO national convention opening here next week will witness a stiff battle between left and right-wing factions. Observers believe that national leaders, flushed by their victory with Truman, will put the pressure on the boys who didn't go along.

Testing ground of the things to come will be the tiff with the New York CIO Council which will be heightened when the three-man board appointed by President Phil Murray reports.

Should the right-wingers win the New York scrap, they are expected to go after the California Council. High on the agenda also, is the matter of jurisdictional strife, which grows out of raids by right-wing forces on left-wing locals.



Seek Aid for Injunction Ten

Appeals are being made by the Committee to Aid the Hollywood Injunction Victims, five of whom must go to jail within the next 10 days for violating an injunction against picketing.

Thirty-five men were originally arrested in the case. Twenty-eight were fined, two dismissed, and the five sentenced to from six months to a year.

Appeals have been taken in their cases and the United States Supreme Court refused to consider the case. The plan now is to resort to habeas corpus proceedings after the men have started their jail terms.

Contributions may be sent to Edward Mussa, 2259 Micheltorena, Los Angeles 26.

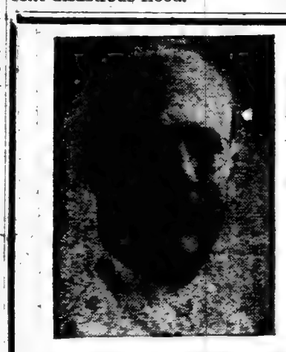
Eastside Chest Workers Near Half-Way Mark in Fund Drive

The Eastside's Community Chest Volunteers have raised $4,378.12 of their $10,721 goal and plan to reach their goal by November 23, when they will meet with all other Red Feather workers at noon in the Biltmore Bowl for the Central Report Rally.

Helping the effort in spectacular fashion, Mrs. Frances Hoxie, 177 East 45th street, this week reached 132 per cent of her assigned quota. This makes her the first major on the Eastside to go "over the top." She is in Mrs. Claudia Munford's division.

The Pace Setters, as the Eastside Red Feather organization calls itself, under the leadership of Mrs. Josephine Brown, request all citizens of the Eastside to listen to the "Red Feather story" when the door to door volunteer comes around, then give what your conscience dictates.

Next report meeting before the Central Rally at the Biltmore will be held at noon tomorrow November 19, at the Casbah 8401 South Figueroa Street.



Mrs. Brown urged all to give for the 159th health, welfare and youth services of the Chest, and stated that if anyone wanted to bring their donation to headquarters, they are located at 457 Central Avenue or they could phone Adams 3-4186 and a volunteer will pick it up.

NAACP Charges Intimidation Used On Government Workers

NEW YORK—Charging that officials in certain government agencies are using the President's loyalty order as an instrument for intimidating federal employees who oppose discrimination and segregation, Walter White, NAACP secretary, announced a decision by the Association's Board of Directors to defend accused federal workers in cases where the charges are based on race or color, membership or activity in the NAACP, or membership or activity in any coordinating group approved by the Association's national office.

The board decision, embodied in a resolution passed at its regular monthly meeting on November 8, followed reports that charges of disloyalty had been brought against Negro postal and aother government employees in eight cities. In Cleveland alone 20 postal workers have been brought up on charges. Other cities include Chicago, New York, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore.

Among the accused are "at least five nationally known colored government workers" whose loyalty has been questioned on "the basis of information assembled by the House Un-American Activities Committee and other questionable sources." If the present trend continues, the resolution asserts, "not one of the more than 150,000 colored government employees throughout the country will be safe."

Equal Means Less for All To Virginians

NEW YORK—Action of the King George County (Virginia) school officials removing chemistry, physics, biology and geometry from the curriculum of white high schools in a move to "equalize" educational opportunities was denounced as a "vicious device, calculated to incite race hatred."

The move was made in response to a court order to equalize school facilities in the county after attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had won a suit to compel the county to provide facilities for Negro children equal to those offered white boys and girls.

Ingrams Wait Trial, Get Adequate Care

AMERICUS, Ga.—J. B. Dorsey, president of the Americus, Ga., branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, gave assurance this week that the family of Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram is being adequately cared for by the NAACP. Mrs. Ingram and her two teen-age sons are now under sentence of life imprisonment following their conviction by an all-white jury in the self-defense slaying of John E. Stratford, a white neighbor.

Rabbitburgers Are One Horse And One Rabbit

An identification number issued by the Los Angeles county health department must be stamped on all rabbits slaughtered for sale in the unincorporated areas of the county and on any rabbits offered for sale in these areas, according to county ordinance number 5211, which came into effect last week.

In addition to the number assigned to each rabbit slaughter house to which a permit has been issued, the letters "L.A. Co. H.D." must also appear on the stamp.

It is also unlawful for purveyors of rabbits to have in their possession slaughtered rabbits which have not been stamped.

Help Wanted, Not You Discussed by Wixman

Erskine Hawkins Clebrates Tenth Birthday With Ork

NEW YORK CITY — With the end of his current Savoy Ballroom engagement in sight, Bandleader Erskine Hawkins was the guest of honor the other evening at a small party to toast his ten years as th emost popular orchestra to appear at the famous Harlem music mecca. Savoy manager Charles Buchanan presented the Twentieth Century Gabriel with a miniature gold trumpet especially designed for the occasion by the noted Art Harris.

Commenting on the presentation, manager Buchanan said, "We have played many orchestras at the Savoy Ballroom and have been careful to choose only the top organizations to make constant appearances. Of all the bands who have played at this ballroom, the Erskine Hawkins "Tuxedo Junction" band has made the most appearances. The reason for this is simple, the audiences at the Savoy have consistently requested the return of the Hawkins orchestra. And so we have repeatedly played them."

Parnell Thomas Fraud Trial Scheduled for January 10

WASHINGTON — The trial of Representative J. Parnell Thomas on charges of fraud and payroll padding has been set for January 10. Meanwhile, the chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee is free on $1,000 bail.

He was fingerprinted and photographed at the U. S. Marshal's office here, a process that left him red-faced and visibly embarrassed.

Thomas was indicted a week ago on four counts of attempted fraud through the device of taking for his own use salaries of employees who never really worked for him.

Conviction on all four counts carry a possible penalty of 32 years in jail and $40,000 in fines. His former secretary, Miss Helen Campbell, was indicted on one of four counts.

In his requested appearance before the Grand Jury, Thomas refused to testify on the grounds that he might incriminate himself, a defense submitted by witnesses before his Activities committee, and one for the use of which, he sought and obtained contempt citations against them.

Columnist Drew Pearson brought out the charges that, following investigation by the FBI, resulted in the indictments. Thomas will be seated in the 81st Congress one week before his trial opens, but he will lose his chairmanship of the Un-American Committee because of the Democratic landslide.

Fred Chance Makes Good in U. S. Navy

Fred Lawrence Chance, son of Mrs. Mary Brown Chance, 1780 East 109th place, entered the U. S. naval training station at San Diego, several months ago, to prepare for service in the U.S. Navy. As a result of diligent application, exemplary conduct, and a high sense of duty this young man completed his preliminary training course in a very brief time, and was given the rank of petty officer at the same time he received his certificate. He was the only Negro in his particular group to earn this rating.

FRED CHANCE

Fred attributes his success not only to the careful training of his mother, but also to Prof. Charles L. Eason, whose helpful counsel in the day school and in the Hamilton Church school guided him over difficult situations and inspired in him an ambition to push ahead. He also warmly praises Mr. Lippi, one of his teachers at Jordan High school, who was never too busy to help and encourage him.

Fred's friends are proud of him. For it is upon young people of his type that the Negro race must depend for a better and brighter day.

36th St. PTA Paper Drive

The regular meeting of the 36th Street School PTA was held at the school Tuesday of last week. Mrs. George Venable, membership chairman, announced the winding up of the membership drive with a total of 423 members. Miss Birdie Lee Bright's A6, B6 class brought in 200 members. The highest number of any class in the school.

Mrs. Cecil McLinn, president, announced a paper drive to be held November 19. She asks that contributors bring tied bundles of papers to the school on this date.

Keep Your Dog On His Leash

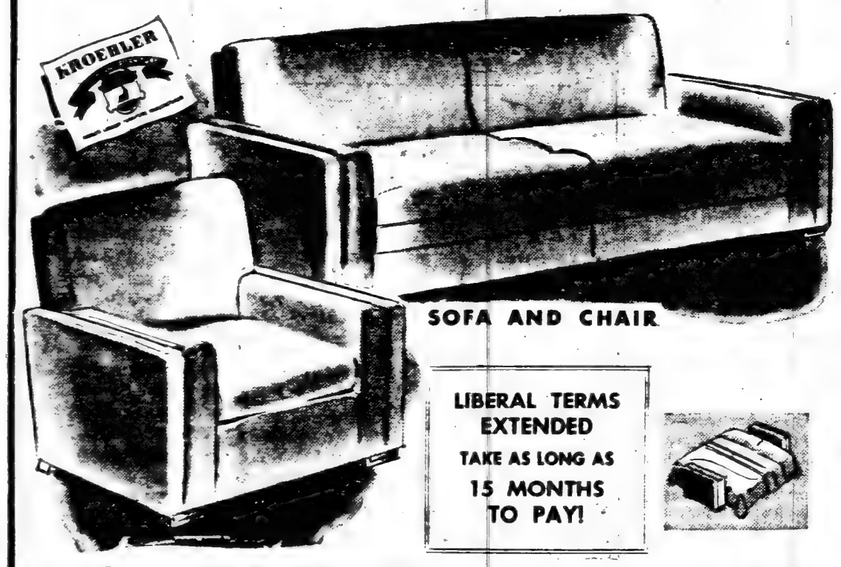
city leash law has brought a

Increasing violations of the warning to Los Angeles dog owners today from Richard D. Bonner, general manager of the Animal Regulation department.

Bonner said all dogs in the city must be kept on a leash while off the owner's premises. Violation of this ordinance is a misdemeanor, he said, and animal regulation inspectors have been instructed to enforce its provisions.

Bandleader Bostic Designs Own Home

NEW YORK—Earl Bostic, the alto playing maestro, will turn interior decorator next week when he takes a seven-day holiday to personally supervise the furnishing of his recently purchased home in Addesleigh Park, Long Island.



The Bostics purchased the showplace more than two months ago but the maestro delayed moving into the "dream house" until after his recent country-wide tour with his band. It was his plan to personally assist the interior decorators in arranging everything "just as he wanted." Bostic spent over $6,000 for the furnishings in the new home.

Tax collections in California topped $4.5 billion in fiscal 1948, only slightly under the $4.6 billion all-time and war-time high for fiscal 1945, and ten times as much as the $449 million collected in 1933.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Gerald L. K. Smith Comes to Town

Last week North Hollywood was treated to a bill poster shower.

A ten by fourteen poster printed in three colors announced the coming of Gerald L. K. Smith to Hollywood last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Smith, the poster said, would speak on, these topics: "A Challenge to Dewey. The Un-American Activities Committee should come to Hollywood at once. California's Leading Traitors in all Realms of Activities. Will There be War with Russia? The 200,000 Pro-Communists in the Government must be Fired at once. What has Truman been Hiding? Return the Atom Bomb to the Military. Rebuild Nationalism. Restore Restrictive Covenants by Constitutional Amendment. Outlaw the Communist Party. Investigate Henry Wallace. Remove Eleanor Roosevelt from the Payroll of the Government. Withdraw from the United Nations and Remove it from American Soil. Deport Non-Citizens such as Charlie Chaplin who Refuses to Become a Citizen. Releasce Housing Units Occupied by Aliens in order that they may be Occupied by Veterans and Other Americans."

Mr. Smith did speak last Sunday afternoon in the auditorium of the Hollywood High School, a building that belongs to the people of Los Angeles.

In view of all this, it sems strange that Henry Wallace was forbidden to speak in the Hollywood Bowl, in the interests of those same people. And that groups of the Independent Progressive Party who were working for the welfare of the people of Los Angeles, were not allowed to use any school building for any of their meetings.

How can anyone justify these discriminations, not on account of race, of course, but on account of the greater good for the greater number of people, rather than the greatest good for only a few?

The election just held proves beyond doubt that the American people are waking up. They will not accept fascism. Not if they know it. Then why do we submit to these injustices? Why do we permit a pronounced pro-Fascist like Gerald L. K. Smith to harangue an audience of Americans against all the things that decent Americans stand for?

We need to arouse ourselves, not only on election day, but we must be wide awake and on the watch on all accasions in every day of the year, lest our dearly bought freedom be taken from us by trickery, while we sleep.

Free Elections

We boast so much about our free elections. And we can.

Over in Spain the Franco government will have a "free election" next Sunday. Some 6,000,000 Spaniards will vote for candidates for membership in the municipal councils in the cities of Spain. But they will elect only one-third of the membership. The second third will be named by the government controlled employer-labor organization. And the final third will be chosen by the two-thirds already elected on December 5.

Only the heads of families will be allowed to vote. The candidates were announced only last Monday, so that there will be no political campaigning such as we habe in the United States. Any attack against the Franco government is illegal. With all this you cannot be surprised that there is "an obvious lack of interest among the people and at least a hesitancy on the part of prospective candidates to file."

Here in the United States of America, everything at election time is open, free, and above board. That is, it is legally so. The peculiar quirks and the outright cheating, at times, are not due to the lack of laws to protect the voters. This is largely due to the voters themselves, because of the "obvious lack of interest among the people."

In this last election in the U. S. there were a potential 95,000,000 people who could have voted. Only about half of these did. What can we say then to the people of Europe, if their governments seem to be in a backward condition, if we here in free America take so little interest in our government, that only half of us take the trouble to do anything at all getting a better one?

We still have free elections in the U.S.A. But we may not some day, if we continue to sleep on the job as we have been doing.

What Price Loyalty?

Because it led a fight in the early days against the Ku Klux Klan when that hooded terrorist organization paraded in the streets of Los Angeles with the avowed purpose of intimidating Negro residents, and because it lashed out against a new uprising of property restrictions aimed specifically at Negroes and Jews back in 1944, and because it fearlessly attacks sin in high places . . . those sins against individuals because of their color or race . . . the California Eagle now becomes the target of a Post Office three-man investigation set up to probe into the records of certain postal employees to prove that carefully selected persons are disloyal to the government and enemies of our American way of life.

For the most part the men from the Post Office on trial, one of whom has been a reliable Federal employee for 26 years, are those, white and Negro, who contend for free and equal treatment in such matters as wages, hours, and promotions in the Post Office.

The California Eagle, the one community newspaper that has risked losing popularity and business by backing citizens who take such an attitude, has long since concluded that it is not a Communist threat pulling at the heart strings of the slave-drivers that is responsible for this loyalty purge, but the fear of losing their power and grip on the poor and unprotected people whom, by such tactics, they keep divided and weak.

It was The California Eagle that circulated petitions for signatures demanding the establishment of a sub-station on the Eastside which finally materialized in Station K on Vernon avenue.

We share the opinion of the employees under questioning, one of whom said he realized that the government has to do a thorough job of screening for the purpose of protecting the collectible interests of us all.

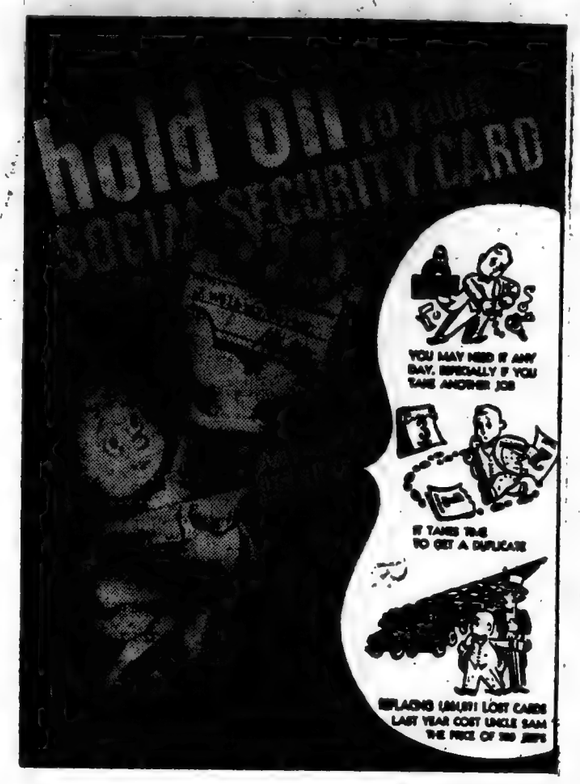
But why are they hounding the colored personnel on a basis of about ten to one? And why this unorthodox attack and questioning about The California Eagle?

Now we contend that the hate mongers, the racists and the Uncle Toms in the Post Office and subsidized newspapers are not on the list for questioning.

The intelligent, decent workers in the Post Office and everywhere else should have a right to demand the status that goes with the dignity of labor, the human rights of an individual and the sacredness of the human personality. And a newspaper is derelict in its duty when it fails to expose the cause that is responsible for racial bias and Jimcro practices in the government.

Colossal Nerve

Of all the colossal nerve! anyone with the slightest trend toward slang will say concerning the attempt of South Gate to prevent a Negro family moving into their snug little town.



The entire city is up in arms against it. Yet the Negro bought the home legally. Even the city attorney admits that. And the city council and city clerk and all the city officials who are attempting to keep their town lily white, admit there is nothing legal anyone can do.

So—what do these Simon pure American citizens do? If they can't get rid of the Negro family legally, they're going to get rid of them illegally. Use trickery. Anything to get them to move out.

"We can take the case to court," said City Clerk Peiffer, "and although the courts would have to decide against us, since the United States Supreme Court has decided that restrictive covenants cannot be enforced, we could nevertheless drag the case out so long, perhaps years, until those Negroes would get so tired they'd leave themselves."

We don't know the name of that Negro family. But we believe the man who purchased that property is made of different metal than to run at the first sign of a controversy. We believe he and his family will stand firm and strong for their rights as American citizens. Stand until at last the white supremacists will grow tired and ashamed of their un-American spirit, and will themselves leave the battleground.

If colossal nerve is used to oust a family from their home, that family can use a little bit of the same commodity to stay put where they are.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Under the caption, "Berlin Dreads the Winter," in a recent edition of the NEW REPUBLIC, Percy Winner shows that the citizens of Berlin, at least those whom he knows, are still very much Nazi, still believers in the superiority of the German People. A cartoon pictures an old granfather showing his little grandson a drawing of Hitler, while magazines with the swastika marked prominently upon them, lie on the stand at his elbow.

"I have talked to dozens of Germans," said Mr. Winner, "including many who work for the Americans, and not a single one (except for the Communists) failed to say in one way or another that things were better under Hitler. Again and again I have heard the formula, 'Only the Jews and Communists suffered then.'"

Presumably the Jews and Communists are not suffering now. Or at least not any more than anyone else. An economic condition which would of course spell anathema to any Fascist.

The Russians in the Soviet Zone of occupation are the real enemy, in the eyes of these Berliners. Of course, they don't like the British, French, nor Americans, as conquerors, either. But they would prefer them any day to the Communist Russians.

There is not only the difference in ideology between Communist Russia and the Fascist Berliners, a difference not so apparent between the representatives of the capitalist countries of United States, France and England, especially the United States. There is also the inbred contempt of the superior Nordic or Teuton for the Slav.

"In Berliners' eyes," says Percy Winner, "the Russians are uncivilized barbarians who don't know how to use a bathroom, who don't mind being dirty, who live unquestioningly on a low standard of material existence."

Nevertheless, among these aristocratic Berliners, who keep their noses in the air regarding their Slav neighbors, only the newly rich have a regular supply of hot water "nI the woods on the outswirts of the city and on the road, you see old men and women picking sticks of wood and dragging them home on carts. Cold and hunger are great levelers; under their influence, the old social class lines among In the presence of the cold war, the Berliners have broken down. there is no longer any class war."

But even so, there is resentment on the part of the Have Nots against those who Have. The newly rich can also afford to eat, as well as afford to bathe, a luxury any Have Not will resent. They resent also the fact that Americans in the Berlin zone seem to have plenty of everything. They say, these Nazi Berliners, that they are standing with the Americans against Communism, that they in a certain sense are hostages for freedom, an dthat therefore they should be ttreated like Americans.

But the fact remains they are not treated the same as Americans. And "when winter comes," in the opinion of Mr. Winner, "the difference between our standard of living here and that of the Berliners (called with unwitting tactlessness the 'indigenous population') already great, will become even greater. It will be one of the major Soviet 'lines.'"

And why shouldn't it be? If the German people, notorious for their stupidity and stubbornness, cannot see for themselves that their economic system is doomed to destruction, why shouldn't evevry means be used to wake them up to that fact? No amount of friendly discussion and explanation will be likely to help much, however. Line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little, and there a little, symbolizing infinite patience, seems to be lost upon them and upon their like, not only in Germany but also in America and everywhere else in the world.

What to do then? That is the question.

The enemies of the Soviet Union, especially in the United States Congress, have been vocal in their hatred to "drop an atom bomb."

WE could not wish for any such thing to happen on either the German Nazis nor the Fascists anywhere in the world. No decent human being could.

But nevertheless, there is an old saying, expressed by the Man of Peace some thousands of years ago: "They that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

In this inhuman desire of the Fascists of the world to destroy the only nation where the Common Man rules supreme, they themselves may find their own destruction.

THE CRISIS OF COLONIAL IMPERIALISM

By PAUL FRENCH

It was in September, 1947, at the first meeting of the Communist Information Bureau, that Andrei Zhdanov, recently deceased, made the following important observations:

"The colonial peoples refuse to live any longer in the old way, and the ruling classes of the metropolitan (imperialist) countries cannot any longer rule them in the old way. Attempts to suppress the national liberation movement by military force now encounter ever increasing armed resistance from the colonial peoples, and lead to prolonged colonial wars, such as that of Holland in Indonesia and of France in Viet Nam."

This quite obviously threatens "the rear" of the big capitalist powers. And it has sent British imperialism into bankruptcy, from which no Marshall plan can extricate it. But imperialism tries new tricks, new methods. It tries to split the colonial movement, to win over its (usually upper class) leadership by concessions, made at the expense of the colonial masses. Where formerly imperialism based itself mainly on the old feudal elements, it now seeks to build up an alliance with the colonial big capitalists.

This is very obvious in India. But imperialism tries other tricks, too. It seeks to divide the colonial peoples on racial and religious lines, playing one against the other. This, too, is observable in India, in Palestine, and in Burma. But one of its best tricks is to "grant independence," that is, in form, but to try to retain control by force is, however, still observable in such places as Malaya.

The situation may be summed up by saying that, although imperialism is weakened, it is not in retreat, but rather continues to pursue an aggressive colonial policy in new guises, and even to extend its exploitation, in the effort to solve its deep crisis.

The most obvious area where imperialism is thus trying to intensify its exploitation, is Africa. As its basis in the Middle East and Asia grows weaker with the increasing colonial revolution, it looks with eagerness to the possibility of intensifying its exploitation of Africa. All British imperialists, from Churchill and the Mosley fascists, to the Labor Party and misnamed "socialists" all are sniffing at new schemes for Africa.

Mosley, a year ago, said: "If we ling the Union of Europe with the development of Africa in a new system of two continents, we will build a civilization which surpases and a force which equals any power in the world."

The Negro people should take note that this outright fascist thus openly declares for what he calls "the development" of Africa—for a fascist development, which would mean slavery for the peoples of Africa for British benefit. But Moseley's fascist scheme is also that of the Labor Party leaders, like Bevin, who in May, 1948, at the L. P. conference, said:

"If we limited ourselves to the Commonwealth alone, it would not be sufficient. If we harnessed the Commonwealth and those overseas territories for which we were responsible to the skill, ability and productive capacity of the West, we could solve our balance of payments and have a continually rising standard of living, for generations to come."

So, you see that Bevin, the "Labor" politician, has exactly the same idea as does Moseley, the fascist. But, it appears, that not only the British, but also the American imperialists, have similar notions about Africa. And among them, John Foster Dulles, Dewey's "foreign policy expert," has said quite openly that Africa could make Western Europe

We Shall See

"The re-election of President Truman offers, in itself, no justifiable reason for believing that there has been any change in the outlook for business." states an ad of a big brokerage firm.

The day following the election, however, Wall Street suffered a slump. But it recovered, and perhaps the Wall Street gamblers knew they dared not let another tailspin occur such as took place in 1929. For no matter who is presilent, nor what party is in power, the people of America are beginning to realize their power, and Wall Street knows they will not sit idly by again and watch their loved ones suffer hunger, while those higher in the ranks of the capitalist class gorge themselves to satiety.

If we wish to escape "communism" in America, we must also adopt a "Re lief Plan" for the home front. There must be no depression, no slump in business, no unemployment. If such a thing happens all the troops a president can call out, will not subdue the demands of the people for bread.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Unity—Not Revenge

To Verl Partlow, wise and sober stalwart of the Los Angeles Newspaper Guild, goes the credit (or the responsibility) for the repetition here of a theme that has been introduced in this corner with some frequency. Partlow, whom some of us call, "the Zipper Kid" (because of an episode at a Park Manor meeting some years ago) delivered one of the clearest expositions against division in the ranks of labor this corner has ever heard.

JOHN M. LEE

Taking the floor following an impassioned appeal by one of the brothers to vote down a proposition that called for re-affirmation of support of the state and local CIO councils with particular reference to organization for an all-out attack on the Taft-Hartley law, Partlow exposed the true purpose of the forces who never miss an opportunity to recommend withdrawal from the CIO Council.

Noting that the proposal called upon those locals that have withdrawn from the Council to return, Partlow pointed out that only with a united front could labor hope to fight for its rights and win. He decried the continuing "belaboring of a dead horse," as he reminded the guildsmen that the election is over. It was his clear thinking that revealed the great damage that will come to labor if a group of dissenters breaks away from the legally-constituted Councils every time there is a difference of opinion.

What Partlow was driving at, is the spirit of revenge and vindictiveness that is prompting a handful of guildsmen, who backed the right horse, to attempt to destroy the labor groups that happened not to have agreed with them. They are unreasonably arrogant — inspired, no doubt, by the totally unexpected victory of President Truman. They have yet to stop and consider what would have become of labor had Truman lost. Despite the fact that national CIO timorously hopped on the Truman bandwagon when no other means of transportation was available, organized labor did not behave like a mature labor organization, and it cannot be naive enough to believe that it can write its own ticket for the next four years.

Before very long it will become evident that all, if anything, labor has won in the election is the right to fight for its life; and fight it must if it hopes to survive the tests that are even now being prepared. Since it is possible for the "winners" to forgive President Truman for strike-breaking, and Taft-Hartley intimidation, it should not be too difficult for them to forgive their brothers who exercised a good old American privilege of making up their own minds and doing something about it.

I have yet to be convinced that organized labor can afford an aristocracy. The studied aloofness of certain locals and internationals, is the threat we have to fight, not the commendable independence of spirit among the brothers. To submit that it is necessary to destroy organized labor in order to save it, is to say that only the select and the anointed shall belong. The question then arises as to who is select and who shall be anointed? Shall this be determined on a political basis? If so, then we are no longer a free people, and the sooner we know it and get the herd instinct, the better it will be.

Because individuals and locals in the CIO opposed the Marshall Plan and favor peace with Russia is no reason for us to divide our strength in a "holier than thou" disassociation. The oil workers broke away, and they lost their strike, as did the packinghouse workers. Only the maritime workers, as Partlow pointed out, have stood with their heads unbloody and unbowed. They remained in the Council and they are receiving tremendous organized support.

Incidentally there is a certain member of a certain local who is pro-British right down to his phony accent. He was pro-British when our propaganda mills were turning out the hate stuff against His Majesty's Empire during the years our national conscience cried out against imperialism. Since history records that the British made a whale of an attempt to overthrow our government with force and violence, that brother certainly should be investigated or isolated or something.

Until a law is passed outlawing membership in third, fourth or fifth parties, or until such time that peaceful intentions become a national crime, it would be wiser for organized labor to leave the purges to the Thomas and the Tenney committees. Wait for a law, then obey it. Remember, too, that there could be a law passed making labor unions a national crime.

W. J. Wheaton Says

It happened: In our mind it was no miracle; just an example of the common phrase "horse sense" of the majority of citizens who are practical in their thinking. Neither was the election of President Truman unpredictable.

If one will take the trouble to note the political strategy of Senator McGrath, who has never lost an election, they will find a political strategist that has no peer. Aside from that, the American public is tired of being fed with platitudes. President Truman got down to earth. He talked with words that were understood by the masses.

He—President Truman—made an aggressive campaign, and the majority of the people love a fighter. The President made the 80th Congress a major target, and his asseverations could not be challenged. The facts were straight to the toiler and to the farmer. Of all the alibis given, that of Mr. Dewey was the phoniest; his claim that overconfidence kept a million voters from exercising their right of franchise was, to use a stage expression, the corniest ever.

Well, at any rate it kept one good Governor at home. California needs Earl Warren. There is much for him to do here at home.

There is nothing now to do but open our collars, roll up our sleeves and pull together to make this, truly, a democratic nation, free from intolerance and racial and religious bias. A nation respected for the principles exacted by the Constitution and its amendments. A government that no finger of scorn nor charge of hypocrisy can, with truth, be made.

Oscar Wilde in one of his sarcastic epigrams said that "Democracy means simply the bludgeoning of the people by the people for the people." Of course Oscar had no knowledge of the affairs of today.

San Francisco is in the throes of a transportation muddle. The Utility Commission wanted to hike the fare on us strap hangers, but the Mayor and a majority of sympathetic Supervisors said No, not until better service was assured. With not one iota of doubt this was a wise move. The UC had no factual reason to show why the raise in fare should be made at this time, the claim that it was a case of dire necessity was not proven.

The patrons of the street railways are long suffering and have been very patient. When there has been concrete evidence that the UC is doing its level best to improve transportation, and the necessity for a hike in the fare has been proven, there is no doubt that the public will with unanimous consent acquiesce to the raise, but not before.

They consented, readily, to the bonds for other improvements, such as improvements for schools and other improvements; but the UC did not show cause, and it was shown that the UC could economise in other matters and give service to the public.

There is dire necessity for the rehabilitation of, and the building of school houses. That is a necessity caused by the increase in the school attendance. To that end the voters readily consented. San Franciscans are aware that many improvements are necessary, and due, but the taxpayers also want to know where and how their money is spent.

The voters of the Fourth Congressional District re-elected Franck R. Havenner to Congress. It was a wise move, and although his opponent, Mr. Maillard, made a nice campaign, the voters believed that at this time when national affairs were so prominent they needed a seasoned and well versed representative. Therefore Franck R. Havenner.

In the 19th Assembly District they decided to keep William Farnum White at home where he could practice law a little longer and acquaint himself more thoroughly with California's need. Billy is a nice boy, but he needs further seasoning, that is politically. All-in-all, this was a fine expression of the people's will, and shows that the coming generation is thinking, and thinking for themselves. They are not bound by the platitudes of pseudo leaders.

The girls of the Carpe Diems were active in the past campaign and showed great interest in their selection of candidates. As usual they took great interest in the local affairs of the city, such as the propositions on Bonds. They were especially active in the proposition for the improvement of the schools.

POTPOURRI

Strike observers think they see the end of the CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards 75-day old West Coast marine strike.

"In the preliminary talks the union asked a 2½-year contract to end on June 15, 1951, and improved wage scales and living conditions aboard ships."

The President Speaks: The voice of President Truman is heard from Florida, where he is in retreat resting after a vigorous campaign. No doubt the first year of this new term will be a busy one and fraught with many problems. Mr. Truman said in his first full-dress news conference since the election, he would seek outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, and would recommend a broad civil rights program. These promises are good and the Truman supporters must put pressure on the President to see that they are fulfilled to the fullest extent.

The other major issues touched upon by President Truman were his unblighted faith in Marshall, author of the Marshall Plan. While he is in touch with President Chiang Kai-shek of China, he feels that no new United States aid can be extended to the Communist threatened nationalist government until the new Congress meets.

The pie-maker's advice again is that the American government stop sending guns and ammunition to China. Get out and let the Chinese people settle their own differences. After all, the people designated as Communists are Chinese and those called Nationalists are also Chinese. Evidently these political factions in China have some differences in political opinions. We have some in our country, too.

The Dixiecrats bolted the Democratic national convention and retreater to the South declaring that they would continue to deny the Negro the right to vote and continue their white supremacy law. We did not send down any guns to shoot the Dixicrats. Why should we send guns to shoot the Chinese?

Big Shot of the House Un-American Activities Committee, J. Parnell Thomas, came before Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech, Monday, November 15, in Washington, D. C.

Thomas faced a charge of federal theft. He is out on $1000 bond until Jan. 10, 1949, when he will be tried in a federal court. He has fallen into the pit which he dug for others.

The Taft-Hartley law is on its way out, so says Maurice J. Tobin, Secretary of Labor. The poor people struggle under a tax burden to support un-American activities not in action, and to carry on such activities as the 80th Congress, now in the process of being de-Congressionalized by the 81st Congress.

What fools we mortals be!

I buy them cheap and sell them high, Raymond J. Kearney told a Congressional committee investigating him on irregular trade policies in handling automobiles.

Official Reports from 47 of the 58 counties of California now show that Proposition No. 4, the aged and blind pension measure, passed November 2 by a small margin.

"What Are the Benefits of the City Manager Form of Government" will be the topic for discussion at a meeting of the Pasadena Community Forum to be held Monday evening, November 22, at 8 o'clock in St. Barnabas Parish House, 1062 N. Fair Oaks ave. Don C. McMillan, city manager of Pasadena, will speak.

If Governor Warren responds to an appeal to call a special session of the California Legislature to consider the repeal of Proposition 4, which according to latest figures passed at the November 2 election, he will add some more bad marks to his record, not too bright as it is. Proposition 4 is the old-age pension measure.

The drag net that is spread to catch gamblers sometimes pulls in high officials.

Atty. Gen. Fred Howser is now called upon to testify either for or against a former employee, one Wiley (Buck) Caddel.

Caddel is on trial in Mendocino County in connection with a slot-machine racket.

A HOUSE FOR ALL PEOPLE

By C. C. Mack, Printer
(Manual Arts High School)

In a corner of the jim crow coach sat one lonely Negro passenger. The three-car local train jolted along thru a desolated, backward part of Alabama. It was raining steadily as it had been for the past two weeks, and the black muddy roads were almost impassable.

It seemed to be a melancholy outlook in all of the little towns thru which the train ran, for too much rain in the cotton country curtails the harvesting of cotton, stops business, and this is reflected in the countenances of the poor whites and pooer blacks who are forced into an idleness they can ill afford. During these spells of bad weather, they stand in separate groups disconsolately waiting for the return of clear skies.

This Negro was on his way to Selma, but found that he would be obliged to spend several hours in a small village when he would take another train. He had never heard of any of his race living in this town and had various and somewhat anxious thoughts as to how he would spend the long hours waiting for the train that would carry him the rest of his journey.

Soon he was at the depot and he ran in out of the rain, being careful to locate the "For Negroes" sign, which generally embellishes the scene in the south. A few farmers stood around discussing the weather pausing long enough to spit at the wall from which the juice of "Brown Mule" tobacco streamed down, and to wonder where the new Negro came from.

Inside he sat down, and to pass the time away he opened his bag and thought to read his Bible, but just then the man who seemed to be in charge of the station looked in and yelled "all out, station closed until next train at one a.m.

Outside, it was still pouring rain and night was falling fast in this muddy melancholy, unlighted town and there was no place to go except between two flat cars standing on a track nearby. He crawled under the old cars which leaked and the cold rain ran down upon him, but this was better than nothing, and he felt himself lucky, very luncky under the circumstances.

The rain was still falling and he was determined to make the best of it while waiting for the next three hours. It was just one of those things,—so, what?

Suddenly he heard something, —the whistle of an approaching train, and he wondered if his train had changed time and had arrived earlier. To his dismay it was a freight and it stopped only long enough to pick up the two cars, and the only shelter for him in sight.

Just before it became too dark to see he had been noticing a group of poor whites across the street in front of the town's string of stores and he knew being a strange Negro in the vicinity, he was apt to be molested. Looking down the road, he saw a building with a row of lighted windows which he figured might be a church and he was a little happier when he found out it was.

He could at least stand under the wide eaves or he might even just stand in the entrance, and when he looked up at the inscription over the door which read: "And this Shall be A house of God for all the People", he decided to go in. He was sure it would be alright if he took a seat on the very last row, where he would not be in anyone's way. So, nervously he trod on his toes, (being sure that his hat was in his hand, and a pleasing, condescending smile on his face) to a stool in the corner.

There were plenty of seats owing to the weather, but he did not want the white folks to think that he was looking for social equality, which in this section, is out of place even in the church. Sitting there trying to make himself as small as possible, he noticed a general uneasiness among those in the congregation. People were whispering, glancing around at him, and frowning.

The pastor had been progressing nicely with his sermon on "The Beautitudes," but seemed to lose his line of reasoning and was plainly off-balance since Negro visitor entered. He was ill at ease and could not get his mind off the stranger, and one of the officers noticing this, decided to clear things up.

He walked back to the Negro, tapped him on the shoulder and motioned toward the door.

Out in the rain, he stood long enough to say—"Boy where did you come from? Don't you know this is a white church, and that writing over the door didn't mean you?

completely independent of Eastern Europe's resources, and that this should be the aim.

In the London News Chronicle of August 25, 1948, Professor Lowell Ragatz, of George Washington University, wrote: "Britain has built and lost two great empires—in America and in Iidia. But the prospects are that her third in Africa—will be her greatest."

So, pursuing this dream of a new empire to bolster her crumbling economy, imperialist Britain is beginning a whole series of colonial development projects in Africa. Adopting the scheme now being boosted by Eric Johnston, Briatin is launching a "Colonial Development Corporation," with a borrowing power up to a hundred million Pounds sterling, and an "Overseas Food Corporation," with half that capital. So-called "Colonial Development Regional Directors" have been appointed. All very pretty.

The first scheme is, and don't laugh, the "Ground Nuts scheme," worked out by the big firm of Unilevers, to establish a hundred giant plantations in Africa, of 30,000 acres each, to be worked by cheap African labor in Tanganyika, North Rhodesia and Kenya, financed by the British government, But, even before it gets going, this "nutty" scheme seems to be discouraging —It looks like it was going to cost double what it was figured, and nobody knows whether people would buy ground nuts in such large quantities as might be produced by such enterprises.

One thing that is overlooked in these fancy schemes is, that, in place of producing surpluses of food for export to Europe, the people of Africa, already so starved by imperialist exploitation that they can scarcely work, would really need food imports to keep them alive. Another thing, quick returns on capital investments in such schemes appear unlikely; and old Europe has not enough capital to rebuild itself, let alone a new empire. Here, of course, American capital might step in.

But the worst and biggest mistake in these schemes is the assumption that the African people are going to passively accept this new servitude, that the revolt that is sweeping through Asia will never reach Africa. So, all told, though imperialism may try, its trials will not succeed.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Keep up with the new books by visiting your neighborhood libraries: Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Avenue; Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Avenue. Hours: Monday through Friday from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. and Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

The following new books have been received recently at the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch:

"Walk in Darkness" by Hans Habe, author of "A Thousand Shall Fall," is written with intensity and compassion. Washington Roach, a Negro from Harlem, discovers that as an American soldier in occupied Germany he apparently has been accepted by Eva, a white girl, as an equal. When he learns that she is merely using him he becomes embittered. We follow him through his illicit marriage and fatherhood as he treads new and terrifying paths. His torturous road leads finally to a court martial for murder in Munich. We are then taken through the little publicized jungle of the German underworld where the savage struggle for survival welds together the outcasts of a dozen nations in a democracy of desperation, a confederation of criminals. Here Washington achieves dignity and power and ultimately meets disaster. It is a tale of the world's sickness, of man's suicidal hate of his brother and of the healing truth which alone can make us whole. It is a deep-probing novel exposing the spiritual and emotional turmoil of the old world and the new.

"Here's Looking at You!" by Emily Wilkens will be popular with the younger generation. The author is a fashion designer who, when spending a vacation in California was introduced at a social gathering as a designer of children's clothes. It happened that a child star needed costumes for a picture and Emily was in. Soon she was designing wardrobes for the famous children of Hollywood, and for the junior stage celebrities of New York as well. Then she launched her own collections of clothes for teen-agers which were carried in special departments by leading stores all over the country. Now she is America's foremost creator of young fashions. This book gives the inside track on how to put your best foot forward and keep it there. She talks like a big sister who has been through it all. In a gay frank informal style she gives real-life anecdotes and solves universal problems. With her apt sketches she drives home her points and shows how anyone can be well-groomed by following her hints on clothes and personal care.

"Remembrance Rock" by Carl Sandburg is a thousand page novel on American history for three and a half centuries. There are four episodes with the same characters reappearing under different names, such as, the girl with the dancing feet in the seventeenth century bearing the name Mary Windling; next she appears as her daughter; in the eighteenth century she is Mibs Wimbler, and on V-J day she is Mimah. Sandburg's vision is a pantheistic confidence that though individuals disappear "the earth stays and the transmission of energy." There are many people from all walks of life and in his search for truth the author feels that the unselfconscious folk are a better source. The book is a work of art but there is a hopelessness about it which is expressed in an epitaph on the headstone of one of his characters. "He was a practical man who lived dreamless. Now he sleeps here, as he lived—dreamless."

"Black Odyssey; the Story of the Negro in America" is by Roi Ottley who was born in New York City in 1906 and educated at St. Bonaventure's College and the University of Michigan. His writing career began as a reporter on the New York Amsterdam Star-News where he spent seven years as editor and columnist. He has done free-lance work for Liberty, The New York Times Magazine Section, New Republic and other publications. He was Publicity Director for the National C. I. O. War Relief Committee and during the war went abroad for two years as war correspondent for Liberty and P.M. In this book the author of "New World A-Coming" traces the history of the Negro in America from the very beginning, when in colonial times the Negro was a free and often-respected individual, to the time when cheap labor was needed and his race was reduced to slavery. He presents the up-hill struggle since the so-called liberation to the present when eighty years after Emancipation he is beginning to win. The author spent years searching archives in Europe and America, talking with ex-slaves and contemporary Negro leaders in his effort to make this the most complete and authentic picture of Negro life in America possible. It is a human history made vivid and personal by hundreds of anecdotes and sketches of Negro personalities typical of their times. It is written dispassionately and fairly.

"Captain for Elizabeth" by Jan Westcott is a new novel of adventure by the author of "The Border Land." Captain Thomas Cavendish sails the ship "Desire" around the world, capturing the proudest Spanish ship afloat and the fairest Spanish lady as well. It takes two years and on the return the sailors are clothed in silk and the sails are of damask with the top mast covered with cloth of gold. Their stops on the California coast and the shores of Mexico are vividly told. David, Tom's younger brother who rebels against the captain's ruthlessness, is condemned to death as a result. The author has written a superb novel, full of excitement and drama and heartbreak and she gives the spark of life to the people she portrays.

The Watts Branch Library, 9901 Grandee St., is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

The Road to Health

PNEUMONIA

By J. D. Merida, M.D.
Vice-President, National Medical Association, Cleveland, Ohio

"Doctor, I'm worried. My oldest brother died of pneumonia 20 years ago when he was Bill's age. I think Bill has it now. Can you come right over?"

Mrs. Matthews called me to her home one cold February morning. Her 14-year-old son had awakened with a pain in his chest and a headache and said he felt chilled. He also began to cough and had a fever. His mother kept him in bed and phoned me just as I was leaving the house. I hurried over, found her suspicions were correct and started treatment at once.

"Does Bill have a chance?" Mrs. Matthews asked when the boy was resting comfortably.

"Bill does have a chance, Mrs. Matthews, and a good one," I answered. "The penicillin which I can use today in treating Bill gives him a better chance than your brother could have had 20 years ago. We are now able to check the acute stage of the disease in a much shorter time. If proper treatment is started early enough, the pneumonia patient has a good chance of recovering without suffering serious after-effects."

Mrs. Matthews said she realized pneumonia was very serious and wanted to know more about it. I told her why I would need her full cooperation while Bill was very sick and also during the days of recovery.

There are different types of pneumonia that are brought on by different germs. But no matter what for it takes, pneumonia is a dangerous disease infecting the small air sacs of the lungs. When the lungs become diseased, it is an effort for the patient to breathe. The pneumonia germs spread fast and send poisons through the body by way of the blood stream. Pneumonia often brings on such other serious complications as pleurisy, empyema, lung abscess or even meningitis.

Bill's healthy body responded quickly to treatment. After the acute stage of his illness, his convalescence was carefully watched. There were no complications or permanent damage to his heart or lungs.

Exhaustion and exposure may not actually cause pneumonia, but they weaken the body's resistance to such infections as pneumonia. The day before he became ill, Bill had played basketball for hours, then stood on a street corner in the rain talking to his friends.

Plenty of sleep, good food and protection from bad weather are always necessary to health. They are especially important in January, February and March, months when severe weather lowers the body's resistance and pneumonia strikes most frequently.

Despite success with modern drugs in treating pneumonia, we have no reason to relax our strict guard against this alarming disease. It is still a leading cause of death in the United States. Preventing pneumonia by building the body's resistance with good health habits is safer and wiser than hoping for a cure. But if any of its symptoms appear, th edoctor should be called immediately. Pneumonia is too dangerous for delay or neglect.

Independent Milk Concern In 2nd Year

One of the many useful enterprises supported by the late Jimmy Baskette, is the Independent Milk Distributors, an association that has a large number of Negro stockholders, and engages in the distribution of top quality dairy products largely in the Negro community.

Entering its second year, the corporation employs six Negro routemen, and looks forward to unlimited expansion. Stockholders are both Negro and white, and the emphasis is placed on interracial business cooperation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(Editor's Note: This is a letter addressed to the President through the columns of the California Eagle.)

3722 S. Gramercy Pl.
Los Angeles, Calif.
November 15, 1948

President Truman,
White House,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. President:

My name should be very familiar to you by now, as it has been signed to many telegrams sent to you concerning problems of minority groups, but knowing your position, I am sure you have never read one of them or that you were very much concerned with them.

I am sure that if you could understand the problems that confront all minority people you would be very deeply concerned and do your utmost to clear up some o fthese problems that are very much unjust to human beings.

That's why I am sending you this letter registered in order to get a direct answer from you, concerning the indicted communist leaders of New York, Denver and Los Angeles. Why should American citizens be indicted and humiliated without committing a crime?

There has been enough disaster and humiliation in the South by the Ku Klux Klan just for the sake of people wanting equality and justice.

Now the communists are suffering from a different kind of injustice by our government because of the things they believe in, such as decent homes to live in, living wages and justice for all, which is denied most all minority groups.

Please, Mr. President, explain to me why there have been no indictments for the Ku Klux Klan who have hung human beings by their necks, burned them to death or in some other cruel manner. These people who are alread yindicted have committde no crime.

Being a member of a minority group myself I know I am subject to being subpoenaed to appear before a Grand Jury or thrown in jail, for I do believe in equality too, and justice for all. Why would I be deprieved of a decent home to live in, a decent job and a decent salary when we are living in a land of plenty?

When the peopel of America can no longer depend on their government for protection you may be sure there will be an upsurge among the people which will mean bloodshed.

Citizens of Los Angeles are being molested by police brutality most every day, crosses are being burned on peoples' lawns by the Ku Klux Klan; the Chief of Police and the Mayor of Los Angeles have refused to take action against such things.

Since the People elected you as president you can be sure they are depending on you for protection and not suppression.

Won't you please use the power of your office to stop the intimidation by indictments, which if you remember, follows the same pattern used in Nazi German, first communist, then organized labor, last but not least, all minority groups who cannot condone white supremacy?

I am expecting an answer from you, Mr. President, that I may have a better understanding to these problems which are confronting the people of today.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Neomia Evans.

Boy Scout Headquarters
Dear Mrs. Bass,

Just a note to let you know how extremely appreciative we are for your cooperation in getting the Scouting news to the general public. We especially appreciate your "Youth Page," and look for news about Scouts and other young people on that page every week.

If at any time we Scouts can serve you or your cause, let us know.

Gratefully yours,

Take It Easy After Sundown

SACRAMENTO—"Slow down at sundown and look out when it's dark out" is a warning from the California Highway Patrol to all motorists and pedestrians.

Darkness triples your chances of a fatal traffic accident, Clifford E. Peterson, Commissioner, warns.

"That is, for every mile of motor travel three times as many fatal accidents occur in the hours of darkness as in daylight. And of all fatal traffic accidents, three out of five occur at night."

The Commissioner suggests a few tips for safe driving after night. They are:

1. Turn your lights on early.
2. Dim your lights for the other fellow.
3. Use a reasonable speed.
4. Be on the watch for pedestrians and for unlighted vehicles.
5. Use extra caution during stormy weather.

The Negroes Cause

By William L. Wood

DEAR GOVERNOR WARREN:

I am in receipt of your letter dated November 9th, 1948, in which you say that the matter the Pink Slip on my car has been referred to a Mr. Henderson of the Motor Vehicle Department for attention and reply. Please be advised that I went through a procedure some three months ago with him and got no where. Shall I do the same thing all over again? Mr. Henderson does not appear too equal to the occasion, or shall I say the efficiency way would be the better way, and that way seems to be lacking.

You also stated that my letter concerning Milk prices has been referred to A. A. Brock, Director of Agriculture. From my experience at the hearing in the State Building I don't feel it can do any good. I can't get any results from Mr. Brock, that is why I have appealed to you. In all of my experience at hearings, and they have been many, I can't help but tell you that the unwarranted procedure pursued by a Mr. W. B. Woodburn was beyond all reason, and against the fact that I tried to bring out in favor of the more than one half million people whom I had the right to speak for and got no where.

It just seemed to be in the bag, and Mr. Blank, of the Big Six Milk companies, simply dominated the entire hearing. The Ralphs and Safeway stores asked a reduction in price instead of a raise. Everybody was in opposition to the raise including the Parent-Teachers Association who knew it was a rotten hearing and that it began to smell long before the end.

To prove that it was in the bag, one of the reporters came out the next day in a statement in one of the dailys, and predicted the increase in milk. Just let me show you some of the unfair publicity given this hearing by a reporter.

The reporter goes on to mention several people at this hearing who favored the increase but positively did not take the stand to testify. Did he get the permission through some secret conniving of these people who would not come out in the open to testify?

But I, who produced papers to show that I represented the Negro people in the state of California on their Bill of Rights Committee, was not mentioned as the one who had given the protest at this hearing. Does Mr. W. B. Woodburn and this reporter think the Negro people haven't any right to have their side stated and made known at these hearings? There shall not be any discrimination. They use and pay for their milk with the same money we all use.

Now Governor Warren, let me give you some of the figures which were not given at this hearing. For the nine months which ended September the 30th, their net totaled $667,303 or $1.03 a share on common stock as against $709,492 or $1.09 a share in the similar 1947 nine months. And then, after the raise of 1 cent per quart in the price of milk in less than 30 days, a 50 cent dividend was declared. I wonder what become of the other 59 cents?

These poor milk men, don't you feel sorry for them? They don't have brains enough to put their business on an efficient basis but we the public have to be assessed whether we like it or not to make the business of this poor milk trust a profitable one. And now they want to pasteurize all milk and use that as an excuse to put the little fellow out of business.

If these cows are not healthy, let a Veterinarian inspect them and then it can be decided what should be done to protect the public. Keep the Health Department out of these questions. It could be a good thing to inspect the Health Department, they could find some things then would surprise you and should be exposed to the public.

Again the Safeway stores and Ralphs are making a second protest about this raise, more power to them, for they just will not take this unfair decision laying down. And upon the report I have given the people I represent, it makes them in full accord with Ralph's and the Safeway stores.

Now Governor, comes the Bread complaint. When can we expect a 16 ounce and a 1½ pound loaf of bread? The emergency is off and wheat is down, lets get back to normal.

Now another very important question is being kicked around in a very disgraceful way. Let's put a stop to that and get down to business before they begin to kick the blind and old age people. Governor I cannot understand your objections to this law which was won on the ballot by the will of the people and did not originate in your office.

Much question is being raised at this time about where the money is coming from. You could take that $70,000.00 you gave in reduced taxes to the bankers and corporations and put a tax on ticket gambling at the race tracks and you will have more than enough.

Assemblymen Gordon R. Hahn and John W. Evans twice tried to pass it in the State Legislature when either your office or the lobbists killed it.

You traveled all over the U.S.A. telling the people what you and Dewey would do for them and knowing you had not done much for the blind and old age in the great state of California, they took the matter in their own hands at the ballot box.

Won't you just pause for a few minutes and think what this will mean to people who cannot see and the old age living like a bunch of rats and not getting enough of the good things to eat.

You live in a good home that belongs to the people at Sacramento, and then you have a summer home. Also plenty to eat of the best (juicy steaks) and these same people you want to deny this little increase are paying for your comfort and happiness. Where is your heart?

More to follow next week; subject, Mayor Bowron, why we need a new Mayor.

William L. Wood,
Chairman of Bill of Rights Committee.

CITY COLLEGE NEWS

By C. E. LLOYD

Four Korean women school principals were guests at City College Thursday on an inspection tour of the school. The four women, Mrs. Sa Bails Cha, Miss Soong Kyung Pang, Miss Sook Chong Lee, and Mrs. Sang Mylong Pai came to the United States to make a study of our school system. The thing that impressed them most was the size of California schools. In Korea the average student body is about 1200, with the age of the girls between 10 and 20 years old.

They plan to stay in the United States six months, after which they will return to Korea.

In a lecture on "How to Study," Dr. Walter Varnum, psychology department chairman, advised students to "learn a thing the way you are going to do it." He said that students preparing for an examination should make a practice of writing out practice questions with which to test themselves before the exam.

Students should study 30 minutes on one subject and then change over to something new, and back again, he added. The only thing wrong with cramming, he said, is that it won't work. And the rate of forgetting is just as fast as the rate of learning, he continued.

Stating that the next meeting of the state assembly will determine the course of State College, proposed four year addition to City College, Buddy Weber, Associated Students president of City College, extended an invitation to State College student government to set up a unified system of student government if the two schools are combined.

The purpose of the plan is to discuss the common problems of City and State College and to co-ordinate the two student governments.

By virtue of winning 13 places and placing one-half of its total teams in Southern California's Inter-Collegiate Speech League tournament at City College last Saturday, Cub debaters are very optimistic over their chances when they meet Pepperdine College Friday and Saturday. During the two day contest only four teams remained undefeated. City College placed the unbeaten women's team. San Diego State College, with two teams, and Pomona with one, were the other winners.

The Les Femmes Elegant are making elaborate plans for their third Annual Birthday Ball to be given at the El Sombrero Ballroom Tuesday, November 23.

The ball is to be a semi-formal affair for couples only. An invitation is required for admittance.

Dr. H. Kenn Carmichael, City College drama department chairman, expressed the views that hope for better quality acting and stage productions rests upon the educational, community and national theaters. He spoke before an audience in Newman Hall Friday on "The Plight of the American Stage and Screen —and Who Cares?"

The stage production of today is no test of what the rest of the American people think, he said, because the stage plays to a provincial audience trained in the ways of the theater. He claimed that out of every 100 plays on Broadway 75 to 85 per cent are a "flop."

Bowron Silent As Tenney And Others Seek His Job

(Eagle Staff Report)

With Mayor Bowron coming in for increasing criticism because of the dirty and unsanitary condition of the city streets, and with the current bookie arrests adding further to the woes created for him by the police department, it is believed he will not choose to run for re-election come spring.

Meanwhile Jack Tenney, chairman of the California Committee on Un-American Activities, has thrown his hat "almost" into the ring along with those of City Engineer Lloyd Aldrich and Fred Dockweiler, now known as the man who beat Proposition 14.

Dockweiler is reported to have said "this looks like a Democratic year," indicating that is his chief inspiration for making the race.

Aldrich has stated his wishes to gauge the extent of the support he will receive from his friends (and the voters) before he commits himself fully.

Tenney, exponent of 100 per cent Americanism (his brand) will reportedly announce himself when he has "studied the issues, the people and my support."

Criticism of Tenney's desire to run fo rmayor, a desire that has been known for some time, is on the score he has failed to turn his investigation loose on the Ku Klux Klan, the Christian Nationalists and similar Un-American organizations here.

Dockweiler's ambition to be mayor is not taken too seriously by seasoned political workers. They point out he would be defeated badly by supporters of Proposition 14, who voted heavily in favor of the measure here in Los Angeles.

CHICAGO, Ill. — The Windy City, which for the last few months, has been in a lethargic state as far as business in the entertainment palaces goes, arose from its "Sleeping Beauty" state in time to greet the Ink Spots opening at the Chicago Theatre last week. The SRO audiences greeted the star-studded stage show, which included Peter Lorre as an extra added attraction, with innumerable cheers and applause.

Appreciating the tremendously favorable response that Chicago citizens showed them, the Ink Spots contacted the Community Fund—which is currently conducting a campaign in the Illinois metropolis—and offered to give them the profits on all Ink Spots records sold in Chicago during their stay at the Chicago theatre. The Community Fund officials were overwhelmed by this offer and gratefully accepted it.

clause in the deed for the property did not prohibit the sale of the home to a Negro. It just prohibited him or his family living there.

This Negro family, however, seem to want to live in the home they have just purchased.

There seems to be nothing the city of South Gate itself can do, in the opinion of City Clerk H. C. Peiffer. "It's up to the property owners where the violation has occurred," he said. "And since the United States Supreme Court has declared restrictive covenants invalid, about all they can do now is to contact the seller of the property and the purchaser, and try to persuade them to retract their bargain."

And if they refuse? If the Negro family insists upon moving into South Gate? He was asked.

"Then about the only thing to do is to take it to court, and prolong the hearings as long as possible. You could do that for years. Then that Negro family might get tired and move out," was Mr. Peiffer's suggestion.

Whatever trickeries the citizens of South Gate plan to use to circumvent the law of the land, they will likely decide upon at a later meeting. Whatever it is, it will require money, all admit, and the plan is to organize financially on a city-wide basis.

But all decent-minded Americans everywhere hope the Negro family holds firm.

New Hair Do Calls For New Chapeaux

Fall hats and coiffufres have a new romantic look. They represent a careful plan to coordinate contour and size of the head with the new fall fashions.

A neater, simpler coiffure is exactly right with the longer skirt which is often voluminous and elaborately trimmed. This sleek hair look is the perfect complement for the new hats.

All of the fall hats are small and precise with flat plateaus or other shapes which reveal the sides of the hair, and almost always show the back of the head. This side and back exposure means that many women will wear simple but elegant real hair attachments to the top, side or back of the head to complete her costume.

Curls, puffs and chignons, as well as braids will be used to emphasize head interest in the hair-do. All of the new hair styles give the effect of hair being swept back as opposed to the brushed forward look of the short bob.

Dawson Slated For Committee Chairman

Washington, D. C.—Representative William L. Dawson of Chicago will return to his fourth term in the House with the prospect that he will head the important Executive Expenditures Committee.

While he is not the ranking Democrat in line for the assignment, Dawson is next to Representative John W. McCormack of Massachusetts who is scheduled to return to his post as majority floor leader.

Representative Adam Clayton Powell Jr. of New York is back in the House for his third term and there is no indication that he will head any important committee.

Lane College Drive For Improvements

JACKSON, Miss.—President J. H. White has launched a $1,500,000 campaign designed to meet the immediate instructional, facilities and equipment needs of Lane College.

The campaign officially got under way with the organization of the student body, faculty and staff, into committees and setting up specific goals for each committee and the Lane College family. With the detailed organization completed, local solicitation will begin immediately in an effort to raise a minimum of $35,000 in the city of Jackson alone.

Sewing Hints

By Mary Ann Knowit

Most of the girls away to private school or college this Fall are in the midst of getting that wardrobe into tip-top shape. Each girl is in her own little world, and she probably spends a great deal of her time dreaming about the impresion she will make when she wears her new numbers to class, club teas, football games, dances, and many of the other campus activities.

It is now, while you are adding to your wardrobe, that I want to suggest that you learn to crochet ,or if you already know how to make some of these things yourself. I have a book that has instructions and patterns of articles that you can make after learning. The method is so simple that in les than eight hours you can make a pair of those chic stortie gloves, rosebud earrings with pearl centers, boot-like bedroom slippers, wide or narrow belts that you can trim with studs or sequins, a vest that is smart with your slacks, skirts. suits, and many other things that I know you will need while in chool.

A get-together honoring new members of the Urban League who recently joined the "Friends Circle" will be held Friday night (November 19) at 7:30 p.m. at the Southeast Health Center, 4920 Avalon Blvd., it was announced today.

An invitation sent out by Floyd C. Covington, executive director of the Urban League, said that both members and friends of the Urban League would be feted with a special program of speakers, music, and a tour through the center.

On the program will be Seaton W. Manning, executive secretary of the San Francisco Urban League, Dr. Konstantin Sparkuhl, district health officer, and the Jester Hairston Sextette, Covington said.

Nixon Killers May Face Suit

NEW YORK — Although acquitted of the slaying of Isaac Nixon, 28-year-old Negro veteran who insisted on voting in the Georgia Democratic primary, the two white brothers who killed him may yet face a civil suit, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, announced here this week. Mr. Marshall and A. T. Walden of Atlanta, NAACP lawyers, are exploring the possibility of bringing such a suit in behalf of Nixon's widow.

Indicted by the Grand Jury of Montgomery County, Georgia, M. A. Johnson was freed after a Superior Court jury in Mount Vernon returned a verdict of not guilty. John Johnson, indicted as an accessory to the murder, was released without trial following acquittal of his brother.

Nixon was killed a few days after the state Democratic primary of September 8 in which he voted despite warnings from whites not to do so. He had been active in urging other Negroes to vote in the primary. The Johnson brothers went to his home and killed him in the presence of his wife and children.

UNDER FIRE IN P.O. LOYALTY CHECK-UP

People, and the Urban League, as well as Walter White, National Executive Secretary of the NAACP; Morris Zussman, State President of the CIO; a Mr. Cook, who at one time was assistant to the mayor; and the heads of the various local newspapers.

Mr. Garrott, along with other members of a committee, drafted and signed FEPC charges against the Los Angeles Post Office. This was a long bitter fight, but it culminated in securing as Postmaster, Michael D. Fanning, who has done a great deal in correcting racial injustices in the Post Office.

Another member of the fourteen cited for presecution after he had answered charges in writing, was hailed before the Committee, November 9, and quizzed concerning articles he had written for local as well as foreign newspapers and magazines.

Among the issues discussed in his articles by this individual, who is also well known and held in high esteem in the community as a gentleman of culture and refinement, were a challenge to white supremacy on the international field, and an attack on British imperialism in Africa and India, and Dutch imperialism in Indonesia.

Turning away from these weighty issues which, however, have no hearing on a postal employee's loyalty to his government, this investigating committee then centered its attack on The California Eagle and its editor, Charlotta A. Bass.

The commitee wanted to know among other things what part did the California Eagle editor play in organizing the American Negro Congress. Was he a member of the committee that tried to elect her to the City Council? Did he think the California Eagle had a Communist slant? And didn't he think the editor leaned a little too far to the left?

These questions concerning a local newspaper in no way connected with the Post Office investigation, proves without a cintilla of doubt that such an investigation is not in the interest of protecting a Federal project, but for the sole purpose of intimidating members of minority groups who speak out boldly against racial bias and hatreds at home and abroad, discrimination and segregation against Negroes everywhere, and who in the language of Henry Wallace proclaim from the house tops, Jimcro must go.

One other of the fourteen is Curtis W. Garrott, a Los Angeles pioneer who came to this city in 1903, and has served in the Los Angeles Post Office for approximately 26 years. His reputation for loyalty, honesty, and devotion to his duty is above reproach.

The point of importance, however, it seems to the members of those groups who are being investigated, is that the investigation is intended to stamp out all liberal thought in America, after so much blood has been shed to insure the four freedoms.

To prevent this it is indeed time that every American citizen who believes in freedom of thought, should rise in vigorous protest and not rest until such practices are stamped out.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

PERPETUAL MOTION is claiming the social whirl, and believe me the absolute zenith on the social calendar of our fair city is reached by all the "sets" during the November and December holiday season. Formals seems to have the order of the day, some for benefits, others just for fun. So we start this week's jottings by taking an advanced peek into the big Doll League Charity Club's second annual Story Book ball that takes place tonight at the El Sombrero Club in downtown L. A. First and foremost all concerned will have a perfect evening due to the simple little fact that all the fanfare is for a very good cause. Tonight's affair paves the way for the mammoth Xmas party the leaguers delight in giving for less fortunate youngsters. So, while you are adding that extra frill to your formal gown, don't forget to wrap your gift (one doll), to be presented with your bid. By the way, ye scribe is led to believe tonight's affair will be one of the most glamorous yet. Heretofore around this time each year, fashion chatter has been limited to the "Black and White." However, much has been said about tonight's league affair.

When Atty. Cris Wright makes the introduction, you will see President Nelliegray Brown charmingly step forward in a creation of sophisticated black, while vice prexy Harriett L. Wadley will make her bow in the contrasting new shade of biege; Euvalda Morris, who takes notes during the club meetings, will meet her public in a breath-taking all-white number, while charter member Clara Taylor will be done up in yards and yards of blue net over taffeta; Marion B. Jackson, a former prexy of the league, will step forward in a royal blue gown featuring the plunging neckline; charter member Lottie Walker will wear the new length topped by a contrasting stole; Fannie DeMan will be in black velvet and white chantilly lace and Frances Smith will be gowned in a creation of striking pink. It will be a big night for Ruth Ball, Nadine Cole and Gladyce Clarke, new members of the league who will be officially presented when the introduction takes place at midnight. Didn't tell all in the above jottings, for there are several members who wouldn't give the secret of what they will be wearing this evening, leaving something to look forward to. Mrs. Charlotta Bass, club mother, and Laura Slayton, sponsor, will both be among the honored ladies present. So until tonight around 10 p.m. we leave the Doll League Formal Ball.

TRADITION CHANGED

The Orchid Girls' Club that has taken the holiday spotlight for the past 17 years with their big formal, followed by a Xmas party at the Lincoln Theatre for underprivileged children will not give their dance this year. Had quite a little chat with prexy Ragmell Bagnerese, who reported that another type of charity work would be done by the Orchids this year. With such workers as Ellen Smith, Marion Gordon, Elizabeth Johnson, Adele Weaver, Juanita Smyles, Mamie Anderson and the rest of the Orchids, you may rest assured that their new program will be something different and definitely worthwhile.

By the way, while mentioning outstanding charity clubs and their annual holiday affairs, it just wouldn't be right leaving the subject without mentioning the Turnabout's first charity dance

Mr. and Mrs. James Reid Silver Wedding Anniversary

An affair of definite social importance was the elaborate 25th wedding anniversary party given on Saturday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Reid, by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie King (Jessel). The affair was given at the South Harvard Blvd. home of the Leslie Kings, and was attended by more than 200 friends of the family.

The affair that was given as a buffet supper, came as a complete surprise to the honored couple, who had no idea that they were being so honored. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the Kings. One of the many gifts that attracted the eyes of many was the beautiful silver tree blossoming with 62 bright silver dollars. The Silver Tree was decorated by Mrs. Emily Portwig, Mrs. Margaret Rene and Mrs. Juanita Edwards.

Mrs. Ann R. Reid, was quite a charming honoree in a dress of white crepe, featuring a peplum that softly draped to the back hemline. The dress was an original by Mrs. I. Collins of Santa Monica. Mrs. Jessel Reid King, pretty young hostess of the evening received in lovely white dress that enhanced her figure. Assisting hostesses were Mmes. Evelyn Griffin, Emily Portwig, Susan Cooley, Fannie Benjamin, Bernice Nance, Jewel Jackson, Margaret Rene', Quinlock Sheen, Helen Garland, Daisy Hudson Brooks, Mr. Reid's niece, Mrs. Odessa Hudson, Mr. Reid's sister, Mrs. Edith Bailey, Bernice Pillow, Vivian Bettis, Marie Dunson, Elois Davis, Georgia Hardiman and Marjorie McPherson.

The beautiful home of Mrs. King was decorated throughout by the Dosty Florist. "Mums" and gladioli were used profusely. Adding a musical note to the festivities, Mrs. Fannie Benjamin sang "Through The Years" and "I Love You Truly", accompanied at the piano by Dr. Herbert Sheen. Following the familiar bridal-hymns, Mr. and Mrs. James Reid proudly went through the old tradition of cutting the wedding cake, with just as much enthusiasm as they did 25 years ago. The party lasted well past the appointed hour, with all wishing the prominent couple 25 years more of marital bliss. Jessie Reid King, is the couple's only daughter

Scholarship Will Benefit From Beth Pi Sigma Show

"Made to please and not to startle" is the theme that will run through all the scenes when Beta Pi Sigma Sorority shows for the first time fashions that will be worn in late winter and early spring. Punctuating the styles that are almost exclusively from Crowder-Terrell apparel shop supplemented by models with a "pep" in their wardrobes, like little exclamation points of pressure, are the small details, the glancing ideas that give color and endurance to a costume.

Nora James, chairman of fashions says everything is in readiness for the review. The charming models give her this confidence. They are: Geraldine Jones, Ida Mae Alexander, Crezette Merchison, Mary Frances Peterson, Jane Hampton, Thelma Lee Wallace, Dorothy Landry, Jane Nealy, Essie Rodgers, Helen Lambs Crozier, Margaret Marie Weaver, Hazel Shumate, Lillian Giles, Jesmer Boyd, and Mrs. De Loche.

Andy Kirk and his band will be at the Club Congo on that Sunday evening along with other well known guest artist to add a spice of fun to the show.

Mrs. Juanita Lucien Jones, president states the funds secured from this affair will be used for the sorority's scholarship and community funds.

For tickets and reservations, call Mrs. Bernice Nance. Dr. 5425, or Mrs. Maggie Rawls, Re. 2-1440. BUT HURRY!!!!

to be given on December 11. Invites to the semi-formal that is slated for the Elks Hall, will be in the mails the last week of November. Aside from the regular dance program, J. T. Gipson has already scheduled top-notch entertainment to liven the intermission time. The Turnabouts are out to make this quite an event.

FRENCH APACHE THEME

The girls of Sigma Chapter AKA may chalk the French Apache Party on their list of outstanding affairs. Popular Dolores Bell was general chairman of the affair that was held at 1918 S. Harvard Blvd. last Saturday night. The little invitations ordered all to dress in the Apache costume, which included tight black skirts, turtle neck sweaters, berets, big ear-rings and what have you. The tennis courts and rumpus room looked just like the streets of Paris by night, for the collegiate set in costume was much in evidence, spilling from the main dance room, the tennis courts and the patio.

Strictly for atmosphere, Dodie and her committee of workers, including Elaine Corbin, Marie Flenoury, Lillian Wilson, Carolyn Clark, Earline Stafford and Rudy Whitmore, set up the tables with Scotch bottles bearing candles that gave off just the right lighting effect for a night in gay Paree. To top the evening, Orchid Oliver and Cerita Comargo were all ready to put on a typical Apache dance; however, the crowd was too great, leaving little or no space for any type dancing. The Ivy Pledges, including cute Donzella Coulter, Gerry Barnum, Jackie Lewis, Gloria Hemphill, Billie Jean Barrett, Lauretta Pruitt, Gloria Crouch were right in there passing out pretzels to the beer drinkers.

Among those who were outstanding Apaches for the evening were Fritz Banks, who went typically French from the cap on his head to the boots on his feet; Norman Houston's Apache tam was topped with a colorful bit of fringe, while Maethilda Kenner paraded in a very tight-fitting black skirt, etc.; Jackie and Bob Carroll were there in costume, as were Lenora and Pete Thompson, Katy and Paul Mayfield, Charlotte and Charlain Derreck, Joan and Earl Pierson, Ethalsen Gray, Cairo Collins, Johnnie Delgardo, Jerry and Marco Peterson, Norma Williams and Frank Harvey, John Brewer, Nellie Becker and Hazel Shumate, who topped her outfit with black net hose and colorful garter; Sam Strain not only wore the Bee-Bop cap type beret, but also wore hube ear-rings.

Of course, Julius Brown, the college set's ace policeman, was on duty. You may rest assured this Apache party will long be remembered by all attending, for a perfect time was enjoyed. The party was something different, and for once the guests really followed the costume plea put out by Dolores Bell and her committee workers of Sigma chapter, the AKA voice on the USC campus. This week's EAGLE carries pictures on the dance.

HARVEST MOON

By the way, speaking of huge crowds and loads of fun, believe me, that pattern will be followed on Sunday night, Nov. 21, when the big Texas Hop and Jitterbug contest takes place at the Club Congo, as part of the Harvest Moon Festival sponsored by the dancing team of Volez and Yolando. Jimmy Starr, writer for a local metropolitan paper, will be on hand as emcee, while Volez and Yolanda sit in with the judges. Andy Kirk will play the dance music for the big night. All of you Texas Hoppers and "Bugs" still have a chance to enter the big contest that offers prizes galore. You may get your entry blank at the Club Congo or the EAGLE office. Of course, the public will be expected to take part in determining the dance winners, who will dance in the finals at the Olympic Auditorium, when the Harvest Moon Dance Festival takes place on Saturday night, Nov. 27. Be sure to red letter the 21st and 27th on your calendar of good time events.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Virginia Johnson and the wonders of her Western avenue bath house have been told to me time and time agin. So on last Thursday your social editor found her way to the bath house and is now equipped to give you first-hand info. The place is the last word and should be a weekly or at least a monthly "must" on your list of activities. . . . Leslie and Jessiel King certainly took their parents by surprise when they gave the big buffet supper party honoring the Reids' 25th anniversary last Saturday night. . . . Should you go to your record shop and see the name Ivy Willis on the new MGM label, just tie the lady's voice in with that of Kitty Bilbrew, who takes Ivy Willis as a new recording name. Kitty's latest hit is "How He Sends Me." . . . Rebecca Farrington will birthday celebrate on Saturday night. Friends have been invited to dine and dance. . . . Mrs. Grant Venerable Sr., was brunch hostess last Thursday morn. Places were marked for more than 50 bridge-playing matrons. . . . Mildred Murray is now attending State College and will get her degree in June. Her sister, Vernell Stratton and her medic husband, will return to L.A. during the summer months to take up permanent residence. . . . With a mention of the Sigma Honey Ball, Saturday night, Nov. 20, at Alent's Club House, we make the deadline. . . . 'Til Next Week.

It is very easy to accuse and to criticize those whom we dislike and who have been unfair to us—far easier than to search out the truth about them. That is the case of many toward J. Parnell Thomas, chairman of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee. I admit I am somewhat abhorrent at his question "Are you, or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party," but now that he has ben indicted by the federal grand jury for stealing government money, he should be treated and thought of as fairly as those accused of being communists should have been. For it is only through practice toward others what we feel for ourselves that we learn to be democratic Americans.

J. Parnell Thomas was mayor of the town in which he was born, Allendale, New Jersey, on two terms from 1926 and 1928, and directed the Emergency Unemployment Relief. His two sons each served overseas in the Armed Forces during the war. The man in question has been elected to Congress, where he is chairman of the House of UnAmerican Activities Committee, for five consecutive times—the Seventy-Fifth through the Eightieth Congresses. So we can see that Mr. Thomas is not an upstart, rearing to see his names in the headlines of the daily press—who usually shows signs of accomplishment.

To judge the tree by the fruit it bears; the fruit of the UnAmerican Activities Committee has been bitter, and under a Republican Administration, would have been corrosive. But from the record of the Eightieth Congress in a past issue of New Republic, Thomas voted to override a Presidential veto and enact the Taft-Hartley Bill into law; voted thumbs-down on an anti-inflation ammendment. voted in favor of Anti-Poll Tax Jegislation, and did not vote at all on the Mundt-Nixon Bill.

Therefore, the situation is complex, and perhaps a man with such a personality is involved. I see no reason why a man with J. Parnell Thomas' background should vote to close the gate on our democratic institutions of free, uncontrolled thought and political affiliation . . . a man whose two sons have fought to preserve our nation.

Perhaps Parnell Thomas has voted only as those people back in the town of Allendale wanted him to vote on the different bills. But he certainly hasn't the right to aid any racial bigot in starting a national witch-hunt, designed to include everyone but Republicans—and perhaps the people back in Allendale.

However, at the present time Parnell Thomas is under the powerful light of justice for pay kickbacks—nothing else. It's strange, too, that a man of his character, so interested in doing wonderful things for his country, should be called down for a crime parallel to that of a common sneak-thief. May justice be done.

Thurman Arnold

In the November issue of Harper's, and this article I urge all government employees and civil service workers to read, the ten commandments, as they have been referred to, are laid down on How Not to get Investigated.

Thurman Arnold was once a judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and an Assistant Attorney General to the Anti-Trust Division of our government. Among his ten commands on being uninvestigated, he tells how you shouldn't go to any dance or social gathering at which a "subversive" appears, never talk on controversial issues, subscribe to New Republic or any "liberal" magazine or know anything about Russia, among others. And you should, he says, never ride in any auto with a "subversive," or be unduly critical of Fascists.

Mr. Arnold's report was nippy and direct, and showed the foremost extremes to which the people of any country can go when "bereaucrats," or little scared people under strict government control.

JESSIE MAE VAUGHN

Jessie Mae Vaughn (1937-1948) Young Victim of Polio

This is in memory of little Jessie Mae Vaughn who was stricken with that dread disease, polio, when only eleven years of age.

Jessie Mae was a student at the 28th Street Grammar School, and was to enter Junior High School in February. She was an outstanding piano student of Miss Ruby Lyle and during her two years' study she was progressing rapidly, and had a promising future in a musical career. She had appeared with other students of Miss Lyle on radio and recital programs. The last piano recital she played was last June at the home of Miss Lyle, when she appeared with a select interracial group of students.

Jessie Mae was an active member of the New Zion Baptist Church Sunday School where she filled the position of pianist. Rev. Thomas P. Moss is pastor of New Zion Baptist Church.

Although stricken with soul-wracking grief and being greatly missed by her little aunt and pal, Alameda Bingham, and all those who loved her, they nevertheless bow in humble submission to God who doeth all things well.

The grandmother of Jessie Mae, Mrs. Mary Bingham; the mother, Mrs. Jessie Mae Vaughn, and the family wish to thank all of their many friends for the beautiful flowers, cards, telegrams, and many experssions of sympathy during their bereaved hour.

The following poem was written in acrostic stylein tribute to little Jessie ae Vaughn, honoring her first name:

By Robert E. Richards

J Jesus, the light of the world—
That was beautiful Jessie Mae's life
To live as Jesus said
Suffer little children to come unto me.

E Even sing praises to Him
Such as her favorite hymns
What A Friend We Have in Jesus, Trust and Obey,
The Old Rugged Cross, Does Jesus Care, Jesus Is Calling.

S She was as sweet as the hymns she sang
Daily to her beloved mother, and grandparents
And schoolmates and friends.

S Say it not with tears of sorrow
Jessie Mae, O! Jessie Mae will always live
Her life, though like a budding rose
Shall be an example for others of her age
And even older people.

I If God's judgment was best to take her home
To sing the Holy City with the Angeles and Arch-Angeles
Then let us think and wish we were there to hear them.

E Eternal God, we know now it is thy will
So let it be—we shall sing Just a Closer Walk with Thee softly.

M Months later we'll be saying
Our dear, beloved Jessie Mae is gone—
But not with the wind
But to that beautiful isle of somewhere.

A About my Father's business, she'll say
In her child-like way
Again in her child-like way she'll sing
When the battle is over we shall wear a crown
And a little crown she will wear.

E Everlasting God, we beseech thee now
To bless and comfort her dear, beloved, kind mother
Jessie Mae Vaughn
Let her be still and know that Thou art God.

Watts Adult Choral Group in Hollywood Church Appearance

The Adult Choral Group of Watts area, under direction of Frieta Shaw were Sunday guests of the Armenian Congregational Church of Hollywood last Sunday, where they presented a musical program to the intense delight and admiration of the large and appreciative audience. William DeValentine, Atwater Kent prize winner, was a featured artist among the singers.

The program at the church was highlighted by an address by Mrs. Mary E. Carter who, with her husband the Rev. A. C. Carter, spent 13 years in missionary work in China. Before her marriage Mrs. Carter was governess and tutor to the children of Madame Soong, grandmother of Madame Chiang Kai Chek.

Following the church program Director Shaw and her husband were dinner guests at the Carters home on West 37th Street where they inspected some of the rare collectors items picked up by their hosts during a long residence in China.

An interesting note in the evening's exchange was the story of the activities of the Carters who are interested in the people of war-torn Europe and the Far East. These two people, out of their modest means, have sent more than 600 packages to help the starving people of Europe and China during the past year. Their postage alone for the Christmas packages they are sending amounts to over $100.

Mrs. Spurlock Returns From Lengthy Tour

Mrs. Felix Spurlock, 2018 East 111th Street, returned last week from an extensive tour across the continent during which she visited 35 Nursery Schools and made a study of their management and activities.

Mrs. Spurlock's itinerary, which started from her home here on the West Coast, with Chicago and the annual conference of the National Association for Nursery Education as her first objective, took her to Toronto, Canada; Gary, Indiana; New York City, Washington, D.C.; New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia and Michigan and was highlighted by social as well as educational incidents of much interest and importance.

In New York City, Washington and Toronto she was the object of much social attention from personages of national reputation as well as social prominence, with all the attendant photographic and press publicity that goes with such persons and matters of general interest.

Mrs. Spurlock is scheduled to give a full report of her trip and its finding to her fellow Los Angeles Nursery School teachers in the near future.

Hobby House Inspection Tour Proves Fascinating

To acquaint a group of friends with one of the most unusual and interesting projects to be found in Los Angeles as well as to have them know its gifted creator Mrs. Fanny Rembert conduct a brief tour of inspection thorugh that most fascinating home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchison, 2110 E. Imperial Highway, justly dubbed The HOBBY HOUSE last Saturday afternoon.

"Made of the things people throw away", was a descriptive statement that is poor preparation for the sudden revelation of beauty in line, color, setting and structure that is presented by the approach to the low, mellow-red brick house that fits into its setting like a flower in its calyx.

The wonder is intensified, when you learn that the massive front door with its quaint hammered brass and iron ansa was made from the bottom of a truck and some of its metal parts. Just inside the door a three tiered shelf of drift wood garnered from the beach holds priceless bits of bric a brac. Underneath it is a softly polished chest of drawers ingeniously constructed to hold tools behind one side of its dignified facade while the other masks utility drawers, all from the remnants of an old time doowden Ford car body.

The tile-like pattern of a deep piled, dark red carpet covering the big living room floor, from wall to wall between the door and wide, hospitable fireplace at the far end of the room, you find is made of hundreds of small, sample squares set together by the patient hands of Frank Huchison and his wife, while the breathtakingly beautiful etchings on the wall are the work of Frank Huchison himself, done with Chinese colored crayons. There are more things in that living room that you need time to examine so you go on to the bedroom.

The big fourposter double bed bears a soft patina of age that only the Siamese hardwood from Burma, of which it is made, could take.

There is a wall given over to closets and storage drawers that may be reached with the help of movable shelves that become a ladder to the high top drawers.

Then there is the bar fittingly fashioned from a huge old cask with a discarded car bumper serving for footrail. The kitchen clock set on its bizarre shelf made from a rocking chair salvaged from the dump; the pewter vessels in a deep recess above the cabinet; the den with its port hole windows that draw one's attention to the fact that the massive exposed beams supporting the unceiled roof are sturdy ship's timbers.

One marvels at the perfection of all this work but the crowning discovery comes when one learns that wooden pegs have served the purpose of nails in all this construction. And it is then that one no longer questions why the man that has done all this should be chosen by people like Stokowsky and many other great artists of Los Angeles' Art World to design and work out many of the most valuable and highly prized furnishings in their places of retreat for work and meditation.

Vernon Lions Sell Programs To Provide Seeing-Eye Dogs

The Vernon Lions Club is asking public support of its sale of advertising in the official programs for the Great Western Rodeo which will be held on Saturday and Sunday, November 27th and 28th, at the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards.

Through the sale of advertising space in the programs, and through sale of the programs themselves, the Lions hope to further the project they have long been carrying on.—that of buying and training seeing eye dogs to be given to the blind.

Because of the specialized training needed for the dogs, and through the period of cooperative association between the dog and its new master, the Lions need all of the funds they can get.

The public's buying of space in the program and the program itself will give support to a worthy enterprise.

Watts Area Committee Plans Pre-Holiday Membership Fete

The Watts Area Committee was called together by its chairman Faustina Johnson at the residence of the secretary, M. A. Bush, 1641 E. 115th street, Saturday, November 13, at 3 p.m., in order to complete plans for a pre-holiday Membership Party to be given at the Youth Center, 102nd and Beach, the afternoon of December 2.

Mrs. Rembert, committee member and chairman of the Teen Agers committee, introduced Mrs. Pearl Bryant, area director of the latter group, who spoke briefly. She was followed by Mrs. Boyd who, on invitation of chairman Johnson, gave a most interesting report of plans and activities of the YWCA World Fellowship Committee of which she is a member. Among the plans in which the Watts Area Committee is especially interested is the Tea which is to be given at Clark Residence on December 9 where the area will be represented by several numbers on the afternoon program including a small child in the pageant of All Nations.

Chairman Johnson appointed Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Bush to supervise the details of the party scheduled for December 2. For which Mrs. Bryant and Mrs. Rembert pledged the services of their committee to prepare and address the 500 invitations and over to be sent out.

The meeting closed with an invitation from the hostess that took the committee into her beautifully appointed dining nook for an appetizing meal of the most delicious gumbo ever served anywhere.

Mrs. Spencer Tracy Addresses Southsiders on Handicap Aid

A delegation of officers and members of Lincoln School PTA was part of the audience in the Jamie Abbott School, 5200 Clark Street, which conducts classes for the deaf and dumb, who heard Mrs. Spencer Tracy give a detailed outline of the operation of the John Tracy Clinic for the care and education of those so handicapped.

Mrs. Tracy, who heads the Clinic, was introduced by Principal Martin. She gave a vivid description of methods used in training children who cannot hear or speak to take their places in the normal life of the world about them. She stressed among the services offered by the Clinic a correspondence course in training deaf and dumb children which will be given to any mother anywhere who has a deaf child. The Clinic, Mrs. Tracy pointed out, is operated entirely on a donation basis and no person is asked a fee.

Expressions of relief and satisfaction with the work being done for their children in the classes at the Jamie Abbott school were heard from several mothers attending the lecture which was sponsored by the PTA. Those attending from the Watts area were Abalene Winge, and S. Thomas, president and secretary respectively of Lincoln PTA and members Olivia Bennett, Isabella White and Thelma Berkley. Mrs. Berkley provides the news from her neighborhood for the Watts section of the EAGLE.

The meeting closed on a note of harmony and interest in the next get-to-gether which will be on the first Friday in December.

Crazed Ex-G.I. Shoots Wife, Baby and Self

The peace and quiet of the neighborhood near 1204 E. 101st Street, Watts, was suddenly shattered by the sound of gun shots around noon on Sunday, Nov. 13. When the police responded to the call of excited neighbors they found Henry Hayes, a veteran of the South Pacific wars calmly contemplating the result of his own homicidal rage. He had seriously wounded his wife Ruby, and a half year old daughter, Linda.

Hayes, a carpenter by trade, who was estranged from his wife, according to neighbors, had visited her yesterday morning and shortly thereafter shot her and the child and then turned the weapon on himself.

Hayes was lodged in the prison ward of General Hospital, while his wife and child were hospitalized in the wards. All three of the victims are said to be in a critical condition according to hospital attendants.

Harvest Is Nearly Over For This Year

The 1948 harvest season is drawing rapidly to a close, according to local farm labor reports received at Sacramento headquarters of the State Department of Employment.

Although many crops had a late start, favorable weather during the past week has made it possible to finish some and speed up other current activities.

Watts Youth Project Objectives Summarized

A restatement of the Los Angeles Youth Project objectives for Area 8, which includes the Watts district, followed by an analysis of data and general discussion formed the content of a luncheon meeting of the heads of the various agencies and community representatives at Jordan High School, 103rd and Gorman, November 10. Mary Lewis, executive secretary of Los Angeles Metropolitan Y.W.C.A., presided.

A brief statistical summary of cultural, age and sex distribution yielded the information that there are approximately 9,000 youth in the area, of whom 6,000 are Americans of color, 2,000 Americans of Latin descent and 1,000 Anglo and other Americans. Approximately 1,776 are served by Youth Project agencies, 1,110 boys and 666 girls whose ages range from 6 to 25 years with the top load of 637 between 15 and 17 and the bottom of 6 among the 6 year olds.

Project objectives discussed in detail were, preventive programs for delinquent and pre-delinquent groups in relation to agency coordination; expansion of intercultural programs; emphasis on minority groups; and a balanced service to boys and girls.

It was determined that youth programs in Area 8 reach both normal and maladjusted youth; that service to girls, young adults and small children is inadequate; that there is a lack of coordination of the work on the elementary school level; that the intercultural program needs to be more generally developed and that the volunteer worker problem is heightened by the transient population factor.

Agency and community personnel taking part in the meeting were: Herb Liebowitz, Regional director, Ehrhardt and Talbert, Boy Scouts: Richardson and Adams, Girl Scouts: Thompson, CYO; Spearman, Mendoza, Zuzuetta, Johnson, Principal Mann and Girl's principal Sutherland, Jordan High: Zamaranda, YMCA; Surola, Camp Fire Girls; Hal, White, Lewis, Recreation; Rembert, Bryant, Teen-Agers; Colyre, Probation office: Giles, Brannan, Moten, Watts Co-ordinating council; principal Lucas, Compton Ave. school; assistant principal Kessin, Ritter school; principal Bloemer, Gorman Ave. school; Honora Fox, Willowbrook High school, Wilson Juvenile department; and Lewis of the YWCA.

Watts Modiste Demonstrates Creative Art

The idea of applying the rules of creative art to her dress-making business by designing clothes around the personality of patrons has proven so successful that Fanny Leonard, exclusive couturiere of 11512 Grape St. has gone a step further and accepted orders for special costumes to fit the mood as well as the occasion.

In her new approach to the art of emphasizing personality traits and temperament with clothes Mrs. Leonard takes texture, pattern and colors into consideration in the designs she creates for the individual. A recent creation in grey crepe, with faintly discerned steeples and towers revealed as through a grey mist emphasizes the quiet grace and stately charm of the young matron for whom it was designed.

Encouraged by the success attending her experiment Mrs. Leonard is preparing to expand her work by erecting a separate building at her present location.

This engaging play goes by leaps and bounds from batty comedy to hair-raising chills and thrills, and back to batty comedy again. It never ceases to be grand entertainment. There isn't a ghost of a chance of this play not being a "howling success."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, B.D.

Subject: Poetry in The Bible. Lesson Text and Outline. Psalm 24. Motto Text. Ps. 40:3.

Introduction

Of the five poetical books in the Bible, the Palms and the Song of Solomon are lyries; Proverbs and Ecclesiastes are didactic; Job is in the form of a drama, Suffering is the keynote in Job; praise in the Psalm; Wisdom in Proverbs; vanity in Ecclesiastes; and love in the Song. Of the poems in the Bible, our attention is called to Hannah's song over Samuel.

Our study selection (Psalm 24) was probably written by David for first use when the ark was brought up from the house of Obed-edom to Jerusalem; first part for the processional choirs approaching the city; second part by two groups of singers and chorus as they wound up the hill of Zion; and third part antiphonally by choirs within and without, choruses and perhaps soloists as the company entered the city and the sanctuary.

Comments

1. God's absolute propriety in this part of the creation where our lot is cast. We are not to think that the heavens, even the heavens only, are the Lord's, and the numerous and bright inhabitants of the upper world, and that this earth, being so small and inconsiderable a part of the creation, and at such a distance from the royal palace above, is neglected, and that he claims no interest in it.

No, even the earth is his, and this lower world; and, though he has prepared the throne of his glory in the heavens, yet his kingdom rules over all, and even the worms of this earth are not below his cognizance, nor from under his dominion. When God gave the earth to the children of men he still reserved to himself the property, and only let it out to them as tenants, or usufructuaries. The earth is his by an indisputable title, for he hath founded upon the seas and established it upon the floods.

It is his; for, he made it, formed it, founded it, and fitted it for the use of man. The matter is his, for he made it out of nothing; the form is his, for he made it according to the eternal counsels and ideas of his own mind. He made it himself, he made it according to the ternal counsels and ideas of his own mind. He made it himself, he made it for himself; so that he is sole, entire, and absolute owner, and none can let us title to any part, but by, from and under him.

2. A soul that knows and considers its own nature, origin, and immortality, when when it has viewed the earth and the fulness thereof, will sit down unsatisfied; there is not found among all the creatures a help meet for man, and therefore it will think of ascending towards God, towards heaven, will ask, "What shall I do to rise to that high place, that hill, where the Lord dwells and manifests himself, that I may be acquainted with him, and do abide in that happy holy place where he meets his people and makes them holy and happy.

The hands lifted up in prayer must be pure hands, no blot of unjust gain cleaving to them, nor any thing else that defiles the man and is offensive to the holy God. We make nothing out of our religion if we do not make heart-work of it. It is not enough that our hands be clean before men, but we must also wash our hearts from wickedness, and not allow ourselves in any secret heart-impurities, which are open before the eye of God.

Yet in vain do those pretend to have pure and good hearts whose hands are defiled with the acts of sin. That is a pure heart which is sincere and without guile in convenanting with God, which is carefully guarded that the wicked one, the unclean spirit, tough it not, which is purified by faith, and conformed to the image and will of God.

Those that have no regard to the obligations of truth or the honor of God's name are unfit for a place in God's holy hill. Those that seek God, they joined themselves together to God, not only in ornost prayer, but in serious endeavors to obtain his favor and keep themselves in his love.

Having made it the summit of their happiness, they make it the summit of their ambition to be accepted of him, and therefore take care and pains to approve themselves to him. It is to the hill of the Lord that we must ascend, and, the way being up-hill, we have need to put forth ourselves to the utmost, as those that seek diligently.

Where God gives righteousness he certainly designs salvation. Those that are made meet for heaven shall be brought safely to heaven, and then they will find what they have been seeking, to their endless satisfaction.

3. This may be taken as a poetical figure designed to represent the subject more affectingly, God, in his word and ordinances, is thus to be welcomed by us. With great readiness; the doors and gates must be thrown open to him. Let the word of the Lord come into the innermost and uppermost place in our souls; and, if we had 600 necks, we should bow them all to the authority of it.

With all reverence, remembering how great a God he is with whom we have to do, in all our approaches to him. We may also apply it to the ascension of Christ into heaven and the welcome given to him there.

When he had finished his work on earth he ascended in the clouds of heaven. The gates of heaven must then be opened to him, those doors that may be trully called everlasting, which had been shut against us, to keep the way of the tree of life.

We may apply it to Christ's entrance into the souls of men by his word and Spirit, that they may be his temples. It is required that the gates and doors of the heart be opened to him, not only as admission is given to a guest, but a possession is delivered to the rightful owner, after the title has been contested.

This is the gospel call and demand, that we let Jesus Christ, the King of glory, come into our souls, and welcome him with hosannas. Blessed is he that cometh. That we may do this aright we are concerned to ask, Who is this King of glory? to acquaint ourselves with him, whom we are to believe in, and to love above all. And the answer is ready.

He is Jehovah, and will be Jehovah our righteousness, and all-sufficient Saviour to us. If we give him entrance and entertainment.

He is strong and mighty, and the Lord of host; and therefore it is our peril if we deny him entrance; for he is able to avenge the affront; he can force his way, and can break those in pieces with his iron rod that will not submit to his golden sceptre. In singing this let our hearts cheerfully answer to this call, as it is in the first words of the next psalm, Unto thee, O Lord! do I lift up my soul.

Comment on the Motto Text

God has given us a cause to rejoice and a heart to rejoice. We was brought, as it were, into a new world, and that filled our mouths with a new song, even praises to God; for his praise and glory must all our songs be sung. Fesh mercies, especially such as we never before received, call for new songs. This is applicable to our Lord Jesus in his reception to paradise, his resurrection from the grave, and his exaltation to the joy and glory set before him; we were brought out of the horrible pit, set upon a rock, and had a new song put into our mouths.

McCoy Senior Choir Presents Successful Religious Play

The Senior Choir of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church at 802 East 46th Street, Rev. E. A. Anderson, Pastor; thrilled a record breaking audience in the auditorium of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church, Thursday evening with the play "Heaven Bound."

The play was written by the talented and efficient Mrs. Leola Douglas and directed by Mr. Cecil W. Dandy, former Wings Over Jordan tenor Soloist, and present director of Music at the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church.

With the Choir in background certain bibical characters were portrayed as to how life is affested by daily hardships and temptations constantly seeking to lead us from the straight and narrow path of righteousness. With the Devil right on hand, everyone was made to realize that the song so titled "Everybody Talk About Heaven Ain't Going There" may be more true than we ever stop to think. The Progressive Baptist Church Choir was Guest of the evening. Rev. H. B. Porter, Pastor.

The Choir, Mr. Dandy and the entire cast is to be commended on their splendid performance on last Thursday evening. The play was such a grand success that the cast has consented to give a repeat performance which will be staged on Sunday, November 28, 1948 at 7:30 p.m. at the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church. Bear this date in mind so you can be sure and see this wonderful cast.

The Cast has also been asked to stage a performance at the Embassy Auditorium of this city, the date for this performance will be announced later.

The Choir ended its Musical Festival Sunday evening at 3:00 p.m. with a concert. The participating Choirs were the Victory Baptist Choir of the Victory Baptist Church, Rev. A. A. Peters, Pastor; the New Zion Choir of the New Zion Baptist Church, Rev. Thomas P. Moss, Pastor; and the Independent Choir of the Peoples Independent Churc, Rev. Clayton Russell, Pastor. The McCoy Choir also gave several numbers. Each choir rendered several numbers and contributed highly toward making the concert a great success. We wish openly to thank each Church for its wonderful cooperation.

The Pastor, Rev. E. A. Anderson and the entire membership of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church invite you to attend their services at any and all times. You are especially urged to attend the five O'Clock prayer meetings held each morning at McCoy. On joining the community Mr. Swann took the name of Brother Bonaventure. He joined the Catholic Church in 1944, and was baptized in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Harrisburg.

Today is another springtime, when in fulfillment of the ancient promises, the spiritual sun has again risen to guide mankind in his hour of darkness, to shed the light of truth upon the difficult problems of the age, and to evoke in human hearts that faith and radiant love which are the first requirements for reconstruction. The Word of God is revealed today by Baha'u'llah. (a Persian name meaning Glory of God).

ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

Albert J. McNeil
Music Critic
California Eagle

(Note: We promised some time ago a complete review of the Roena Savage Town Hall Debut, in New York. The following is a reprint of the review which appeared in the Musical Courier, national journal, recently.)

Roena Savage, soprano, gave a recital of music by Haydn, Mozart, Strauss, Faure, Duparc, Barthe and a group of spirituals on last September 26th (afternoon). Miss Savage has a fine, rich voice but not enough control over it. As a result she produced many forced and breathy tones. Her interpretations seemed heartfelt; apparently, she wanted to do more than the command she had of her voice would permit. Particularly effective were the spirituals. Paul Ulanowsky was the excellent accompanist. V. McC.

One of the most outstanding musical undertakings of the season occurs this week end commencing tonight and ending Sunday evening with the 15 Annual presentation of the Bach Festival of the Cathedral Choir of the First Congregational Church, Sixth and Commonwealth Avenue.

The public is invited to all programs of the festival which will open this evening with the following selections:

Brandenburg Concerto No. 1 in F Major by Santa cmica Little Symphony, conducted by Jacques Rachmilovich with Oscar Wasserberger, violinist, soloist. A full concert of choral and orchestral music, including Part I of the Christmas Oratorio and Cantata No. 50 is to be presented.

A special innovation this year will be a presentation of the Coffee Cantata on Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:30 in Stuart Hall by the Concert Choir, Chamber Orchestra and Dance Workshop of the Los Angeles City College.

Saturday evening's program will include: Organ performances by David Craighead; Cantata No. 84 for soprano by Fern Sayre, and Bach Airs by the Girls' Choirs of the Church directed by Doris Stanton.

Sunday November 21st the Festival will conclude with the traditional presentation of the mighty "Mass" in B Minor in its entirety. The first part will be sung in the afternoon at four, with Melvin L. Gallagher, conducting the Cathedral Choir of the First Congregational Church and the Los Angeles Women's Symphony Orchestra.

Philharmonic Opens Visiting Artists Series Sunday Night

Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra will open the sixth annual visiting artists series at Pepperdine College with a concert in the college auditorium at 8:15 Sunday evening (Nov. 21).

Seymour Lipkin, 20-year-old Detroit pianist, will appear as soloist. He will play the Tchaikowsky Piano Concerto No. 1, which he performed with the NBC Symphony in winning the Rachmaninoff auditions at Carnegie Hall last spring, and a group of Chopin favorites.

The orchestra, under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein, will play two compositions by Richard Wagner—the overture to "Rienzi," an early opera rarely heard today, and the Siegfried Rhine Journey music from "Die Gotterdammerung." Also from the field of operatic music is Mozart's overture to "The Marriage of Figaro."

The early classical period is represented by excerpts from the 18th century Concerto in D Major by Carl Philip Emanuel Bach. From modern music Mr. Wallenstein has programmed the Concerto for Orchestra by the Hungarian composer Bela Bartok.

New Stage Play Well Received

"The Torch Grows Dim," the new exciting play which had its premiere Tuesday night has been playing to enthusiastic audiences at the little intimate Dance Theatre situated on Melrose blvd. The play in all probability will move to a larger theatre as soon as one is available.

The young producer, Arthur Cahn, who brought the original script from New York for its try-out on the West Coast, has been delighted by the way his new vehicle has been received. The picture rights have been assigned to the Monogram studio.

An all Equity cast of twenty, headed by James Edwards, last seen in "Deep Are the Roots," Martin Mason, Doris Karnes, and Richard Farmer will probably be headed back East—before the snow quits flying. "The Torch Grows Dim," on account of other commitments, plays five nights a week, Mondays and Saturdays are eliminated.

Comedy Drama Presented At Georgia State

SAVANNAH, Ga.—"The Voice of the Turtle," famed stage and screen comedy, was presented in Meldrim Hall auditorium at Georgia State College recently by the American Negro Repertory Players before a packed house.

"The Turtle" was the first presentation of the 1948-49 GSC artist series. The cast, under the direction of Milton Wood, included Jacqualine Levy, Geri Bryan, Roman Henderson and Ann Flagg.

"The Challenge" is a sacred cantata, composed by William G. Blanchard, Professor of Organ at Pomona College and Dean of the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

In his foreword to "The Challenge," Mr. Blanchard says: "In a world of urnest it is fitting that we pause many times to reflect upon the tremendous influence which the Church is continually advancing in the cause of peace and extending the areas of good will."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Intended partly as a protest against racial discrimination in the art world, an exhibit of contemporary religious sculpture opened here this week at the Art Department of the Catholic University.

The show, which contains the work of internationally-known artists, will run throughout November. It is being sponsored by the Catholic Interracial Council of Washington.

Among the Negro sculptors exhibiting are Richmond Barthe, Allan Rohan Crite, William Edmondson, John Kersey and Theodore Ramos-Blanco. Others are Robert Amendola, Emil Bourdelle, Alfeo Faggi, Clare Fontanni, Edgar Keen, Oronzio Maldarelli, Ivan Mestrovic, Stephen Reid, and Robert Winthrop White.

Cootie May Toot His Trumpet on West Indies Tour

NEW YORK—Cootie Williams, the growl trumpet star, may set a modern precedent for jazz bands by making a tour of the West Indies during the coming winter. If the star, who has three times been a winner in the annual Esquire Magazine All-American polls, comes to terms with the sponsors of the proposed trip he will be the first modern jazz band to visit the Islands.

Ellis Williams' (no relation to Cootie) who represents many diversified Caribbean interests in America, has made an attractive offer to Williams. If accepted, it would mark the first time in recent years that a jazz unit has visited the West Indies.

Gerald Wilson's Band Opens at Downbeat

Gerald Wilson and his sensational full-sized swing band, featuring Mabel Liston, great girl trombonist, opens tonoght at the Downbeat Club.

Wilson recently concluded a smash engagement at Billy Berg's nitery, played the farewell dance at the Avodon, co-starring on the bill with the King Cole trio and literally rocked the house last week at Earl Carrol's when his amazing young dance band played lilting melodies for the capacity-dancing-cabaret crowd.

For years Gerald was one of the main standbye's in the Jimmie Lunceford band and was featured on many of the band's recordings. His specialty is trumpet-tooting and arranging, and he does both to the peak of perfection.

His band can best be described as being the kind of band that's "merely wonderful!"

(PINCH-HITTING FOR J. T. GIPSON)

Contrary to what most of the readers of this column would believe after having been exposed for so long to the ravings of J. T., anent the deep abiding affection that exists between the winsome columnist and this writer, the ensuing journalistic effort on our part is not a labor of love.

For months we have successfully resisted all Gipson's varied efforts to embroil us in this unwelcome task; turning a deaf ear to plaintive pleas, ridiculing threats, and callously laughing at such obvious traps as a frantic phone call depicting the poor kid at death's door with a deadline only several hours away.

And now the trick has been turned with amazing ease. He simply announced one week that we would guest-column the following and here is where he showed a touch of genius. Knowing we would ignore the announcement and not feel a thing, he subsequently telephone us that he was going to write the column under our name. In self defense we were compelled to throw in the towel.

Understand this is not meant to cast aspersions on J.'s scribblings or to infer we are a superior writer to him, but the guy's penchant for throwing bouquets hither and yon almost of a certainty would have thrown those of his readers who remember us at all, into a state of hopeless confusion. Of course, there are always those who refuse to be confounded by anything who would have just written it off that we had gone soft. We assure you nothing could be further than the truth.

As a matter of fact it is this strange inability of ours to mellow with the years that its fundamentally responsible for our fore-going theatre-columning. We began to find that our close personal association with show folk, was in itself, an obstacle to what we considered honest reporting. Too often we were accused, and justly so, of writing about the same artists again and again, with never so much as a mention of others. Guilty as we were of the practice, in justification to ourself, let it be said our ignoring of many of the alleged artists was downright charity. We were, in most cases, fond of them personally, but sincerely were either repulsed or just unmoved by their performances.

Frankly, it is our honest opinion, that as a complete whole, Negroes in show business are going out of the world backwards. We are not so young that we can't remember when in two fields Negroes although hopeless outnumbered, through sheer achievement and performance so outclassed other competitors it was generally conceded as their "rackets." We refer, of course, to the worlds of stage and sports. While unquestionably the Negro still holds an enviable position in the sports world, and while he is forging steadily and brilliantly ahead in many other avenues, it is heartbreaking to us who love show business as we do to see our representation not only at a hopeless standstill but pitifully content with the status quo, completely unaware that time is passing them by.

It is not our argument that there is a dearth of Negro talent. There are youngsters in the business who possess undeniable talent, there are still around many of our brighter luminaries often, fifteen, even twenty years and that necessarily on their parts there should be an overwhelming and new presentation of their established artistry.

We beef among ourselves and to all who will listen that our opportunities are so limited, our field is so small. True, and yet should opportunity his us over the head with an iron contract, what would we do? Recover from the blow, rack our brains to recall the routines we did so-pertly fifteen years ago and tell 'em to spot us. It ain't like that. Show business, that is. It is exactly what it says i.e. a business and like any business, successful only with hard work, constant application and progressive and new ideas.

Let us cite an incident which may or may not prove our point. Recently a group of local girls staged a huge and successful benefit at one of the larger Hollywood niteries. Patrons of the affair raved for days—"Terrific, Great" were a few of the adjectives heard repeatedly in describing the show. And yet, we guarantee you, had you walked into any facsimile of that night club anywhere in the country any time in the past ten or twelve years you would have ago who are still around only by the virtue of having such great talent. In the youngsters, the fault seems to lie more in the fact there is no intelligent direction of said talent. In the old guard it is more that there is such a disregard of the fact that time brings change in all things seen exactly the same show or it's counter point with the exception of the presence o eleven year old Toni Harper.

Our point is simply this, we had thought when we first heard the affair was to be staged, what a wonderful opportunity the girls have made for themselves and fellow performers to be showcased. Since they were to be sole executors of the affair they could for once run it as they wanted. We naturally assumed that with the co-operation they were receiving from everywhere they would take advantage of song writers, material writers and present a new and novel presentation to what we thought would be a jaded night club audience. The result was that although the show proved to be the same ole jive warmed over, the audience proved to be far from jaded, no doubt, because they patronize a night club as rarely as the kids work. Who knows, perhaps the local gentry could finally be roused to support a night club or two in this man's town if there were something new offered to warrant them leaving their cozy firesides.

To paraphrase, Henny Youngman, the comic who quipped in a New York night club several days after the election "Dewey has gond back to Albany, Truman has gone back to Washington and Congress has gone back to sleep"; now we can go back to our knitting, J.T. can come back to his column and Negro show business can go to, pardon us, we mean of course, go back to sleep.

T-Bone Walker in Person at The Elks Hall Thanksgiving

Dance lovers are in for a musical treat when the well-known and popular T-Bone Walker arrives in Los Angeles to play an engagement at the Elks Auditorium 4016 South Central Avenue Thanksgiving Day, before what is expected to be a capacity crowd.

T-Bone has long been acclaimed King of the Blues by musical critics all over the country due to the fact that his blues have a different quality than the ordinary blues singers have.

The news that T-Bone will be in Los Angeles for a short stay is sufficient to assure a capacity audience because T-Bone has long been a west coast favorite. He combines his musical talent with a natural gift for showmanship and always gives the people an evening of entertainment long to be remembered. Since leaving the coast, T-Bone has surrounded himself with a musical aggregation said to be second to none. His new band is a large outfit, which includes former members of other well-known orchestras and, in the short time that they have been together, are considered one of the top musical outfits on tour.

Los Angeles eagerly awaits the arrival of the T-Bone Walker Package. Inasmuch as the public has always loved T-Bone and his guitar, it is almost a cinch that they will love T-Bone in his triple role of star entertainer, director and singer.

Personally I'll Take Tallulah!

TAMPA, Fla.—Louis Jordan's annual trek into the southland has convinced the famous ork leader that the thousands who crowd nitely into the dance halls he plays still go for the blues. Nine out of ten that request a tune inevitably call for those songs of lament, he said.

Each section of the country that he has played in his eight years as a leader calls for different types of song, he asserted. The west, from California to Chicago, strictly go for songs with lots of conversation, while New Yorkers want something with a swing beat. With this in mind, Jordan said that he attempted to always keep in his musical library a well-balanced group of tunes in order to please the hundreds of thousands whom he appears befort yearly.

Jump King Sets New One Night Record

FLINT, Mich.—Count Basie, the "Jump King of Swing", established the third highest attendance mark in the history of this city for a name band dance when he jammed the mammoth I.M.A. Auditorium with an enthusiastic throng of 7287 dancers and spectators recently.

The Count racked up the near record gross of $10,930.50 in his first one-night dance date in this city in almost two years.

Sarah Vaughn Is Now in Philly

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Sarah Vaughan, the incomparable song charmer and poll winner, is making her first night club appearance in this city in her current two-week engagement at the very smart Ciro's, which got under way Monday, November 15. Following her stay at Ciro's, Miss Vaughan is scheduled for a string of leading theater bookings and will return to New York for angagement at either the Strand or the Paramount on Broadway shortly after the first of the year.

Blues Clinic to Open; But It Will Cost You

PHILADELPHIA—Perhaps the first "clinic" for professional singers in history will become a reality if Eddie (Mr. Clearhead) Vinson perfects his assistance program for blues singers.

Vinson's plan would be for would-be blues singers to submit recordings, which he would analyze and correct—for a fee.

Says Eddie in commenting on his prospective "clinic," "Everybody seems to want to sing blues whether they understand the idiom or not. You can't sing blues unless you 'feel' the mood, etc. Still most anybody with a good voice can sing blues, I find. My service will help these aspirants—amateur or professional—scientifically."

Mistake of Tap Dancer's Death Upsets All off Harlem Profesh'

A published report that "Sonny" of the famous dancing team "Son & Sonny" had been killed on Election Day in Pennsylvania while enroute to New York to vote, caused such an upset among theatrical circles that the Age itself had to resort to checking its source. As soon as the Friday edition hit the streets with the front page announcement, phone call to the Age office stating that Sonny was last seen Thursday night, two days after election, very much surprised the editors.

Further checkup revealed there are two dancing teams named "Son & Sonny," one greatly lesser known. And while Clarence Austin, as reported by the Age, was instantly killed when his neck was broken after a trailer truck sideswiped his car on Route 31, Charleroix, Penn., he is not the brother of singer Ida James.

Big Time Floor Shows Back In City With Ace Revue At Congo

Joe Morris, popular night club impresario, brought back big-time shows to the Eastside last week when he lured top notcher Andy Kirk and his Clouds of Joy from the Middle West for an indefinite engagment at the Congo Club, and surrounded the recording star with a bevy of beauties, plus an all star show.

With welcome relief, the first nighters applauded the first real night club show on the east-side in more months than most people like to remember. The dearth of places to go has caused many show goers to remain at home, listen to the radio and watch the television. Taking the bit in his teeth, Mr. Morris, believing that Los Angeles can and will support a night club with something to offer, brought in the entire line of pretty girls that stopped the show at Earl Carroll's last Monday night and producer "Baby" Simmons Creswell.

Ernie Andrews does the vocals. Freddy James, formerly of the Four Stepbrothers, handles the dancing. James is probably one of the most talented singles dancing today and his modern routines will please the most critical of audiences.

Carita Harbert is more graceful than ever in her dance of the fans. Miss Harbert is a veteran in show business and she knows that practice makes perfect and has spent many hours on her dance and the applause that greeted her ears at the conclusion of her performance opening night showed her efforts were not wasted. Byron and Beau, relatively newcomers as a team to night clubs, were grace personified in their calypso number. Both were accorded a splendid ovation from the enthusiastic crowd.

The chorus line, the backbone upon which the success of any floor show depends, is the answer to a tired businessman's eyes. Louise Collette, Bobby Reeves, Peggy Carlson, Avanell Harris, Dotty Seamon, Lucille O'Daniels, Alyce Lyons and Nettie Jeter form as pretty a picture in their several production numbers staged by Baby Simmons, as ever seen in any night club. The fun-loving public has too long starved for the kind of a production the Club Congo now offers. In the parlance of old timers, show business is back. There are two floor shows every night at 10:30 p.m. and one a.m. With the support of the public, the Club Congo intends to stay on the bigtime.

Jean Eldridge At Burbank Nightclub

Jean Eldridge (no relation to Roy) opens at the L and L Cafe, Burbank, for a four weeks engagement starting tonight.

Miss Eldridge, who is quite superb when it comes to singing songs and toying with the ivories, is on a par as pianist-vocalist with Una Mae Carlisle, Julie Lee and other so-called piano greats of the Piano kingdom who dish out swing for a living.

$400 Apiece? They Shoulda Stood in Bed!

Jack Benny's gags are worth $400 apiece, according to a story about the NBC star in the Nov.6 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The story, written by Cleveland Amory, is titled "Jack Benny's $400 Yaks." Though Benny's weekly income is a closely guarded secret, an associate estimates that Benny's many yaks during the season earn him about $400 each.

Amory describes in detail how Benny, his writers and producers put together the Benny-brand of comedy.

Here's Something Most Entertainers Know Nothing About

In appreciation of a favor he received when he literally didn't know where his next meal was coming from, singer Perry Como will do a stint for Sy Devore at Slapsy Maxie's, but for scale (Ed's Note: That's the minimum required by any artists' agent; though his fee is usually three figures higher), as a favor to Sy, who put him in togs when Perry was getting his start.

Como remembers those who helped him on his way up, realizing those same persons will remember him on his way down!

FIRE PROTECTION SAVES SOMETHING—by the maintenance of a first class fire department at a high cost of upkeep.

(Ed's Note: James Lovett was very well known and very well loved by members of the theatrical profession from Harlem to Hollywood. He was called to heaven last week, so I asked Lawrence LaMarr, a friend of Slick's for years, to write something on Slick for the theatrical page. Mr. LaMarr, Director of the Negro Press Bureau, writes the following—in tribute to a friend.)

BIG SLICK is dead. Yep, they buried Big Slick last Monday. We all were fond of Big Slick, born shortly after the turn of the century in an Oklahoma town. He was man and boy, here during his lifetime. We remembered him well, as a full lunged healthy frolicksome youngster. He grew large and husky.

He was a fresh as the apricot and loquot trees, he grew up around. In his younger days he was as clean limbed as the freshly laundered clothes his mother used to hand out to dry, or as eager of life as the newly cropped lawns in the neighborhood. Yes, that was Big Slick, who came into this vale of tears as James Lovett those many years ago. He has gone to join many of those he grew up with, including his cousins, Clarene "Chick" and Pelsie Whittacker, the late Jimmy Bigelow and scores of other former intimates on the "other side."

Big Slick, was one of the early market worker group. He was with Togo Fisher and that lusty group of husky workers. Romance, came into Big Slick's life only one. That early disappointment in love, was to prove disastrous to him. He lost his grip on life. He began to sulk and draw himself into a shell. Pride for the higher social elements of life left him. Big Slick slowly began to sink into the life of the roustabout. He began to lend himself to the operators of night club speakeasies as a doorman-bouncer. However, despite the fact, that for several years past, Big Slick, had utterly failed to catch hold on the esentials of life, he never lost one of the countless friends he had made.

He was an excellent conversationalist. Such a person who could hold the interest of his listeners on practically any popular subject. Of the many loyal friends, who will mourn the pasing of Big Slick, perhaps, Julia Scates, will miss him most. We liked her particularly, in the manner she accompanied her old friend to his final resting place. Well, to Big Slick, though he has gone from our midst, let us all be charitable enough to just breathe a silent prayer for the repose of the SOUL of a faithful friend. So long, James Lovett.

Newark Eagles Throws in the Sponge After Thirteen Years

NEWARK, N. J.—The best example of the heavy toll major leagues had been taking against Negro Baseball when it began to use Negroes in its ranks, came this week in the announcement that the fast playing Newark Eagles were no more. Piloted for over 13 years by the colorful husband and wife team, Abe and Effie Manley, the Eagles just couldn't take any longer the loss in fans who were turning out instead for Brooklyn and Cleveland games in the major leagues. So beset with financial difficulties despite its game efforts to withstand the brilliance of the major leagues, the Eagles are calling it quits before a new season rolls around.

Besides giving a lot of heartaches and headaches to the Manleys, the Eagles made a lot of gold for the years 1943-45, before Prexy Branch Rickey made his smart move by annexing Jackie Robinson to the lustreless roster of the Dodgers. The Manleys bitterly reproached him and Mrs. Manley made numerous statements against Rickey and against Jackie, for deserting Negro baseball. She too has been caustic against the Negro baseball fans for their "gullibility and stupidity . . . in believing that Rickey has been interested in anything more than the clicking of the turnstiles."

The Eagles' brightest star was probably Larry Doby, Cleveland's present infielder, who was sold in '47 for $15,000.

Ray Robinson Is Winner in Bout At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — Welterweight Champion Ray "Sugar" Robinson proved again he was the master of the 147-pounders here Monday night when he hammered his way to a unanimous 10-round decision over rough Bobby Lee in a non-title bout before 4500 fans at the Arena.

Lee, outweighed six pounds, mixed it with the champ freely throughout the contest, and was floored once for a count of nine. With the exception of the lone knockdown, Lee seemingly took everything Robinson had to offer, but the Harlem Hurricane was too ring-wise and came out on the winning end of the argument.

East Los Angeles Junior College Huskies At Oceanside Friday Night

The East Los Angeles Junior College Huskies, currently in a tie with San Diego for first place in the Metro loop, travel to Oceanside Friday night, to meet the undermanned Oceanside College grid contingent.

This will be the semi-windup for the Eastsiders who meet the San Diego Jaybords November 26, in the conference crucial.

The Oceanside Spartans boast a better than average record, winning five of their last eight encounters.

The Huseikes, riding high on the crest of a two-game winning streak, bid well to make it three in a row if the inspired team play continues. Nick Sadd, the Huskies' best bid for all conference; Neal Robertson, stalwart defensive wingman; David Butler, whose 90-yard gallop to pay dirst was instrumental in the Huskies' victory last week; and Jim Dyer, ELA scatback, should contribute greatly to the Green and White cause.

Last week the surprisingly potent Huskies outpointed an overconfident Bakersfield grid machine, 20 to 13, to squeeze into the first place slot along with the San Diego Jaybirds.

The tossing arm of former Jayvee signal caller Ed Sherrill, who connected for a pair of TDs, plus a 90-yard jaunt by Fullback David Butler, acconuted for the Huskie victory.

Starting lineup:

East L. A.	Position	Oceanside
Robertson	L.E.	Fife
Ortega	L.T.	Stephenson
Black	L.G.	Christopherson
Moropoulos	C.	Cantwell
Kazarian	R.G.	Burke
Montano	R.T.	Button
Lopez	R.E.	Dawson
Manoogian	Q.	Russell
Dyer	L.H.	Riddle
Meese	R.H.	Kastner
Butler	F.	Chrestman

KENNY WASHINGTON played a superb game of football (as usual) last week, when the Los Angeles Rams came from behind to top the New York Giants, 52 to 37, in a mad torrent of touchdowns last Sunday before 22,766 chilled fans at the Polo Grounds. The General, as Washington is known (and justifiably so, for he is definitely a General on the football field) took off in the second period like a P-38 and wriggled 31 yards through a hoard of tacklers for his contribution to the game.

'Never Again,' Says Joe Louis

NEW YORK CITY—Joe Louis, who arrived back in town at his New York home, Hotel Theresa, from Nashville, Tenn. and southern stops on an exhibition tour, remarked at the Theresa Bar that he will never again choose a candidate for the presidency and make it public.

Louis has been reprimanded many times for going GOP.

ON THE TURF

GEORGE RAMSEY

CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO: Bumtybump wins third straight race at the border course. The sprint champion was sent a mile in the featured event last Sunday billed as the Reno Handicap. Taking the lead at the break, he was never headed, although Gold Hunter was gaining on the winner at the finish. He won by a neck, paying in the mutuels as second choice $7.60.

A. Silveyra's After School, installed favorite at post time by the fans, scored a handy victor in the secondary attraction paying $7.40 straight. A former stake horse that sold for one dollar about a year ago won the first race from wire to wire. Bob Johnson, owner of the Hollywood Theatre, sold Sincere to George Fink, also a theater owner, after he became disgusted with the consistent failures of the son of Sun Teddy-Hastily.

With the patience of a mother raising a new born baby, Fink engaged W. D. Buck, a noted trainer, to condition Sincere, and after a year of care and patience, Sincere was brought back to the races and won like a champion.

This was a great feat of training on the part of W. D. Buck. The horse opened at 7 to 1 on the morning line but the boys that were in on the know got well. In the mutuels Sincere paid $9.00. The daily-double combination of Thixton, the odds on favorite that won the second race, and Teddy Junior, favorite in the third race, making his first start at the border course, paid $13.40, while the lucky holders of the Quniela's one-two or two-one finishers received $151.80.

Excitement chilled the fans in the seventh race when Sweet Mixup fell dead after crossing the finish line. Two other horses, Triple Bet and O. K. Kelly, stumbled over Sweet Mixup and unseated jockeys De Belloy and Jay Fishburn. Neither of the boys or horses were hurt, although jockey K. Taylor on Sweet Mixup was sent to the Mercy hospital in San Diego for an overnight observation.

Only three favorites were able to visit the charmed circle. Freak mutuel payoffs were noted for place on winning horses. For instance, Teddy Junior paid $4.60 to win and $6.60 to place. After School paid $7.40 straight and $10.00 to place, while in the last race, Mankcub, the longest price winner of the afternoon, paid $49.60 straight and $53.20 to place. Racing post time for this Sunday will be 12:45.

Charles had Hafer down five times before finally delivering the knockout punch at 2m. 45s. of the seventh.

Jeff Grads To Play for LAJC

Negro Owned Car Wins at Speedway

Carrell Speedway presents its second big car racing program of the winter season Sunday, Nov. 21, following the tremendous success of the inaugural speedfest before a turnaway throng last week.

Approximately 18,000 fans saw top big car, midget auto and even a few hot rod drivers tooling the powerful sprint jobs around the paved half-mile Gardena oval. A car owned by Mel Leighton, clever Negro mechanician, was driven to first in an 8-lap heat by Jack McGrath last Sunday. The Riley soured in the 30-lap eature, however, placing 12th. Johnny Mantz of Long Beach won, trailed by Frank McGurk, Mel Hansen, and Johnny McDowell in 10:54.35.

Sepia Nimrods Bring Back Big Bag O' Fowl

On Program Giving Thanks

The 10 Hollywood writers, producers and directors who failed to give "responsive" answers to J. Parnell Thomas, and who were subsequently cited for contempt of Congress, will be featured at a "Thanksgiving Meeting With the Hollywood Ten" at the El Patio Theatre on Friday evening, November 26.

The meeting will mark the first anniversary of the black listing of the 10 by the motion picture industry, and it is planned to inaugurate a drive to have the ban revoked.

Two of the three members of the sub-committee, Reps. Vail of Illinois and McDowell of Pennsylvania, were defeated in the recent elections, and their defeat is interpreted as a sign that the American people have grown tired of witch hunts.

The 17 congressmen who voted against citing the Hollywood Ten for contempt were all re-elected.

Appearing at the Thanksgiving meeting besides the Ten will be Albert McNeil's Choir, Howard DaSilva, Howard Duff, Lloyd Gough and the Rev. Howard Matson.

SOJOURNER TRUTH HOME REPORTS

The life of Booker T. Washington will be portrayed at the educational meeting next Monday, November 22, at the Sojourner Truth Home, when the educational meeting will be held at the home at 2 o'clock. L. G. Robinson will be the guest speaker.

Rev. Peters will give several selections. Mrs. Martha Tate Dodge, alon gwith Mrs. Georgia Robinson, will be in charge. The public is invited to attend.

Echoes from Sojourner residents: We wish Miss Dorothy Durst well in her new adventure. She recently joined the Wacs.

Home Nursing Offered Fremont Group

Fremont Council Parent Teacher Association met at Figueroa St. School. On the main table where refreshments were served, a very large clown's head with tips of beautiful nutumn leaves and corn shucks, completed the fall theme.

Mrs. F. R. Compton called the meeting to order. After the pledge of allegiance the inspirational message was read by Mrs. McGrann. When the business was finished Mrs. Vern Harrison, president of Florence Ave. P-TA, introduced the principal, Mrs. Murphy.

The school program was introduced by Program Chairman Mrs. Nora Foss. Miss Peterson, speaker for Home Nursing, was very interesting. She is giving a home nursing course in Watts, on Beech St. and 102nd St., Wednesday and Friday from 1:30 to 3:30. Classes started November 5.

Mrs. Nora Foss talked on legislation. Presidents meeting report was given by Mrs. M. Kuhn. Mrs. Dora Allen reported on the By Laws and Safety.

Mrs. Reed gave her report on the Community Chest.

Sleeping Car Porters Win Sweeping Victory

NEW YORK—The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters was victorious in an election held on the property of the New York New Haven and Hartford Railroad by the National Mediation Board and is now the duly authorized representative of the 105 employees including parlor car attendants, parlor car bus boys and space assigners.

Catholic Publication Hails Repeal of Race Marriage Ban

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., SPECIAL—The repeal recently of the California law which forbade marriage of Negroes with white persons has been hailed editorially as "a progressive step" by The Monitor, published here.

The Monitor is the official publication of the Archdiocese of San Francisco. "The law was a perfect apology for Hitlerian race superiority," the newspaper declares.

"Although the entire democratic world went to war to defeat and destroy forever just a thing as was espoused by Hitler, few bothered to recognize that here in California there was embodied in our laws similar concepts of race superiority."

The case was sponsored by the Catholic Interracial Council of Los Angeles. It was presented to the court by Attorney Daniel G. Marshall, president of the Interracial Council.

Propose Dr. Ralph Bunche For Secretary of State

The Elks Civil Liberties League under the direction of Vince Monroe Townsend, Jr., and the Community Political Action Council under the direction of Adolphus B. Clay, went on record this week congratulating the President upon his election, and at the same time, requesting the appointment of a Negro to his cabinet as Secretary of State.

In two separate communications addressed to the President, Mr. Townsend and Mr. Clay pointed out that his election was not only a vote of confidence nd approval of his Civil Rights Program, but that his election was a mandate from the people to broaden an dexecute his Civil Rights Program in every possible way.

They further pointed out that not only would the presence of a Negro in the cabinet be another step toward the achievement of his Civil Rights Program, but that the office of Secretary of State is one so vital, that the presence of a duly qualified Negro citizen would make a world impression.

Both Mr. Townsend and Mr. Clay proposed the name of Dr. Ralph Bunche, the present mediator for the United Nations in Palestine and pointed out to the President, that no citizen can be found who is better qualified either in training or experience than Dr. Bunche.

Lawson Urges Truman Halt Persecution

NEW YORK — John Howard Lawson, noted playwright and one of the "Hollywood Ten" who were indicted for contempt by the Thomas Un-American Committee, this week urged President Truman to acknowledge the fact that the people elected him, among other things, to "take steps to halt the drive toward thought control and political persecution. . . ."

Mr. Lawson arrived for a brief stay in New York from Hollywood to step up the nationwide campaign for dismissal of the indictments against the ten Hollywood writers and directors. He urged President Truman and Attorney General Tom Clark to withdraw the charges against the Communist leaders.

Mr. Lawson's statement was issued through the Civil Rights Congress which is conducting the defense of the twelve Communist officials.

CIO Council Executive Gives True Picture of Labor Fight

(Editor's Note: We print this letter because of our thorough agreement with the points made, and because our labor editor let a hot one pass.)

Dear Mrs. Bass:

No one, I am certain, is more conscious than I of the tremendous contribution of the California Eagle to the progressive cause, nor more grateful for the courageous stand that you, as editor, have taken time and again.

Therefore, the following will be regarded as friendly criticism, I am sure.

The front-page article in the Eagle of November 11, headed "Local CIO in Finish Fight Over Control," was not only inaccurate, but I feel somewhat unfair to the progressive forces of CIO.

First of all, it's hardly a fight for "control" that we are waging. As far as progressive forces are concerned, it is a fight for survival. We have been openly marked for extermination for no other reason than that we adhere to the very things which the California Eagle stands for. Ours is a fight to win the democratic right to remain a part of CIO, not to control it.

In this light the next to last paragraph of the story, which is continued on page 8, is particularly unfair in its characterization of the issue.

There are, in the story, various inaccuracies. For example, John Despol is NOT "secretary-treasurer of the CIO political action committee" as stated in the second paragraph.

Nor was "the rift . . . widened when the Council endorsed Henry Wallace," as stated in the fourth paragraph.

The Council was arbitrarily prevented from expressing any support of Henry Wallace by national CIO rules. Because a majority of the membership were NOT for Harry Truman, whom the national CIO endorsed, the Council took NO POSITION.

This is the biggest point of controversy. Opponents of the Council contended that Truman had to be supported whether the membership wanted it or not. The Council, while acknowledging its inability under existing rules to oppose Truman and support Wallace, fought for the right to take NO POSITION, thus allowing each local union to establish it sown democratically voted policy on the matter of presidential support.

This Council contends that CIO must be broad enough to encompass varying views, democratic enough to allow differences of opinion and resolute enough to decide issues by true majority expression of the members who make up its ranks.

There are those today who would exclude us from CIO for holding to this philosophy.

We held that CIO members and locals had the right to support Wallace and the Independent Party, if they wished. Our opponents said we must support Truman.

We held that raec inciters like Gerald L. K. Smith must be fought openly and demonstratively at every turn. Our opponents chose to be silent on a man like Smith.

We held that Truman's civil rights program was meaningless unless put into practice. Our opponents wanted nothing but praise for the President's "lip service" to civil rights—opposed any pressure moves to force the President to end Jim Crow in the Army, etc.

So it goes over a whole gamut of issues.

To conclude, we are not fighting a factional fight for power and control—we are fighting for democracy and the unhampered right to opinion and expression within CIO.

The article in the November 11 California Eagle, seriously obscured the true picture.

Most sincerely yours,
PHILIP M. CONNELLY,
Secretary-Treasurer,
Los Angeles CIO Council

Court Upholds Loyalty Check

The Los Angeles loyalty check is legal so far as the District Court of Appeals is concerned. The court this week sustained the contention of the Board of Supervisors that membership in any of the 142 organizations in bad standing with State Senator Jack Tenney, or refusal to answer as to membership or non-membership in the same organizations is basis for dismissal.

With this decision, 73 County employees are subject to dismissal. All of them refused outright to answer regarding the membership in the organizations, or only partially answered. Justice Marshall F. McComb wrote a 32-page decision in making the ruling. Concurring were Justices Minor Moore and Emmet Wilson.

The decision sustains the dismissal of a suit by Judge Hanson brought by 23 dismissed County employees who sought to prevent the operation of the loyalty check.

PRIDE

Are you one of many people who have too much pride for their own good? Perhaps your pride won't let you give in. By waving the "Flag of Truce" you might bring success, happiness and love back into your everyday life.

Are you striving for perfection, and not finding it, feel your efforts are unsuccessful? Remember, you did not find perfection when you lived at home with your parents, nor when you attended school or college, or among your friends, so why expect it from your mate and associates?

It behooves each of us to acknowledge our errors and simply keep on trying to correct them.

D.W. Should I take this test?

ANSWER. It appears to me that you are debating in your mind whether you should take the test that is necessary in order to enter the school you have in mind. When you took it the first time you were not prepared, but now you should find it much easier to pass, by all means take it again.

B.W.W. Will I be successful with my plans?

ANSWER. Probing into the matter I find that you have given these plans careful consideration and see no reason why they shouldn't prove successful.

R.R.B. We have three children and it is so hard to find a house, will we be successful soon? Does my husband intend to work at the same job the rest of his life? Will we be able to save any money soon?

ANSWER. Only one question is answered in the column due to the limited amount of space. If you will write in for a private reply I shall be more than glad to help you.

Mrs. A.D. What should I do?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question I find that you have been in an accident and are wondering what steps you should take. First, get a good lawyer, and don't do anything until you have talked to him and he has advised you. You will save yourself a lot of trouble later or, if you will do this, at once.

Redistricting Approval Near

The City Council put the business of approving or rejecting the redistributing ordinance for another week. In an atmosphere charged with political electricity, the Councilmen considered the measure which proposes to set up 15 new councilmanic districts in the city.

Councilman Parley Christensen charged the new alignment is an attempt at 'gerrymandering,' and Councilman Hahn called it a 'juggled piece of machinery.' He suggested that the entire proposal might be illegal.

The City Charter makes it mandatory that the new districts be created before December 15, and it is expected that the Council will act at the November 22 meeting.

Progressives Meet Here for Future Plans

The State Central Committee of the Independent Progressive party will meet in its first post-election meeting at the Clark Hotel Victory Room in Los Angeles.

The two-day session will get under way on Saturday at 2 p.m. and close on Sunday. On the agenda is analysis of the election campaign, proposals for a 1949 legislative program, action on membership and adoption of budget and fund-raising plans.

All members of the State Central Committee, and leaders of Farmers for Wallace, Women for Wallace, and the Labor Committees for Wallace are invited to attend.

Hampton Pirates in Fish Bowl Rivalry

Vol. 69—No. 34 — 44 — The California Eagle, Thursday, November 25, 1948 — AD. 9770

BOY SCOUTS DEMONSTRATE safety and caution across from the California Eagle office at 41st and Central. The alert youngsters attracted a crowd of interested spectators as they showed how to avoid accidents and what to do as first aid in the event of an accident. Rev. Clarence Cooke, Boy Scout Area official supervised the group of interracial Scouts as they efficiently put on their demonstration.

Mystery Fire on East 53rd Kills Two; Discovered

Two lives were snuffed out in a fire of undetermined origin which occurred at 1360½ East 53rd street last Saturday about 7 p.m. A woman, Nannie Lee, aged 47, and a man, Charles Henry, 57, were burned to a crisp before help could arrive, and how a fire of such intensity could get so great a start so early in the evening was a mystery.

Richard S. Aubry, 5742¼ Fortuna, together with a group of Boy Scouts, were returning from a Scout meeting and noticed the fire. Mr. Aubry attempted to kick down the door, but the flames were too great. He heard muffled moans, and suspected human beings were in the house. He called the fire department as quickly as possible, but the building was reduced to ashes by the time the fire engines arrived, and the man and woman were dead.

The owner of the place, Vivian

Mixed Couple Obtain First License Here

First local couple to take advantage of the removal of the ban on mixed marriages is Miriam Elizabeth Russel, 23, and Guillermo Ontar Esquerra, 32-year-old Filipino, both of 443 S. Catalina, Los Angeles.

Esquerra and Miss Russel stated they had been married previously in Mexico and they wanted to have a United States ceremony to guarantee full legality.

The first California couple to be married following the lifting of the ban hailed from the Bay Area.

Margolis to File Briefs For Silent 10

Atty. Ben Margolis appeared before the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco this week to argue in defense of the writ previously handed down by one of the justices of the court which made it necessary for Judge Pierson Hall to release the so-called "silent witnesses" held in jail here, under bail.

The United States attorney had sought to have the writ set aside in an effort to keep the witnesses in jail until they answered questions put to them by the grand jury—questions they refused to answer because they maintained they would incriminate themselves.

While no decision was forthcoming, observers believe there is no disposition on the part of the court to jail the witnesses.

Attorneys for both sides were instructed to file briefs by December 10.

HEROIC BOY SCOUTS, who witnessed the beginning of the fire that was to become a raging inferno and take two lives. They gave the alarm and tried to save the occupants of the house. (See story this page.)

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

Los Angeles is proud to acknowledge the achievements of one of her own sons, and especially proud is the Trail-blazing California Eagle of H. A. Howard, president and manager of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of this city.

If I should try a comparison in the case of Mr. Howard, still a young man, I think I would pick the former governor of New York and in 1928, Democratic Presidential candidate, Al Smith.

Briefly Al Smith rose from newsboy to governor in his own New York, and was in a fair way of becoming President of the United States.

Some years ago a bright little boy with a gleam in his eyes that attracted the attention of the late editor of the EAGLE, J. B. Bass, applied for a job as news vendor on The California Eagle. His application was accepted. And soon his outstanding ability as a salesman invited the admiriation of not only the editor of The California Eagle, but likewise the business people of the community.

That little newsboy is H. A. Howard, president and manager of the Broadway Federal Loan Association, at 4325 South Broadway.

The ascent from newsboy to business manager is the record of H. A. Howard, still in the young-man category.

The people of Los Angeles are proud of Mr. Howard, not alone because he made a success in his home city, but also because he has gained national recognition in his field.

Last week when representatives of seven of the 22 building savings and loan associations owned and operated by Negroes, with aggregate assets of close to 5 million, founded the American Savings and Loan League during a two-day conference in Washington, D. C., H. A. Howard was unanimously elected president of the new organization.

The purposes of the League are:

1. To promote thrift and home ownership among minority groups; 2. To assist in the formation of new associations and their affiliation with the thrift and home financing agencies of

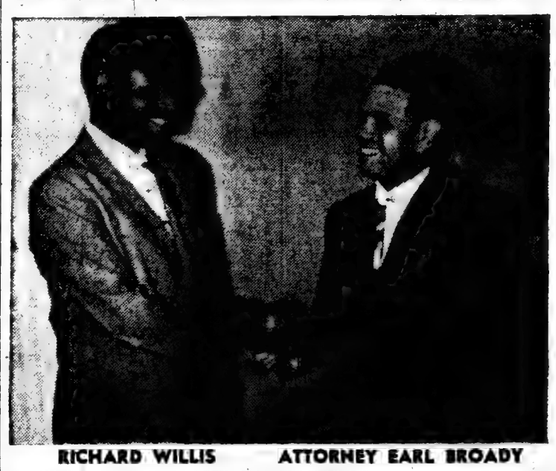
Wallace Won Moral Victory

It is said by political commentators that Mr. Wallace made a bad showing because he got few votes. What they neglect is that Mr. Wallace succeeded in having his ideas adopted, except in the field of foreign affairs. From the time that Mr. Wallace announced he would run for President, Mr. Truman began to suck the wind from the Wallace sails by coming out for more and more of the Wallace domestic program.

Now those promises are in Mr. Truman's platform and the men who see eye to eye with Mr. Wallace on domestic economic and social questions are among those who can rightfully claim a share of the credit for Mr. Truman's victory. We have not before us any modified New Deal. What we have is the New Deal in its most extreme form. (From the Wall Street Journal of Nov. 8.)

POLICE BRUTALITY



BURNS WIDOW AND BROTHER SUE MAYOR AND POLICE HEADS

Claims totaling $210,000 were filed against eight city officials this week by Virginia Burns of 1238 S. Hobart Boulevard, and her brother-in-law, Julius Burns of the same address.

The claims represent damages asked as the result of the death of Herman Burns, husband of Virginia, who was clubbed to death by police several weeks

Broady Wins Acquittal for Client With Unusual Defense

RICHARD WILLIS ATTORNEY EARL BROADY

Attorney Earl Broady won an acquittal for a client in a case this week marking, according to observers, the first time such a verdict was won in a capital case where the defendant did not take the stand in his own behalf.

As defense counsel for Richard Willis, charged with the murder of Arthur Jordan, Broady broke down the testimony of the prosecution witnesses who had previously testified that Willis was involved in a love affair with the dead man's wife.

Under questioning by Broady, the witnesses admitted that Willis' affair with Mrs. Jordan was neighborhood gossip. Persecution witnesses also placed Willis at the scene of the crime, and it was testified that he was in possession of a .38 calibre revolver similar to the one from which the bullet that killed Jordan had come.

Broady placed three character witnesses on the stand for Willis, and at the conclusion of their testimony, he announced dramatically that the defense rests.

The trial was held in Judge Landreth's Court before a jury.

Redistricting Passed Over Hawkins' Plea

Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins was the only community leader to raise his voice in opposition to the enactment of the ordinance creating new boundary lines for the city's 15 councilmanic districts, this week.

Hawkins, speaking for the NAACP, argued that the boundaries as proposed by the council,

NAACP Campaign Meeting Friday

The next report meeting of the NAACP campaign workers will be held on Friday this week due to the Thanksgiving holiday. At that meeting emphasis will be put on the effort to make NAACP Sunday in the churches a highly-successful phase of the drive.

Drive workers and friends of the NAACP are being asked to solicit memberships among their club members, and the churches. There is still a need for new workers, and they will be welcomed at drive headquarters at 1105 E. Vernon ave.

Noah Griffin, West Coast regional director, has added impetus to the drive with his advice and encouragement.

Sun Bowl Officials Ban Negro Students Appeal to Truman

"Denied Sun Bowl bid because Negro on team. Is that democracy?" The preceding words were dispatched in a telegram to President Truman Tuesday evening by a mass of students at Lafayette College in Easton, Pa.

The telegram followed a protest demonstration in the downtown section, brought about by the refusal of the Texas Sun Bowl officials to permit David Showell, Negro halfback star of Lefayette, to participate in the bowl game against Texas School of Mines on New Year's Day.

Showell, an army lieutenant in World War II, told his teammates to accept the bid and play the game without him, but they refused. The demonstration and the telegram to President Truman followed.

Lafayette Director William H. Anderson made a telephonic appeal to Sun Bowl officials at the request of the students, but permission to play Showell was not forthcoming.

The invitation was formally rejected by the faculty, headed by Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, when the report that Showell would not be allowed to play was called to its attention.

Seek Strike Action Sanction Against S. H. Kress Company

Paul W. Hansen, International Representative of the Retail Clerks Association, A.F. of L., has charged the S. H. Kress Company with bad faith by refusing to recognize the Union chosen by the employees of its store at 4415 South Central Aevenue.

Mr. Hansen stated "These Kress employees want the Retail Clerks Union to represent them. By stalling and delaying coming to a decision the Company is attempting to avoid arriving at an agreement with its employees."

"Since the Kress employees are all members of the Retail Clerks Union, Local No. 777, and since the employer is fully aware of this fact, there is no longer any excuse for delay.

"I am recommending to the Retail Clerks International Executive Board in Lafayette, Indiana, that strike sanction be granted immediately and that all possible assistance bt given to these employees until such time as the Company recognizes their Union."

Since a week ago last Saturday the girls in the store have been wearing their Union buttons, and observers report that every girl in the store is proudly displaying her union insignia.

On Monday of this week Mr. Hansen informed the Kress management that the Union would be forced to take economic action unless the Company would agree to recognize the Union immediately or agree to a consent election.

Management stated that no answer to the union's demand could be given for a week or more. It was this action on the part of the Company which brought forth the statement from Mr. Hansen that the Kress Company was sailing and acting in bad faith, and that strike sanction would be applied for.

The Los Angeles Central Labor Council, AFL, has notified the Union thot the firm of Kress would be placed on the "We Do Not Patronize" list when, and if, the Union establishes picket lines at the Central Avenue store.

Tree planting no longer needs to be done by hand. Several good tree-planting machines for level ground are being manufactured. Communities can arrage either to buy or rent such a machine.

Governor's Proclamation Marks Thanksgiving Day

(Following is Governor Warren's proclamation setting today (Thursday) aside as a day of Thanksgiving.)

More than three centuries ago a small group of Pilgrims, having struggled successfully to establish themselves in the New World, paused to give thanks to Almighty God for the bounty of their first harvest. Their humble ceremony marked the origin of a great American tradition, the observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Like those early settlers, we have reason for expressing gratitude for the many blessings which have been bestowed upon us during the past year. As individuals, each of us can recall simple satisfactions which have helped to bring happiness into our lives. As a nation, we can be humbly grateful for having been spared the suffering and the fear that afflict less fortunate people in other lands. Out of our abundance we have been able to help feed and cloth needy millions abroad.

It is fitting, therefore, that we join in expressing our gratitude to Almighty God through prayer, by devoting ourselves anew to the study of His word and by reaffirming our faith in the spiritual values which for generations our people have held dear. Many of us will wish to share the pleasure of our thanksgiving dinner with the hungry in other countries by contributing to the food collection drives of churches and other officially approved organizations.

It is with these thoughts in mind that I, Earl Warren, Governor of California, do hereby proclaim November 25th, the fourth Thursday of November, 1948, as THANKSGIVING DAY in California.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 18th day of November, One Thousand, Nine Hundred and Forty-Eight.

/s/ Earl Warren
Governor of California.

New Jet Jobs For Air Force

HAWTHORNE, California — The U. S. Air Force will acquire 10 additional jet-powered Flying Wings, the world's largest type of turbojet airplanes, as the result of a new contract notice received by Northrup Aircraft, Inc., of Hawthorne.

The new order calls for Northrup to convert 10 propeller-driven Flying Wing B-35s to jet propulsion. The conversion work will be accomplished at the Northrup factory and will require approximately one year.

McGrath Here For Democrats Tribute Fete

Billups Blasts Redistricting

Hitting out at what he called "the snug hypocritical unpatriotic attitude, aimed at denying the military people of the Eastside heir righful place in the civic and economic affairs of this city," special non-commissioned officer Milton Billups, who recently returned from the Alaska defense area said on Tuesday afternoon:

"I want to add my protest and censure, to that of Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, the NAACP, and other affected citizens against the recent master race redistricting gerrymander of the city councilmanic districts, which aim to shut out the Negro-American from the councils of gevernmen in Los Angeles.

"The political powers that be should be reminded that the days of colonial conquest and domination of captive continents and islands are at an end. The iron curtain of exclusion and denial of our rights in the matter of redistricting of the Eastside is no less imperial and barbarous than the denial of full rights to the people of the outside world which we so hotly condemn.

"The City Council should reverse its sly cold war against the people of African descent in Los Angeles. This gerrymander is hypocritical, un-American, crude and unchristian. It is the very opposite of what we who fought and died to save this nation from the tyranny of nazism expect. Mayor Bowron should ask the City Council to reconsider this attitude of fake democracy against the better interest of 200,000 citizens of African descent in Los Angeles."

Medical Co-op For Negroes

Cruel Murder Revealed by Suicide Check

Another reconciliation that went awry resulted in a gruesome, sadistic murder and a suicide under the wheels of a swift-moving Pacific Electric train early this week.

As police reconstruct the events in the case, Elvin Allen deliberately threw himself in front of a Pacific Electric train on Alameda near Seventh early Monday morning. From identification on his mangled body, they were led to 1509½ E. 21st st.

At that address they were greeted with the horrible sight of the partially-draped body lying in a pool of blood across a bed. The body was that of a woman, Mrs. Artie Mae Allen, 30-year-old estranged wife of the man killed by the train.

She had been killed instantly by a knife thrust in the heart; the rest of her body was badly hacked, and she was cut up in a cruel and sadistic manner.

Married more than a year ago, the Allens had been separated for almost two months. Police believe he was making a reconciliation attempt that proved futile that aroused his anger. The murder and suicide are believed to have been the consequence.

Truman Quoted Not Believing Civil Rights

MOBILE, Ala. — According to Representative Frank W. Boykin (D) Ala., President Truman is far from the outright champion of Civil Rights he says he is.

Boykin, speaking before the Rotary Club here last week, said the President told him, "Frank, I don't believe in this civil rights any more than you do, but we've got to have it to win."

Presidential Secretary Charles Ross, when told of the statement said the President had no comment.

Vet Farm Home Purchase High

State low-interest financing of farms and homes for California veterans hit a new two-year high in October, with a total of 384 properties purchased.

The veterans who acquired 381 homes and three farms during the month benefited by a State investment of $2,621,795, Stevens reported.

While the October figure is still below the peaks attained during the home-buying rush of 1946, it is slightly above the previous 1947-48 high of 380, registered in August of this year.

Medical research on tuberculosis is still this nation's leading cause of death among the communicable diseases, is supported through the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Democrat State and County Committees Protest Rea's Appointment to Commission

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is a copy of the resolution sent to the mayor and City Council protesting the appointment of Philip Rea to the Urban Redevelopment Commission. Despite vigorous protests from leading community organizations, the council passed the appointment proposed by Mayor Bowron.)

Whereas, Mayor Bowron has appointed and the City Council has approved the appointment of Mr. Philip M. Rea to the city's Urban Development Commission; and

Whereas, it is the duty of such commission to clear slums and see to it that the new communities are created to replace blighted areas; and

Whereas, residential segregation can be effected under such a program, as evidenced by previous cases; and

Whereas, Mr. Philip Rea was one of the chief exponents of race restrictive covenants on the board of which he heads; and

Whereas, this board, the National Association of Real Estate, filed a brief in the United States Supreme Court in favor of restrictive covenants; and

Whereas, this board maintained a lobby in Washington which fought every effort to promote slum clearance, attempted to wreck rent control and prevented the passage of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing Bill; and

Whereas, Mr. Rea headed a movement to amend the federal constitution to permit the courts to deny any American citizen the right to occupy his home because of race; and

Whereas, the person for such commission should be unprejudiced and wholly free from any influence adverse to his position; and

Whereas, such as annointment places Mr. Rea in the position of contending for that which his duty to another office requires him to oppose; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Democratic County Central Committee and the State Committee of the 62nd Assembly District oppose and protest the above appointment; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the mayor, members of the City Council and the press.

Full Coverage Medical Plan Expected from 81st Congress

Calif. Eagle Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A 'cradle to the grave' paid in advance medical plan that will cover almost every man woman and child in the nation is expected to be passed by the 81st Congress.

Everybody except railroad workers who have their own health insurance plan, and a few other special groups will be eligible for coverage. All needed medical attention such as check-ups, home visits, X-ray, laboratory, special drugs, nursing, eye glasses, special appliances, up to 60 days hospital care and home nursing will be provided.

The choice of your own doctor from among those participating in the plan is another feature. Doctors would be free to accept or reject the plan. They would be paid on a fixed fee or a per capita basis. The per capita basis would be so much a year for each person on the doctor's list.

The Federal Government would collect taxes for the plan and they would be distributed on a population basis to the states. Local boards with membership composed of doctors and laymen would administer the plan for the most part.

Senator James Murray, Montana Democrat, who is to be head of the Senate Labor Subcommittee that is considering health laws, plans to introduce the health insurance bill embodying the above stated benefits during the early days of the 81st Congress.

Reserv-A-Loan, New Service Offered by Commonwealth

A new type of loan service, RESERV-A-LOAN has been introduced by the Commonwealth Loan Company, it was announced today by A. B. Hartgraues, manager of their local office located at 4750 So. Central Ave.

RESERV-A-LOAN is designed to speed up the granting of loans on salary, car or furniture. It eliminates much of the red tape, delay and long interviews formerly encountered by persons applying for a small loan, Mr. Hartgraves said.

With this new service, applicants for a loan can reserve money in their name by telephone, then receive the cash in a single trip to the Commonwealth office. Because they reserve the money in advance, it takes only a few minutes to complete the loan. Employees at the local Commonwealth office have set up a special telephone application service to make this new, faster processing of loans possible.

The new RESERV-A-LOAN service is also being inaugurated in other Commonwealth offices located in 56 different cities. Commonwealth, one of the oldest and largest small loan companies in the country, celebrated its 60th anniversary last year. The first office was opened by John H. Aufderheide at Indianapolis in 1887. Their local office was opened in July, 1948.

Leaders Appeal to Supreme Court for Suffrage Right

NEW YORK CITY — Seventy-five Negro leaders from 32 states this week called upon the U.S. Supreme Court to "uphold the Fourteenth Amendment and enforce the suffrage right of Negro Americans" by agreeing to hear the appeal of Eugene Dennis from the recent decision of Judge Bennett Champ Clark, Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia.

In an "Appeal" addressed to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson and all eight Associate Justices, the Negro leaders sharply criticized Judge Clark for calling "fantastic" and "sheer nonsense" the contention by Eugene Dennis that "the House Committee on Un-American Activities is illegally constituted because one of its members, John Rankin of Mississippi, sits in Congress in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution."

Eugene Dennis, General Secretary of the Communist Party, was convicted of "contempt" of the Un-American Activities Committee because he refused to appear before the Committee when summoned.

His defense was based partly upon the contention that Representative Rankin, a Committee member, was "elected" through the disfranchisement of Negro voters in Mississippi and in violation of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

This is the first time a court test has been made of the widespread violation of Part Two of the 14th Amendment, adopted after the Civil War to protect the Negro's right to vote.

Costs Lives

Few people ever see a fire station journal. It is a complete record of the activities of a fire company, and among day to day entries one finds the following excerpts:

"10 A.M.—Fire—electric iron left on—home totally destroyed.

"6 P.M.—Fire—sparks from an incinerator.

"11 P.M.—Fire Man burned—smoking in bed."

No group of men in the city see more of the cost of carelessness than your neighborhood firemen.

"PLENTIFUL FOODS" FOR THANKSGIVING AT HOWARD

In preparing for Thanksgiving, the economy-minded director of home economics at Howard University, Dr. Flemmie P. Kittrell, center, gives two of her students tips on food cost savings by pointing out the advantages of buying plentiful foods. Her Thanksgiving menu for Howard's Home Management House includes such relatively low-cost nutritious food items as dried fruits, carrots, cabbages, grapefruit, potatoes, cranberries, and pecans. These are some of the plentiful foods which give you more for your money than alternative foods which usually are higher in price. A month by month list of foods in plentiful supply is issued to interested organizations by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The students with Dr. Kittrell are Miss Rita Barnes of Reading, Pa., and Miss Jean Terry of Washington, D. C.

Health Center Explained to Urban League

How the Southeast District Health Center serves the community through clinics and educational facilities was described for the Urban League at a special meeting last Friday night at the Center.

The League heard Dr. Konstantin Sparkuhl, district health officer, explain how the Center participates in such city-wide campaigns as the current diphtheria immunization drive and chest x-raying program.

"The District Health Center is a community facility, set up to serve the people of this area. It is one of the most modern in the country, and is always shown to important visitors to Los Angeles as an example of an up-to-date public health facility," Dr. Sparkuhl said.

Urban League Campaign Due

NEW YORK—The National Urban League announces its 17th Vocational Opportunity Campaign, March 13-20, 1949. As was done previously, the campaign will be under the joint leadership of Ann Tanneyhill, director of Vocational Guidance, National Urban League and George Edwards of the Southern Division of the National Urban League.

This year a special effort is being made to carry the campaign to hundreds of small, non-accredited Negro schools in rural communities of the South that have never taken part in the campaign.

It is expected that this drive will top the approximately 200,000 young people, in Negro schools and colleges alone, who were reached during the 1948 campaign.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

The Trend Towards Socialism

These figures on the November 2 election returns, to say the least, are intriguing, and we take pride in quoting them from the November 20 issue of The Black Dispatch, published in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dumb wiseacres in America are still attempting to determine what happened to the voters November 2, and just as the pre-election surveys, there seems to be slight inclination to peer under the surface. Everything suggested as a reason is based upon some sort of superficial observation having nt basis in fact. We are slightly afraid the folk who are offering information just at this time are in actuality intellectually dishonest. One is left alone to dig among the mountains of rubbish that lies all about, to determine just what made the clock tick in the last election marathon.

Digging around for a clue last week we ran upon a recent editorial written by David Lawrence, editor of the United States News and World Reports. We do not believe there is any one in America who would call Mr. Lawrence a radical, or infer that he has any tinge of the lunatic fringe, and yet Mr. Lawrence employed different words just before the election to say what we averred immediately following the election. We said last week the election in our judgment showed America is moving towards the left and towards socialism. It should be kept in mind that all of Western Europe, and the British Isles have definitely slumped in that direction. Why would one assume the people of America feel their economic well being could be satisfied within the precincts of the status quo?

Mr. Lawrence, at the time he wrote the statements we now attribute to him, was definitely of the opinion that Dewey would be the next president. Almost every one of his articles dealing with politics in this particular issue make that expressed prediction, so that we assume he was launching a move to switch the Republicans from the path of reaction and into more liberal channels when he said under the caption, "The Next President's Opportunity," in which he offered advice to make "free enterprise" work.

"Government, as the protector of the public interest . . . must define in the next few years what are the permissive limits of the "free enterprise system" in relation to the public interest."

Now all of us who know anything about socialism realize and understand that the basic principle in that political philosophy is that government will control economic activities, so that we assume Mr. Lawrence, who hitherto has held firm place in the right wing of American life, can be recognized as advising the Republican party to prepare during its regime of power to place governmental limitations on private enterprise.

Mr. Lawrence in that same article expressed fear that the "survival of the fittest" concept would no longer work in America and that the political party clinging to that doctrine would not hereafter receive the support of America's fifty million voters, and he amplified upon his suggestion by stating expressly:

"The philosophy of those who believe that nature can take its own course and that all things will be well if the government lets the forces of nature operate is a piece of wishful thinking—theoretically defensible but realistically indefensible."

Now all of us know that our present day competitive system is based upon the survival of the fittest. Every single one of America's 150,000,000 arise each day to go out into an unregulated world of chance to match his wits against the other. Whatever we have done in the field of progress has been accomplished on the theory that we could out think, outwit the beasts of the fields, nature itself, or men and women as we came in contact with them.

But along comes David Lawrence in 1948, who is to the manor born, who tells us in no uncertain terms that the American people wil not stand for this sort of social organization any longer and that they will repuliate at the polls any political party that does not put reasonable restraints upon private enterprise.

Of course the opposite type of social organization deals with a planned economy, regimentation and all of those restraints upon which the proponents of free enterprise frown.

Now the thing for us to consider is how clearly did David Lawrence read the public mind. The Republican party, immediately upon grant of power two years ago, rid the nation of practically all of the restraints government had placed upon capital during the period of the New Deal and the war. Does David Lawrence mean that wealth has concentrated to such an extent that individual enterprise is throttled? Does he mean that the economic health of the nation requires that certain facilities that are needed in common by all citizens should hereafter be placed under government supervision? We would like for him to spell out what he means by "nature taking its course," which he says is realistically indefensible. How far does he assume government should go "as the protector of the public interest?"

We believe that David Lawrence gives us a better view of what was in the back side of the public mind November 2 than we have gotten in any other way, and to reduce his thinking to more specific terms we wonder phether or not the recent election was a mandate from the people to return to price controls, an honest-to-God housing program, a public works program similar to the Roosevelt era, and a boost to the minimum wage level?

Does the "public interest" in which David Lawrence says the government must become more deeply interested, involve government control of public utilities, which includes coal mines, gas, transportation, communication and power? Just what are the limitaions Mr. Lawrence envisions that government must place upon private enterprise in order that Mr. Common Ordinary Citizen will not be menaced by the strong, who have just about eliminated individual effort?

We all know the record of the 80th Congress. Truman went into the by-ways and the hedges and told the voters about the Taft-Hartley law, which is characterized as a slave bill; he told about the attempt of the Republicans to pass a tax bill that would have given slight relief to the working class but would have loaned much aid and comfort to the rich. We believe the voters got the idea from candidate Truman that the Republicans were attempting to extend rather than "limit" the horizon of free enterprise, and that their only salvation was in gobernment controls. Is not this the road to socialism?

The Negroes who went all out in their support of President Truman are so thoroughly satisfied with the results of the November election that they are now resting on their laurels in this attitude: See what we have accomplished.

When, as a matter of fact, the Negro people and the Progressives, the Henry Wallace supporters who without a doubt are responsible for the type of campaign made by President Truman and his election should be on the alert reminding President Truman of his promises every step of the way for the next four years.

Mundt Bill Stalks Through Land

The Mundt-Nixon bill whose passage last June was prevented by the united efforts of all progressive forces, individuals and organizations, is nevertheless stalking through the land incognito to the general public, seeking whom it may devour.

This bill was intended to outlaw a legally constituted political party of the United States. A party which many even fear to mention, except in a whisper. It is the party which has for its fundamental principle the establishment of a new world of peace and plenty for all. The Communist Party, of course.

Although that law did not pass, and we pray it never will, we who believe in the rights of all American citizens to freedom of speech and freedom of thinking especially, must rally again to defeat the spirit of Hitler now inherent in the persecutions of those members of the Communist Party who have stood on their constitutional rights in refusing to turn informer on their friends.

Five Communist leaders in Denver were jailed for refusing to expose the entire Communist membership of Colorado to police and so jeopardize their jobs in private industry. In Los Angeles twelve men and women were sent to jail because of their refusal to answer similar questions before a Federal grand jury.

These men and women have now been released on bail. But they are not free. The shadow of conviction at a trial in court, and of a possible sentence then to imprisonment, hangs over them.

That shadow also hangs over every American citizen who has the courage to think for himself. We who helped defeat the Mundt-Nixon bill last June, must now unite to defeat its prototype in the form of the Federal grand juries now sitting in every important city in the United States, and questioning, probing Hitler-like into the inner secrets of the lives of American citizens.

Write to President Truman and to Attorney General Tom Clark and tell them these persecutions must stop.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

A minister of the gospel who had been preaching in a pulpit for 30 years, so the story goes, resigned and took a job in an automobile shop, in order to find out "just how much the church was contributing to the well-being of society."

And, believe it or not, the church didn't seem to cut much of a figure at all! It was like living in two different worlds. The church people and the workingmen in the shop didn't even speak the same language. In discussions the men quoted doctors, lawyers, politicians, educators as authorities on certain questions, but they never mentioned a minister as an authority on any subject at all.

The negative virtues mostly extolled in so many pulpits didn't even interest the shop workers. It made not the slightest difference to them whether or not a man swore now and then, whether he smoked or chewed or drank, whether or not the gambled once in a awhile. A man could do all those things, this minister noticed, and still be accepted among the elite of shop workers as being the best of fellows.

The minister noticed, however, how loyal these men were to their unions. He saw some of them arrested, persecuted, threatened with the loss of their jobs—some of them even fired, but they still stuck to their unions with as much devotion as the martyrs did to the early church. He contrasted this dangerous way of life with the calm and security of the life of a minister, hidden away in his own secluded little nook.

"If the church has influenced or is influencing the layman and industry," he concluded, "the extent of its influence is infinitesimal." And he blames the church itself for this lack of influence.

The pastors, he says, have for centuries been withdrawn from the world in which the layman lives and works. They read books written by those who live out of our world, and they are educated by such theological professors. This is also true about those who write the Sunday school lessons for children. All living in a world apart, telling of another world, while people want a religion which tells of a God who is one with their workday world, who fas Himself a Workingman.

"The church," says this minister of the gospel, "has thrown away his chances to help society, and all the causes of martyrdom. But if and when it enters once more the world of the layman, the fires of persecution will once more be lighted."

And so will the fires of energy and faith and hope be rekindled, and that new church of the working people will work definitely for the new world which a decadent church has ben praying for years, but never did anything to see that those prayers were answered.

A bishop of the Methodist Church, well aware of the challenge which labor presents to the church, complains that too few churchmen see in labor "a worldwide movement that means a new social order as truly as the coming of the machine meant the passing of feudalism." He proposed that each year at least 50 young Methodists should be given special training as labor leaders and industrial workers, so that "the ideals of labor may become Christion ideals."

This same bishop, addressing a CIO convention, said it is our job to build an American economic order "in which men, and not things, are the goal of social living and in which men may enjoy fruitful labor and fearless leisure."

In some of the churches the members are actually studying Karl Marx and the principles of Communism! They are doing this to combat Communism. For, they reason, you can't fight a thing when you know nothing about it. It could be, however, when they study the underlying principles of both the Sermon on the Mount, where Jesus speaks of a world so free from want and fear that we can be like the birds of the air and the flowers of the field in our security, and the principles which underlie the Communist Manifesto, however icily severe they may seem, are in reality one and the same.

"I've been wondering," naively remarked an Archbishop of the Catholic Church, "if Communists don't try to give in this world what we promise in the hereafter."

"He is one American," says an admirer of this Archbishop, "who doesn't belive that democracy is tottering because of a smattering of Communist ideology."

The two ideologies, of the church and of the new social order, must unite. And when they do there shall be no more war, neither sorrow or crying, for the former things have passed away.

The Associated Press Lie

By PAUL FRENCH

In the few brief days since Truman was elected by the votes of those who thought that the Democrats were a "lesser evil" than the Republicans, and believed Truman's promise that he would at least try to reach a peaceful understanding with the Soviet Union, the Truman administration has shown itself a violator of the people's trust. Witness the appointment of Dulles, Dewey's man, as acting head of the U.S. delegation at Paris.

The so-called "cold war" is being pressed just as before. Secretary Marshall is allowed to reject even the impartial peace proposal made by Secretary Lie of the United Nations together with the head of the U.N. Assembly, Evart of Australia, appealing to the big powers to get together as called for by the resolution adopted by the U.N. Assembly on the motion of Mexico.

Marshall arrogantly denounces every suggestion of any proposal looking toward peace, as something odious and awful. Exactly like any American corporation dealing with its striking workers, the Truman administration insists it will not negotiate until the Soviet Union "lifts the blockade" of Berlin, that is to say, until the Soviet Union allows the U.S. and Britain to send what is practically counterfeit German money, the "western zones Mark" into the Soviet zone of Berlin and eastern Germany uncontrolled and hence create economic chaos there. Any American worker, who has experienced a corporation's refusal to negotiate strike demands until "the strikers go back to work"—and surrender their strike—will understand just what this arrogance by Marshall means.

Meanwhile, the torrent of anti-Soviet propaganda lies in the American press continues, and even increases. Just a small sample was the article on page 6 of the L.A. Times of Sunday, Nov. 14, put out by the Associated Press, misrepresenting the facts about the diplomatic recognition of the Soviet Union by the U.S. government on Nov. 16, 1933, when Roosevelt was President.

The A.P. story quotes from the agreement then entered into between Litvinov for the USSR, and Roosevelt for the USA, as if it were a wholly one-sided agreement, and, moreover, as if, indeed the A.P. states flatly, its terms had been violated by the USSR, which is falsely declared to have "broken its pledge." Let's see what that pledge was; the quotation follows:

"To refrain and restrain all persons in government service, and all organizations of the government, from any act, overt or covert, liable in any way whatsoever, to injure the tranquility, prosperity, order or security of the United States . . . and in particular from any act tending to incite or encourage armed intervention or agitation or propaganda having as its aim the violation of the territorial integrity of the United States . . . or the bringing about by force of a change in the political or social order of the United States . . ."

Now let us study that "pledge" and then see how the A.P. misrepresented it, and lied about how it has been carried out. Observe that the pledge is made only for "all persons in government service" and "organizations of the government." It does not

U.S. Sends Shells To China

The Sunday, November 21 issues of the metropolitan papers announced that the first American shipment of ammunition had been delivered in China. The shipment, it was said, consisted of 1000 cases of 3-inch anti-aircraft shells, and an American spokesman said more war materials will be sent to China.

The daily papers have about a seven-day jump on weekly newspapers, hence before we reach your mail box again, this consignment of anti-aircraft shells may have done their deadly work of transporting thousands of hungry Chinese citizens into eternity.

Perhaps few of the dailies will wordpaint this side of the horrifying picture. Their story, no doubt, will be that of protecting the Chinese nation against Communist invasion.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

GO ALONG OR GET OUT

The hysteria has not yet died away. A pre-view of the national CIO convention indicated what is happening this week. The 'go along or get out' tag on this piece was provided by Walter Reuther, who has been frequently mistaken for one of the leading 'd' democrats of our time. Reuther now feels he and his adherents are so right, they cannot tolerate disagreement.

JOHN M. LEE

It is needless to point out that the inflexibility of Reuther's mind and will is inspired by the 'impossible' reelection of President Truman, or that however much we are able to recognize the benefits and value of Truman's reelection, we must note that it may serve to cast off a sizeable portion of CIO members from the parent body.

It is certainly patent now that the last election will never be over—particularly for the CIO. When Reuther declared last week, "You carry out the democratic way of the CIO or you're not to stay in it; when a national policy is adopted you go along with it, "he set forth a mandate that is as slavish in design as is the pretext on which the charter of the New York Council was revoked.

Firing the New York Council and drafting a charter for a new Counril may seem democratic and right to the national CIO executives who did just that, but it is, on closer inspection, a clear act of totalitarian intolerance.

There can be no quarrel with the desire to mobilize organized labor behind a program and candidates who sponsor labor's cause, but we must never lose sight of the right of the individual to think and act independent of the majority decision. Surely, it was not expected that the Republicans in CIO would leave and set up their own organization when the support of Truman was decreed. To be consistent, the national CIO must read the supporters of Governor Dewey out of the family.

It would seem to me that the National CIO Executive Board, having such autocratic power, would exert it to bring about a greater measure of democracy in many of the councils and locals which comprise them. It is no secret that the status of minority members of the CIO is not all that it might be. Since it is a matter of national CIO policy that 'all brothers be treated equally,' and since that dictum is not being followed, there is clear indication that the 'democratic way of the CIO' is not being carried out.

While it is the custom to read members of a political party out of the organization for 'non-support,' it must be remembered that the CIO is not, primarily, a political organization. Even with the growing evidence of discrimination against minority members, it would not be wise to adopt a policy of dispossess against unions that tend toward a lily-white policy.

How much of the breast-beating and finger-pointing now going on in the CIO can be attributed to the outward manifestations of an inner struggle with a guilty conscience, it is difficult to say, but it can be recalled that Reuther didn't always think Truman was so hot. He had in mind to start his own movement for a third party, and it is likely he would have done so had not Truman performed the miracle that was really no miracle at all.

The CIO forces against which the so-called right wing is directing its merciless fire, as pitifully in the minority. I don't believe there are enough Communists among them to make a quorum, nevertheless they are being treated like Un-American aliens. Because they believe in the principles of CIO as strongly as do their protagonists (who hold the advantage of having guessed correctly) they are fighting against heavy odds to stay a part of the organization many of them struggled and sacrificed to build.

Should they be forced to get out because they didn't go along? The answer to that may be found in the actions of those of us who have never been happy over the subtle Jim Crow policy of the CIO. Admittedly we can not go along with that policy, but we won't get out; we'll stay in and try to educate those who believe a double standard is the American way.

Certainly the powerful right-wing majority in the CIO ought to be able to out-vote and outslug a weak minority. Lick 'em, if you can, with votes; that's the democratic way.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Cleaning up in preparation for Thanksgiving, we came across a file of Pioneer Journals edited and published by Negroes. Glancing over some of those yellowed Journals of days gone by we got in a mood of reminescence. Most of those pioneers of journalism, in California, have solved the great mystery, but they laid a foundation that still remains, in spite of the wobbly superstructure. A panorama of near forgotten faces pass in review as we recall characters who moulded sentiment favorable to the Negro migrant!

For then, as now, many took liberty for license. But back to the news journals. In Los Angeles, Tom Greene edited and published a four page sheet. It was good while it lasted, but Tom foresook journalism to organize, and become the frist Negro secretary of the YMCA. Then came John Neimore, who founded and edited the Eagle. (The journal now known as the California Eagle) John was a militant fighter who knew strategy, and the Negroes of today's, Los Los Angeles owe a debt to John Neimore that can be paid only by conforming to the precepts he espoused.

It was at the suggestion of the Eagle that the Los Angeles Forum was organized. Again faces of the long ago pass in review. Tom Norris; Charley Flint; Titus Alexander; Cap Crumley; Jordan Banks, and many others, including J. J. Roberts, father of Fred. We mention the Forum, because it played an important part in quelling the move of the recent arrivals to segregate the schools.

Much of the success of that fight, against no doubt—well-meaning, but injurious—intentions, was due to the militant attitude taken by Mr. Maxwell, and the Eagle. Mr. Maxwell told the Forum that he would sell the shirt off his back to prepare one of his girls to pass the examination as teacher in the public schools, and he did.

We don't think he had to sell his shirt, but that shows the spirit of that time. But lest we forget, let's get back to newspapers. We can not forget J. J. Edmunds,—Sage of Sawtelle—who edited and published the Liberator. Edmunds weilded a trenchant pen, and the Liberator was mostly devoted to politics.

Then came the Age. The Age was founded, and published by the late Oscar Hudson, and this chronicler. It was later purchased by Fred Roberts, and published as the Age-Dispatch.

But back to the Eagle. One day we went by the two-by-four room, that Neimore dignified as his office and watched a young woman, laboriously, sorting a case of type. I whispered to John, "where did you get it?" We were informed that it was an import from Rhode Island; came to California for her health, but seemed to like the smell of printers ink. We thought no more of it and passed on. But we soon learned that the young woman had a serious trend of mind. The domestic situation was rather acute.

Many of the new arrivals had been used to a mere stipened, broken victuals, and castoff clothing. There were many whites from that section of the country who took advantage of conditions. This young lady from Rhode Island sensed the injustice, but to make sure of her premise, hired out as a domestic. When assured that the injustice should be made public, she, with the consent and hearty cooperation of her boss, entered on a crusade that greatly improved the domestic service. But, "believe it or not," there was a strenous opposition from many of the very persons she worked to help.

When Neimore passed to the Great Beyond, he left nothing but the Eagle and the spirit of helpfulness that imbued it. Much of that spirit was imbided by the young woman who inherited the Eagle. It was an uphill pull, but she never lacked courage.

We were on our way to Panama and stopped in San Francisco. there was a meeting of Women's Clubs in the city. We attended and heard a woman make an appeal for a young woman who was endeavoring to publish a paper in Los Angeles. We had to catch the steamer next morning, and being absent from the U. S. for a couple of years, forgot. On our return home Joe Bass and myself were having breakfast together. Joe and I had been friends in Montana; we were talking newspaper. Joe was trying to get me interested in starting a paper in San Francisco. Now we know that San Francisco, at that time, was noted as a grave-yard for Negro journalism. Although Joe Francis and John Derrick published and edited the San Francisco Progress, and Dave Watkins had a boiler sheet, The Appeal, neither received support enough to warrant existence. The

As predicted they won Alabama, with 11 electoral votes; South Carolina, 8; Mississippi, 9; Louisiana, 10; plus two maverick electors out of Tennessee's 12. A total of 40. Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

RUSSIAN kids learn Russian easy enough. They must be awful smart kids. Even a grown-up American can't learn it, and I've always thought Americans were about the smartest folks in the world.

There was an American oil man that was planning to go over to Russia to get away from a subpoena or to look for oil or something, so he hired a professor from the University of Chicago to teach him Russian. He got the prof to live in his house, and he told him he should talk Russian to him as much as possible.

So the professor was having dinner with the family. All the time he was trying to give the oil man his money's worth by saying things in Russian. When he picked up his fork he named it in Russian, and had the oil man pronounce it after him, and the same way with the knife and the peas and the soup.

Finally, while the professor was talking and eating at the same time, he put something in his mouth and just naturally exploded. Some of the food hit the picture of George Washington at the other end of the dining room, and the whole family started to wipe their faces with their napkins.

"Now, is that the Russian word for something, really, prof?" says the oil man. "I'm awful afraid I'll never learn to pronounce that one."

The professor took a swallow of water, and then he says, "No, that was just the horseradish. It's a lot stronger than I thought."

apply to persons outside of the government, nor bind organizations other than those of "the government" of the nations which signed the agreement.

Further, and highly important, though the A.P. hid that truth, is the fact that the United States government was equally bound by the same pledge to "refrain and restrain" all "persons in government service" and "all organizations of the government" from "inciting and encouraging armed intervention" against the Soviet Union. The A.P., by leaving blanks (thus . . .) where the name of the Soviet Union should appear as in the real agreement, falsified it, by speaking as though the Soviet Union pledged the USA everything, and the USA pledged nothing to the Soviet Union.

Further, after quoting the paragraph, the A.P. went on to make its main point that, though the USSR signed this pledge, it had violated that pledge because, according to the A.P. story:

"Meanwhile, the American Communist Party was fomenting strikes, agitating, undermining the armed forces and openly proclaiming—at a rally in New York—the imminence of 'the American revolution'."

The A.P. also claims that "American Communist leaders" were "getting large sums of money and advice from the Communist International." And all this is pictured as a "violation of the pledge" made by the USSR government to the USA government (ignoring, of course, the fact that the USA made the same identical pledge to the USSR). But a close look at the pledge itself shows the falsity of the A.P. assertions.

Firstly, how on earth can persons who live in and are citizens of the USA, and who believe that socialism as an economic system of production relations, should replace the economic system of capitalist and wage worker relationsin America, and who unite in a Communist Party or other organization to help bring that about, be confused with or identified as "persons in government servei" of the Soviet Government, or as "organizations of" that government?

It is rank and outright nonsense, and even though some idiotic reactionary Congressmen "pass a law" saying it, it remains rank and outright nonsense. It would, moreover, presume a fantastic situation, where the Soviet Government would be supposed to demand that all and sundry American citizens living in the USA, not in the USSR, who believe in and work for a socialist system, cease and desist from so doing—without having the slightest police power to punish them if they did not, besides infringing on these Americans' rights of free speech and organization under the U.S. Constitution, if the Soviet Government should even issue such a futile command. In short, it is simply crazy as an idea.

But what about the alleged "Communist leaders getting money and advice from the Communist International." Well, in the first place, the Communist International, which was dissolved in 1943, never was any part of the Soviet government, nor was it composed of "persons in government service" of the USSR. No more than the Soviet Government could claim that the Democratic Party, the American Legion or the Rotary International, to all of which President Truman belongs, is a "part of the government" of the United States. Further, the receipt of money has never been proven, and if it was a fact, still is not a crime by giver or taker.

Again it must be said that, no matter how many Mundt-Nixon bills and Smith Acts, or other idiocies Congress may pass saying that the "Comintern"—now non-existent, or the Communist Information Bureau, which is something entirely different, and which has its headquarters, not in Moscow, but in Bucharest, Rumania, were or are "organizations of" the Soviet government, the idiocy would remain an idiocy just the same. And, moreover, cannot be made anything else but an idiocy by any or many laws.

It could just as sensibly be declared, by law, that the Dixiecrats are "persons in government service" or the Dixiecrat organizations are "organizations of" the Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek, because they both uphold the feudal system of economic and social relations practiced in both China and Alabama, and because Dixiecrats are demanding that the U.S. government give material aid to Chiang Kai-shek's feudal and fascist dictatorship. Or that Senator Lucas of Illinois is an agent of the Spanish fascist government because he visited Dictator Franco and demands that the USA recognize and aid that fascist government.

As to how the United States government has kept its own pledge of 1933 to "refrain and restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government" from hostile acts and propaganda against the Soviet government—well, just look at what is going on!

But back to the Eagle. "Joe: There is a struggling young woman who has with the grimness of a Grizzly sought to make a success. You are an experienced news manager. Why not go down to Los Angeles and give it a try out? "We finally got him to go. The result?

Well: The twain met and went into a partnership, that death alone dissolved. Today The California Eagle is a paper of national importance. The spirit of human helpfulness implanted by John Neimore." The torch of "Justice for All" which masthheaded the old Eagle, has never dimmed.

When Joseph Blackburn Bass went to Los Angeles he made us promise to write a column weekly. We commenced under the caption, "Comments." The editor and publisher of the California Eagle today, may not see eye to eye on some matters, but so long as the California Eagle is imbedded, and is inspired by the spirit of its founder, it will attain greater prestige and national influence. It is the foundation that was laid by the California pioneers of Negro journalism that pointed the way toward progress. If this generation does not profit, too bad. Sorry that space will not allow us to mention other worthwhile names.

Progressive Party Executive Committee Election Report

A bare ten months ago Henry A. Wallace announced his independent candidacy for President and declared his intention to lead in the foundation of a new political party. At that time, the only nationwide organization which had expressed even qualified interest in a third party was the Progressive Citizens of America, a group with barely 100,000 members in a maximum of 26 states. A few international and local unions had indicated they were prepared to cut adrift from the two old parties. With the exception of the American Labor Party in New York State, there was no other machinery with which to begin; there were no funds; relatively little in the way of trained, experienced staff.

In mid-March, the Independent Progressive Party of California was born out of the heroic efforts of thousands of volunteers. Seven months later, a national Progressive Party was in formal existence with organizations in all 48 states, legally qualified to appear on the ballot in 45 states.

The national ticket had received approximately 1,200,000 votes on Election Day. Local candidates of the party for state legislatures and House of Representatives had received an average of three to five times as many votes as the national ticket in their own districts.

Most important, the Progressive Party had forced itself into the national political arena by the very challenge of its dynamic program, and had forced particularly the Democratic Party and its candidates to borrow and campaign upon important sections of its domestic program and make some gestures, at least, toward sections of its foreign policy.

Without the Progressive Party, the 1948 election campaign would have largely been a campaign minus issues. Without the Progressive Party, there would not now be an Administration and Congress pledged to repeal the Taft-Hartley Law, to institute price controls, to speed low-cost federal housing, to extend and strengthen rent controls, to effect new civil rights legislation for the protection of the Negro people and other minorities, to re-institute excess profits taxes upon the big corporations.

Without the Progressive Party, there would be no organized political force to monitor the new Administration and Congress in carrying out these campaign pledges.

Most important, wtihout the Progressive Party there would have been no challenge to the bipartisan foreign program of extending the international profiteering of big business and big finance, under the guise of building a new world-wide anti-Communist axis.

The Progressive Party emerges from the 1948 electoral battle with a permanent machinery consisting of thousands of loyal volunteers. It possesses now vast and rich experience, from which it can learn, and through which it can overcome the many weaknesses evident in its first efforts.

In the words of Henry Wallace, "We are confident that our party is destined to play a great role in the history of our nation and the world."

L. A. VOTE

In Los Angeles County approximately 100,000 votes were cast for Henry Wallace and Glen H. Taylor, representing about 5.8 per cent of the total vote. With about 40 per cent of the state's voters, this County gave Wallace and Taylor about 60 per cent of the approximate 185,000 votes htey received in California as a whole.

In the two-way Congressional races, IPP-registered candidates piled up from two to four times the Wallace-Taylor vote.

1. Bill Esterman, running in the conservative 20th District where even united Democratic efforts over six years have failed to dislodge Republican Carl Hinshaw, polled 45,862 votes, or 18.5 per cent of the total.

2. Maynard Omerberg, opposing Gordon McDonough in the 15th District which has never had a progressive Congressman, polled 26,639 votes, or 17.1 per cent of the total.

3. Mrs. na Rice, entering the campaign against Richard Nixon barely a month before election day, polled 19,664 votes, or 12.2 per cent of the total.

In the 18th District, where there was a three-way race and where Truman trounced Dewey by a sizeable margin, our candidate, Judge Stanley Moffatt, received only 8,593 votes, or 4.2 per cent of the total.

These four IPP-registered congressional candidates alone polled for our party in less than one half of Los Angeles County a total of 100,758 votes.

Twelve IPP-registered candidates for State Assembly, running in a little over one-third of the Assembly Districts, polled 76,160 votes between them. They averaged 15 per cent of the total vote.

Allen Metcalf in the 56th AD polled 10,617 votes to receive 21.4 per cent of the total.

Frances Williams in the 63rd AD received 8,361 votes for 21.3 per cent of the total.

Jose Chavez in the 51st AD polled 6,920 votes for 20.5 per cent of the total.

The others were:

45th AD, Darby	17.8%
67th, AD, Allen	17.0%
50th AD, Friedman	13.4%
65th AD, Pettibone	13.3%
66th AD, Van Dalsem	11.5%
52nd AD, Haas	11.0%
69th AD, Seely	9.5%
70th AD, McArdle	9.5%
46th AD, Elconin	6.4%

In the other congressional races, Representatives Douglas and Holifield, in whose favor our own candidates withdrew, were re-elected by a margin of 2 to 1 and 2½ to 1, respectively.

Democrats Healy and Patterson, who crossfiled IPP, were defeated by margins of 6,000 and 28,000 votes, respectively.

In other Assembly races, in which we were directly interested, Phyllis Ziffren, Democrat crossfiled IPP, received 40 per cent of the vote in the 59th AD, a district that has yet to elect a progressive Assemblyman; while Wilbur Jerger, a Wallace Democrat in whose favor our candidate withdrew, received approximately 40 per cent of the vote in the 60th District which has for 60 years had a Republican representative.

CITY COLLEGE NEWS

By C. E. LLOYD

Highlighting the week's activities at City College was a speech by Loren Miller, nationally-known attorney. Mr. Miller spoke to a group Tuesday, Nov. 16, in Newman hall on the topic, "What the Negro Wants." His was the fifth in a series of lectures on "Combatting Group Tensions."

"What the Negro really wants is what the average American wants — full participation in American life," he said. Specifically, he said the Negro wants to rear his children, to get a job, and to vote. "It is hard for a Negro to secure these rights," he added.

Since the Negro's welfare is tied in with that of others, Miller said that he must work for those political issues which are for the common good.

"Many American problems, especially in the South, are dependent on the so-called Negro problem," he continued. "The poor whites in the South can't get decent schools and living conditions until the Negroes do."

"Why do these things exist?" he asked. "Generally considering, Negroes belong to a low cast and whites belong to a high cast. Any white person is automatically admitted to a high cast," he said. "America has arrived at this cast system through a long period of history, and each generation lives it over and over again," he continued.

In conclusion Miller stated, "The surest way for all Americans to lose all their rights is to continue to deny some of these rights to a minority."

The Ctiy College Homecoming Queen, Miss Joan Olson, was crowned during an elaborate coronation ceremony Thursday, Nov. 18, in front of the administration building. The affair was attended by a standing-room-only crowd, as all classes were excused one hour for the occasion.

Miss Olson won the honored distinction of Homecoming Queen out of a brigade of 42 beauties vieing for that honor. She is to represent City College in the homecoming game Friday night, Nov. 26, when the Cubs take on the Compton Tartars in the Rose Bowl.

Dr. Richard Lillard, former English instructor, gave students some good points on research in book writing when he spoke to a group Wednesday, Nov. 17, on "How I Did My Research for 'The Great Forest.'"

He said he had to write about things as they affect people. Card catalogs, research books, and hints from friends helped, he stated. Experience also played a part in giving him the feelings behind the book.

Two in a series of editorials exemplifying the increasing need for a four-year community college appeared in the Collegian, campus newspaper, last week. The editorials stated that the need is not being met by a state college added to City College.

It was expressed that a community college has the aim of maintaining close contact with employers to provide the kind of education they require, and to give a higher education to the students.

It was further brought out that all types of higher education are combined in the community college. It offers a wide range of vision, skill, and "bread and butter" courses but does not compete with the universities in such fields as law and medicine and does not neter into research. No actual four-year community college exists in California, the article stated.

Reserves Biased, He Joins Regulars

NEW YORK.—Orders enabling former Master Sgt. Tucson A. Miller to be accepted for an administrative position by the N. Y. State Organized Reserve Assignment Group are on their way too late—Miller has been forced by dire economic necessity to volunteer for service in the regular Army.

After Miller applied for twelve months' extended active duty last August and assurance was given him of the availability of positions of the type for which he applied, he resigned his U. S. Post Office position in preparation for taking such an assignment.

When he was informed shortly thereafter that his application was disapproved because no suitable assignment vacancies existed, the NAACP determined that many jobs of this type were still open.

Protest was made to James C. Evans, civilian aide to the secretary of the Army.

This week — almost three months after Miller left his post office job—the commanding general of the First Army was authorized "to order Master Sgt. Miller to active duty to fill a posiion as his qualificalons warrant, provided a vacancy exists . . ." But Sgt. Miller is no longer available for the job—he has enlisted in the regular Army because he could prolong his unemployment no longer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

It has been long since you have heard from me. My health has been poor and there are many things to think of and do.

As you know all Africa is in a ferment and many important items of news are coming from there, especially from South Africa. I get them from magazines, clippings, and shall be glad to pass them on to you, if you will return the magazines to me for filing.

We were keenly interested in the recent election and its outcome. If the President can hold his varied backers in line, we shall see some advance action by Congress on Civil Rights, Fair Employment, and Housing, all of which are of special importance to racial minorities. Let us hope for good results.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mrs. Bass:

"From the many times I have read THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE I have noticed you are one of the few papers that have carrived the true story of the fight against job discrimination at Sears in Santa Monica," wrote a Young Progressive who timidly asked the EAGLE to run the story of the "Youth Night" on the picket line tomorrow (Friday) evening but asked not to use his name.

You bet we'll run it. And all the other stories of the splendid work the young people are doing in the fight against all kinds of discrimination. Here's hoping the picket line will be blocks long tomorrow night.

Hit Jim-Crow Against Negro On N.Y. Project

NEW YORK—"The sacrifice of democracy is too high a price for New York to pay for a water supply system," Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, declared last week in assailing the contractors of the new 2150-foot Downsville water tunnel for maintaining "as tight a Jim-Crow policy as could have existed in a Dixiecrat state."

"The NAACP congratulates New York City for finding a solution to its shortage of water," stated Mr. White, "but regrets that the solution has been found at the cost of democratic employment practices."

A complaint filed through the NAACP before the State Commission Against Discrimination on behalf of Thomas Harrison, a Negro who was refused employment at Downsville after his union had recommended him for a skilled job on the project, charges that the shop steward there informed Harrison he could not be employed because Negroes could not live in the bunkhouse maintained by the contractors. Walsh Construction Co. and B. Perini & Sons, Inc., and could not eat in the cafeteria maintained by the same contractors.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. White, "the pattern of a Jim-Crow town in the South was followed to such an extent that Mr. Harrison was unable even to use the telephone in the cafeteria to get transportation back to town. He had to ask a white man to go into the cafeteria and make the phone call for him."

Jury Quest Called Off 'Til January

The inquiry by the Federal Grand Jury that has threatened the freedom of witnesses who refused to incriminate themselves by answering loaded questions, has been put off until January.

Judge Pierson Hall who has been stern in his dealing with the witnesses, and who sought to keep them in jail until they answered the Jury's questions, will hear charges of contempt against three witnesses on December 14. They are: Ben Dobbs, Samuel H. Kasinowitz and Harry Steinberg.

Loyalty Group Plans Appeal

Sixteen County employees who were fired following the recent loyalty check will carry their cases to the State Supreme court. This action was decided upon following the decision of the Civil Service Commission upholding the discharge.

Seventy-three other county employees face discharge.

The Negroes Cause

By William L. Wood

Dear Governor Warren: I am in receipt of a letter from C. J. Carey, Department of Agriculture, answering my complaint against a Mr. Woodburn, who conducted the hearing on "Raise in Price of Milk," at the State Building, Los Angeles, Calif. I do not care to get in any controversy with anyone who holds an appointive office because I do not think they feel a responsibility to the people like one elected to office. Therefore, C. J. Carey has not made a correct statement.

I again charge that Mr. Woodburn did object to my questions that were asked Mr. Blank. I know he tried to get me befuddled when I asked Mr. Blank if he was interested from a financial standpoint and what was the net income. At this point, Mr. Woodburn butted in with an objection. I then asked Mr. Woodburn what he wanted me to do, and would he make Mr. Blank answer my questions. He did not.

I then asked him how I could find out the justification for this increase that nobody else has. Governor, if C. J. Carey knows so much about my questions, why did he not state them in his letter so I may be certain that he knows what he is talking about. (I don't think he does.)

You stated that Mr. Brock would get my letter and answer, which he did not. Now Governor, no justification has been shown and none can be shown according to the testimony given. This was just crammed down the people's throats to make them like it. They have just begun to fight this case, so I might just as well tell you that they look to you, the people who elected you, and not to Mr. Brock and J. C. Carey. And if this appointment of Committee selected by you cannot give the plain people their rights, then let's have some new Committees that will.

Now for Los Angeles Street Cars (Yellow). Notwithstanding the fact that an increase was granted to Yellow Car Lines just a short time ago, now your Pet Commission has just granted another. This time they raised passes from $1.50 to $1.75 and cancelled all tokens and collecting 10 cents straight fare. Governor, do you intend to do anything about these injustices? Just last week, for your information, I took a ride on the Vernon Street Car Line, and let me tell you the conditions that exist on this line. These dirty, filthy, dilapidated old cars made so much noise that you could not hear the conductors call the streets. And now the street cars are circulating a pink picket setting Dec. 5 for B Day (meaning beautiful cars but none for the Negro people who jay just as much fare as they do on the Westside (what Discrimination).

And now you are making much to do about Mr. McLain helping the Poor and the Blind, more power to him. Do you want to help these people, and you can help them, or shall they get another McLain to do their job.

Mayor Bowron nor you, Governor, are doing anything about this housing shortage which is nothing short of a disgrace. Old people, blind people living like a bunch of rats. Mr. Mayor, we have listened to your boasts about your third largest city and about many other things you boast about. Mayor Bowron, you and Governor Warren have just cast off your cloak of mystery and now you both are full pledged Republicans.

Governor Warren took the field and canvassed as such, but you from headlines that read as such (Bowron plugs GOP hopefuls) at Kick of Dinner held at Rodger Young's Auditorium. Mr. Mayor, if you give as much time to the people you are paid to represent, instead of knocking Helen Gahagan, the finest woman that could be selected to represent the Negro people, who does just that without any discrimination. Don't you represent them too? If so, why don't you give them the information they are waiting for? Just take a ride on the Vernon (Yellow Car Line) and get off at Vernon and Central and see how the order is there. And don't forget to look over the dirty, filthy streets.

If you send this biased Committee you have just appointed, who were very much protested for they all live in good homes, it is hoped that they will not do like E. F. Wagner, Assistant Chief, did right away. He almost threw people in the street and is now claiming the people will soon have plenty of houses to move in. The Governor and the Mayor are not doing a thing about this deplorable condition. If they are not interested in the people, let's make a change.

Very soon in this column I will announce who will be your next Mayor.

WILLIAM L. WOOD

"Sangaree" is by Dr. Frank G. Slaughter, who was a lieutenant colonel in the Army Medical Corps during the war. He is now a practicing surgeon in Florida but givs most eof his time to writing and lecturing. This is a colorful novel of the Old South in which authentic medical history is interwoven with the story of a bold experiment in land tenantry in post-Revolutionary Savannah. Dr. Toby Kent, charged with carrying out the plan, finds himself at odds with the prejudices of the aristocracy and also with Nancy Gregory. Nancy, who is the daughter of the former owner of the plantation, wants Sangaree for herself. Toby fights pirates on one hand and illness and disease on the other, but he finally wins out, even to the extent of gaining Nancy's favor and eventually her love.

"Gun Digest, 1949," edited by Charles R. Jacobs, is dedicated to sportsmen who love guns. It is a handy volume with a wealth of up-to-date information on rifles, shotguns, handguns, ammunition and accessories. Every currently manufactured sporting arm is beautifully illustrated and fully described.

Darby is one of the College Outline Series and gives the underlying principles and procedures of accounting in a brief and yet reasonably comprehensive manner. It is intended to meet the needs of business people, bookkeepers and students and all who desire to increase their understanding of the methods employed to record business transactions.

"My Favorite Stories" is a collection of short stories selected and edited by Maureen Daly, author of the still popular "Seventeenth Summer" and "Smarter and Smoother." The author was born in Northern Ireland and grew up in Wisconsin. She has won several awards for her own stories and has written for many magazines; she is now associate editor of the Ladies' Home Journal. Of this group of stories she says that every story is a special favorite of hers and each is about someone young. Although only one of these was written by the author, most of the others are by well-known and well-loved writers and she feels that they are all worth remembering.

"Practical Paint Course" is published by the American Paint Journal Company and is called "A Non-Technical Course Directed Toward Salesmen, Dealers and Consumers of Products of the Paint Industry." There are 12 lectures presenting basic up-to-date information on the products of the paint industry, their uses, application, contents, purchase and sale. The main object is to offer instruction to improve the background of producer, dealer, salesman and user. There are also discussions in the form of questions and answers. Commercial and trade names have been eliminated.

the Federal government; 3. To cooperate with Federal, state and local agencies administering housing functions, and other associations with common purpose and objectives; 4. To conduct research and direct plans for the financing of dwellings and projects for minority groups in joint arrangement with banks, insurance companies and other lending institutions, aided by the insurance facilities of the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration.

Proposal for the new organization had come from Mr. Howard in an address made before a business conference sponsored by the Commerce Department last spring. He saw that common problems confronting established associations, and groups seeking to organize, needed a common approach.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer addressed the conference on Friday and gave the project his official blessing. Dr. Frank Horne and Dr. Booker McGraw, assistants to the Administrator for the Housing and Home Finance Administration, told the group also of the special need they can meet through their joint effort.

At the Broadway Federal Loan Association in this city over which Mr. Howard presides, the employees of all nationalities are used on a basis of efficiency rather than race.

In my opinion H. A. Howard's success is due to his studious and serious application to business, and his honesty of purpose coupled with a burning desire to advance the people's and the community's interest in all those who are classed on the lowest economic scale.

More power and greater success to you, H. A. Howard!

FREE SUSPECT IN EAST SIDE GANG BATTLE

Held as suspect in the shooting of one youth and beating of another during an East Side gang fight last week, Jesus Chavez Rodriguez, of 532 South Gless street, Pico Gardens area, was released by police after the district attorney refused to issue a complaint against him because of lack of evidence.

Rodriguez, 18, was one of eight juveniles arrested by Hollenbeck police following the fight in which Ralph Ballestros, 22, was shot, and Pascal Vega, 21, struck with a ball bat.

Rodriguez, arrested at 532 South Clarence street, said he came to that address after the fight was over and knew nothing of the gun allegedly used in the fray. Police records show he was arrested last March as a grand theft auto suspect.

ago, and injuries sustained by Julius Burns at the hands of the police at the same time.

Herman Burns, 28 year old veteran of World War Two, met his death while he was in the custody of Los Angeles police and special officers who had followed him and his two brothers Julius and John from an Eastside dance hall where there had been an altercation.

Lee White, says the wiring was not defective, and no cause for the blaze could be given. Some rumors have it that there may have been a murder, and the place was burned to hide the crime. Or it may have been suicide, say others.

The man's daughter, Ellora, was attending a show in a neighborhood theatre when the catastrophe occurred. The woman who claims to be his lawful wife was not home, but was reached by calling TU 1030.

The bodies were taken to the Connor-Johnson mortuary, awaiting an inquest.

were unfair to large blocks of voters who would be dispersed in several districts and have their solid voting power dissipated.

He did not have any objection to the reapportionment as such (a move made necessary by a city charter provision) but he appealed for a plan whereby the block of voters most affected by the change would be all in one district.

The new districts, Hawkins said, "are neither continguous nor compact, and contain too many inequities."

The council felt differently, however, and all but three of them voted to pass the measure. The three who voted against it are Councilmen Hahn, Allen and Moore.

Clifford Davis and Willie Harrison, Negro special officers, as known to have been involved i the melee that resulted in Herman Burns' death and the injuries to Julius Burns, but Chief Reed of the Los Angeles police department has refused to divulge the names of the police officers who took part in what has been referred to as the most brutal beating ever administered to a citizen by the police.

At a conference with Mayor Bowron and representatives of leading community organizations, Reed stated he would give the names to the Grand Jury. The Grand Jury through Roscoe D. Lyon, subsequently requested information on the case from the NAACP, but to date no word has come from that source indicating what action is to be taken.

Virginia Burns' suit is for $200,000 and that of her brother-in-law is for $10,000. They set forth that the Mayor, the five members of the police commission, Chief C. B. Horral and Deputy Chief Joseph Reed "knew," "or should have known those policemen were, "vicious and unfit to be policemen," even before the clubbing occurred and that failure to discharge or suspend them, made the officials "responsible for the wrongful death of Herman Burns."

Julius Burns and his brother Jim, who was handcuffed while the police beat his brothers, are scheduled to answer to charges of disorderly conduct in Municipal Court on December 15. Their father, Nelson Burns will come up for trial on the same date on a charge of drunkenness lodged against him recently after he was stopped by police for a minor traffic violation. The elder Burns was beaten and held in jail overnight when he revealed he was the father of the youth slain by police.

Ben Margolis, of the firm of Gallagher, Margolis and McTernan and Fred Steinmetz will represent the Burns family in the civil suit.

NAB THREE IN HOLDUP HERE

Smart work by Hollenbeck detectives Jack Melony and Gerry Devine this week resulted in the apprehension of three youths who allegedly held up the Sam and Joe Service Station, 2332 East First street, last Friday morning and robbed the night attendant of $80.

Taken into custody and booked on suspicion of robbery were Fred Martinez, 19, Felipe Vasquez, 22, and August Aguilar, 23, all of 727 Sunset Blvd.

The three, police said, drove up to the Sam and Joe gas station at about 1:45 a.m. on Friday, Nov. 19, and asked the attendant, Isaac Spector, of 518 Brittania, for change for a dollar bill. When Spector opened the cash register, he was jumped by the trio, who held a butcher knife at his throat and also simulated guns. They rifled the till of about $80 in cash and fled in their car.

They were picked up the following day by Central police in a routine shakedown near the First Street Bridge, and investigation by Hollenbeck detectives resulted in their being arrested Monday in connection with the gas station holdup.

Elaborate Decorations Used At Brilliant Cavalrette Social Club Formal

Elegantly dressed in satin evening gowns, in colors borrowed from a rainbow, and wearing corsages of Talisman Roses tied with turquoise and cerise ribbons, members of the Original Cavalrette Social Club, played hostess roles to one of the most brilliant formal dancing parties this season.

The more than 500 guests, all dressed to the occasion, arrived at fashionable hours at the Elks Auditorium that had been transformed into a setting befitting he club's name. On entering the ball room, guests saw a corral complete with a life sized horse. On the stage proper, a huge horse-shoe shaped gate, was completely covered with turquoise carnations and cerise sweet peas, which formed an opening for the introduction of club members and also carried out the club color scheme.

Guests looking through the gate viewed a gold colored drop curtain at the back of the stage with a perfect silhouette of two horses' heads held together by the inscription and coat of arms of the Original Cavalrettes. Huge baskets of flowers in turquoise and cerise were placed on either side of the stage.

Promptly at 12:30 a.m., the spotlight was turned to the stag and Jessie Mae Brown, Societ editor of the California EAGLE stepped through the gate an took her place before the mik and presented the members c the club, telling of their com munity activities since organiza tion early in 1941. WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THANKSGIVING, STEEPED IN ALL ITS WONDERFUL TRADITION, is now upon us, and as we take our respective places in family circles to hear the customary Thanksgiving blessing and to feast in true American style, believe me, we have much to be thankful for. The tone of the "Social Set" changes a bit this week, as we strike a serious note and point proudly to the work being done by Mrs. Myrtle Taylor, Grand Deputy of the Egyptian Court No. 5, Daughters of Isis, and her husband, retired Captain Jack Taylor. Each year this couple quietly starts some needy young girl to college. The tuition is raised through benefit affairs put on by the Taylors. Thus went the activities of 1054 East 54th Street last Sunday afternoon, with many many friends of the popular Taylors, hailing from the general public, lodges and chapters galore throughout the city. All believe in giving the Taylors a helping hand with their project, and had a perfect time doing it too, for the Sunday affair was a very gala cocktail and tea benefit. Assisting were Daughters Irene Brown. Huesse Britt and Anna King, of course al were quite gracious wearing formal gowns and seeing to it that all present had a perfect time. So to the Taylors, and with the Thanksgiving spirit we send orchids of the rarest kind . . .

Another untiring humanitarian, up for our special orchids, is the well known musician, Evelyn Burwell, who untiringly gives her time each Monday night, to curb juvenile delinquency, by holding mammouth "All You Sing" at Lafayette Junior High. On last Wednesday night the little queen of the keyboard was presented in recital at Patriotic Hall. On the last curtain call, Toussaint Jennings, another diligent worker on the "All You Sing" program, presented Evelyn with the "Woman of Achievement Award." This little "Oscar" that is dearer to the heart of Evelyn Burwell than any Hollywood award, is taking its place along side the little trophies merited by Mrs. Burwell from the Red Cross, and Catholic Church for outstanding service. Evelyn was recently awarded her four-year chevron by the American Red Cross for her work in entertaining the convalescing war wounded in Veteran Administration Hospitals in and around L. A. Working closely with the psychiatrists in the program of musical therapy, she has proved of great value in the rehabilitation of neuro-psychiatric patients and her work has brought a Certificate of Achievement presented by Surgeon General of the U.S. Navy, Rear Admiral C. A. Swanson. Congratulations are in order for Miss Burwell for a job well done . . .

At this point the Kappa Psi Black and White Ball would be just the thing to write about. However, we cannot do the impossible, for at this writing the dance is yet to come, however, by the time you actually receive your copy of the EAGLE, the Black and White Dance will be among our favorite memories. Rest assured next week's EAGLE will carry the full story, with information on gay before and still gayer after parties . . .

The Doll League Charity Clubs story book ball was quite an affair last Thursday evening at El Sombrero. Dolls and more dolls were collected to be given later at the party for needy children, an annual League affair.

Formals seem to have the order of the day. . . . The Cavalrettes held their annual Winter dance at the Elks Hall last Saturday night. The Hall was crowded with a gay group of formal goers, who caught the little "Good Luck" tokens thrown by the Cavalrette members at the close of the introduction, handled by your humble scribe. Certainly had quite a delightful time introducing the members and officers of this club that for several years has been out in front linking charity work with their many social activities. The members took their bows in colorful gowns of

Selective Twelve Do Annual Xmas Charity Work

The large clubs, too often looked upon as entirely social, are anything but that.

Now even the smallest club lends support to a welfare organization or aids local boys and girls in their endeavor to secure an education.

The Selective Twelve Social Club are completing plans for their annual Christmas charity work, helping welfare agencies with the many things which agency budgets never can cover.

They have planned for this year a benefit dance to be held at the Commonwealth Better Business Club, 1253 W. Jefferson Blvd., Dec. 4, 1948, from 9 p.m. until 1:00 a.m.

The admission will be non-perishable foodstuffs. It is their wish that no needy family be forgotten this Christmas.

Mrs. Willie Mae Chambers.

On Saturday night, Becky Farrington birthday celebrated with an informal dancing party. Balloons were used profusely throughout the main rooms of the Farrington home where a host of young friends of the honoree enjoyed a nostolgic interlude of the good ole days at Manuel Arts High and UCLA. Among the select group present were the Hill twins, Kenneth and Hugo, with Gloria Crouch and Charlain Derrick, Herbie Howard and Joyce Fenney, Tomasina Ayers and Tommy Palmer, Leonard Beavers, Phyllis and Bill Golden, Clifford Clark, Shirley Spincer and Elroy Lott, Phyllis Williams, Jackie Dickerson, with a very handsome young escort, Antoinette Brown, and many another . . .

Same night out at Jackie and Henry Clay's home, the Phi-Delphians went very informal with a blue jeans and plaid shirt soiree. My girl Friday hints that the place really jumped and the Phi-Delphians, most of them now in the young married class, will never forget the event. Doing their bit in the kitchen loading the paper plates with tasty vitles were Bobby and Arthur Herndon, Marilyn and Elbert Hudson, Jean Brown Harris nad her better half. Keeping the activities alive up front, were Frank and Evelyn Abney, Gerald and Pauline Stovall, Nancy Blach and George Winchester, Betty Wallace and the rest of the Phi-Delphian lineup.

The Ivy Leaf pledges did their bit for charity by holding a very cleaver "can can" party. The after-game crowd (USC-UCLA) were much in evidence. . . . While the Ivy Leaf girls collected canned goods, the sorors of Delta Sigma Theta were staging a very successful "Turkey Trot" at Jeni LeGons studio. Of course the proceeds will be used for a very good cause. . . . There you have the informal doings of last week end . . .

OFF TO NORWAY

Joel Flullen, the perfect host about town, opened the doors of his South Manhattan Place Apartment Tuesday night, and welcomed a glamorous lot of friends to dance, be merry and bid a fond "Farewell" to Dorothy and Gerry Nicholas, who are now off to Norway, where they will spend Christmas with their famous husbands. Certainly sorry, making this week's deadline would not permit ye scribe to be among those present in person as well as in the spirit. As you know, Joel, noted member of the Actor's Lab, and one of our leading young progressives, is known the nation over for his fine food preparations and the genial manner in which he handles a party. The affair started around 8:00 p.m. Tuesday night and lasted well into Wednesday morning (yesterday). The Nicholas girls departed our fair city late yesterday evening, and will more than likely enjoy Thanksgiving dinner aboard TWA. Just how long the girls will stay in Europe is still the jackpot question. However, Dorothy and Gerry will be on hand when their famous husbands put on their "Command Performance" before the King and Queen of England. So this column wishes bon voyage to two swell girls . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Harpo Marx Crowns Queen Of West View Hospital

On November 11 the West View Junior League closed its popularity contest with a gala Coronation Ball at the Avodon, featuring music by Benny Carter and his orchestra. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Mrs. Geraldine Ray as the "Queen of West View." Harpo Marx, the beloved hard-working vice president of West View, conferred the title and placed the crown on Mrs. Ray's head, while nine other charming contestants formed an admiring court around the queen (see picture). Preceding the crowning ceremony, the members of the "West View family"—the Board of Directors, Women's Guild, and Junior League—were led in a grand march by Allen C. Woodard, 3rd, president of West View, and Mrs. Woodard. Music for the march was a special arrangement of the "West View March," an original composition of Dr. T. R. Peyton, one of the charter members of West View.

As the prize for raising the largest amount of money in the contest, Mrs. Ray received a complete Fall outfit, including a custom-made hat from Mrs. Beulah Johnson, a dress from Phillip Selznick, shoes, gloves, bag and hose. These gifts were secured through the efforts of Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, a member of the West View Board. Miss Odella Bartlett, the second highest contestant, was awarded a Gruen watch; and honorable mention was given to Miss Winnie Pumphrey who ran a close third. After the crowning ceremony, the queen selected the lucky numbers and awarded door prizes contributed by Donovan and Seamans, J. W. Robinson's, May Company, Bullock's and the Broadway.

Miss Jewell Lockett, president of the Junior League, gave warm thanks to the many citizens who supported the affair and to the young ladies who worked so hard to raise funds for the West View Hospital building fund.

She expressed regret that the net proceeds of the affair were a little less than $500, and urg that the entire community behind West View and make possible to complete constr tion of the initial 50-bed u without further delay.

She stated that "the W View Junior League is especia anxious to welcome as new me bers all young women who w to work for this worthwhile co munity project. Informat concerning the Junior Lea may be secured from the W View office, 5131 S. Main Century 2-6717."

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

Foreword: It is my hope that each of you enjoy the spirit of Thanksgiving. The whole world is relieved somewhat now, that the war and the presidential election are over. At this time, three main tasks — or duties — confront us.

The first is to give thanks to God for having delivered upon us life, if nothing else, but in most cases, the most generous blessings. The second is to aid in the cleaning up and reconstruction of the world after World War II, in any possible way; through friendship and neighborliness toward others, through contributions whenever possible to the cause of understanding peoples of other countries.

And the final duty is to follow the leaders in our own country in a true spirit of democracy. We have had our say, we have chosen our leaders, at this election, and any failure that intercepts the course of this prosperous land will merely be a reflection of our own efforts. So in a true sense of pilgrimmage, let us give thanks and go forward today.

DEATH, MARKED "MADE IN U.S.A."

After two decades nearly of fighting one enemy or another and millions of lives being lost, in 1948 a bloody revolution is in full swing in China. This time it's the Chinese Nationalists versus the Chinese Communists. The communists are fighting against the man in power at the present time, President and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. His statesman are so corrupt that American officials and businessmen debated extensively the question of whether or not to send Marshall Plan aid to this huge chunk of Asia. They knew the result would be graft and black market, that the goods would actually do the people little good.

For in China today, feudalism is rampant. Government and economic crisis after crisis keep the people shuttering in hunger and lost in confusion. They are plagued with black market, pestered with inflation and money which is of no value—not even the paper it's written on, for presently they cant' even use the paper. Illness and disease go, in many cases, unchallenged. To overshadow it all, their minds retain memories of the Second World War and the present revolution.

The man opposing Chiang-Kai-Shek is Mao Tze-tung. During the last few weeks they have won victory after victory, and the Nationalists are "deserting in great numbers." The big province of Manchuria is already taken and for a while things seemed to depend upon a battle at Suchow. If it does fall, and China falls to the Communists with one-fifth of the world's population, we could soon find ourselves outnumbered and out voted at the United Nations. But I guess that wouldn't matter; we aren't paying any attention to that organization's plans altogether anyway.

However, it seems very unlike our American past standards of diplomacy to take part in such an explosive situation. To send food and medical care is only human—and traditionally American. But to send guns and ammunition to Chinese people for the purpose of killing other Chinese people is a mistake, it would seem, and beyond question. For win or lose as far as our motive goes is definitely to set many people against us—and bullets marked "Made in U.S.A." will be killing people who are not fascists—who are not threatening our democracy and the freedom of others. The revolution is a thing for the Chinese people to settle themselves, in their own way—just as was the American Civil War a century ago. The interference of any other nation would have met with our most violent resentment. In China, the Communists are in a majority, and why they didn't hold a free election is puzzling.

We have made mistakes in our foreign policy in the past. But luckily, we had great men to appease them and to keep down war. In every war we have emerged victorious. But like some team will finally pull an upset on Notre Dame, such an upset could possibly be on our own country. Nations do not choose to fight alongside any other country a week before or after battle starts. We are making our friends and enemies now. However, there is one guide: you'll never go wrong as long as you're on the side of humanity.

FOOTNOTE:

Some say it matters not,
While others say, so what.
They just don't care,
As long as there's meat in their own pot.

University of Maryland Admits Negro Graduates

BALTIMORE — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People learned today that its testimony has been instrumental in bringing about the decision of the University of Maryland to admit qualified Negro students to its graduate school. Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president, announced this week that Negro applicants for graduate work will be considered next fall "on a basis of qualification alone" and qualified students accepted "on an integrated basis."

The NAACP was outlined on Oct. 22 at a hearing granted to the Maryland Committee for Equal Educational Opportunity by the Board of Trustees of the University of Maryland. At this meeting NAACP assistant special counsel Franklin H. Williams testified that he could find no federal or state law or judicial opinion justifying the existing discriminatory policy against Negroes.

Mr. Williams pointed out that although graduate courses at the University were maintained bythe State of Maryland "out of public funds raised by taxation of all citizens, regardless of race, creed, or color," the only graduate facilities available for the use of qualified Negroes were those of the school of law which opened its doors to colored students following a court decision in 1935.

"It would be unfortunate," declared the NAACY attorney, "for the State of Maryland to have t oface repeated and numerous actions in the courts of the state before electing to do what is its clear constitutional obligation to do immediately.".

Finds Selling Pint of Blood Costly Affair

An effort to sell a pint of blood to obtain money to meet the increasing cost of living proved futile last week for Robert Thompson, a floor finisher, of 554 South Figueroa Street.

Thompson told police he asked a man on the street for the direction of the nearest blood bank. The man directed him to the bank at 333 East Fourth street. There Thompson sold a pint of his life fluid for $4. As he left, he found that the man was waiting for him and demanded half of the money.

When Thompson refused to part with his hard-earned four one dollar bills, the man kicked him in the groin, grabbed the bills and fled.

Young Progressives Have Youth Night on Sears Picket Line

SANTA MONICA — The Young Progressives, from the Bay area, Friday, Nov. 26, are sponsoring "youth night" at the picket line at which time youth all over the city will show the manager of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Santa Monica, that the younger generation is strongly opposed to his Jimcrow hiring policy.

The United Committee to End Job Discrimination at Sears is going to turn the picket line over to groups of various categories each Friday night during Sears' Christmas sale. One week youth, the next the maritime strikers, the following week housewives, then veterans, etc. (Picketers other than those mentioned are also urged to come every week.)

"We can't show our strength by sitting at home feeling sympathetic, so set this evening aside from 7 to 9 p.m. and plan not only to come yourself, but to contact your organization and others to let Manager Stearn know how the youth really feel about discrimination," says the leader o fthe Young Progressives.

A party, to which all picket line participants are invited, will be given following the demonstration. Address will be announced on the line.

Don't forget to mark the date, Friday, Nov. 26, on your calendar and attend the largest demonstration ever held in Santa Monica.

Young People Rally on Picket Line at Sears for Fair Employment

SANTA MONICA — "Young People's Night" on the Fair Employment picket line at the Sears Roebuck store in Santa Monica this Friday night (Nov. 26) will launch a new "Christmas season offensive" in the year-old campaign for employment of Negro sales clerks at that store.

The Young Progressives, American Youth for Democracy, and the Santa Monica Civic Action Committee are among the youth organizations supporting the fight who are working to make this Friday's picket line, from 7 to 9:15 p.m., a great demonstration of youth against jimcrow.

Youth groups throughout Los Angeles are being urged to send a carload of picketeers to the Santa Monica Sears store on this occasion. There will be a special "After-the-picket-line" party for all picketeers.

"Goodwill toward men—Don't do your Christmas or Chanaka shopping at any Sears store," is the slogan around which all progressive organizations in Los Angeles county are asked to rally their members for an effective boycott throughout the Christmas season—and after, if necessary.

A special "Maratime Night" on the picket line Friday, December 3, when striking Maritime workers are expected to swell the line, and special Women's and Veterans' nights for December 10 and 17 respectively, are also part of the "Christmas season offensive."

A special "Christmas Eve picket line" for Friday, December 24, was also announced by Harper Poulson, executive secretary of the United Committee to End Job Discrimination at Sears. Consisting of some 60 organizations, this group is conducting the year-long struggle for fair employment in Santa Monica.

Plans for the "Christmas season offensive" follow recent refusal by the local Sears management to discuss any change in hiring, said Poulson. "Upgrading of three Negro porters over the past year to jobs as mechanic's helper, receiving clerk, and stock clerk is not yet fair employment," he said, "though it does show that Sears has felt the strength of public spirit."

Organizations on the United Committee and others are asked to send letters to their membership alerting them to the Christmas season boycott of all Sears stores.

The American Veterans Committee is alerting all its chapters to have representatives in uniform present on Veterans' Night, Dec. 17, and the Los Angeles County CIO Women's Auxiliary has already agreed to have a delegation on Women's Night, Dec. 10, said Poulson.

Citizen's Protests Lose In Council Vote

Coordinating Council Plans Active Program

The newly elected president of Watts Coordinating Council, Catherine Mitchum, opened a most important and informative meeting with a large body of the membership present at 10 a.m., Friday, Nov. 19, in the Youth Center 102nd and Beach Streets.

Fannie Leonard led the Lord's Prayer as a feature of the opening. Dorothy Kessen and Walter Giles gave detailed and interesting reports on the recent Coordinating Council Conference with the following suggestions; (a-Each council should have a membership committee (b) there should be stronger representative lay membership with regular representatives at council meetings, (c) Luncheon meetings should be held occasionally throughout the year.

Bill Brannan of Los Angeles County Coordinating Council led a discussion of Ordinance 5201 that deals with the sale of comic books depicting crime to youngsters under 18. It was suggested that Watts Council undertake a study of the sale, distribution, and effects of such literature on the youth of the community. It was brought out tha publishers are fighting the accusations of the deleterious influence of the books through the courts.

Newcomers introduced to the Council were: William Vaughn, of Green Meadows Area Boy Scouts, who gives 90 percent of his time to Watts; Vida Van Brunt of the Church Welfare Bureau, and Eleanor Brown of Brown's Youth Center who gave a resume of her work.

Gladys Hanson told of the work being done by Rev. Brinkley at the Youth Center in his church, Hope Presbyterian 92nd and Anzac. Johnny Flores presented a proposition for the furnishing of an abandoned barn in the area to provide additional facilities for the sadly inadequate athletic activities for Watts youth. The idea was referred for further study.

B. Wilson, police women's association urged persons interested in stuffed toys to contact her or Mrs. Thomas for information as to the program being carried on by her department. S. Aldrich, Red Cross Volunteer home nursing chairman gave a brief explanation of the program to be instituted in the old USO building and Imperial Courts beginning Friday after Thanksgiving.

Sabina Mendoza was appointed to take care of the Christmas program scheduled for Dec. 10, instead of the usual 3rd Friday of the month. The Council invites and urges all members and interested persons to attend this party meeting.

New President Takes Over Watts Chamber of Commerce

E. J. Edmonds, the new president, presided at the noon meeting of Watts Chamber of Commerce in the Youth Center, 102nd and Beach, Thursday, Nov, 18. After commendatory remarks about the outgoing president and expressions of confidence in the comprehensive knowledge of the operation and conduct of the body by its efficient secretary, the president went into the business of the day.

Letters of appreciation and thanks for help in their Halloween projects were read and accepted. Then the subject of better lighting for the district was discussed at some length. Secretary Johnson reported a Christmas plan for carol singing by prominent stars Wednesday, Nov. 4, at 103rd and Beach. Distribution of candy along 103rd Street will follow. All of which, the secretary pointed out, will boost business and cost the merchants nothing.

Ralph Banks, president of Watts Welfare League and a member of the Chamber, raised a question about application of the Chamber's regulation (calling for a letter from its secretary before allowing solicitation of 103rd Street merchants) to holders of solicitation permit cards issued by the Los Angeles Social Service Authority. The case cited in point was outlined by the director of Brown's Youth Center, 2116 E. 98th Street, who holds such a card.

Director Brown was assured by secretary Johnson that her letter on the subject, written in August, was unanswered because of press of work and promised that action would be taken on her request for permission to seek help from Watts Chamber of Commerce merchants as soon as a Watts C of C committee is appointed and has investigated her case.

Action on a dinner meeting to create goodwill and understanding between the people and the merchants of this area which they serve was suggested by Nick Savaya and enthusiastically received and discussed by those present.

Stars appearing on the Christmas program will include Paula David, famous French actress just arrived in Hollywood; Carrie Daniels, well-known Watts soloist; and Jacqueline Allen, singing star of MGM.

Supervisor Donates Toys

The bundle of 107 assorted toys presented to Brown's Youth Center, 2116 E. 98th Street in Jordan Downs, by supervisor Roach is playing a big part in the growth and expansion of interest among the scores of children served by the constructive activities and recreation offered there.

This project, originated and still directed by volunteer social worker Eleanor Brown, has grown from a little group of 8 children, whose overflowing energies were turned from destructive outlets into constructive gardening ventures rewarded by a party and prizes, to become a robust body of scores of children from all over the neighborhood. The garden project has expandad into hand-work classes of many kinds with social activities on the side which includes a wide range of interests and skill with prizes still playing a fairy godmother role for the hard workers.

Brother Pays Sister A Surprise Visit

When Mrs. Dorothy Bradley, 1852 E. 121st. Street answered a knock on her door last Saturday she had no idea who the caller might be, but there was one person she had no idea it would be, and that was her brother, Lorezno Cramer, whom she had every reason to believe was in Germany. But when she opened the door all her ideas deserted her for there stood Lorenzo big as life and twice as healthy and handsome after 30 months at Camp Kilmer in Germany.

Mr. Cramer was discharged from service October 12, and is at present visiting with his sister. After a short visit in Bakersfield, he intends to return to Los Angeles for permanent residence.

Council Votes Defeat Hope For Station

A five minute hearing given a group of Watts citizens protesting the erection of isolated comfort stations on the P. E. righ-of-way in downtown Watts at 10 a.m. last Tuesday, Nov. 16, before the City Council went down to defeat under an avalanche of 12 ayes.

There were three speakers against and one for the project, which had been discussed at a previous meeting of the Council by other interests, and at much greater length.

The opponents of the measure were Ralph Banks, president of Watts Citizens Welfare League; Cora Moten of The California Eagle and Watts Council; and Eleanor Brown, Youth Center director. The proponent was Eusebia Small, president Industrial Council. Speakers of both sides were accompanied by delegations.

The protestants set forth that (1) a fully equipped station rather than a pair of wayside toilets is the only equable disposition of the problem at Watts. (2) The proposed site, surrounded as it is by liquor stores, questionable night spots, pool halls and loitering places for drunks and undesirable transients has been, for a long time, a hazard to the safety of law abiding citizens of the area, especially women and children, and that the danger will be enhanced by erection of such shelters that have already been discarded in other sections of the city as proven nuisance spots. (3) An intensive drive by Watts Welfare agencies against juvenile delinquency in this particular area has only recently begun to show results and to erect comfort stations there now will provide conditions that will, in a great measure, undo what has been accomplished and retard future efforts.

The proponent cited the need of public rest rooms in Watts and affirmed faith in the ability, intent and interest of the councilman of the district and the mayor to make the best decisions for the area.

Watts Plumber Badly Burned In Exposition

J. C. Thomas, a well-known Watts plumber who resides with his wife and five small children at their home, 2454 E. 113th street, was critically burned by the explosion of a gas tank on Saturday, Nov. 20.

Mr. Thomas, who was connecting a sewer in the 24th block on East 113th street, was at work in the yard behind the house, with his lead pot apparently functioning as usual. He had turned away momentarily to make some minor adjustments connected with his work, when there was a sudden terrific explosion of the gas tank on the pot spewing flames and bits of metal in every direction.

Caught in the terrific blast the workman was immediately enveloped in flames. With unusual presence of mind he flung himself down to the ground, rolling over and over. Neighbors who heard the explosion rushed to the injured man's assistance and succeeded in smothering the flames, but not before they had seared the victim's body from waist to ankles and inflicted burns on his face and arms.

The injured man was rushed to General Hospital as soon as the ambulance could be summoned, where he is reported in a very critical condition although hope for his life is held out by attending physicians.

Compton Ave. School Plans For Holidays

They are planning a bang up Christmas party over at Compton Ave., school this year. The school chorus being trained by Bess Beatty will sing old Christmas Carols and modern things too. And there will be the usual Christmas observance to add to the merriment.

Principal Lucas reports satisfactory progress with the building program going forward at Campton. She is urging school patrons to enroll in the Red Cross classes being formed at Watts Youth Center Friday, Nov. 26, the day after Thanksgiving.

Interracial Groups Cooperate On Youth Facilities Program

A common interest in setting up wholesome youth groups and getting better facilities for their children is one point where the racial groups making up the population of Willowbrook seem to be seeing eye to eye, if the regular monthly meeting of the Willowbrook Youth Service Committee at the junior high school, 129th st. and Wilmington ave., last Wednesday evening, is any criterion.

There was no evidence of divided thought among those Willowbrook people who listened to the reports of progress and made plans to continue the efforts to get better lighting and more playground supervisors for their children, although the group was composed of Negroes, whites, Mexicans and orientals.

Group of Children

Copies of letters to Supervisor Darby and Park Manager Wimmer setting forth the need of additional physical and professional services to implement the program for interracial harmony in Willowbrook were read.

It was pointed out that according to the Sorenson survey, Willowbrook, serving the youth of the unincorporated and adjoining incorporated area stands sixty-fourth among 65 areas in need of recreational youth services. And that in the face of the tensions in the area there is no recreational building available, no parks and inadequate playground personnel.

Chairman Muravez presented Vera Lewis of the County Recreation Department, who told of plans in her department to correct conditions complained of. She showed maps picturing contemplated parks for the vicinity and advised immediate letters of application for needed leadership, explaining the present shortage of such services and the problems posed by limited funds.

A major objective determined upon after discussion was an effort to get better cooperation between the Compton city recreation department and parks and recreation department of the School Union which includes Willowbrook Junior High School. Expansion of Youth Project Services was recommended. The agencies of this project are YWCA and YMCA, CYO, Camp Fire Girls, Boy and Girl Scouts and the Church Welfare Bureau. Herb Liebowitz is regional director for the area.

At the close of the business session a moving picture dealing with community problems was shown, after which Principal Wagstaff conducted a tour across the campus to the big, modern new boys' locker room just completed.

Malone Mission Growing Daily

The Malone Community Mission, an organization of service-minded Christians bearing the name of its founder, Sarah Malone, 1758 Palm Lane Street is an active example of the true spirit of Missions at work. Organized by Sarah Malone for the purpose of giving service in her own community wherever and whenever needed the Mission has grown beyond its first objective.

The response of those parents who attended the last meeting has given new impetus to Lincoln PTA and it is hoped that they will make the next meeting and all others a must on their programs.

It is now divided into two distinct groups, which meet in the homes of its members. In addition to rendering free services to those who need them the Malone Mission has two bible study classes which meet each Wednesday night at different places in the community.

They come together as one group every Saturday night at the Firebrand Church of God in Christ, 11913 Holmes Ave. All meetings are held at 8:00 p.m., are non-denominational and everyone is welcome.

THE REALM OF RELIGION

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Parables in the Bible. Lesson Text and Outline. Matthew 13:31-33, 44-46; Luke 15:3-10. Motto Text: John 7:46.

Introduction

A parable, as a child defind it, is "an earthy story with Heavenly meaning." In content it is an inspired illustration of religious truth. In form it is a spiritual simile, breifer than an allegory, larger than a metaphor, higher than a fable. The few parables in the Old Testament are attribute to Jotham, David, Nathan, Issaih and others. To Jesus we are indebted for all the New Testament parables, numbering 52. Six of them we study today.

Comments

1. The scope of this parable is to show, that the beginnings of the gospel would be small, but that its latter end would greatly increase. In this way the gospel church, the kingdom of God among us, would be set up in the world; in this way the work of grace in the heart, the kingdom of God within us, would be carried on in particuar persons. Christ's kingdom strangely got ground; great accessions were made to it; nations were born at once, in spite of all the oppositions it met with from hell and earth. In the soul where grace is true it will grow really, through perhaps insensibly.

The church is like a great tree, in which the fowls of the air do lodge; God's people have recourse to it for food and rest, shade and shelter. In particular persons, the principle of grace, if true, will persevere and be perfected at last: growing grace will be strong, and will bring much to pass. Grown Christians must covet to be useful to others, as the mustard-seed when grown is to the birds; that those who dwell near or under their shadows may be the better for them.

Ministers are employed in leavening places, in leavening souls, with the gospel. The leaven was hid in three measures of meal. The heart is, as the meal, soft and pliable; it is the tender heart that is likely to profit by the word: leaven among corn unground does not work, nor does the gospel in souls unhumbled and unbroken for sin: the law grinds the heart and then the gospel leavens it.

When the woman hides the leaven in the meal, it is with an intention that it should communicate its taste and relish to it; so we must treasure up the word of our souls, that we may be santified by it. The apostles, by their preaching, hid a handful of leavein in the great mass of mankind, and it had a strange effect; it put the world into a ferment, and in a sense turned it upside down, and by degrees made a wonderful change in the taste and relish of it, the Savour of the gospel was manifested in every place.

When the gospel comes into the soul. It works a change, not in the substance; the dough is the same, but in the quality, it makes us to savour otherwise than we have done, and other things to savour with us otherwise than they used to do. This change is such as makes the soul to partake of the nature of the word, as the dough does of the leaven.

The gospel savours of God and Christ, and free grace, and another world, and these things now relish with the soul. It is a word of faith and repentance, holiness and love, and these are wrought in the soul by it. This savour is communacted insensibly, for our life is hid; but inseparably, for grace is a good part that shall never be taken away from those whoh ave it.

When the dough is leavened, then to the oven with it, trails and affictions commonly attend this change; but thus saints are fitted to be bread for our Master's table.

2. Jesus Christ is the true Treasure; in him there is an abundance of all that which is rich and useful, and will be a portion for us; all fulness treasures of wisdom and knowledge of weighteousness, grace and peace; these are laid up for us in Christ; and, if we have an interest in, it is all our own.

The gospel is the field in which this treasure is hid: it is hid in the word of the gospel, both the Old Testament and the New Testament gospel. In gospel ordinances it is hid as the milk in the breast, the marrow in the bone.

It is hid, not in a garden enclosed, or a spring shut up, but in a field, whoever will, let him come, and search the scriptures; let him dig in this field; and whatever royal mines we find, they are all our own, if we take the right course. All the children of men are busy, seeking goodly pearls; one would be rich, another would be honorable, another would be learned; but the most are imposed upon, and take up with counterfeits for pearls.

Jesus Christ is a Pearl of great price, a Jewel of inestimable value, which will make those who have it rich, truly rich, rich towards God, in having him, we have enough to make us happy here and forever.

A true Christian is a spiritual merchant, that seeks and finds this pearl of price; that does not take up with any thing short of an interest in Christ, and, as one that is resolved to be spiritually rich, trades high. He went and bought that pearl; did not only bid for it, but purchased it.

3. The case of a sinner that goes on is a sinful ways. He is like a lost sheep, a sheep gone astray; he is lost to God, who has not the honor a service he should have from him; lost to the flock, which has not communion with him; lost to himself, he knows not where he is, wanders endlessly, is continually expesed to the beasts of prey, subject to frights and terrors, from under the shepherd's care, and wanting the green pastures and he cannot of himself find the way back to the fold.

God follows backsliding sinners with the cals of his word and the striving of his Spirit, until at length they are wrought upon it to think of returning. The value of the whole race to God was not so much as that of one sheep to him that had a hundred; what loss would it have been to God if they had all been left to perish?

There is a world of holy Angels that are as the ninety-nine sheep, a noble flock; yet God sends his Son to seek and save that which was lost. The repentance and conversion of sinners on earth are matter of joy and rejoicing in Heaven. It is possible that the greatest sinners may be brought to repentance.

While there is life there is hope, and the worst are not to be despaired of; and the worst of sinners, if they repent and turn shall find mercy. The conversion of sinners is the poy of Angels, and they gladly become ministering spirits to them for their good, upon their conversion.

The redemption of mankind was matter of joy in the presence of the angles; for they sung, Gory to God in the highest. More joy for the redemption and salvation of fallen man than for the presenvation and confirmation of the angles that stand, and did indeed need no repentance.

Comment on the Motto Text

This was a very great truth, that never any man spake with that wisdom, and power, and grace, that convincing clearness, and that charming sweetness, wherewith Christ spoke; none of the prophets, no ,not Moses himself. Christ was preserved by the power of God has upon the consciences even of bad men.

They said this to their Lords and Masters, who could not endure to hear any thing that tended to the honor of Christ and yet could not avoid hearing this. Providence ordered it so that this should be said to them, that it might be a vexation in their sin and an aggravation of their sin.

Affliction is the wholesome soil of virtue, where patience, honor, sweet humility, and calm fortitude, take root and strongly flourish. —David Mallet

Women's Day at Lincoln Ave. Church Inspires

The third annual Women's Day observed at the Lincoln Avenue Church, Pasadena, last Sunday, was a source of inspiration and a determination to work harder for the advancement of world peace and understanding than ever before.

Mrs. Carrie Harris, mistress of ceremonies, gave the keynote to the day's services, by speaking on the theme for the day: Love, Peace, and Understanding.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, the guest speaker at the morning service, told of the role women have played in the history of the church, in politics, in business, and in the society of the country, especially before and after our two World Wars.

"It will be due in great part to the efforts of the women of the nation if World War II does not materialize," said Mrs. Bass.

Mrs. Bass was presented with two dozen of large yellow and white chrysanthemums by the members of the church, at the close of her talk, in appreciation of what she "has done for the women of America in general and for the women of this community in particular."

Mrs. Eva Mae McKinley was mistress of ceremonies for the evening service, and Mrs. Georgie Thompson was guest speaker.

Others who took part in the services of the day were: Carrie Stovall, Lovie Gardner, Ruth Jones, Lula Dennis, E. L. Harris, C. W. Brown, Mrs. Bittie Martin, Mrs. Sopha Espy, Clara Brown, Itha Edwards, Pauline Randolph, Mrs. Bessie McKinley, and Mrs. Austin. Mrs. Clara Brown was general chairman.

The music was furnished by the Women's Chorus, the Sunshine Gospel Singers, and the Inspirational Chorus.

Rev. R. F. Hockenhall is the pastor of the Lincoln Avenue Church.

Baha'i World Faith

The Animating Purpose of the Faith of God is the subject of the lecture to be given by Mrs. Jesma Herbert on Sunday, November 28, at 11:00 a.m. at the Los Angeles headquarters of Baha'i World Faith, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue.

For thousands of years men have had the vision of a great day when "they shall beat their swords into ploughshares," when "the earth shall be full of the knowledge of its Lord," when there will be real brotherhood, the kingdom of God on earth. "Thy kingdom come" was once a realtistic and confident cry. Now the astonishing announcement comes from Baha'u'llah, "This is the Day." He declares that the vision which we have preserved for so long is a true one, and the goal of history is now to be reached. That goal is not an end in itself, but only the gateway to something higher than has been known before. The goal is world brotherhood, or World Order.

Christian Science Subject 'Thanksgiving'

The annual Thanksgiving service was conducted on Thursday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text was from the Psalms; "Offer unto God thanksgiving: and pay thy vows unto the most High."

The Lesson-Sermon included these words of the Psalmist: "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is; . . . Because thy loving-kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee. . . . My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness; and my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips."

"Universal Love is the divine way in Christian Science," wrote Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Again she said, "Spiritual living and blessedness are the only evidences, by which we can recognize true existence and feel the unspeakable peace which comes from an all-absorbing spiritual love."

Testimonies pertinent to the Thanksgiving season were given by Christian Scientists in the congregation.

Women's Day at Bowen Mem.

Two thought-provoking addresses and good music featured Woman's day at Bowen Memorial Methodist Church Sunday morning and afternoon. At the morning service Mrs. Mary Prioleau King presented to a large audience of women, their husbands, and friends a pattern for the woman who is ready for today's challenge. Dignity, faithfulnfess, devotion to their children, a business sense, a sense of values, a healthy body, community concern, common sense and fear of God were clearly outlined in her pattern.

In the afternoon service Mrs. John C. Bane, wife of the Bowen pastor, admonished women not to be "satisfied with their own goodness" but to lend a hand to others.

The Woman's chorus under the direction of Mrs. Nell Dobson Plant sang "Ave Maria" by Shubert featuring Mrs. Jean Benson as soloist in this and also in the rendition of "Inflammatus" by Rossini. Mrs. Leola Longress, the morning soloist, sang "The Publican," by Van De Water. Mesdames Viola Brown, Nedra Tayyor, Helen Pugh and Mildred Miller also took part in the program. Mrs. Dovie Steward presided in the morning.

Miss Edna Dobyne, coloratura soprano, was the featured soloist in the afternoon, when Mrs. Bane spoke and the Women's Chorus sang "Send Out Your Light," by Gounad. Mrs. Mattie Nelson presided.

Pedestrians and motorists passing "Sinclairs Cafe" in Culver City, past October 10, probably wondered why there was such hustle and bustle in the vicinity of the cafe. Now we progress honoring the 8th anniversary of Fred Washington, pianist. Rated as one of the outstanding pianist-entertainers, Washington has been employed at the spot since 1940. The party, an invitational affair, sponsored by the cafe owner, lasted from 1 P.M. until 2 A.M. Throughout the day invites came bearing gifts and testimonials; when the party was over, Fred gathered up his gifts and filled the back seat of his car. The list of gift items included many practical articles, such as neckties, lamps and folding money.

Happy Johnson and his orchestra, whose recording of "Barbecued Hot Dogs" brought them "out of retirement" are now at the Rhythm Room, Long Beach. Marl Young and orchestra signed for a week at "Berg's" following a one night performance last Sunday—that checked.

Fisk Choir on Air

For the third consecutive year the Fisk University Choir of one hundred voices is on the air over Station WSM, Nashville, Tennessee — 650 on your dial — each Sunday evening at 10:15 p.m., Central Standard Time.

For the past two seasons the weekly Sunday evening broadcasts of the Fisk University Choir have been an important feature of the musical program of Station WSM, one of the most powerful in the South.

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo In Eight Performances Here

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, now celebrating the tenth anniversary of its first appearances in the United States, returns to Los Angeles for a gala pre-holiday season beginning on Friday evening, December 10, in the Philharmonic Auditorium. Presented by Mrs. L. E. Behymer the company will be seen in eight evening performances and two matinees (on December 11 and 18) between December 10 and 18.

Alexandra Danilova is again prima ballerina assoluta of the company, as she has been since its first season. Also still with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo ever since its inception are Frederic Franklin, premier danseur and maitre de ballet, and Nathalie Krassovska.

Of unusual interest is the fact that through special arrangement Alicia Markova and Anton Dolin, world-famed ballet stars, will join the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo for its Los Angeles performances.

Printing and publishing firms are active, with some holiday greeting card work already starting and two large newspapers preparing for expansion. The grament industry has recovered from the June decline and is hiring steadily. Railroads are recruting firemen, brakemen, switchmen and telegraphers. Local streetcar operators and bus drivers are in urgent demand.

The Al Evans Jr. enjoying life at its fullest in their newly purchased home over on one of the "Drives" . . . The sudden death of Rose Romaine was quite a shock to her many friends. Rose was a former member of the Eleven and One Club! . . .

Aha! At a party one woman called across the room to another: "I have been wondering my dear, why you weren't invited to the Roger Vilts last week" . . . The other woman smiled. "Isn't that a coincidence?" she said. "I was just wondering why you were."

NOTES, NEWS AND NONSENSE

Janet LaStrap doing the nite spots and displaying a new Mink cape . . . Didn't recognize Atty. Walter Gordon Jr. the other even'g with his new mustache . . . The prettiest smile we've seen in a long time is displayed by Inez Crawford, spouse of J. D. Crawford . . . wish Willie Bryant and Ziggy Johnson would make a trip here to the coast . . . That was shapely Faye or "Danuse" doing the clubs the other A.M. just recently back from Honolulu . . . Our fave of the piano players Eddie Dudley due in town most any day now, after completing a lengthy engagement . . . Jay Loft Lynn on location over at Wrigely Field, askey Jay who he was co-staring with, to which Jay replied "June Allison" Ahem! . . . The Mills Bros. opened Tuesday night at the Cashab. They're my fave of the foursomes . . . No truth to the report that Johnny Miller (formerly of the King Cole Trio) will organize a full-size band of his own. He joins the Blazers in Jan. . . . Ella Tate and Florence Cadez (of the Musician's Union staff of efficient secretaries) are a top song writing team. They're, as they say in hep circles, terrif! . . . Levi Burnley is working for Joe Lutcher, and may travel East with the band as Joe's "right hand" man . . . That was John Pettiford looking nearly as sharp as Gable the other sundown at the Downbeat!

THE WEEKLY NEWSREEL

Nat Meeks is featured trumpeter with Jay McShann's orchestra, and left last week with that outfit for a 2-weeks stay at an exclusive nitery in Utah . . . Jean Wilhite, the pretty debbie, doesn't care who knows she's making the telephone company richer with all those long distance calls to Dayton (Ohio). His name is Charles DeJoie . . . Leonard McClain says he's the greatest pinochle player in, or near, around the great state of California. And that, as the saying goes, is that! . . . Everybody tells me what a swell person Charles Williams is. He's Morris hotel manager, and they say he has more friends than Truman—and Truman had enough to put him back in the White House! . . . Cute Phyllis Hoxie's dimples has a certain fello (we hear) going 'round in a daze . . . It's a race between Officer Sonny Robinson and Kenneth Shipp, to determine the handsomeest guys on the Police force—at least that's what the debbie's say. And I'm just reporting the news . . . Sure wish someone would (or could) talk 'Nyais Berry and Sunshine Sammy into forming a dance act. They not only look alike, but dance rings around any other due in town! . . . Tre Turnabout Charity Club's Semi-formal is Dec. 11, at the Elks. El-Vira Redd's orch will play for dancing. There will be "special" guest stars featured throughout the evening . . . Tommy Campbell would really make a good-looking champion if he beats Enrique Bolanos and then gets over Ike Williams, eh Girls? . . . Dorthea Fearonce had her tonsils pulled last week and she's as gay and friendly as ever . . . Poem: It must be fun to break a heart . . And I know you've broken scores . . . But I'd certainly like to be around . . . When somebody shatters yours! . . . That's 30 for now.

CAMILLE HOWARD is the featured pianist-singer with the Roy Milton band. She toys with a piano in big time fashion, and is rated up there with the best of them in the Swing (Keyboard) Kingdom. She will appear in person with Milton's band for a one week engagement at the Million Dollar theatre beginning Dec. 21.

Anna Mae Winburn

The International Sweethearts of Rhythm, world famous all-girl orchestra, currently appearing in Seattle, Washington, at the L'Aiglon, famed Northwestern cafe, have had their contract extended to January 10, 1949, to be followed immediately by a lengthy series of one-nighter engagements in the midwest and south.

Vivacious Anne Mae Winburn has rejoined the aggregation as directress, completing a four-month honeymoon trip through Central and South America.

Three Floor Shows Slated For Congo Club on Holiday

Andy ("Until the real thing comes along") Kirk, with his son, Andy, Jr., riding the tenor sax and the band backed by one of the best night club floor shows in Los Angeles, start their second big week at the Club Congo.

Literally feeling its way, big-time night club stage shows seem to be on firmer grounds after a week of good business, acording to genial manager Joe Morris. With a show featuring such talented acts as Byron and Beau, really a cute dance team with their "St. Louis" blues routine, Carita (You Can't See a Thing) Harbert, Freddy ("I can dance all night, and do") James and Ernie Andrews doing the vocals, customers are flocking in.

The beautiful costumed line of girls are credited with the return of floor shows to the avenue. They stopped the show at Earl Carrolls and they are stopping it at the Congo.

Thanksgiving night Mr. Morris announced there will be three gigantic floor shows with many added attractions via guest stars.

Since the grand opening of this big show last Friday night the Club Congo is a "must" on every caberet goer's list.

Famous Jocko Brothers Have Big Time Act at Barrel House Spot

The famous Jocko Brothers lead a top show at the Barrel House on week-ends, with La Tanya, Jezzebell, Catherine Cooper, Billy Mitchell, J. T. Gipson and Johnny Otis' orchestra rounding out the entertainment bill.

Rated the top singing-dance-comedy team in and around this neck of the woods, the boys display a brand of showmanship that rates on a par with the best in show business. They have worked most of the top spots on the Theatrical circuit, and were featured at the Cricket Club with Billy Eckstine's orchestra, and at the Meadowbrook with Johnn Otis.

They feature an original tune, "Maggie," musically arranged by Herman Pettis and Lee Wesley Jones.

La Tanya holds down the feature torso-twisting spot, with Jezebell and Catherine Cooper very aptly handling vocal chores. Billy Mitchell is one of the featured stars at the Barrel House, and his act goes over with the proverbial bang! Bardu Ali is Master of Ceremonies and J. T. Gibson is billed as the Little Trumpet King of The Blues, tho he sticks mostly to singing, and does a neat job in a T-Bone Kalker (his teacher) manner.

Johnny Otis' recoding band, with Cecil McNeely featured on Tenor sax is tops in rhythm, and all in all it's top show at the Barrel House, but it's those zany Jocko Brothers who literally rock the place.

What a team!

Lena's Rival? Oh Sure, and I'm Gable Too!

NEW YORK—Whenever bandleader Betti Mays appears in local night clubs throughout the country the critics invariably compare her vivaciousness and vitality with that of movie star Lena Horne. And their cries have been taken up by thousands of Mays fans who hail their favorite as Miss Horne's only rival on the theatrical scene.

Now on tour with her Swingtette, Betti is the center of attraction whenever she appears and comes under the public's careful scrutiny as they want to carefully judge the qualifications of this winsome lassie who is steadily climbing upwards toward the pinnacle reached by Lena.

Eddie Beal to Play With Shaw At Olympic

Ginger Rogers has been chosen to reign as "Queen of the Harvest Moon" at the Olympic Auditorium, 18th and Grand, Saturday night. She also will judge the Harvest Moon Finals along with such stars as Dan Dailey, Cyd Charisse, Ann Miller and George Murphy.

The Harvest Moon contest and show is being sponsored by Veloz and Yolanda, world's foremost dancing couple, to find the best amateur dancers in the Southland.

The famous Artic Shaw orchestra with the original Artie Shaw library has been selected to play, along with Chuy Reyes, top Capitol recording artist, and his rhumba band direct from Ciro's and the fabulous Wingy Manone, jump specialist. The Shaw orchestra will be conducted by Bob Keane and will feature the famous Negro pianist, Eddie Beal.

Betty Martina

(NPB)—Betty Martina, gifted Spanish-Moroccan dancer, was given a "surprise" party on November 16, when several friends converged at 11650 Wilmington blvd. later in the evening to make the natal date observance a pleasing affair.

Among those showing felicitations during the evening, were Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Brown, Paul and Althea Stafford, Hubert and Lola Davis, Sandy Silvers, Margurette McGwynne, Art Baker, Oscar Weber, Lawrence F. LaMar, and scores of others.

J. T. GIPSON

Brewing in Bronzeville: A newdy (some even call it dirdy) scandal will rock the front pages any edition. It will involve a femme musician, a sportsman and a reverend. . . . "Baby Dutch" Culbertson (the coming champ) has a $2000 offer to fight in Honolulu. That ain't bad even if it's only half that much! . . . Bill Nunn (of the Courier clan) looking at a scotch and soda at Stuff's Theatrical club the other morning, and trying to think of a reason why he shouldn't drink it. (P.S. He couldn't think of any). . . . Maggie Hathaway is chirping at a nitespot in San Francisco, so'm told. . . . There's a tear in the heart of Los Angeles, because of Leon Washington's illness. Tough luck nearly always happens to the nicest people. . . . Beulah Brown's luscious hairy legs are a sight for tireless orbs. Santa Claus could never fill a stocking as well as she fills hers! . . . Theresa Wolfe (Little Bo Pip) and Frank Giver, a college lad, are closer than two coats of paint. . . . Gloria Porter is still one of the most breathless and exciting debs in town, if you ask me—and even if you didden. . . . Memo from Melrose: "Doctsie Williams, music and program director of the firm, thinks your blues-singing on wax with Jay McShann and a rhythm section backing you up, will increase MGM records bank account." (MGM's? Wotta 'bout MINE???) . . . Marguerite Lovejoy applauding the show at the Congo club, and looking so sophisticute. Ohmygawwwwddd! Wotta wonderful girllll!! She'd be sooo nice to come home to. . . . Whoz the mysterious stranger (handsome White lad) hanging around the nite spots. F.B.Eye agent in search of counterfeit coin? . . . Billy Mitchell's comic impressions at the Barrel House will tickle your funnybone. He's hilarious! . . . The torch the Statue of Liberty carries is a piker compared to the one Stella Wolfe is toting for a guy named Joe. (Who dat?).

J. T. GIPSON

You're Getting Old, Son, If You Remember Way Back When: Walter Gordon (the barrister) was a soda jerque at Finley's. . . . Bilo and Ashes (with Jelly Bean Johnson) star'd in superb stage shows at the Tivoli Thitter, now Bill Robinson. . . . Hot Dogs cost a nickle. . . . The late Archie Lancaster was rated the top trumpeter on the coast. . . . Eddie Anderson (Rochester) doing an act with Johnny Taylor (who was doing an act with Jurie Rutledge) at the Cotton Club. . . . Ernest "Sunshine Sammy" Morrison returned from Europe with a new Buick and Chauffeur, and reech as hell. . . . Steppin' Fetchit tried to drive his Lincoln through the front door of the Apex club. . . . Rainey Shaw gave Jeni LeJon her first nitery "break." . . . Buck Clayton and Derb Henderson became Mr. and Mrs. at Paramount studio, with Duke Ellington's ork playing the wedding march. . . . The Hummingbird cafe on twelvth st. where the "elite" met 'n 'et. . . . Drummer Tin Can Henry Allen, and how he usta beat them skins. . . . Mae Diggs was known as the prettiest girl in show b'sness. . . . Paul Howard's Quality Serenaders was the 1st Sepia ork to play a Hllyw'd cafe, the Montmarte.

From Harry Levette's Colyum: "Nat (King) Cole very justifiably called to correct a story on his divorce case and alimony, that someone, unknown to this ANP representative, had sent to our national offices in Chicago. He also rang this newshound two long days from Cleveland." Mr. Cole also sent a letter to my publisher stating he was going to sue the paper for the libelous story on his personal life. The irony of the thing is this: The story appeared on the front page of the Pittsburgh Courier, and not the Eagle.

If Mr. Cole would cool off long enough, it would be a very simple matter to write Director Claude Barnett (ANP boss) and ask who auth'd the item. If Nat Cole will foot the bill, I'll run the story down for him in three hours and give him the crum bum's name who printed it! (His first and last initials wouldn't be S, would it Herm?)

Patrollin' The Bronzeville Beat: Best Xmas idea yet is Long Beach's contribution to the holiday season. Its streets are decorated with huge post pics of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck etc. Good idea. Xmas is for the kiddies, anyhow. . . . It's only becuz everybody likes the chorus girl involved, that something wasn't printed on the caustic verbal spanking a married news writer got at one of the bars for his high falutin' attitude. His popularity is slipping into oblivion. When he dies the only guy who'll be sorry will be his insurance agent! . . . Lester Wilkins could easily be the Mayor of 5th St. He's that popular down there. . . . Joe Adams hopes his stay in hell will be as pleasant as the way there! . . . A few of us were discussing the merits of a gal blues chirp. "She couldn't carry a tune," Bill Day flipped, "If it had a handle!" . . . Gerald Wilson's superb trumpeting gets superbo every day. . . . Ruth Washington (of Downbeat Records) is in love with a Big Time musician. Says she wouldn't 'zactly go to hell for the guy, but she'd keep fooling 'round the edges 'til she fell in! . . . T-Bone Walker lost 8-lbs on his Southern tour. If that'll improve their singing, other blues-singers should shed some poundage, too! . . . Everybody and his brother (as the saying goes) is saying a prayer for Spurgeon Jones, whose complete recovery will be hip-hip-hoo-ray'd by his legend of friends. He's very sick at his Santa Monica home. It's things like this that make you wonder if there's really a God. Spurgeon's a grand guy. One of the finest. Never harmed a person in his life. He suffers. Yet there are others who break every commandment in the bible. They get reech, stay well and live forever! (You figger it out, me, I'm nuts!) . . . Doreen and Jimmy Reeves expect their little Income Tax deduction around Santa Claus time. If it's a girl and looks like mommie, it'll look like an angel on a furlough from the heavens. If it's a boy and looks like Pop, it's young and'll get over it! (Hey, Jim! I'm only playing!—jus' trying to get out a colyum') . . . The statuesque loveliness of Leola Landry is something to write home about.

Curtain Going Down: Avanelle Harris, the eyeful, decorates the line at the Congo club. And wotta looker! . . . Joe Adams and Emma, ring-siding at the Barrel House and hecklin' a blues-singing cloyumist. . . . Singer Jimmie Washington is At Liberty. Which is another way of saying out of a job. . . . Louis Jones has a resort deal up in the Mountains that could easily become the mecca of society. Nothing like it in the country for Negroes! Spacious club rooms. Trout Lakes. Everything. A natural! I'd like to see a group of our b'sness and professional men form a charter club and grab that spot! Wotta beeyoooooooteful place. . . . Not complainin', just colyumin', but why is it you can purchase the necessary equiptment (minus red tape) to build as many churches as you like, but it takes an act of Congress for a guy to get lumber etc to build a home? . . . Billie Holiday is due in town. She's muh gal. Her singing gets inside you and twists and burns, and causes your heart to wring itself out and fill up like a sponge—thus filling your whole chest. Bedtime would be a blessing to any bay-bee if Lady Day was on hand to chirp the lullabies. . . . The John Andersons say those divvorce rumors must have come straight from the nut house. . . . Aside To Alyce Key: Thanx, honeychile, for penning the col'm during our illness. You're a sweetheart, and I looooooove you! . . . Thanx, too, for the hundreds of cards and letters that came through the mails following the report of our car smash-up! . . . Jimmie Atkinson is returning to Peoria. Says everything costs money here. The only thing free you can get in L. A. is advice! . . .

Hal Minter and Al Bronson, of Al and Hal's Liquor Store, are two of the grandest guys in this (or any other) town, in case the subject of Grand Guys ever comes up in your conversation! Tops in ev'ry sense of the word!

Roy Milton to Play at Million Dollar Theatre

No more stage shows will be presented at the Million Dollar theatre until the week of Dec. 21st when Roy Milton and his famous orchestra, featuring Camille Howard, Bill Gaither and "Mr. Blues" himself move in for a one week engagement.

Milton, at present on a southern nitery-theatre tour, will appear in Tulsa on Thanksgiving day, and work his way West (and home) to arrive in town for his engagement at the downtown Million dollar.

Also featured in the band is 17-year-old Johnny Rogers, young guitarist, who is stopping the shows wherever he appears.

Little Toni Harper, child singing star (and undoubtedly a little genius), will appear on the bill with Roy Milton's band during the Christmas week at the downtown show.

Vets Rate Reduced

SACRAMENTO — A further reduction of 20 per cent—the second cut in three months—was announced this week in the premium rates for the Home Protection Plan life insurance that accompanies state financing of homes and farms for California veterans.

Ted Daniels is First Entry In CYO Boxing Championships

First official entry in the CYO Boxing Championships was announced this week as Ted Daniels, scrappy young middleweight and brother of Roy Daniels, runner-up in previous CYO, Golden Gloves and Diamond Belt oturnaments, was the first to turn in his complete entry with the State Athletic Commission and A.A.U. sanction for the three-night tourney to be staged at the Hollywood Legion Stadium, Dec. 7, 9 and 11.

A native of Kansas City, Ted has had four fights and has won all, two by knockouts, At high school, he began participating in track, basketball, football and softball on several championship teams.

He became interested in boxing, he says, "through consideration of man's primary ability and necessity thereof to defend himself and loved ones."

With the Amateur Coaches' Association and military and naval groups from March Field to San Diego behind it, a record turnout of entries is anticipated for the Championships, Larry Zagar, CYO supervisor, said.

BILL KING with SPIKE JONES' Musical Depreciation Revue

Floyd Ray Has New Orchestra

Floyd Ray, diminutive young orchestra leader, this week revealed to newsmen his format for the redevelopment of his once popular musical aggregation. Most of the men he is now putting through rehearsing paces were formerly under the direction of Roy Porter.

The deal Floyd Ray made in taking over the 12-piece aggregation of highly versatile musicians, calls for Roy Porter to remain with the band as featured drummer. Another feature will be trumpeter Eddie Hutchinson, formerly with Lionel Hampton's crewmen. Paul Sparks will be vocalist with the band, when it opens soon in San Diego.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Playing to capacity houses has become a permanent feature of the Ink Spots' act and their opening night at Bill Green's in Pittsburgh last week was no exception. The famed quartet bowed into the popular Smoky City rendezvous and were greeted by a line of Ink Spot fans who were waiting for tables. The line, consisting of 200 followers, began at the club's entrance and was so long that it extended to the corner and doubled back.

Police Request Alert Public To Prevent Holiday Thefts

Ed. Note: Because the CALIFORNIA EAGLE recognizes that public cooperation with the police will wipe out much of the holiday crime, we print the following report in full:

With the start of the Christmas and New Year holiday seasons, statistics show that crime in every city surges upward in those fields that are some way connected with Christmas shopping and the celebration of the holidays.

Because of the success last year in the prevention of crimes and injury due to drunkeness, the Los Angeles Police Department is attempting this year to repeat the success in the fields of theft and burglary. As last year, the entire campaign will hinge on the cooperation of the citizens of Los Angeles, and the willingness of merchants to bring preventive measures to their attention.

A. Theft from auto.

Theft from auto during the Christmas season will be especially prevalent in two instances. First, in the case of shoppers who leave packages in a car that is unattended, or left open on a parking lot. Second, in the case of people who come into Los Angeles to visit over the holidays, leaving luggage in their cars.

Prevention Hints:

1. Don't be lax in protecting your property because Christmas happens to be a season of good will. On the contrary, exercise special safeguards to prevent the criminal from taking advantage of you.

2. Watch where you park after dark. Don't park on an unlighted street. Wherever you park be sure to lock your car, and to put all articles out of sight. Always lock the doors and windows of your car to discourage theft from your car.

3. If you are the victim of theft, call the police immediately. Prompt action is your best chance of apprehending the criminal, and having your possessions returned to you.

4. Keep a list of serial numbers on articles that have them, and also good descriptions of all articles that might be the object of a thief's attention.

B. Pickpockets and Purse Snatchers.

Pickpockets will be operating in every crowded district; especially on street cars where people are jammed together, in front of show windows where people are crowded and their attention diverted, and in the large department stores where women leave their purses to examine goods. Theatres, where weary shoppers rest, will also be the object of their particular attention.

Prevention Hints:

1. If you are in a store or theatre that is operating a checking service, use it for your packages or other valuables that might be taken from you.

2. Do not swing your purse by the strap or let it hang from your shoulder. Hold it in your hand; and hold it so that your hand is over the clasp. Thus, it can't be opened unawares.

3. Be alert at all times. Because you are looking at a display window, do not forget that your purse still contains your money and valuables.

4. Whenever you are jostled in a crowd, check your belongings; it might be the pickpocket or the purse snatcher at work.

5. Don't carry large sums of money; there are other means to buy that are just as good as cash purchases. Use checks or your credit account.

During the Christmas season the burglar will be looking, not only for the empty houses, but also those in which parties are being held. Office parties will also be included in his field of action.

Prevention Hints:

1. Remember to get a good description and the serial numbers of all the articles you possess. This will enable you to identify them if they are later recovered.

2. If you are having a party at home or in the office, be sure to keep your purse where you can see it at all times.

3. If you are away from home, shut your garage doors, lock your doors and windows, keep jewels and valuables in a safe place, leave a light and the radio on, so the burglar will not be tempted to enter.

4. If you are stopped on the street by an officer, remember that he is looking for those who might victimize you. Show him good identification, and cooperate with him in every way possible. In helping him you are helping yourself to be safe from the criminal.

Sociologist Sees Race Status Change

WILBERFORCE, Ohio — Dr. E. Franklin Frazier, president of the American Sociological Society, was enthusiastically received recently by students, faculty and visitors at the chapel hour.

In his address on the subject, "The Changing Status of the Negro in the United States," Dr. Frazier pointed out that the Negro is becoming more and more integrated in American life and that this represents one of the most satisfactory solutions to the "race" problem.

Credit Unions Own One Million Assets

GASTONIA, N. C.—In the annual meeting of the North Carolina Council of Credit Unions held at Gastonia recently, the report showed that there are 95 credit unions in North Carolina operated by Negroes. These unions have assets totalling nearly one million dollars and do a loan business of upwards of two million dollars annually.

The Excelsior Credit Union of Gastonia was host to the council. The Gastonia unit is the largest credit union in the state operated by Negroes and has accumulated assets of more than $200,000.

It pays annual dividends of four cents on the dollar.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass — Students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have abolished a national chemistry fraternity chapter a protest against racial discrimination.

The students surrendered their charter for a chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma because of a by-law which limits membership to non-Semetic members of the Caucasian race.

Chamber Embarks On Good Neighbor Tour

Instituting a regional "good neighbor plan," the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will run a good-will tour to Riverside November 30 for key executives of Southland firms.

Ernest J. Armer, chairman of the Chamber's Domestic Trade Committee, said a fleet of buses will transport the management officials to Riverside for a day of visiting with civic leaders of the citrus city and personal calls on stores and companies dealing with Los Angeles firms.

JOHNNY WILLIAMS, in losing looked good against Enrique Bolanos Tuesday night at the Olympic Aud. Williams dropped a 7 round t.k.o. verdict to the coming champ.

Levi Jackson Named First Negro Football Captain at Yale

Jackie Wilson's Chances Again Blow Up in Smoke

OAKLAND — Stating he was too mixed up mentally to train properly," Rocky Graziano, former world middleweight champion who was barred from NY boxing by the New York State Athletic Commission, withdrew from his scheduled bout here with Ex-Champion Fred Apostoli Dec. 1.

Rocky disappeared suddenly from Oakland while in the midst of his training schedule, and went for his home in New York. At his Brooklyn home he said he had made the "surprise" flight because he felt "homesick."

In the meanwhile, Oakland Promoter Jimmy Murray said he plans to sue Graziano for running out on his contract, and told newsmen he was out $10,000 on the fight already and will have to start refunding the money.

Following the Apostoli fight, Graziano was scheduled to box California Jackie Wilson.

It Seems As Tho We've Heard That Song Before, Huh?

CHICAGO — Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis will train in Chicago for 10 days prior to his six-round exhibition bout here with Billy Conn, Dec. 10. This will be a no-decision affair, but Billy will try to jump back into the fistic limelight by attempting to score a clean-cut knockout over Joe.

At least that's what he told newsmen.

Enrique Bolanos To Meet Tommy Campbell Tues.

Tommy Campbell, Chalky Wright's pride and joy, hopes to halt Enrique Bolanos' winning streak and possible chance at Ike Williams' lightweight crown next Tuesday night at the Olympic Auditorium when the two engage in what announcer Dan Balough calls "Fistic Combat."

Bolanos, twice beaten by Williams, but a much improved fight since their last meeting, hopes to capture the 136-pound crown and doesn't figure to let The Chocolet Ice Cube (as Campbell is called), stand in his way.

By the same token, a win for Campbell, rated number 7 on the swat parade, would put him in line for a bout with Williams if he wins impressively (or just wins!) from Bolanos.

First Time in School History Negro Honored

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Succeeding Will Conway, a center, Halfback Levi aJckson was elected captain of the Yale football team last week. He is the first Negro (and seventieth captain) in Yale's history.

During the season just ended, the fleet-footed back led the Yale team in every department of the offense except passing, in which he was second to Quarterback Tex Furse.

Jackson gained a total of 639 yards for an average of nearly five yards per carry, and his puting average of more than 41 yards per kick was of material help to the team.

Jackson is one of the most popular students on the Yale campus.

ON THE TURF

GEORGE RAMSEY

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—More than 5500 lovers of the sport of kings were on hand last Sunday at Caliente to witness one of the best programs of horse racing seen in many weeks. In the feature attraction billed as the Thanksgiving Handicap, Hoodlum, one of the stars of the Pomona and Del Mar meetings, humbled some of the best sprinters on theg rounds in the six-furlong dash. Made an odds-on favorite on the opening line, he paid in the mutuels $4.60 and ran the fastest six furlongs seen this season. The time was 1:11 1-5.

The co-feature was won by the much-improved filly, Muriel Alice, the daughter of imported Vespasiano-Betty Farrel trailed her field until they turned into the home stretch, where she got through on the rail to score by a short nose, paying the good odds of $21.40 straight, and ran the mile in 1:39 4-5. The favored Peepalong finished last in the field of six.

"The Pilgrims," another feature of the day's program, was won by the outsider Dark Go. Red Sands with Jockey E. O. Johnson, the only Negro rider in the west, was the favorite, but lost all chance when his mount bolted turning for home and ran to the outside fence, although he finished third. Dark Go paid $18.80.

In the daily double, Top Tune, the winner and favorite in the second race, and Shur Good, victor of the third, paid $24.60, while the quineila backers of Disto-H. and Riverworth, who finished in that order, paid $25.40, although the winner paid $27.60 straight.

The veteran jockey Ray Christensen was suspended pending investigation of his unsatisfactory ride on Greenock's Son in the second race. He was co-favorite with Top Tune on the morning line, but soared to 5 to 1 at post time when money began to show for Top Tune. Greenock's Son was left at the post but made up very little ground and finished sixth. Only four favorites were able to win.

This Sunday, Gen. Mgr. Walter C. Marty has arranged two feature events to support the 12-race card. The feature attraction will be "The Albuquerque" at 1 1-16 miles, for a purse of $1,500. The secondary will be "The Las Cruces" at six furlongs. Alfl in all the program of 12 races for this Sunday shapes like one of the best this season. Citation, the wonder horse of 1948 and second largest money winner in the world, will start Dec. 11 at Tanforan race track in the $75,000 handicap.

Tillotson College Wins Beating Alcorn 7 to 0

Tillotson College of Austin, Texas, and one-half of the big football attraction at Wrigley Field Dec. 26, advanced one step nearer perfection by beating the strong Alcorn, Miss., College team in their homecoming contest last week, 7-0. Alcorn came to Austin with spirit and determination to spoil the homecoming exercises for the Tillotson Eagles. Coach John T. Braxton's charges were just little too much for the southerners and after a tough battle won the Duke fighting.

The tight score indicated a close game but the coaching staff of Tillotson is bringing the team to its fighting peak slowly in order that they will be at their top peak in the gigantic third annual Angel Bowl game in Los Angeles. With a heavy schedule more than half over the main topic of the players on the Eagle squad is the trip to the coast. With each succeeding game the Tillotson team vindicates the excellent judgement of the Angel Bowl Association headed by John Hardee, in selecting a team while not the biggest name in football, certainly one of the most pleasing teams to see in action.

According to sportswriters from Texas, the fans in the Angel city are in for a rare treat, seeing an all colored team from an all colored college perform with neatness and dispatch the same as other schools.

The many alumni of Tillotson are planning full support for the game adn plenty of social activities for the players after the game.

Billy Anderson To Enroll at L.A. University

FORT KNOX, Ky. — Coropral William "Billy" Anderson of Los Angeles, California, star athlete at Fort Knox, will leave the Army this month and expects to enroll at the University of California at Los Angeles in January.

Anderson entered the Army in 1947 after being graduated from Dorsey High School in Los Angeles. He enlisted immediately following graduation because "My buddies joined up and I didn't think I was ready to enter college."

The son of stage and radio comedian, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, has has established a brilliant athletic record at Fort Knox with outstanding performances in basketball, baseball and track.

Pepperdine Waves Meet Loyola Lions Saturday at Gilmore

Pepperdine's Waves and Loyola's Lions meet in Los Angeles' "Little Big Game" Saturday night at Gilmore tSadium, the contest marking the end of the grid season for both squads.

Comparative scores against Arizona State and San Diego State favor Loyola in the hot cross-town rivalry and the Waves doubtless will go into the game the underdogs. However, past performances in all sports between these two schools show that their respective records mean little when it comes to the game at hand.

The Waves have not lost to Loyola since Pepperdine took up football two seasons ago, the 1946 score being 21-6 and the 1947 count 13-0. Wave Coach Warren Gaer agrees with the folks who pick the Waves as underdogs this year, however. On the other hand he knows that his squad, weakened by personnel losses as it is, probabaly would rather win this contest than any other on the schedule.

The 1948 clash is Pepperdine's home game and the contest has been designated as Wave homecoming game. Loyola also has made it the Lion's homecoming affair, so there will be festivities aplenty on both sides, including crowning of homecoming queens and stunts by bands and rooting sections.

And This Happened Deep In The Heart Of Texas, Mind Ya!

BEAUMONT, Tex.—Xavier Cugat, the rhumba king, has joined the growing army of admirers of the rare singing style of Dinah Washington.

The famed delineator of Castillian rhythms paid the great singer one of the rarest of tributes and compliments here last Thursday night. Playing a date at the auditorium here, Cugat completed his engagement an hour earlier and hurried to the Harvest Club where he listened raptly to the distinctive work of La Washington.

NEW YORK. — Any question that the Ravens are the greatest single box office act in Negro show business was dispelled last week at the famed Apollo theatre in Harlem, famed weather vane of the entertainment world. The four singing aces pulled more than $40,000 into the coffers of the 125th street vaudeville house to top the record of any single act to ever play the theatre.

Major league football's finest team, the Cleveland Browns, and the most dangerous rivals of the twice-champions of the All-America Football Conference, the Los Angeles Dons, square off in the Los Angeles Coliseum Thursday morning at 11:15 in a Turkey Day special for local grid fans.

The Browns bring a 20-game winning streak into the Coliseum, and the last team to defeat Coach Paul Brown's eleven was the Los Angeles Dons, who turned the trick with a 13-10 win on October 12 of last fall. The Dons are the only team to defeat the Browns more than once and an upset win for Coach Jimmy Phelan's team would even the series at 3 and 3.

Over 70,000 fans are expected for the second renewal of the Dons-Browns Thanksgiving Day series, and there's a distinct chance the game crowd may break the major league record of 82,769 fans set just two weeks ago in Cleveland by the Browns and the San Francisco '49ers.

Coliseum gates open at 9 a.m. Thursday and 60,000 general admission seats priced at $1.50 go on sale at that time. The 11:15 kickoff will be preceded by a kid football game with a second contest scheduled between halves.

David Butler Playing Bang Up Football!

David Butler, outstanding football player for East Los Angeles junior college, was responsible for two of the Huskies' three touchdowns last week against Bakersfield College on the losers' home field.

The Huskies won 20-13.

Butler intercepted a pass and raced 92 yards for the first TD and after a brief resting period came back into the game and after a long drive by the ELAJC Huskies carried the ball five yards to pay dirt in the last minutes of the game.

Bill Corum Says Jackson Elected on Merit Alone

By BILL CORUM
Journal-American Sports Writer

NEW YORK (I.N.S.)—It's a fine thing that Levi Jackson, first Negro to play footbal lfor Yale, will be captain of the team at that famous university next year.

There are times when we feel a great pride in sports because, it seems to us, they are showing the way in these matters of common sense in this country.

We have got fed up with the word tolerance these past few years and grown somewhat skeptical of those who employ it too often and too glibly.

We like to feel, and definitely believe, that the Yale football players who honored Levi Jackson had no such thought. Jackson was one of them. They knew him for what he is. By his calibre of play and by his conduct as a player, he had earned the right to sit on that historic Yale fence in the photographer's shop with the white "Y" on his jersey .So they elected him to the job.

That is the way it was, and should have been. By the same token, if there had been another player on the Yale team, who has more clearly earned the captaincy, Jackson should not have the honor.

The fact that he is a Negro should have had no bearing, as I'm sure it didn't.

Men are judged for what they have done and what they are in the sports in which they participate, and on no other basis.

Joe Louis is, of course, the outstanding example and he will always be a star in boxing's somewhat tawdry crown, for boxing was the first sport to take this stand and then live by it.

Jackie Robinson, Larry Doby, Roy Campanella have followed in the wake of the heavyweight champion, with Don Newcombe and others following along.

So, again, we want to congratulate the ancient institution of learning at New Haven first and Levi Jackson second.

And we are sure that Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, Otis Guernsey, Dean Lyman and other Eli stalwarts mounting to a whopping majority of same, if not, indeed, complete unanimity, will agree that yesterday was a great day for Yale.

Fabela Chavez's comeback hopes hit a snag Tuesday night at the Olympic when he was technically knocked out by San Francisco's unbeaten Tote Martinez, 23-year-old hard-punching slugger, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

Chavez weighed 138, two pounds heavier than his Mexican rival. A crowd of 5000 fans witnessed the bout.

Mel Leighton Wins 2nd Spot In Races

Those tiny, torrid and terrific dynamos of the speedpaths—midget autos—wind up their 1948 season Sunday (Nov. 28) at Carrell Speedway with a 100-lap Grand Prix. Managing Director J. C. Aganjanian announced this week.

All of the nation's leading drivers are expected to be on hand for the finale, including a number of Indianapolis aces who opened their winter campaigns at Carrell recently. Present plans call for the CRA hot rods to stage their Grand Prix Sunday, Dec. 5, sruffling the next big car program back to Dec. 12.

Mel Leighton, popular Negro car owner, ran his famed No. 21 Riley Special in last Sunday's big car races, with Jack McGrath again piloting. McGrath hauled down second in his heat race behind Mel Hansen. The Riley went sour in the main event for the second week in a row, placing far back in the field of 12 starters.

Los Angeles City College to Meet Compton Tarfars Friday

If Coach "Red" Hand of City College has one asset in his backfield it is SPEED. Bolstering up this bulwark of jet propulsion are two stalwarts, Joe Hines and Tom Williams.

Joe Hines, a returning letterman from last year's Western States Conference co-championship City College eleven, led the league in kickoffs with an average of 55 yards per try.

"Jumping" Joe was injured during the beginning of this football season, but he recovered and came on strong with his excellent playing in the San Francisco game at Gilmore a few weeks ago.

The second in this duo of speed-boys is the versatile Tom Williams, with a record that any athlete envies. Hailing from Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Tom boasts the distinction of making All-State in both football and basketball at Corbin High in that city. He also played football while serving with the army in Japan.

His defensive play in football this season is hard to beat. Twice the speedster has stopped touchdown runs by overtaking his man and bringing him down from behind. The most spectacular of these stunts was pulled against San Francisco when theirsprinter Posnekoff had outdistanced the field and was gone for an almost certain TD. The lithe Williams, some 30 yards behind, dashed up from nowhere and downed his man on the 7. In another aspect of defensive play, he is unexcelled at breaking up passes.

Come tomorrow night at 8:00 and the traditional encounter with their bitter rivals, the Compton Tartars, in the Rose Bowl, these two speed-demons might prove to be the factor that upsets the apple cart.

Jimmy Bivins in Brilliant Stand Against Champ

CLEVELAND — Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis told newsmen Jimmy Bivins was the toughest opponent he has faced so far on his exhibition tour.

This bit of praise came after Bivins had given a good account of himself for a six-round no-decison affair with Louis here last week.

"I don.t know why he shouldn't be a contender if he gets serious about his training," Louis said in his dressing room after the bout.

Louis also added that anyone who fights Bivins would have "to be careful."

Although the exhibition was a no-decision affair, Matchmaker Lasser Atkins conducted a poll among newsmen at ringside and reported the writers favored Bivins by a 9-to-5 vote.

There were no knockdowns, and Louis weighed 220, a 40-pound edge over Bivins.

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

GOOD CHARACTER

Character is the result of thought. Think high, and you will live high. Whether our lives shall be full and helpful, depends upon our thoughts.

A good way to have clean, noble thoughts, is to start the day with a prayer and a smile on your face. Various meditations may be secured from the book "With God All Things are Possible". Why not obtain one now and get the enjoyment that others are obtaining from its pages?

M.L.L. Dear Prof. Herman: I am a constant reader of your column, and enjoy it very much. Will you help me with this problem. Will I ever be secure any more?

ANSWER. After giving your question careful thought and consideration, I find that your main difficulty has been in handling your finances properly. Because of ill-management, you are always under a strain. If you would place your income on a budget, you would find that things would work out much better for you. I would be glad to advise you further if you will write in for a private reply.

B.A. Is the idea I have in mind the best to do?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question I find that you have worked out a plan whereby you might profit a great deal . . . financially, and think you should go ahead with these plans at your earliest convenience.

E.M. Will I ever have any luck with this person?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you have been associated with this certain man for quite sometime, but haven't been able to accumulate anything. When both people don't pull together it is very hard to acquire anything that is why you haven't done so. I suggest your having a talk with him, perhaps you can come to some agreement, if you can't, than you should make other arrangements.

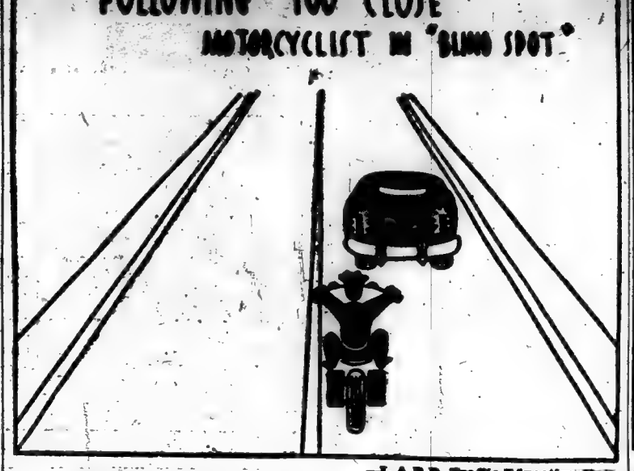
C.W. What should I do?



ANSWER. It seems that your half-sister is causing a great deal of confusion in your home. Your bringing her here, was to help her, but it seems that nothing but trouble has come from this move. It would be best under the present circumstances, to try and find her a room elsewhere until such time as she can take care of herself. Don't let this situation continue as it is, or you may regret it very much.

Concert Thursday At Long Beach

Many of Rose's original compositions, such as "One Love," "Manhattan Square Dance," "Hollywood Bowl Suite," "Dance of the Spanish Onion," "Our Waltz," "Holiday For Strings," "Stringopation," and "Orpheus Takes a Holiday," plus works of Richard Rodgers, Rudolph Friml, Sigmund Romberg, Jerome Kern, and Hoagy Carmichael will comprise the outstanding program.

Contribution Fakers Ready For Christmas

With the approach of the Holiday Season the Los Angeles City Department of Social Service is recommending that great care be used in making contributions to the many appeals that will be made to the public for funds for various charitable causes, in addition to the solicitations of the long established welfare agencies.

All persons asking for contributions are required to have an Information Card issued by the Department containing the important facts about the appeal.

It is pointed out by Thomas A. J. Dockweiler, President of the Social Service Commission, that every one solicited should demand to see and read the card, in order to judge the worthiness of the proposed charity.

New Homes and New Lives for Refugees

White Suggests Support for UN Trusteeship Council

NEW YORK—Support of the recommendation of the Trusteeship Committee of the United Nations General Assembly to give the Trusteeship Council the right to be consulted by administering powers prior to any federation of trust territories and colonial areas was urged by Walter White, NAACP secretary.

The committee's resolution, recently passed in Paris and now subject to approval by the General Assembly, "recommends that before constituting any customs, fiscal or administrative union, or federation, of trust territory with adjacent territories, or extending the period or scope of any existing union or federation, the administrative authority concerned should consult the Trusteeship Council."

County Will Attempt Appeal Intermarriages to High Court

Reports that the County of Los Angeles planned to appeal the ermoval of the ban on interracial marriages to the United States Supreme Court, were clarified and qualified this week when the California Eagle checked with the County Counsel's office.

With County Counsel Harold Kennedy out of the city, a California Eagle reporter was referred to a Mr. Lippold. According to him, the County will make every effort to get the appeal before the Supreme Court, but he pointed out there is no guarantee that the high court will take jurisdiction.

Lippold said there would have to be something of "a federal nature," or some other unusual consideration in the case to attract the notice of the Supreme Court. He stated emphatically that every effort will be made to get the Supreme Court to consider the case.

In response to a query as to why the county marriage license bureaus were instructed to issue licenses to mixed couples in the face of the intended appeal, Lippold pointed out that the county did not have a say in the matter and could not prevent the issuance of licenses.

He said he did not know what the status of any mixed marriage would be should the Supreme Court hear the case and reverse the state Supreme Court decision.

Observers see in the sudden action of the county to take the case to the Supreme Court, a sensitive reaction to criticism leveled against split decisions in the courts, made earlier this week by an attorney.

UN Partition Decision to Be Observed

A demonstration for the fulfillment of the UN decision will be held at Park Manor, 607 S. Western Ave., corner of 6th Street, on Monday evening under the auspices of the American Jewish Labor Council and the Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order.

J. Edward Bromberg, famous motion picture star; Dr. Sanford Goldner, president of the American Jewish Labor Council, and A. Maymudes, secretary of the Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order, will lead the speakers.

Negro and White Couple Wed in Los Angeles

The first Negro and white couple to take advantage of the new law permitting the persons interested to decide for themselves as to who shall marry whom, were married Wednesday afternoon, November 24, by Judge Walter Gates in his courtroom. W. C. Swincer, bailiff, acted as witness to the ceremony.

The bride was Miss Mildred Hope Santiago, who was born in Puerto Rico, and is of Negro descent. The bridegroom was David James Clark, born in Webb City, Missouri, white.

Mrs. Clark, 30 years of age, is employed as a fish-cutter in San Pedro. Mr. Clark, 60, served as a captain on the high seas for 20 years, and is at present a mariner and kelp cutter.

The couple now reside at 513 Harbor Place, San Pedro.

The news of this breaking down of racial discrimination in the marriage laws of California was reported to THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE by court clerk, John Hahn, brother of Councilman Kenneth Hahn, a few minutes after the ceremony which united the couple and just before press time.

Civil Rights Compromise Being Sought

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Already the problems are arising for the Democratic Senate leadership. The age-old and plaguing question of to filibuster or not to filibuster is in for some serious consideration in the early days of the new Congress.

Some thought is being given to changing Senate rules under which Southern Senators can talk and infinitum and block passage of civil rights measures.

Before changing the rules however, there is a plan to seek a compromise with the Southerners. It has been reported that administration leaders would swap off some objectionable (to the Southerners) aims of the civil rights program, in exchange for an agreement not to filibuster on a modified civil rights program.

Eagle Expose of Loyalty Tests In P.O. Wins Better Understanding

expose of the local postoffice drive against Negroes and liberals in Federal employment has brought forth a better understanding of the real meaning of the Loyalty Test, and a bitter denunciation of the use to which it has been put, never intended when first started by President Truman.

The citizens of Los Angeles will not allow these men to fight alone against this injustice. They are therefore planning to mobilize for a monster mass meeting to protest the action taken against the accused.

According to Eastern newspaper reports, certain officials in government agencies are using the loyalty order as an instrument for intimidating federal employees who oppose discrimination and segregation. The NAACP, Walter White secretary, has announced a decision by the board of directors to defend any accused federal workers in cases where the charges seem to be based on race or color, or on membership in the NAACP, or any other group approved by the Association's national office.

Local interest will cooperate with national defense plans to wage a real fight against such un-Americanism.

Send Out Call For Additional Chest Workers

The Community Chest drive in the Boyle Heights District is issuing an S.O.S. call for more workers to help clean up the drive. An additional $4,278 is needed by December 1.

"We must have more workers to do the job. Those who are working are doing splendidly," stated Mrs. C. Jelinick, chairman, and Mrs. M. Friedman, Colonel. "If we all go out now we can reach our quota by Dec. 1," they said.

The 158 health, welfare and youth organizations in the Chest need help now. If you can volunteer any time between now and Dec. 1, contact the office at 2334 Brooklyn Ave., Room 205. AN. 91147.

Nurses Poorly Paid

Nurses would be earning $125 a week, instead of the $40 they now average, if over the last 40 years their salaries had increased at the same rate as those of carpenters. So says the American Nurses' Association.

Five sets of most photographed twins in the U.S. flew to Europe on a two-fold mission of health and morale. R.N.W. Harris, Toni Company president, instructs his girls to go all-out in their tasks of distributing CARE food packages and beauty information to glamour-starved European women.

Bond's Complete Super Market Due to Open on December 9.

Bond's complete super market, a new advance in efficient, economical merchandising, will open at 10331 S. Central ave. on December 9.

Bringing a much-needed shopping center to the community, the new market will sell groceries, vegetables, meat, liquor, and it will house an up-to-date bakery. Adelson Brothers will bring their years of experience to the new venture.

Herman Holsberg, who has managed meat departments at Adams and Central and at the 49th Street Market, will be in charge of the meat department at Bond's.

Opening day will be marked by thousands of gifts to be given to customers on a free drawing. Featured will be baskets of groceries and home appliances.

The new market will be in the Parkside Manor building development. Identified with the promotion and operation of the venture is Meyer Pransky, enterprising businessman.

More Automobiles

CINCINNATI—Powel Crosley, Jr., pioneer builder of lightweight automobiles, predicts that California's car population would be 30 per cent higher by 1953—an increase of 1,045,000 vehicles.

Basing his forecast on an estimated national gain of 11,000,000 cars within the next five years, the Crosley Motors head pointed out that residents of the Golden State now own 3,480,000 passenger and commercial vehicles, 9.2 per cent of all the motor cars in active service in the United States.

Construction Rises

Building construction in the cities and unincorporated area of Los Angeles County rose to a new all-time record of $738,462,113 during the first 10 months of 1948, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reports.

The 10-month figure topped the previous record of $681,615,900 for the full year of 1947, as well as all previous years' totals, according to Harry G. Haake, chairman of the Chamber's Construction Industries Committee.

Legion Bond Salesmen

Southern California Legionnaires will have a prominent part in the fall promotional campaign in behalf of U. S. Savings Bonds which was launched Armistic Day throughout the nation by Col. S. Perry Brown, new national commander of the American Legion, in an NBC network broadcast on the Kraft Music Hall program at 7:00 p.m.

The Chest way is the best way! Give today for support of all Red Feather services — plus USO — through your local Community Chest.

Officers Visit

The Capt. E. L. Baker Camp No. 71 and Auxiliary No. 53, of the United Spanish War Veterans, were honored at their regular meting last Friday by the presence of a Past Department Commander, William Jones, of the Department of the Potomac, Washington, D. C., and his wife, Mrs. Mattie Jones, who is Department President.

Auxiliary No. 53 has a member appointed by the Department President of California on the Christmas Cheer Committee, Mrs. Thelma Leavelle. The birthday tea given by the Auxiliary last Sunday by the Auxiliary was pronounced a success, and the members wish to thank everyone who took part in making it so.

Mrs. Anglin Raises $100 Alone for ACW

In keeping with her record of accomplishments, Mrs. Ardelia Anglin has again demonstrated her ability to raise finances on short notice.

At a meeting of the executive board of the southern section of the State Association of Colored Women, October 21, a communication from the national president, Mrs. Ella P. Stewart, Washington, D. C., requested that $100 be sent for national work.

As usual, whenever there is a need for volunteers to raise finances, Mrs. Anglin came forward, and the job of getting the $100 was assigned her by the state president, Mrs. Esther Greenly. With no committee to assist her, Mrs. Anglin raised the amount, single-handed, within a few weeks.

Mrs. Ardelia Anglin came up into the organization of State Association of Colored Women from a junior, and believes in sacrifice and service for victory. Sacrificing her time and giving her service to the organization, she contacted her many friends and the members of the Association of Colored Women.

Dr. Vada Somerville, who always takes a stand for good in the community; Mrs. Lauretta Butler and Her Kiddies, who gave a special donation; Mrs. A. Jordan, wife of Mrs. Anglin's pastor; and many others gave generously to raise the $100. Mrs. Butler was at one time superintendent of music in the organization for six years.

Mrs. Anglin is known throughout the state of California, and the entire Association of Colored Women as a real builder.

Aluminum mails, developed for fastening aluminum shingles into place, are now available for general use. While more expensive than iron nails, they are corrossion-proof, an important advantage.

CROP Contributions

This little lad, in a German kindergarten, owes his life to American farm folks who are sending gifts to the needy overseas through the Christian Rural Overseas program (CROP). Thousands of such children, without fathers or mothers, cannot exist without volunteer aid.

The CROP food train now being planned in this, and 30 other, states will especially benefit orphans, children who are ill (many with tuberculosis), widows, and the aged.

Most needed are whole grains, meat, milk, and other farm commodities of high food value. Raw cotton and wool are also needed.

CROP is sponsored nationally by Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service, and Lutheran World Relief. Contributions are sent into 43 different nations.

A. B. Carter, Pres. NAOPE, Is Guest of Dist. 10

Ashby B. Carter, president of the National Alliance of Postal Employees, was the guest of honor at the seventh annual convention of the NAOPE, District No. 10, held last week in this city. He and the officers of District No. 10, with the delegates to the convention, worked out a revitalized program for the Pacific Coast postal employees, to expand the services and increase the membership of the alliance.

Carter spoke at several additional meetings besides that of the convention, and visited briefly with Postmaster Michael D. Fanning. They made a tour of the various postal stations and the Terminal Annex post office.

Carter also spoke at the 10:15 a.m. services of the People's Independent Church of Christ, and told his audience, "The road was not easy for the founding fathers of the Alliance, and it is not easy for its sons."

The Alliance was founded by 35 intrepid railway mail clerks, running in and out of Houston, Tex., to combat injustice, proscription, and threats of being eliminated from the postal service. Henry Mimms was the founder and the first president of the organiaztion. Today the organization numbers 15,000. It has 92 branches in 32 states.

"You are your brother's keeper," say Carter. "What affects your brother in Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, and Georgia will some day affect the Negro in California, Illinois, and Massachusetts. The wav of loyalty investigations involving Alliance leaders appears to be a deliberate attempt to muzzle those who create embarrassment for those who would practice discrimination and mistreat employees in the postal service and other federal agencies."

Carter will leave Friday for San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and Seattle, before returning to his home in Chicago.

Unitarians Ask Mayor To Halt Police Brutality

(Following is the Resolution Condemning Police Brutality passed by the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice.)

WHEREAS on November 14, 1948, at the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles, the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice conducted a panel discussion on the subject of police brutality in Los Angeles, with several prominent speakers presenting evidence, and whereas the Los Angeles Police Department was requested to send a representative to the meeting to present its side of the issue, but declined to do so; and

WHEREAS it appears to the organization from the facts set forth by the various speakers that the Los Angeles Police appear to be a group which is self-governing without any adequate control by the elected officials of the City, and that it has been exhibiting in many instances an attitude of hostility toward the minority races within the city, especially the Mexican-Americans and Negroes, as evidenced by the shooting of Rodriguez and Gonzales and the killing of Augustin Salcido and Herman Burns; and

WHEREAS it appears that there is no independent tribunal to pass upon police misconduct, outside of the Police Department itself;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by this organization that we heartily condemn the recent evidences of police brutality and hostility toward the Minority Peoples, and we call upon the Mayor and City Council to propose certain amendments to the City Charter making Police Officers more responsible to the elected officials of the City and that a Police Trial Board be set up outside the Police Department composed of responsible citizens elected by the voters who shall have power to investigate and discipline or remove police officers found guilty of brutality or other misconduct subject to review by the courts, and that public hearings be required in all such cases and testimony taken down and made public record. This organization also recommends that all policemen, during their course of training, be instructed in civil rights and tolerance.

That copies of this resolution be sent to the Mayor, the President of the City Council and Chief of Police.

FRANK K. HOLLEY
Chairman, U. F. S. J.

Reports show 121 manufacturers of non-electrical machinery employing nearly 19,000 workers increased employment by 2.3 per cent from Mid-May to mid-July. Steady gains are anticipated during the next six months mainly as the result of foreign and local demand for oilwell machinery. Materials are difficult to obtain, and a continued shortage may limit expected expansion of employment.

Not a Dull Moment At The Houston's

Life at the Justinian Houstons 1211 E. 101st Street has been anything but dull during the past two weeks. First, young and vigorous Miss La Wana, weighing 8 pounds, 6 ounces, chose to make her entry and set up residence with them on Nov. 14 via the hospital route. While mother and daughter were still in the middle of their happiness and daddy still in a daze of joy along came Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Rider from Waco, Texas, brother and sister-in-law of the new mama, in their brand new Pontiac for a visit to the little newcomer and her vassals.

Papa Houston is a student at Glover's Tailoring school in the daytime and works at the Post Office nights. Quite a busy time at the Houstons.

Progressive League Organizes Program

The Willowbrook Progressive League met in Palm Lane auditorium Tuesday evening of last week at eight o'clock with president Odessie Levert presiding. Plans for a program of social activities for the teen-agers in the project were the subject of the evening discussion.

It was the consensus of opinion among mothers present that a series of parties featuring dancing with formal and informal teas was indicated as a means of interesting the younger set and giving them wholesome outlets for their energies and interests.

More Industry Here

Fifty manufacturing developments, ranging from chocolate syrup to steel, piled $5,325,000 additional investment into Los Angeles County industry last month and sent the 10-month total for new and expanded plants to $63,458,500, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reported this week.

One fall vegetable offering high nutritive value for its cost is the sweetpotato. From now through October sweetpotatoes deserve a prominent place in budget meals.

National Flower Week

National Flower Week is being observed for the fourth time this year, the week of November 7-14 to pay tribute to flowers and what they mean in our everyday lives. Mums are at the height of their glory this week, along with football games. In the language of flowers, mums mean "You're a wonderful friend."

According to the Society of American Florists, almost every flower has a meaning of its own. Red roses say "I love you," gladioli plead "Please give me a break," and pink carnations promise "I'll never forget you." Orchids say "Lady, you're beautiful," and sweet peas, "Thank you for a lovely time."

BRAND NEW HOMES FOR SALE

Less than a year ago, Uncle Sam made it possible for one hundred and ninety-seven white World War 2 veterans to secure each a 2 or 3 bedroom home at a nominal cost. Now because 12 of them have sold their homes to colored American homeseekers, virtually all are ready to sell to any colored person, seeking a fully improved home with all modern conveniences and facilities. Very conveniently located on car and bus lines. Low down payment; balance at 4% interest. Like paying rent. A Civil Rights blessing. Ask IVAN AUSTIN, PR. 69090 or David Mattson, AX. 3-4586.

MUSES IN DIVORCE COURT

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

It will be an interesting coincidence when justice reveals our real enemies.

Daily such commentators like Fulton Lewis and columnists like Westbrook Pegler, tell the citizens of the United States that ours is the only free country in the world today.

However our security as a free nation in which every citizen should enjoy the four freedoms envisioned by Franklin Delano Roosevelt—freedom of speech, freedom of worship, and freedom from fear and from want—is threatened, they tell us, by certain political ideologies imported into the U.S. from a foreign government attempting to destroy or replace our present form or system of government.

Lets be realistic. Especially the Negro people and other minorities who are the real victims of this poison propaganda. Lets readily agree that our country, in wealth and production, is the best country among the nations of the world.

Now as to who are the real enemies of the peace and the threat to the unity in our government, suppose we balance the budget of evidence.

On the one side there is a blanket indictment of the Communists. These certain newspapers and radio commentators use as a basis for their contention, their supposition that agents of Russia's Soviet government are spreading the doctrine of Communism in our country as a threat to our present form, and they use China as an outstanding example of the destruction of an existing system of government.

What the newspapers and commentators fail to tell us, however, is the real truth about China. They say nothing of the millions of human beings who have gone hungry and cold for years, who have been the slaves of the few wealthy at the top living in palaces and sleeping between silken sheets, while the poor millions huddled in dirt hovels, struggle merely to keep alive.

The Mme. Chiangs who cry for aid to Uncle Sam, and the merchants who send their millions of dollars to be deposited in American banks for safety, are the ones who denounce the real Chinese who have taken matters into their own hands to secure justice, as Communists.

But are they? Is there not an analogy between our country and that of China? The upsurge of those millions of oppressed in China is but the expression of a feeling tingling all over the world, among all nations, all races, all colors. It strikes a spark of hope among the oppressed Negroes and poor whites, the share-croppers of the South. It sends a thrill of joy through us

Record Company Sues Decca for $800,000 Damage

Suit for $800,000 damages was filed yesterday in Federal Court aganist Decca Records, Inc., and Capitol Records Distributing Corp., by Supreme Records, Inc., and the Black and White Records Distributors, Inc.

Supreme charges Decca's discing of tune with Evelyn Knight and Capitol's version with Blue Lu Barker aped Miss Paula Watson's arrangement, both her inflective phrasing and the handclap rhythm beat which characterizes the background.

Miss Watson's "Bird" was released by Supreme Oct. 1st. It hit immediately, and within a month Decca had the Knight etching on the market.

Heretofore such suits always have charged infringement of copyrighted arrangement, hence Supreme's claim is unique.

Nixon Slayers Known Before For Bullying

ATLANTA—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People learned recently that the two men recently acquitted by a Georgia Superior Court jury in the slaying of 28-year-old Isaac Nixon are the same two men who beat D. V. Carter, president of the Montgomery County NAACP, for carrying Negroes to the polls to vote in the Georgia Democratic primary election.

NAACP Assistant Special Counsel Franklin H. Williams, who has been investigating the case, reported that the two freed murderers, John Johnson and his brother M. A. Johnson, are notorious in Montgomery County for their record of assaults on Negroes.

ACCEPTS DISMISSAL IN POLICE ABUSE AND INSULT CASE

Complete vindication, dismissal of unwarranted charges of intoxication, and a disposition on the part of the police involved on the part of the police involved to forgive and forget, softened the attitude of Mrs. Marie Holston of 1803½ W. 29th Street to the extent she has decided not to sue Los Angeles police for insulting and abusive treatment.

Marie Holston

Mrs. Holston, who formerly operated the Marble Inn on Imperial Boulevard with her husband, William Holston, who is in charge of a club car for the Southern Pacific, accepted the explanation of the police that her arrest was due to "a loss of tempers," in a hearing before Judge Louis Drucker in Division 7 on Monday, and agreed to the dismissal.

The events leading up to the dismissal began on November 28 when Mrs. Holston accompanied a friend who had attempted suicide to the Georgia Receiving Hospital. Angered because the attendants would not give the patient adequate treatment, Mrs. Holson refused to leave the treatment room.

Kress Strike Gets Support From Public

The girls at the Kress Central Avenue store went out on strike ta eight oclock Wednesday morning in a final effort to get full recognition of their right to belong to a union. More than 97 per cent of the employees refused to go to work until their union is recognized and effective picket lines have been thrown around both entrances to the store.

The girls are affiliated with the Retail Clerks Union, local 777, AFL, and every AFL local in Los Angeles is supporting the strike. Noticeable, too, is the absence of patrons in the store. During the hour that a California Eagle reporter visited the picket lines, not a single person crossed it to enter the store.

Sue Landlords For Recovery Of Rent Bonus

LONG BEACH—Two Long Beach real estate brokers, charged with accepting rent bonuses and illegal over-ceiling rentals totalling 1213, were named defendants in a suit filed in U. S. District Court by the Office of Housing Expediter.

According to Charles H. Blaylock, Long Beach area rent director, the two brokers—Sarah Anne French and her son, James Donald French, doing business as the French Realty Company at 318 East Broadway—are listed in the Government's complaint as receiving fourteen bonuses ranging from $15 to $120 as a condition of renting various properties, chiefly apartments at 1251 Appleton Street.

Furthermore, the Federal rent agency alleges each tenant was made to pay an additional "rental fee" of $15 to $20 although the properties were owned by the defendants themselves.

McLain Hits Calif. Taxpayers Association

The charge that the California Taxpayers Association is cunningly maneuvering to make small property owners bear any cost, however small, of additional aid to the state's needy aged and blind under newly enacted Ppoposition 4 is made by George H. McLain, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Old Age Pensions.

McLain cited the Association's recently published statement that $122,000,000 could be raised toward meeting the increased cost if the state levied a property tax—which it had not done since 1915—as being highly suggestive and misleading.

An electronic "eye" which is able to see dawn and dusk approaching and turn on or off individual street lights is here.

Police Arrest Shoplifters in Crack Down Before Holidays

Los Angeles and nationwide police were jubilant last Wednesday over what is considered the smashing of a nationwide shoplift ring.

Arrested on charges of shoplifting were five women: Mrs. Lillian Young, 43, of 289 East 48th street; Mrs. Hattie Harris, 47, 852 East 49th street; Mrs. Adelaide Cain, 43, 707 East 46th street; Mrs. Cora Gilbert, 43, 2920 Kenwood; and Mrs. Thelma Williams, 38, 2096 West 29th street.

Also arrested by Detectives J. A. Hooper and J. R. Eggenweiler, of the police burglary squad, was Eugene R. McNeil, 44, of 721 East Sixth street, on suspicion of receiving stolen property. According to police, the six were arrested after they received a tipoff.

Police said the expensively dressed women made it a practice to shop in the leading stores across the nation, and later, leaving with purloined articles including expensive furs, clothing and silverware. When arrested, police assert they recovered more than $15,000 in assorted loot.

It is reported police from a dozen major cities have long sought the gang of shoplifters.

McNeil, a prominent hotel man of the east Sixth street district, was taken into custody as a suspect, when it was learned he knew the women. McNeil, however, indignantly denied being in any way connected with the women in other than a social way.

McNeil told newsmen, who interviewed him at his La Jolla hotel, "Certainly, I knew the women. As far as I was able to understand, they were no different from any other of my friends." He added, "I never pry into the private life of my friends." McNeil is at liberty on $1,000 bond.

NAACP Calls for Civil Rights And Repeal of Taft Hartley Law

PORTLAND, Ore. — "The outlook is infinitely brighter for the stopping of reaction, for the repeal of anti-labor legislation and the enactment into law of civil rights and social welfare legislation . . . than any time in recent American history," declared Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in a Thanksgiving day address delivered here before the 10th Constitutional Convention of the CIO.

Calling for closer cooperation among labor, the NAACP, student and church organizations, Mr. White urged liberal and labor groups to continue opposing the "forces of bigotry and reaction" and to press together for immediate enactment of a progressive legislative program "voted as a mandate upon the 81st Congress."

"The civil, economic and political rights of all minorities, whether they be of labor or of race, are indissolubly intertwined," Mr. White said, in an appeal for "unstinting support" for federal fair employment practices legislation, federal anti-lynching and anti-poll tax laws, federal aid to education and health, and adequate housing legislation including nondiscriminatory low rent public housing. The NAACP secretary also cited as imperative the strengthening and extension of the minimum wage law and repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

her in the presence of her friends.

Muse is cited to appear in Dept. 8 Dec. 8, at 1:45 p.m. on a restraining order signed by Judge Elmer Doyle. An order asks that Muse be restrained from molesting her.

In addition to a divorce, Mrs. Muse also asks $100 a month alimony plus attorney fees. Community property involved is a home at 2135 Clin[illegible] St., Los Angeles, valued at [illegible]000; a ranch in Riverside County known as MUSE-A-[illegible]HILE, valued at $50,000; a 1946 Cadillac Coupe automobile, and household furnishings.

Married in Chicago, Ill., in 1925, the couple separated July 8, 1948. He's 58. She's 53.

● Jake Bird

Kludt and her seventeen year old daughter. Bird, an itinerant, prophecied following his conviction that everyone associated with the trial would die before he did.

No one paid much attention to the prophecy until two policemen connected with the case, died suddenly, the victims of heart attacks. In close succession, the clerk of the court, and the judge who heard the case, both had heart attacks and died.

By this time, Bird was the center of national discussion. People took sides and skeptics said the deaths were mere coincidence. No one wanted to believe Bird had put a hex on the law.

Last week, J. W. Selden, the lawyer who defended Bird, dropped dead while working at his desk. The hex talk was revived again, this time with fearsome overtones. What would happen to the officials of the State Supreme Court, the last body to be concerned in the case?

Bird showed less worry than any person in Tacoma. When told of the death of his lawyer, he smiled philosophically. "The Bible says," he announced profoundly, "rejoice when anyone dies, feel bad when anyone is born."

Kress Workers on Strike; Community Gives Full Support

stalling off recognition of the union for some time. Coincident with the strike an NLRB hearing which had been previously shied away from by management has been set for Dec. 15.

Naticeable among certain officials associated with the company is an anti-Negro attitude. J. C. Ramsey, California district manager of the company was overheard saying: "I will give those Niggers a $ 2 raise and shut their mouth about the union." An affidavit swearing to this has been filed by one of the Kress employees.

While a California Eagle reporter was talking to the manager of the Central Avenue store, a Mr. McHugh continually interupted in a disrespectful manner. In response to an observation by the reporter, he said, "I'm from Alabama."

The morale of the strikers is high, and the cooperation of the public, given by not crossing the picket line to buy in the store, has given them heartening encouragement.

Last Monday, the Kress management increased the pay of the Negro girls to correspond with the pay of the girls in the other Kress stores. It is in order to protect their pay level and to guarantee other conditions, that the girls want the union as their bargaining agent.

Every form of intimidation has been resorted to, and three or four of the girls who are not aware of the significance of the strike reported for work Wednesday morning. Ethel Bryant, who is acting as captain of the pickets pointed out that when they realized how they were betraying themselves and their fellow workers, she expected that they too would stay out of the store until the union is recognized.

Persons interviewed by the Eagle reporter indicated that the community is solidly behind the girls, and several of them said they would tell their friends not to buy in the Kress store until the girls had won their fight.

tion to scores of "loyalty" cases which have arisen in recent weeks affecting Negro and white workers, all of whom have been active in the fight against discrimination.

"The most bitter foes of the President's Civil Rights program are today utilizing the Loyalty Order and the whole philosophy of guilt by association made popular by this Order not only to curb any activity on behalf of civil rights in this country, but to give them a cloak behind which they can carry on their bigoted ideas and activities," President Flaxer wrote.

Mr. Gibbs, a member of the college's student council and a member of the cross-country team, was pledged to Phi Kappa Psi as a froshman. But because of bias tradition, the national officers expressed disapproval, and he was temporarily depledged.

At the opening of college this fall, the thirty-five members of the chapter voted to repledge Mr. Gibbs. This resulted in suspension of its charter by the national executive board.

The fraternity, which chose to abandon its national charter, rather than deny admission to Mr. Gibbs, postponed its initiation date two weeks to reorganize as a local group. The other twelve fraternities, all chapters of nationals, hold their ceremonies during alumni week.

Dr. Charles W. Colo, president of the college, told the student body at chapel exercises the authorities were proud of what the new local chapter members had done.

get better jobs, better housing for Negroes and other minority groups, and in eliminating segregation and discrimination in a given community, the San Franciscan emphasized, means the heightening of tension and strain in relationships between groups of people.

"Our plan of approach, however," Mr. Manning explained, "is to fight for social progress as painlessly as possible, drawing together various segments of community leadership in a cooperative effort to gain the desired goals."

Mr. Manning described a recent success of the San Francisco Urban League is opening the way for Negro doctors to treat their patients in San Francisco hospitals. At present, he stated, every Negro physician in San Francisco, with no exception, may use the facilities of the city's hospitals. This success is attributed to the work of his interracial board and committees.

He also described the Community Relations Project recently completed by the National Urban League at a cost of $110,000, and financed by the General Education Board. This Project, Mr. Manning stated, included survey specialists and a team of fine men and women trained in the fields of employment, health, group work education, and housing, and the social and economic planning of thirteen United States cities. A report of this project will soon be available through the National Urban day, the committee will report to the executive board in Washington on January 26.

An attempt on Saturday to prefer charges against Los Angeles CIO Council president, Bill Lawrence and secretary Phillip Connolly failed and the appointment of the committee represents Murray's stated desire to go the facts from persons who are not too close to th situation.

Foundation of the investigation is the question of local autonomy and its interpretation. Right wing factions that supported Truman are bitter against council members here who exercised their perogative to support whomever they desired. iSnce the election, considerable rebaiting has marked the attack o nthe present officers and supporters of the council.

Rank and file members, feeling the pinch of rising costs, are complaining that the continuing attacks on the council are weakening organized labor's position, and they say the end result will be a divided, ineffective labor movement here.

The Los Angeles Council did not make any endorsements that went counter to the national CIO policy, and it is bleieved that the investigation is the forerunner of attacks that will be unleashed on many of the legally constituted councils in California, and the State Council.

Connolly and Lawrence have been preoccupied with the Maritime strike, but they have appealed to the unions that withdrew from the council because of election squabbles to return.

It is not clear what purpose can be achieved by the investigation beyond the smearing of half of the CIO membership in Los Angeles is affiliated with the Council, a purge would wipe out considerable financial strength and could eventually hopelessly divide CIO forces.

Put Crooks Out of Business By Cooperating With Police

"Citizen cooperation will aid police to put the residential burglar out of business this Christmas season," predicted Chief of Police C. B. Horral.

Burglaries for 1948 total about 1000 less to date than the same period for 1947. Despite this fact, a total of approximately 9,300 burglaries in the city this year is not to be taken lightly.

Prevention of crime is everybody's business. The following precautions are the best method of preventing the Christmas season's increase in crime due to the residential burglar.

.1 Double check when leaving your home, and prevent a crime. Lock the doors and windows, and leave a bright light burning. Be sure to close the garage doors as they are a signal of your absence to the thief.

2. Compile a list of serial numbers of all home appliances and valuables. Register all guns with your police. This will aid in identifying and recovering your property.

3.If you are having a party at home or at the office, be sure to place your purse where you can see it at all times.

4. If you are stopped by a policeman, remember that he is looking for those who might victimize you. Show him good identification, and cooperate with him in every way possible. In helping him you are helping yourself to be safe from the criminal.

Los Angeles enters its eighth week of this year's diphtheria immunization drive with 35,000 children protected in the campaign to innoculate 90,000, according to Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

State Board Hearings on Liquor Set

State Board of Equalization chairman, William G. Bonelli is in the forefront of a movement that proposes to have the control of liquor transferred to a non-political board.

A resolution that will be submitted at the next session of the State Legislature has been prepared, and should it be passed, the question will be submitted to the people.

The Board of Equalization has set a hearing on the matter for December 16.

even here in California, for we too have felt the oppresser's heel.

Yet they tell us these Communists would destroy our government! Perhaps I, too, could be pressured into beliebing that some foreign political ideology such as Communism was threatening the overthrow of my government, if it were not for the fact that the organizations, the political, religious, and labor leaders who are fighting this imaginary Communist invasion of our sacred rights are the same ones who deny me my citizenship rights in my native land.

What disturbs me is that in this all-out fight against Communism, not one word is ever said about the trend toward Fascism in America.

deserving. The tickets sell for $1.50 each and are available at the California Eagle office, or from any member of the staff.

The tickets are purchased and given to, or made available for the youngsters who do not have to pay anything at all to come to the affair. Any one can purchase a ticket and give it to any youth he thinks deserving.

Members of the Cast of the 'Torch Grows Dim' will be on hand to entertain the kiddies as will other outstanding stars whose names will be announced next week. The only limit on the number of youngsters to be entertained is the limited number o fticketS. The committee advises that tickets be purchased early so that there won't be a last minute stampede. Call Mr. Spears at the California Eagle office.

I fully understand the meaning and significance of these words. I can afford to say them because I love my government more than you who criticize me for my views.

If those who are dubbed Communists befriend those of us who have been placed in the strait jacket of minority groups, can you blame us if we turn to them rather than to you who declare they are the enemies of our government? This government is a government of the people. Of my people.

Scan the ledger now, you columnists and commentators. Scan it from my point of view. Which side shows the greater benefits for the government of my people? The side you advocate or the side you have prejudged as trying to overthrow my government? Who are the real enemies of unity? Those you call Communists, or you yourselves?

And when you have read the items on each page, remember the dictum about throwing the first stone.

and held in a squad car by a policeman who made insulting advances to her, and who spoke in derogatory manner about Negroes. Mrs. Holston, who is fair, of light complexion, with almost blonde hair, broke away from the policeman and returned to the hospital. Later she was taken to Lincoln Heights jail, despite the appeal of her husband to be allowed to take her home, and booked her on a number of charges including intoxication.

The dismissal clears the record completely and it is a clear-cut victory for Mrs. Holston, who, according to legal observers, could have won in a damage suit.

and two other persons, was returning to his home, 20 miles outside of Vidalia when he found the road blocked by a group of automobiles. He was dragged from his seat and shot to death. His family and friends were sent away and the body left lying by the roadside.

Since the lynching, which has gone unreported by the newspapers and the national wire services, Mrs. Mallard, a public school teacher, has moved from their country home into Vidalia.

While the cause of the lynching has not been reported, it is known that Mallard was warned not to vote in the Democratic primary election. He was cautioned that his "life wouldn't be worth fifty cents if he voted." Also there are indications that his prosperity had aroused the envy and resentment of some of his white neighbors.

Why present low telephone rates must be increased

We're forced to apply for increases because we, too, are up against the problem of rising costs. Here's the story:

Telephone rates have gone up much less than most other things

Most businesses throughout the land have had to raise their prices a great deal . . . as the examples on the chart show.

But telephone rates, which were not generally increased between the 1920's and 1947, have gone up little even in these postwar years. The average in California is 15%.

The amounts we are now asking will vary for different services...but will average about 14%.

Compared to the prices of other things you buy, telephone service will still be one of your greatest bargains.

For every telephone put in this year we have spent $600

We're breaking records putting in new telephones in the face of high costs. The equipment needed to serve the average telephone in California before the war cost us $243. But costs have shot up. Today we are adding equipment costing about $600 for each new telephone.

To bring more and better service to California, Pacific Telephone has had to invest $280,000,000 in new facilities since V-J Day. This is one of the largest construction programs of any business in the state.

And we should put millions more to work in California to meet your growing needs.

To attract more working dollars we must have reasonable rates

Where does the money come from . . . the money we invest in California? We have to compete with other businesses for it. It cannot come out of the rates you pay for service. It must come from the savings of men and women all over the country. They want, of course, safety and a reasonable return on their investment. Or they won't invest.

Actual experience has shown that what we are earning in 1948 is not enough to attract the kind of investment money we need.

Pacific Telephone does not ask that it be allowed to earn one penny more than is required to do the job. But we must earn enough to do a good job for California.

Braille Institute In Annual Meeting

The 29th annual meeting of the Braille Institute of America, Inc. displayed gratifying progress in its work and services for the blind as shown by departmental reports at the annual membership dinner and meeting of the Braille Institute of America, Inc. held Monday at the First Congregational Church.

It was attended by more than 150 and presided over by the president of the Board of Trustees, Robert A. Odell.

Elected to serve as Trustees for the ensuing year were: J. Robert Atkinson, Mrs. Grace Carpenter, Roger Dahljelm, Dr. Lowell C. Frost, Robert A. Odell, M. F. Palmer, Mrs. Myrna Stahl, Louis S. Strauss and Cecil L. Whitehead.

Special interest was shown by the members in the fact that the first unit of an eventual new Braille Institute building is now being erected, and will be ready for occupancy about April 1st of next year. It is to cost approximately $107,000—a fund that was subscribed by more than 3000 contributors.

There were solos by Genevieve Wiley, blind mezzo-soprano and teacher of Pasadena, violin solos by Darlene Eggerbrecht, also blind, and songs by Charles (Chuck) Collins, blind radio entertainer.

In the coming year, it is planned to complete an organization which will conduct an effort for an increased membership. The Institute is supported solely by memberships, contributions and bequests. Due to the national, international and interstate character of some of its services to the blind, it does not participate in the Community Chest.

Approve Oil Drilling on Local Site

Creation of a 250-acre oil district in the heart of Boyle Heights was voted by the City Council yesterday with approval from the city's planning commission.

With only one dissenting vote, that of Councilman L. E. Timberlake, the council instructed City Attorney Ray L. Chesebro to draw up the necessary ordinance for the oil well development in one of the oldest sections of the city.

Roughly, the boundaries of the drilling district are Mott street, between Fourth street and Brooklyn avenue, then following Brooklyn avenue to East Side boulevard, along East Side to Indiana avenue.

Following Indiana avenue to First street, the district goes to Velasco street to Second street, then to Lorena street to Fourth street and along Fourth street to Mott street.

Boll Weevil Won't Get At This Crop

California's cotton harvest is now past the halfway mark, according to Department of Employment farm labor reports from the San Joaquin Valley. Good weather preceding Thanksgiving and favorable supply of workers are the principal reasons for the speed-up of the harvest despite a late start.

Living facilities for cotton pickers are now crowded and in excess of 90,000 pickers are reported in the fields.

Someone Would Like To Be In Your Shoes

MENDOTA, ILL.—"Someone would like to be in your shoes" is the slogan five churches here have used in their effort to collect 1,500 pairs of used but still wearable shoes for relief in Europe. This was one phase of a city-wide Church Loyalty Campaign. The Rev. Truman W. Potter, minister of the local Methodist church, and little Miss Kay Jump, a member of the Sunday School primary class, make their contribution to the pile of footwear.

In the current Christian education emphasis of their Crusade for Christ, Methodists are endeavoring to bring more people to the Church School where they are taught the attitudes and actions necessary for a Christian world order. This includes, of course, a greater sharing of material possessions with the needy of all lands.

Jack Tenney Announces His Candidacy for Mayor of City

Senator Jack Tenney, tired of the limited confines of the state legislature, has restively thrown his hat completely into the ring of Mayor. Showing fully that he is being drafted by the will of an overwhelmingly large number of the citizenry, Tenney says:

"I am confident that I will be able to bring harmony and cooperation to the city government, and progress and development to the city."

Tenney, who has been in public office for a number of years, is best known for his activities as chairman of the State Committee on un-American Activities. As its chairman, Tenney has been able to put a new definition on Americanism, and he has set forth some 142 organizations which he labels Un-American.

Potentially, thousands of city and county employees who resent the invasion of their rights which Tenney's inquisition actually is said to be, will lose their jobs in ensuing months because of activities.

How serious he is about running for Mayor cannot be determined. It is only known that he is persistent. Prize remark of Tenney's announcement of his availability is: "The city of Los Angeles is outgrowing fuddy-duddyism and futile table pounding."

Mundt Bill Stand Told By Holifield

Unconstitutionality of the Mundt-Nixon Bill was emphasized by Congressman Chet Holifield long before the measure even reached the House, the 19th District Representative told a meeting of the Lions Club at the Biltmore Hotel last week.

On May 14, Congressman Holifield said, he told the House that the "so-called Mundt bill, in my opinion is unconstitutional, and I predict that it will never become a law of our land."

The Congressman added that his prediction proved to be absolutely correct. The House passed the bill, but the Senate never even considered it.

Some Cops Are Getting Paid Judge Says

Some credence was given the rumors that have been floating around concerning the dishonesty of some policemen in connection with the current bookie arrests, and wholesale release.

Appearing before the Grand Jury investigating the complaint, Superior Court Judge Charles W. Fricke told the jurors this week that he suspected some police officers were being "paid off."

Judge Fritche said also there was some mutual back-scratching between some attorneys and bonding companies. In plain language Fritche said, "I am convinced that some police are paid off, but I can't put my finger on who they are."

The police department, which figured prominently in the recall election here, has been criticized frequently for numerous bookie arrests and dismissals, when no complaints were lodged. Mayor Bowron has steadfastly refused to act when citizens groups have appealed to him against police brutality, and it is not believed he will act in this matter.

Meanwhile some of the judges, irked by the obvious racket being worked in bookie arrests, are banding together to do something about it.

Former Newsboy's Estate Is $152,300

Newsboys who think the struggle is hard sometimes should take another look at the situation in the light of the inspiration left by Lester E. Slocum, who died last week.

Slocum who came to Los Angeles in 1923 and became a partner in a newspaper distributing agency in Long Beach, left an estate of $153,300.

I'm sorry, bud. I'm outta work. I need dough."

With this apologetic statement, a stocky, slightly balding man leveled a gun at Frank Mazzola, on duty at the Publix Liquor Store, 1954 Colorado boulevard, last Monday night. "Reach," the man ordered.

Mazzola "reached" while the cash register was relieved of $185.

The story, as told by Mazzola, to Highland Park Division Police, goes as follows: The bandit first entered the store and asked for a pint of liquor. Mazzola told him the store sells liquor only in fifths, so the man left. A short time later he returned, pulled the gun from a paper bag and went into his "outta work" speech.

He fled after forcing Mazzola into a rear closet. "So sorry," he said as he raced through the door.

"Aah, drop dead." Mazzola grumbled inside the closet.

Glass Blowers Badly Needed Now By California Industry

The demand for custom-type mirrors and plate glasswear by Christmas shoppers has pointed up a shortage of experienced male glass bevelers and polishers, the industrial office of the California State Employment Service reported today.

The possibility that men experienced in this work may not be aware of these employment opportunities was offered today by industrial office manager William B. Johnston, who said current pay rates for this trade are from $2.00 to $2.50 an hour for men with four or more years of experience. "Top positions go to men slightly on the heavyweight side," Johnston stated, "because the heavier man in early middle age is decidedly a good bet for the plate glass and mirror industry."

A check made this week by industrial office field visitors revealed men with substantial abdomen do better on lifting costly, heavy material, and rate better on the grinding operations because they are able to exert more pressure on the glass with which they work; also, they seem to have a better than average ability to determine when a glass is becoming overheated, the local manager stated. Men with good hearing do better in this work than the hard-of-hearing because they are better able to detect improper operations on flaws in glass or equipment, Johnston added.

All referrals for these highly skilled beveler and polisher positions are being handled at 1100 South Flower Street in Section 11. Persons wishing information may telephone RIchmond 6511.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

A DESERVED REBUKE

William L. Patterson, executive secretary of the National Civil Rights Congress, has sent a stinging letter to Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, rebuking the lukewarm attitude of the NAACP regarding the persecutions of the government employees in the present witch hunt.

Mr. White had said the NAACP would go to bat for all Federal workers accused in the present loyalty test campaign, where the charges were "based on race or color, membership or activity in the NAACP, or membership in any coordinating organization approved by the Association's National Committee." (Italics ours.)

It is Walter White's attitude which the Civil Rights Congress attacks. Mr. Patterson states it "seems tragically dangerous."

"May I ask," inquires Mr. Pattersan of Mr. White, "why is it you have not expressed a willingness to defend all of these victims of terror by the government? May I ask why you have here further succumbed to that government's maneuver to divide and destroy by piecemeal?"

"You say in your release," continues Mr. Patterson, "that the basis of information assembled by the House Un-American Activities Committee and other questionable sources' is the source material for the government. How can you or your organization accept this source as producing a true indictment of any American? The House Un-American Activities Committee has supported the Klan. In its midst are Dixiecrats. It has been scathingly condemned by all decent Americans in the leadership of whom stood the late lamented Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"Now you have by virtue of your more limited technique of segregation consented to defend some and to throw the others to the Truman vultures! Yet you further acknowledge the extreme danger to job security confronting all the Negro government employees, declaring that 'not one of the more than 150,000 colored government employees throughout the nation will be safe.

"Not all of these will be members of the NAACP. Some will be charged with the taint of Communism . . . How damning your condemnation of this terror is in its full implications! This government, by your own declaration, is persecuting and doing violence to the economic security to the very lives of these men and their families. The crime of which they are guilty is that even in the face of threats of terror they refuse to accept the government's national policy of jim-crowism and segregation.

"We point to this clear and present danger confronting these innocent men and women, hoping they will not be dismayed but will organize still more courageously to fight against this evil thing. If, as implied in your statement, the government has a right to terrorize and victimize some of these men, where would you have it stop? These men must be defended whether they are Communists, members of the Progressive Party, or of no party, or decent Democrats and Republicans, whether they are black or white, or yellow or brown. They must be defended because they are standing on their constitutional guarantees, their civil rights, and their manhood dignity."

Mr. Patterson then makes a plea for all to unite, NAACP and CRC, and all democratic-loving organizations and individuals, to fight this evil now stalking through the land.

"The Civil Rights Congress is ready to throw all of its forces into such a defense," states Mr. Patterson, "and will work together with all the organizations ready to fight for the constitutional rights and civil liberties of these men, regardless of their color, their creed, or their progressive political affiliations."

It is a well-deserved rebuke to Walter White, scoriating his luke-warm attitude toward these violations of the Constitution in persecuting the government postal employees. If we do not unite on every issue, for every man and woman, regardless of race or color or political creed, our fight for liberty will be worse than useless. It will be but inviting division instead of unity, and will result in catastrophe instead of victory.

Organizations Ask for Woman's Dismissal

Elmer W. Henderson, director of the American Council on Human Rights, is heading six national fraternities and sororities who are requesting that Miss Annabel Matthews, recently appointed a member of the Fair Employment Practices Board, be deposed.

The request is made because Miss Matthews proved to be unfit to fill a position where justice and equality, rather than race and color, are the attributes to be considered.

The organizations opposing Miss Matthews were mindful of her opposition to Mrs. Mary Church Terrell's membership in the Washington D. C. chapter of the American Association of University Women.

The action of these organizations should not be shelved by some go-between-petty official, but should be brought directly to the attention of President Truman.

We say now, as we said in the recent campaign, this time we want promises made in the campaign respected. Lived up to the letter.

We expect President Truman to give us as one of his official acts a real Fair Employment Proctices law, one with teeth.

And while passing along, we want to invite the attention of our mayor to this Washington case. For since he has been at the head of our city government we have found room for criticism of many appointments of individuals to positions they were not qualified to fill by virtue of the fact that they, like Miss Matthews are not willing to respect or obey a constituted government that administers the law on the basis of citizenship rights, rather than on the basis of racial bias or color discrimination.

RESCIND THE ORDER

Did President Truman realize the terribly dangerous device he was placing in the hands of those who dislike certain racial groups, when he issued Executive Order 9835?

That was the order intended to weed Communists out of the Federal government. And it is said he was influenced to issue that order to ward off a worse directive which the reactionary 80th Congress would most certainly have adopted.

Be that as it may, the President's Order 9835 has been used to frighten and terrorize innocent employees of the government whose only "crime" has been a militant attitude against the injustice of discrimination in Federal employment. It has been twisted into a whip for use in firing Negro Federal workers who have aggressively defended their rights.

With Gestapo-like methods, in which employees are accused but not told who their accusers are, and charged with crimes without being told what those crimes are, employees in postoffices in at least seven important cities have been fired and have been forced to wait for trials for crimes of which they are unaware.

Since in almost every case the accused persons, either white or Negro, were only those who had shown a militant aggressiveness in the fight against racial discrimination, it is only a question of time, in the opinion of many, before the vicious practice of using loyalty checks will spread to other departments of the government.

If President Truman did not realize to what uses his loyalty test would be put, he surely ought to know now. And his re-election with the help of those very ilberals whom his order is persecuting, should be a guarantee that that order will be rescinded at once.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

On many occasions when this government was requested to take a hand in such illegal acts as denying Negroes in certain Southern states the right to vote, stopping the Ku Klux Klan from burning crosses on the lawns of homes and churches and even burning the homes of citizens, it has refused to act upon the hypothesis that such interference would be an infringement of states' rights.

With this in mind it seems reasonable to assume any interference and assistance given to the nationalist government in China would be the personification of inconsistency on our part, and an unfringement on the national rights of the Chinese people.

Of the two offences, which would be the greater: Interference in States' rights or National rights?

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

You know the story of those two gentlemen, Haman and Mordecai. Mordecai was one of the Jews who were taken captive by the Persians, whose king at the time of the story was Ahasuerus. Haman was the chief officer of the king. He was a conceited fop, and thought everyone should salaam deeply to him for no reason at all except that he was the favorite of the king.

Well, everyone did except Mordecai. He was a rather proud person, and said he wasn't going to salaam to anybody, king or no king. As for Ahasuerus himself, he took no part one way or the other in this dispute. He rather liked Mordecai, however, particularly when he heard one time that he had reported two of his keepers who were planning to assassinate him, and so saved his life.

Haman, however, like the stupid dolts who are opposed to the Jews today, went merrily on to his own doom. He gathered all his friends together, and told them what a wonderful guy he was. There was only one fly in his ointment of self-esteem. That was Mordecai the Jew who refused to bow before him, or to stand when he went by.

Then his friends advised him to build a gallows 50 cubits high, and hang Mordecai on it.

But Haman's fortunes suddenly changed. The king became furiously angry at him. And when the king's servants told him of the gallows Haman had made for Mordecai, the king commanded, "Hang him thereon."

The story says, "So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai."

The predicament in which J. Parnell Thomas finds himself today is very similar to that in which Haman found himself. And he is being hanged on the same gallows he had prepared for the Hollywood Ten, and for the others dragged before the tribunal of the un-American Committee, charged with the fearful crime of being Communistic in their views.

They refused to answer the questions Thomas, Rankin, et al, put to them, standing on their constitutional rights not to do so. Now Thomas, coming before a Federal grand jury, refused to answer the questions asked him, standing upon his constitutional rights that to do so might incriminate him.

Thomas, however, is not charged with the high crime and misdemeanor of planning more homes for the veterans and for those who cannot pay the exorbitant rents charged by the landlords today. Nor for free school lunches, nor the federal aid to education. Nor for a health program that would provide medical aid and hospital care for those who need it, but cannot pay for it.

Oh, no. But it was such "crimes" as these that were imputed to those brought before the Thomas un-American Committee, and which he and his associates branded as Communistic, and therefore un-American.

J. Parnell Thomas, the head of that un-American Activities Committee, has been indicted by the Federal Grand Jury before whom he quailed in fear and refused to answer their questions, of defrauding and cheating the United States government.

For several years, so says the accusation, J. Parnell Thomas has been "employing" persons in his office, who never stepped inside his office door. He collected the salaries of these ghost employees, and put the money in his pocket.

Then, too, the persons who really did work in his office, were required to hand over part of their salaries to him. "Kick back," they call it. Why? Just because he wanted them to. Just because he hired them, and the United States government paid their salaries, and he thought he could instill enough fear of losing their jobs into their hearts so that they'd regard him as their great benefactor and do anything he asked, in order to keep those jobs.

All those sums of money added together through the years must amount to quite a bit by this time!

But J. Parnell Thomas has come to the end of the lane that has no turning. There is a very definite turn in fortune for him now. This great super patriot, who ranted about the American way of life, true Americanism, true patriotism, etc., etc., is being tried before the tribunal of public opinion in America, as well as before a court of the United States. He is in the same position in which he so gleefully placed the citizens whom he accused of being Communists.

And whatever the courts of the United States decide, we may be sure that the verdict of the people of the United States, will be the same as that meted out to Haman: Hang him thereon.

And let's hope the story will end: So they put Thomas into the jail which he had prepared for the progressive American citizens whom he accused of being Communists, and of being un-American.

The right of every American is the pursuit of happiness.

Mrs. Ruth McCarn, women's counselor at Northwestern University, lost her job because she was too friendly to Jews and Negroes.

The University felt that she should have centered her attention on more important matters.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—John W. Hatch, of Springfield, Ky., the only Negro to avail himself of a law course under that state's law to provide Negroes and whites equal educational opportunities, is provided with a large class room in the State capitol, adjacent to a large law library.

This special provision was made to keep Hatch from being with the white students.

Kentucky professors and students must be studying Communim. If not, why the iron curtain?

Some liberal Southern Democrats declare they have grasped an opportunity made possible by the Dixiecrats who deserted the regular party line to follow J. Strom Thurmond.

The opportunity, it appears, was the rallying influence over Negroes that caused them to become vote conscious.

In this we see a hope that can become a realization. If the Negroes join the liberals wherever they may be found and vote unitedly, they can clean out such demagogues as Strom Thurmond, John Rankin, Parnell Thomas and the others.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas. Father John M. Hayes severely criticized Ben Lacey, governor of Arkansas, for calling F.E.P.C. legislation a "Communistic" idea.

DURHAM, N. C.—The Progressive Party of North Carolina has filed charges with David E. Henderson, U. S. District Attorney, in Charlotte, North Carolina, accusing the chairman of the Henderson.. WASHINGTON, D. C.—Attorney Perry Howard declared recently that the army policy which leaves a soldier charged with a minor offense in the custody of civil authorities, "outrageous."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—According to a recent survey made by the League for Colored People in Britain, there were 552 babies born to British women, fathered by colored American soldiers in England in World War II.

Despite reports to the contrary, the Children's Bureau insists that the British government is not anxious to get rid of these war babies.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The Minneapolis TRIBUNE and STAR has added to its staff a newsman of Negro ancestry.

Slowly the walls of discrimination are crumbling.

BERLIN, Germany — A vital phase of the air lift to Berlin is being operated by American Negro soldiers near Frankfurt. They are the men of the Twenty-fourth Transportation Truck Battalion of the United States Army. Colonel Chase, a Negro, commands an important part in the operation. He must not only see that the 240 five-ton tractors and the 480 ten-ton trailers of the five companies transport the supplies, but also that these vehicles have proper maintenance.

PHILADELPHIA—Miss Mabel Turner, of Philadelphia, is the second Negro woman to pass the Pennsylvania State bar examination, and be admitted to the practice of law.

NEW YORK—President Albert J. Fitzgerald, of the United Electrical Workers, announced last week that 600,000 electrical workers registered to vote for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

HOUSTON, Texas.—The president of the National Association of Attorneys General proposed the establishment of a Washington office to study and interpret threats to states rights.

Those Southern attorney generals think the Federal government in Washington is becoming too powerfunl, and may take over too many "rights" which the South believes is peculiarly that of their own.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A column by James Marlow, Associated Press Sports Writer, gives some events of the past few weeks which show a growth of appreciation in college for "a man as a man in spite of his color." The events listed ares

Frank S. Jones, a Negro, was chosen student manager of the Harvard football team.

Thomas W. Gibbs, a Negro, was pledged a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Amherst College over the protest of the national fraternity.

The Amherst chapter was suspended by the national organization before Gibbs was initiated.

Lafayette College refused to play in the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Texas, on New Year's Day because state laws there discriminated against its Negro halfback.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Phillip Murray the Big Bully

Casper Milquetoast has gone bully-boy. The meek, mild, frequently wronged, but never angry, perennial president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, has taken a good long sniff of power,—and gone dictator! There is an angry man with a lot of angry power at the head of the second largest labor organization in the nation now. He rode to his greatest glory on the issue that brought the emergence of Adolph Hitler, and if you can stand a prediction, he'll be thrown by it just as soon as the 81st Congress gets its bearings and miracle man Harry gets the right formula for the impending double-cross.

JOHN M. LEE

Praise Phil from whom all blessings flow, or by the power of the 'miracle election,' he'll paint you red and raid the hell out of your tiny little local. Bow down and face the White House, you worshippers of the idolatry of autonomy, or by the executive power of a hand-picked body of retainers, he'll denounce you before management and make it impossible for you to get a man-sized hearing when you attempt to negotiate.

On your knees you labor slaves! Bend down in the presence of the boss, and before the majesty of the unkindest boss of all, the national president of your CIO. Did you vote for Harry? Did you support Harry? Did you surrender your right to think for yourself on the matter of whom to elect for president? Then shut up, and make way for Big Steel and Auto. Get out of the way; get big, or get out!

Organize, you lazy, shiftless, underpaid and overworked dogs. Organize and don't ask questions. Just organize and get that per capita dough into the national treasury so the great God Phil can print up some more literature and damn a third of the CIO as slavish adherents of the Communist party line. How does he know that; it is enough that he SAID it. Organize, and then vote the way angry-man Phil tells you.

And you Negroes! Stop whimpering because the master could not quite bring off that deal to make Townsend a vice president. (What a smell the very thought of it creates!) After all UE is a big outfit, you can't expect him to kick all of that per capita around; and besides Fitzgerald's union is big. He had votes and you can't ignore votes.

And another thing. Don't b misled because their wasn't lot of talk at the convention about Civil Rights. You Negroes know how master Phil feel about Civil Rights; Look at th record of the CIO. Well, Look up it. That's how we stand on Civils Rights; just like the record. nt

Of course there's a deal sol Civil Rights. Of course! Master-Phil is a great politician. Didn' he elect Truman? All smart politicians make deals. I can't prove it, but it looks like this deal is in, and it's coming from a cold, deck. You'll get Civil Rights piece by piece, maybe, if w don't have to bargain too much on Taft-Hartley. And Taft-Hartley, well, you can't worry Harry too much on that one; after all he had a hard time winning th election. Don't upset him, h thinks we elected him.

In the future, so long as the great man Murray reigns, don' you dare have a previous political thought. Wait until h makes up his mind for you then act, according to democratic CIO policy. Should you dare defy this policy (you wouldn't dare though) but should you King Phillip The First (and incidentally the ONLY) will turn loose his big steel dollars and raid your local to a fare-thee-well.

But don't change the subject. Do you believe in the free, democratic policy of national CIO? Then stop all that yelling about local autonomy and let King Phillip's vassals slip the ring in your noses. Now goose-step, you peasants, and sing 'God Bless A-Murray-Ca.'

And another thing, you union Communists, the Great One knows there's more than a million of you. Most of you voted for Truman and Dewey so he couldn't get an accurate check on your numbers, but you didn't fool the great Dictator. He knows you're hiding in the small locals; he knows it and he's going to keep shouting you out if it means wiping out all but two — or three unions.

Maybe you don't like it. Well if you don't, get out of the working class. There's no room in it for independent thinkers who don't know how to take dictation. Go along or get out and join the,—well, get out anyhow. And no more talk about fascism. Sure his majesty has his hirelings planted in your local, only to protect you from the members who didn't vote for Truman. After all, the King says time has passed and the CIO has grown up. Ol Tempora, Ol Mores.

W. J. Wheaton Says

The political wiseacres have already laid down the programme which President Truman will give the nation. He will, or will not, favor the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law. That he has stated he is not in favor of the Civil Rights measure, but will have to give it "Luke warm" support; that in toto he will not favor any of the measures that he promised to support, and give to the citizens. Well we can take it or leave it.

Any observer of the trend of the times will recognize the song of the "Dying Swan." It is as ridiculous as the claim of/or for a recount of the votes in the three key states, California, Ohio, and Illinois. The result is obvious. The result was so upsetting that it apparently has upset the minds of the GOP managers.

It might be that is the reason for the European trip of Senator Taft. It is as we expected: The Dixiecrats are seeking favor. They are trying to curry favor. They promise not to fillibuster certain measures if they are given concessions. We will wait and see. If the GOP senators make a coallition with Dixiecrats to defeat cloture; then it's "Good-Bye to the two party system of this nation.

But in the opinion of many, the President wil not only present his ideas to the Congress but will make a fight for their enforcement.

There is not a particle of doubt that he will keep his promise to have Congress pass laws for the enactment of measures for the abolition of the Poll Tax and laws that will make lynching a criminal act and punishable under a Federal statute. We may be wrong, but we will stake our all in the belief that President Truman will do his level best to keep his every promise made to the voters.

He is aware that playing politics will have no affect on his future, that he will not be elligible to succeed himself, and that if he wants the Democrat party to survive he must kepe his promise to the farmer, the worker, and to industry. It's a gigantic task but not insurmountable.

Is there such a "Moral Victory?" That word has been bandied about lately both in politics and sports.

While the ideology of Wallace, in some respects, is good, we can not determine moral victory in his defeat. The voters realized that though he might have been sincere in his promise, there was not one whit of a chance in his gaining his objective. The IPP's have four years to strengthen their bastions and form a strong party. But it is a good wager that i nthe next two years the movement will be forgotten and like the Populist and Labor Party of past eras, forgotten by the present generation.

The two party system is an American institution. The two major partys, while they have exchanged labels, are still two partys. The Republication party is as far removed from the ideals that inspired the party of Lincoln, as the poles of the North and South of this earth.

The Democrats have taken over those principles and have become the party of the people. It is they, or should we say, the Party, that has espoused the principles of Lincoln, and combined them with the principles of Thomas Jefferson, who early in the formation of this Nation fought for the cultural and physical freedom of all men.

If the ideals of Jefferson had been adhered to, there would have ben no need for a civil war and its after effects of hatreds. Democracy for the nation may be slow in coming, but it is on the march, and it is breaking down the bars of racial and religious prejudice, if slowly. Freedom for all is marching and can not—will not, be denied.

It is observed on every collegiate campus where the students have sway. It is seen in the cultural groups of the southland. It is evident wherever education has given vision to the blind bigot, who thinks of racial and religious supremancy. As for instance the discrepancy of vision seen in the election as Captain of a Football team of Negro by the students of one of the most ancient institutions of learning in the nation.

An institution that has matriculated some of the famous names in our history. The student of this University have been taught that it is character and worth which counts: Not race nor color. Take this against the edict of a faculty in another part of the nation where bigotry and racial and religious prejudice runs rampant.

The students of that institution had no say. The edict of the faculty was that a game of football could not be played for

NEGRO LIBERATION
By Harry Haywood, International Publishers, New York, 1948; 200 pages, $2.25; at Hugh Gordon Book Shop.

Are you tired of sentimental and unrealistic approaches to "the Negro question"? Can you discuss this subject objectively and scientifically? Harry Haywood voices a dynamic and thought-compelling outlook in Negro Liberation, an invaluable contribution towards a full understanding of the position of the Negro people in America. In an easy-to-read yet compact and thoroughly documented volume, he points out the historical significance of the political and economic treatment of the Negro as illustrated by weighty national issues such as the Marshall Plan of today or the Reconstruction constitutions of the post-Civil War period.

Mr. Haywood's straightforward and courageous analysis revolves around these timely questions:

How can the Truman Civil Rights Plan be made to work?

Why is the average standard of living in the South lower than in the North?

How does southern Jim Crow hinder American export opportunities?

Did the New Deal really help the southern "man-in-the-field"?

Will full industrialization belie the Mason-Dixon Line make the status of the southern Negro equal to that of the northern Negro?

Why is Gunnar Myrdal's "An American Dilemma" able to mislead so many Negro and white scholars and laymen?

Has the Negro people in America become a nation instead of a racial group?

Is prejudice the root of Negro oppression?

Why are there limitations to the scope and future of the NAACP and Urban League?

What are the schemes put forth for Negro emancipation by Nationals, Liberal Capitalists, Social Democrats, and Communists?

Is full democracy for all peoples possible in the United States today?

After brilliantly stating the roots and origins of the problems now confronting the Negro people in America, Mr. Haywood traces and evaluates the efforts so far made towards securing full democracy for them. Throughout the book, and always relevant to the particular subject under discussion, he offers sane, sound, and workable solutions to the obstacles and difficulties now obstructing Negro liberation.

This work is unique in the libraries filled with history-distorting school textbooks and government-appeasing surveys, reports, and press releases because it considers the "Negro question" as an integral part of basic American economic relations—instead of as a "hush-hush" subject discussed with a sigh and a shrug of the shoulders from church pulpits or conference tables.

Clearly, the basic propositions of this book are not at the present time universally accepted as the principles of the Negro liberation movement. While there is common agreement on the necessity to struggle for equal rights and for the eradication of all forms of Jim-Crow oppression, there is not agreement as to the basic concepts, ultimate goals, and concrete implications of the slogan of equality. There certainly is no agreement as to the road to take for the achievement of equality.

Mr. Haywood is not afraid to state openly and in plain language these "basic concepts, ultimate goals, and concrete implications of equality." To him they spell self-determination and suffrage, and the assurances of a steady, full-time job or a lucrative, well-equipped slice of land for every American; economic expansion in the interest of those whose actual labor produces the goods, and a world body of self-determining, democratically governed people's states.

But Negro liberation — the emancipation of virtual slaves in the South and of semi-citizens in the North does not come about automatically; neither does the liberation of millions of colonial workers all around the globe. There is one road known to modern man which has been tried within the last 50 years, but which is constantly being smeared and belittled by those who fear the just and logical distribution on which it is based, and by those who are ignorant of its true functioning. Harry Haywood believes that this road —Communism—is the only possible way to end the drudgery and oppression which now enslaves the American Negro and all colonial and minority peoples the world over.

He knows that to express his belief and to record it for all who will read may cause him to be libeled and slandered and perhaps jailed; yet he dares not only to state his faith, but to explain convincingly and scientifically the method of Negro liberation according to Communist principles:

There must be first of all a drastic redivision of southern land, the author explains, in order to form many independent small farm units from territory now occupied by a few huge plantations. Ex-farm laborers—Negro and white alike — could raise multiple crops on such government subsidized acreage in addition to the traditional main staples of cotton, corn, and tobacco which are now destroying southern earth as well as losing export status.

With government sponsorship of the independent farms instead of control by northern monopolies and cartels, the two basic causes of Jim Crow—cheap labor and lack of representation—would be well on their way into past-history books: there would be no more need for the sharecropping system which lowers living standards in the North as well as in the South, and it would become impossible to gerrymander southern counties and districts for the purpose of denying elected government representation to Negroes.

Southern economy, Mr. Haywood amply proves, is the root of all evil as far as the exploitation of Negro and other minority workers is concerned. The removal of the southern farm tenant worker as the cheapest possible source of labor throughout the nation would make unnecessary—in fact unprofitable as far as business and industry are concerned—all existing forms of economic and social discrimination.

Harry Haywood, the son of former slaves, has spent most of his life in the midst of the struggle for the organization of northern and southern working peoples. Three times he has fought fascism on war front lines: as a soldier in World War I and in the Spanish Civil War of 1936, and as a merchant seaman in World War II.

One of the leading Negro Marxists in America, he strengthened and confirmed his belief in Communism by life and travel in the Soviet Union. His comprehensive presentation and logical analysis of the "Negro question" in America as well as his frank discussion of Communism make Negro Liberation indispensible to the alert and well-informed reader.

THE BUSINESS SCENE

BY C. C. MACK—PRINTER, MANUAL ARTS

Being a printer, and so now employed, I am naturally interested in what Negroes are doing in this field, here and elsewhere, for a great volume of printing is bought by us in all parts of the country. In Los Angeles, there are about a dozen concerns of this kind operated exclusively by Negroes ranging in size from the bedroom variety to the larger ones fully equipped with automatic presses and typesetting equipment of the latest manufacture. Although these shops stay open, employ young Negro printers (when they can find them), I notice that most of the printing used over here is going to places run by those of other races who will not employ Negroes, except when in a pinch. The imprint on the bottom of these pieces shows this.

Of course, we have the usual out-of-date excuses that stifles most every type of business among us and which education seems not to eradicate as time goes on. Among these are: Negro printers make too many mistakes, although not one in 10 among us knows how to submit errorless capy which is necessary to insure an accurate job. Another is: The prices Negro printers charge are too high, yet have not the slightest idea what expenses enter into the cost of producing a print job and still less about what a fair price would be. And, this same lack of knowledge gives the greedy printer a good chance to stick us to the limit . . . in many other parts of town.

Working at Manual where I am employed as a printer, many boys taking the printing trades ask us to find employment in the evening or during the summer or holiday vacations in the hundreds of commercial shops where they may earn some money and get actual trade experience. If we send a white boy to a white shop, he gets in sooner or later for the shops ask for them. If a Negro boys is sent he runs into all sorts of excuses and finally asked why he does not try one of the Negro shops "over on the avenue." This is just what the white printer would think you would rightfully want to do. If he goes to one of the better Negro places he may have a chance, and if he doesn't get in, it is mainly because those of us who have printing done just simply pass up, or forget the shops run by Negroes, some of whom have put a small fortune into job plants and who inspite of the increasing costs of paper, labor and equipment, will not charge you the rates I have known you to pay in an effort to get something for nothing in some cases.

Printing is the nation's seventh largest industry and Los Angeles stands about third in the industry as a whole. And, we (Negroes) are about one-tenth of the population. A mathematician may be able to make some kind of an equasion here. What I am trying to say is this: Give our print shops a chance to show what they can do or forget about the future of your own kinds whom you are advising to learn these trades and others like them. No use to wait around for the 81st oCngress and the FEPC, for no race has ever sat down and waited for someone else to solve their problems for them—except us. And, don't worry, the money will get back downtown sooner or later—anyway.

the reason that the team invited had a Negro player on it. See the difference between culture and bigotry? One progresses, the other disgraces humanity.

It will take a new generation to remove the blinding scum of a bigated vision. But it will be done eventually. So much for things happening at home.

Have you kept track of somethings happening abroad? Most of you know that there is a war going on in Palestine between the Jews and Abrabs. You probably know that the mediator who represented the UN was assasinated, and he was succeeded by his aide, who happened to be an American Negro. This man has done his job well, and has the respect of both combattants. But the racial complex has been injected into the matter, and a move has been made to have a UN committee formed to take the place of this mediator.

We are sure that this will not be done, because the plan made by htis mediator is bearing fruit and bids fair to solve the problems of a character bobbing up in our city; the city of San Francisco. When it is definite we will have something to say.

The Road to Health

Mrs. Weaver was shocked and plainly disbelieving when I told her she was suffering from lack of nourishment. She had come to my office, she said, because she felt constantly tired and her digestion had been none too good. After a thorough physical examination ,including a chest X-ray and a blood test, I discovered that her body was not getting the nourishment needed to keep it supplied with sufficient good, red blood.

When I explained this to my patient, she protested that she ate plenty of food and that it was hard to believe that her eating habits might have something to do with her lacking enough good blood. Even in the last few weeks when she was not feeling well, she said, her husband continued to joke about her "enormous appetite."

Mrs. Weaver went on to list the kinds of food which she said she ate in great quantities. It was plain that her favorites were either starchy foods or those with little nutritional value.

"Many people eat sufficient quantities of food, Mrs. Weaver, but when they don't eat the right kinds, they can actually be starving themselves as far as building blood and tissues is concerned," I told her. "The body needs protein, vitamins and minerals to build it and keep it in repair. It can't operate the way it should if they are not included in your diet in sufficient quantities."

These necessary food elements, I told her, can be found in meat, fish, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables, milk and milk products, bread and whole grain cereals. Mrs. Weaver asked me about the vitamin pills and preparations that could be bought at the store. I pointed out that, while such preparations have their place, a well-balanced diet containing the necessary food elements ordinarily doesn't need to be supplemented by vitamin pills.

Mrs. Weaver was interested in just why her poor blood would make her feel "all dragged out" even after one of her heavy meals or after a good rest. I explained that the blood plays an important part in keeping the body in satisfactory working condition. When the blood isn't rich and red enough, many important body functions are slowed down and the entire body is weakened.

Therefore, the "blood-building" foods are among the most important. For Mrs. Weaver's diet, I stressed vegetables and fruits rich in vitamins and minerals—turnip greens, spinach, kale, carrots and peas. She also needed to add milk and fruits, including citrus fruits, to her daily foods.

When I mentioned that fresh, lean meat was a source of necessary protein for the body, Mrs. Weaver interrupted to point out that fresh meat is often difficult to get and is usually very expensive. I told her then of other foods that were rich in protein, such as soy beans, navy and lima beans, peanuts and dried yeast.

Meals that are well planned to include a good supply of protein, minerals and vitamins mean less expense, in the lon grun, and most miportant, the building and preservation of a family's good health.

CITY COLLEGE NEWS

By C. E. LOYD

Blue jeans and various other forms of masculine dress were rampant among the ladies at City College Tuesday, Nov. 23, as the girls indulged in their traditional celebration of Women's Week. Pedal pushers held their own in the melee, and for hte first time since the inception of the "new look," long dresses were given a breathing spell, and femine legs were displayed in appreciable portions.

As a neutral observer, I tabbed Bobbe McAdams as the kid with the cutest yams, and for all round sweetness the Leonard twins, Doris Jean and Dorothy Jane, get my vote. Doris and Dorothy, who always dress and look alike, sported fancy blue jeans, white blouses, green plaid jackets, and red sandals. They take the same grades, and always go in pairs.

Displaying the talent which won him the distinction of being chosen the outstanding vocalist of the music department, William de Valentine sang the "Lord's Prayer" in the "pop concert" given by the City College Symphony Orchestra in the Administration Building, Tuesday, November 23.

Valentine placed third in the Atwater Kent Auditions, and recently sang at the Philharmonic Auditorium. His next appearance will be at the evening concert to be held Dec. 12.

Group discussion has become a common feature of the assemblage that gathers daily on the benches out by the Student Union. This is the favorite haunt of those who would present their pet theories, express their honest opinion, or merely blow off excessive steam. In fact, this is a sancturay to all those who seek expression, and the amazing thing is, an attentive audience is always on hand to receive their views. Who has not heard the religious syllogisms of "Honest" John Davenport, the erudite scientific theories of Emerson Stafford, or the shrewd political arguments of Freddie Gaines? They are all products of the lair beneath the rubber tree.

Last Tuesday (Nov. 23), a visitor presented his views to the group. He spoke "common sense," and willingly discussed all questions asked him by the listeners. To be more specific, his name was Philip Bock, one of the ten persons jailed on Oct. 25 and indicted by a federal grand jury for refusing to state whether he was a Communist or not. Bock said he was trying to contact the editor of the school paper and the leaders of the school and tell them his position and why he refused to answer the question asked him by the grand jury. Beck completed a year of law at U.S.C. and served three years in the Air Force during the war where he attained the rank of first lieutenant. He completed 50 missions as a bombadier and received the Distinguished Flying Cross with five Oak Leaf Clusters.

Tt sum up Brock in his own words, he said, "I feel that I have a right to protection under the constitution because I fought to protect it by force and violence."

The Nelson Alexander Trio made its initial appearance at a City College affair Wednesday, Nov. 24, playing at the City College 19th Annual Homecoming Dance at the Hollywood Auditorium. The trio featured the artistry of Nelson Alexander on piano, Garry Green on bass, and Edgar Rice on guitar.

The Les Femmes Elegant Third Annual Birthday Ball was a bang-up success at the El Sombrero Ballroom Tuesday, Nov 23. Intrigued by the mellow music of the Rhythm Rockets, the gathering remained until 2 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Among those present were Miss Edith Enoex (of City College), Miss Katie Lucas ,also of City College), Miss Aileen Williams, Miss Yvonne Crossley, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Tabor, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Shirley.

Festivities reached a climax when Ray Jackson was crowned Queen of the group. Officers elected were as follows: president, Fay Ma Graff; vice-president, Earline Barret; recording secretary, Audrey Roberts; corresponding secretary, Nancy Green; treasurer, Jackie Jones, of City College; assistant treasurer, Pat Jones; sergeant-at-arms, Bernice Bellinger, and business manager, Gloria Jean Williams of City College.

First prize of $25 was given to Audrey Roberts, and second prize of $15 was given to Lorraine Gilbert. The prizes were given to members having most points for loyalty to the club. The sponsor of the group is Mrs. Ruth Donnely.

Commnuity Chest posters entered by two City College students won second and third prizes in a contest sponsored by local artists, and were displayed in the window of the May Company at Wilshire.

Second prize was won by Chester Comstock, and third prize went to Paul Kim, member of Kappa Tau Sigma, honorary art society. A student at Frank Wiggins Trade School won first prize.

Returning from a four day vacation (including the week-end), climaxed by the heart-breaking 49-7 loss to the Compton College football aggregation, City College students are again buckling down to the usual routine of classwork, assignments, and what-have-you. A personal post-midterm survey revealed that most students are doing all right with the subjects they didn't drop.

The Negroes Cause

By William L. Wood

Dear Governor Warren: I believe it has just about come to the point where we (I mean Safeway, Ralphs and ½ million people) can't stand Mr. Brock any longer. It is fast coming to the point where nothing but action (and right now) will satisfy the people. Mr. Brock is like a drowning man overboard hallooing for more water. This arrogant attitude must stop. He charges Safeway and Ralphs with trying to monopolize the Milk Industry because they want to sell better milk cheaper. Mr. Brock does not say anything about the ½ million people I represent (the recording machine may have stopped; that could be the reason why we were not mentioned).

Governor, please take notice that we join with the stores to record our protest against the actions of Mr. Brock whom you appointed to this office. You only are responsible for his actions. If he cannot fulfill his duty to the people of this state, then the time has come for you to act that the people may have some relief from a man like this Mr. Brock. He should be relieved, and soneone placed in this office that will give the people their just consideration which is something they are not getting from Mr. Brock.

Mr. S. M. White, Secretary of the California Retail Grocers Association, stated last week that there should always be a bigger difference between the retail price of milk sold in stores than the price charged at the doorstep. I am concluding at this time, after reviewing the entire situation, that Mr. Brock's office has no idea of making any decisions in this case from an efficient standpoint. Are the people of California going to allow this appointed Bureau to ignore efficiency in the distribution of a commodity like milk that cost the public millions. That's what the Milk Control Bureau is doing in this case, and that is the issue now before you, Governor.

After further investigation, I have been informed from reliable sources that a better quality of milk than the present standard calls for can be produced two to three cents cheaper than our high Czar (Mr. Brock) has imposed upon the people with his arrogant attitude that they can take it or leave it. My mother told me when I left home that if I ever needed sympathy, I could find it in the Dictionary. This, no doubt, would be appropriate time to tell Mr. Brock that if he too would look in the Dictionary, he would find the word "efficient" there. If applied in making these rulings, it would give the public the break they have coming. This would result in saving millions of dollars and that's what that office was for (to protect the public from Gougers).

These Milk Gougers don't ever know when to stop taking all they can out of the hides of the public, they don't have one thing to worry about. This Czar, Brock, will take all they want out of the pockets of the public and give it to them with a great big smile and thank them for the high privilege of serving them. Many thanks to Senator George Hatfield of Newman, head of the committee appearing here. I am sorry I could not meet him as I could have given him a good ear full.

Now Governor, the public is getting tired and very well fed up with the decisions of your appointees on these commissions which, at this time, are certainly pouring it on the public and are appealing to you for relief. I don't think it looks very good to the public outside of the state that if you want protection, you have to circulate a petition like the Blind and Old Age did to get what belongs to them. You are the Governor who recommends these laws, have them passed and you sign them. You also appoint the committees. Is it not your duty to see that they give the people what belongs to them? We need action or some new committees. Which will it be?

Now Mayor Bowron: I listened to your broadcast Sunday night, and can't see how you can take the air and tell the people what you stated Sunday night. You said you had many complaints about various conditions, do you blame the people who trusted you with an honest to God's good city? You have all but wrecked it with inattention. You are complaining all the time about the shortage of this and shortage of that. If I could not run the city better than it is being run at this time, I would resign and give someone else a chance. To start with, you are one of the most biased officials that undertook to run a city like Los Angeles. It is filthy and it stinks. Go look at Central and Vernon Avenue and get a nose full. Do you wonder why we have polio, smog and everything else that makes a city so dirty and unhealthy? Take a trip over on the Eastside and see how the Mexicans and the Negroes are living. It's just short of a disgrace. People living up alleys in shacks and garages where you would not let your dogs live. Those old creaky and rattle traps of yellow street cars look more like cattle cars. They are filthy dirty. They make so much noise you can't hear the conductor call the street. They are open front and back. No glass and cold enough to give you a case of pneumonia. The fare is just the same as the Westside, only the car company puts the worst cars for the Negroes. What discrimination!

Now Mr. Mayor, what are you doing about this? I haven't heard you raise your voice. (Why?)

Treaty Pledge Violations

By Paul French

In a recent issue, I spoke of how the Associated Press had, in quoting from the agreement signed in 1933, between President Roosevelt and Litvinov, misrepresented that agreement as pledging only the USSR not to allow any hostile acts against the USA, while concealing the fact that the United States government was equally pledged not to allow hostile acts against the Soviet government. That is, hostile acts by "all persons in government service and all organizations of the government." Acts of propaganda, included.

Let us now see how the United States government has violated that pledge. Firstly, we must recall what Vishinsky has said, that it was none other than President Truman, himself, when a U. S. Senator in 1941, when Hitler attacked the Soviet Union, who stood up in the U. S. Senate and declared that the U. S. government should "help the Nazis if they are losing, so the Nazis and the Russians can kill one another off." Was that keeping the pledge of 1933?

There are scores and hundreds of proofs that the U. S. government has violated the pledge made in 1933. They fill the papers every day, with hostile propaganda incitements by U. S. government servants and diplomats, army and navy commanders, and government officials. Let us take a few samples:

On Oct. 8, 1948, one Constatine W. Boldyreff, called in reporters in New York, to tell them—as the papers of that day told to you—that he was he head of an organization of "several thousands active fighters behind the Iron Curtain" who were working to "overthrow the Soviet government." He said that his organization, whose initials 'NTS' stand for "national peoples union" in Russian, "has inspired the assassination" of Soviet officials, and —what is quite important—that his organization was being helped by "American intelligence" officials.

Tht U. S. government made no denial of this claim, and Newsweek of Oct. 25, 1948, verified the fact that Boldyreff had, indeed, "served with U. S. military intelligence," had been appointed by U. S. Army command in Germany as administrator of a "displaced persons" camp at Kessel, Germany, and, before that, had actively helped the Hitler army in its occupation of Russian territory in 1942-43. In short, a busy fascist of Russian birth had been encouraged and helped by the U. S. Army in anti-Soviet plots, and was freely admitted to the USA in 1947, here to organize more plots against the Soviet government.

In so doing, he was sponsored by another organization of anti-Soviet Russians, known as "The Common Cause," financed by the American wealthy family of Edward and Mrs. Natalie W. Paine (she is a Russian.) It was the "Common Cause" outfit which had gotten the support of the FBI and the New York police in the case of Mrs. Kasenkina. Clearly, here was a multiple violation by the United States government of the agreement signed in 1933 by President Roosevelt, pledging "organizations of the government" against hostile acts toward the Soviet government.

Now let us look at something called "Project X." In July 1948, Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, was appointed by Truman to head a committee to reorganize U. S. spy organizations, especially in Europe. Old John Foster Dulles himself helped, and also Senator Bridges of New Hampshire and W. Averill Harriman, Marshall Plan director in Western Europe. The result was known as "the Bridges plan," but Dulles preferred to call it "Project X."

On May 6, 1948, John Foster Dulles spoke to a meeting of bankers at the "Bond Club" in New York, explaining his "Project X" as an anti-Soviet scheme of espionage and assassination against the Soviet Union and the new democracies of Eastern Europe. It was to be carried out by a special U. S. Government organization. The scheme was reported in the U. S. papers.

"We ought to have an organization," Dulles said, "dedicated to the task of non-military defense. That new department of non - military defense should have adequate personnel and ample funds."

How it was to be financed was proposed in some detail by Dulles. Anxious to keep the cost to the bankers he was talking to from being anything much, he suggested it should be paid by the government, but, that special care had to be taken to prevent publicity in getting appropriations for such a scheme through Congress. His plan, later carried out, was that Senator Bridges would smuggle the big appropriations for the plot thru Congress by concealing them in the general appropriations for the State Department, without specifying just what the money was to be used for.

Congress sent three agents to Europe to investigate how to finance the anti-Soviet plot by linking it up with the Marshall Plan. That had already been done when Dulles spoke to the bankers. It was all fixed, he told them. His exact words were:

"This new effort could use to some extent the currencies which will come to us abroad in exchange for goods sent under the European Recovery Program, and to that extent additional cost to the United States would be entirely avoided."

Dulles told the bankers that, thus, the Marshall Plan could help the plan for espionage and assassination in countries of eastern Europe; and that, indeed, such help was mutual, as the Marshall Plan . . . "standing alone may not succeed." He added, "We cannot place our whole reliance on that formula." To ensure American imperialist against Communism and guarantee it world domination, the ecenomic schemes of the Marshall Plan needed the development of "Project g"—of espionage, sabotage and terrorism.

All close observers of events recognize that this "Project X" has been extremely active. On Nov. 13, it was reported that some mysterious radio station was operating against the government in Czechoslovakia. Millions of dollars are being thrown into all manner of spy operations. The U. S. State Department has organized a phony "Peasant Internation" in April last, from renevades and traitors of the east European countries, and financed this organization's attempts to organize revolt in those lands.

What kind of "peasants" this outfit is composed of can be seen by one example, a "Dr. Dimitrov" of Bulgaria, alias "Gemeto." This character was a British spy beginning in 1940, working in the Middle East. But being a man of no principle, he worked for the Nazis at the same time—with the consent of the British, naturally. He set up a radio station near Jerusalem and broadcast for the Nazis into the Balkan countries. When the Soviet armies swept into Nazi-occupied Bulgaria, "Dr. Dimitrov" in his radio work hotly opposed the liberation movement. But, when Bulgaria again became free, he returned there, this time as a spy for the United States. Indicted by the Bulgarian courts for aiding the Nazis, he sought and got refuge in the house of the U. S. representative in Bulgaria, a Mr. Barnes, but fled aproad and is now in the United States as head of this "Peasants' Union."

Scores of such schemes are being carried out by U. S. officials agtinst the Soviet Union and the governments of the new democracies. In June, a sort of "spies' convention" was organized at Frankfudt, with the Americans calling in the old hands at spying, the Hitler agents of the Gestapo, headed by the Nazi generals, Guderian and Halder. Among the subjects discussed were military and political spying, recruiting of agents and their smuggling into the east European countries, sabotage and terrorism, particularly the murder of government officials and Communist leaders. Nice people!

The American Journal: "U. S. news and World Report" stated: "Under this plan, strong-arm squads would be formed under American guidance. Assassination of key communists would be encouraged. American agents parachuted into eastern Europe, would be used to coodinate anti-Communist action. Volunteers for such work already are turning up in Washington to look for jobs."

In the light of all this mass of proof that the U. S. government is violating the pact of friendship signed by Roosevelt in 1933 pledging to "refrain and restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government" from hostile acts against the Soviet Government, the attempt to picture the USSR as a "breaker of promises" looks pretty sick.

Not Foreign Capital for Liberia, But Aid Thru UN, Says CAA

Referring to a statement recently made by the Right Reverend Bishop Bravid W. Harris, the Council on African Affairs, condemned the sort of American investment in Liberia which will cost the Negro Republic "its continued colonial dependence upon foreign finance or sacrifice of its territorial sovereignty to a foreign power."

In a letter to the editor of the New York Times, whih carried a lengthy report of Bishop Harris' statement, the Council's secretary pointed to the long-term control which a new American corporation, the Liberia Company, has acquired over Liberia's resources and the acquisition of the port at Monrovia as a U. S. military, naval and air base.

Excerpts from the letter follows:

"All history — including that of the Firestone Corporation in Liberia — shows that foreign capital investment in economically undeveloped countries can reap big profits only by restricting the economic, political and social advancement of the peoples of those countries; that is, gy keeping them poor and dependent.

"It is not perhaps accidental that Bishop Harris' statement comes at a time when American Big Business is in fact more interested than ever before in Africa's raw materials. This interest is exemplified by the durrent plans of the Liberia Company, organized last year by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., and several of his colleagues among America's steel, automobile and utility corporations.

"The Liberia Company is concerned with making profits for American investors out of Liberia's iron ore, cocoa, timber and other resources. The 80-year control which this Company has acquired over virtually the entire economy of Liberia, together with the onerous terms of that control, represents the same old pattern of imperialist exploitation of economically backward countries, despite the veneer of humanitarian objectives which have been stressed in the Company's public relations statements.

"As for the United States government and its relations with Liberia, it is not generally known to the American public that the U. S. has already acquired for itself a permanent military, naval, and air base at Monrovia, capital of Liberia. Will Africa, too, have its Hong Kongs and Singapores — under American control?

"Liberia must have assistance, yes, but not the sort that means its continued colonial dependence upon foreign finance or sacrifice of its territorial sovereignty to a foreign power. Not a unilateral program of American assistance, Marshall Plan or no Marshall Plan, but a collective scheme of technologial and financial aid administered by and through the United Nations, is the way to promote the progress and freedom of Liberia and other economically backward countries."

Careless Smoker Tosses Ciggie From Hotel Into Eye

NEW YORK—Lester Young, popular band-leader and tenor saxaphone stylist, was assured by his physician this week, that his eye-sight wouldn't be impaired as the result of his being burned about the left eye by a cigarette, discarded by a careless smoker. The former Count Basie Reedman was the victim of a freak accident outside of the hotel Marden on W. 44th Street, where he resides. While conversing with several members of his band, Young happened to look skyward just as a cigarette was tossed out of a window of an adjacent building. It struck him over the left eye, causing him to cry out in pain. An X-ray later revealed that the cigarette had narrowly missed the eyeball, thus averting possible blindness. Young conducts his band nightly with a patch over the eye until it is completely healed.

On Sunday, December 5th at 2:30 p.m., Dr. Kurt Fantl, consulting psychiatrist with the City Health Department, will address a group of parents, teachers, doctors, psychiatrists and others interested in child development at "Child House," 2225 W. Adams Blvd. Dr. Fantl, stressing the personal factors which contributes to most accidents, will speak on "The Accident Prone Child."

Dr. Fantl's lecture is the third in a series currently scheduled for the first Sunday of every month. A discussion period following the lecture will be topped off with free refreshments and "open house."

Trained in Vienna, Chicago and New York City, Dr. Fantl is at the present time consulting psychiatrist at the Los Angeles City Health Department. He has made a special study of "accident proneness," and in the past few months, he has addressed several other groups interested in the psychiatric aspects of accident prevention.

Specially, Dr. Frantl will speakon what parents can do to prodean emotional environmenfor their children which willprevent them from becoming accident prone."

The California Taxpayers Association has appealed to Governor Warren to call a special session of the Legislature to consider the complete repeal of the provisions of Proposition number 4 passed at the November 2 elections.

Fashion on Parade Ushers in Winter Season

JESSIE MAE BROWN, Society Editor

AROUND THE CLOCK WENT THE FASHION note for the well dressed woman at the outstanding review staged by the Beta Pi Sigma girls Sunday. These models were caught by photographer as they were actually showing the garments. Not one minute was spent for posing. As a starter, Essie Rogers, is shown in the old-fashioned night dress, with the "New Look" commentator Faustina Johnson, may be seen in photo. Helen Lamb Crosier, is second scene, shows the morning dress. Mrs. Johnson was assisted by committee women with cards that told of garments worn by Beta Soror Landry, seen standing in rear. Daytime or afternoon wear placed a special spotlight on the suit. Gerry Jones was quite at home showing the lovely beige number. Her jewelry was from Brown's. After Five gown is shown by Mary Frances Peterson. Off Shoulders, the dress could quickly be changed, simply by placing the stole over the shoulders. American Beauty Red velvet was used to make up the smart draped formal gown, shown in last picture by Thelma Wallace. The gown was created by her mother. (See story.) —Photos by Charles.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE VARIOUS CHARITABLE affairs that crowd the calendar of events may easily be called an outward expression, of many a gay Angeleno, to contribute to the philanthropic efforts of the community. It's only natural that the big charity bug should go on a biting spree just about now, with Thanksgiving a thing of the recent past and Xmas in the very near future. The gatherings are all important, leaving ye scribe searching in the dark to find which will serve as an official opening to this week's jottings. Then too, the rising crescendo of strictly social affairs without the charitable angle are also vying for the limelight. Believe me, the dates have already started tripling on my little social Calendar, meaning we might as well get ready for one of the maddest whirls in the social history of this town. We might as well forget the tired angle, for brother, the hosts will not take no for an answer and expect you to answer their invitations in person and on time....

So much has been said about housing, so many efforts put forth for building funds, it did my reart good, to chat with Irene Bradford last Tuesday and learn the true facts on the Wilfandel House, that is definitely a reality and is located at 3425 West Adams Blvd. Yep! the ladies gave highly successful benefit affairs since their organization some three years ago, and this year of '48, that is slowly leaving us, has seen them reach their goal. The official opening will be announced at a later date, however the two Wilfandelers over "Ways and Means," Ethel Atkinson and Mamie Waugh, have already opened the doors of the house for Sunday dinners and the public is invited to attend and enjoy victuals fit for royalty. All proceeds will go for the renovation of the luxurious manse. By the way, prexy, Mrs. Paul R. Williams, (Della), Leontyne King, Fannie Casmon and the rest of the members will be busy as bees serving. So take the advice of yours truly and dine in fine company Sunday, and do your bit to help the Wilfandels complete their effort....

Before getting into the swing of "Black and White" chatter, let's lend an ear to the doings of the "12 Big Sisters," who give one affair each year to pave the way for their taking cheer into county homes and mental institutions. Proceeds will be gathered on Dec. 11, at the smart "49ers" buffet snack.

Just before the charitable realm, must put in a little plug for the EAGLE's project of helping with the Deserving Boys dinner Xmas Morn. See story in Silhouette, than do your part....

PEEK IN ON THE BLACK AND WHITE

In the mean time let's pass on a little info as to what went on around town over Thanksgiving week. The "Black tnd White," of course. Many a person didn't make the event this year, and was conspicuous by their absence. Dancing was truly enjoyed, for there was actually room enough to turn around and cut a few capers. Before the main ffair, along with my "W. H." (wonderful husband) enjoyer the hospitality of Wallace Decuir, who was assisted by his fiance, Myrtle Kenzie, who played the hostess role in a black formal strapless gown with gold sequin trim. The Billy Sarringtons were there, Becky wearing black taffeta, with rhinestone accessories from head to the buckles on her shoes. Carl Cottral and his better half were much in evidence, and truly the life of the party. With three firemen present and all from the station 14, the topic of discussion drifted from one fire to another, and between cocktails we heard the gay doings of Capt. Frank LaVign, Felix Williams, Lucky Steward, "Ox," and oodles more...

The Avadon, of course was a perfect scene of glamerous women dressed in either black or white. At this writing, a vivid picture flashes back in my mind of the very unique costume worn by Arleigh Maddox. The back was breath takingly low, and the plunging neckline continued to plunge... strictly formal.... Hazel Shumate claimed the attention of all, as she swished across the main dance floor, poured into a creation of white fringe; Camille Cannedy, on the other hand, was poured into black taffeta, however her main attraction was the "new look" hair cut hear that Ethel Gordon was the barber. She too was on the scene with Walt, her Ay husband. Herbie Howard and lovely Joyce Fennie brought up the younger collegiate set representation, while Althea Warren and Edgar Bishop were O so spry on the dancing numbers of the Franklyn orchestra. Bob Green, as per usual was in his seventh heaven leading the fraters in the Kappa sweetheart song, while his better half, Evelyn and other Kappa wives joined in the traditional circle. The dance chairman Tilman Thomas and Tom Bradley were much in the spotlight as they presented the added dash to this year's formal, the appearance of star, Jimmy Durante, during the intermission. Johnnie and Betty Alston spent the evening greeting friends, and Maethilde Kenner cut a mean step or two in a trailing black velvet number, the Ashford brothers, Emmet and Wilbur, both single and carefree were in quite the spirit of the big night. Believe me, I could scribble on and on, because the Black and White goes with this writer like orchids with a beautiful lady. As I sat there during the wee hours and watched the crowd dance, just couldn't help but let my mind drift back to some three years ago, when the good ole Elks Hall was transformed into "Kappa Kastle," the dance really started

Women Shriners Give First All White Formal In Honor Of Convention Notables

Egyptian Court Number 5, Daughters of Isis, entertained with their First Annual White Formal Saturday, November 27th at the Masonic Hall, 1050 East 50th Street.

Their honortd guests for the evening were the Shriners' Drill Team, who were recently crowned National Champions at the Shrine Convention held in St. Louis, Missouri August 19, 1948. Competing against twenty-six teams throughout the United States and defeating the famous Medina Temple Team of New York City, New York in beautiful Kiel Auditorium before a capacity crowd of 20,000, our Egyptian Temple Number 5 Team srowed outstanding Drill Formations with persistion that gave them a score of 98%. Drill Master is Captain J. W. Burton, First Lt. is Nick Prichard and Second Lt. is Carl Waters. In the mammoth street parade which followed the competitive drill, the California Team drew long and loud applauds from thousands of spectators who lined the streets of downtown St. Louis in their colorfull uniforms.

Also honored were the Egyptian Court Imperial Officers: Alberta D. Parker, Imperial 2nd Lt. Commandress (4th highest ranking officer in the Daughters of Isis); Ida Mae Robertson, Imperial Deputy Commandress (Past Grand Matron of the Golden State Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Stars of California and its jurisdictions); Myrtle H. Taylor, Egyptian Court Deputy (Court Deputy of Egyptian Court No. 5); and Joseph L. Oliver, Sr., Imperial Assistant Rabban (3rd highest ranking officer in Shrinedom).

The white formal was the original idea of the Illustrious Commandress, Ann Louise Powell. It was carried out to perfection by a capacity crowd in formal attire, with all ladies present wearing complete white.

Members were easily noted by the presence of their white jeweled-hedecked fezzes and the Shrine men wearing their formal attire and their traditional red fezzes.

Introduction was performed promptly at the stroke of midnight. All lights in the hall were turned off, and with the hall beautifully decorated in white and yellow (color-scheme of the Isis)—traditional—and two candle holders on either side of the stage, with ten lighted candles in each holder the ceremony began. These candles were the only lumination until the arrival of the members in twos, each carrying a lighted candle approaching down the center of the hall, climaxing with the formation of a crescent. Then followed the Illustrious Commandress, Ann Powell flanked on either side by her two highest officers, first Lt. Commandress, LaGulia Shaw and 2nd Lt. Commandress, Ellen Merle Grose.

The Mistresses of Ceremonies were Geneva Davis and Mattie Handerson, who introduced the National and Local Officers and the Champion Drill Team. Chairmen included: Lucille Gower, General; Mae Oliver, Assistant; and Irene Brown, Decoration.

Illustrious Commandress was presented with two beautiful Orchid Corsages presented by Mrs. Alitta Atkins, of the La Jovial Club (of which Ann Powell is Vice-President) and the Dotsey Florist. The gorgeous flowers that were used to decorate the hall were gracious donated by Mr. Willy Brown, owner of the Bilmar Florist. Prominent Guests noted included: Fraternally: Illustrious Commandress of Isis Court, San Diego Ona Warner; Potentate of Isis Temple, San Diego Noble Noble; First Lt. Commandress of Menliek Temple, Oakland Agnes Adams; Daughter Ruler of the Elks Echo Robinson. Socially: Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Brooks, Santa Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean, Los Angeles; Mrs. Herman Yarbrough, Sd. and Jr., Los Angeles; Mrs. Ballinger Kemp, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winston, Los Angeles.

Ann Powell deserves a host of congratulations upon the huge success of the formal! It will long be remembered as one of the most beautiful affairs of the season.

Fashion Premiere Given By Beta Pi Sigma Is Most Authentic Showing to Be Held In Local Social Club Circles

Beauty and poise were the outstanding keynotes of the highly successful Fashion Review, staged Sunday evening, as a scholarship benefit by the Beta Pi Sigma Sorority.

The Congo Club was filled to capacity with many persons who know fashions, and those who are trying hard to learn the proper way to dress. This Beta Pi Sigma Review is one of the first shows to be given in this community that has edged on the proper way, true fashion reviews are held for the sake of buyers, etc. The garments were commentated in detail by the very capable Mrs. Faustina Johnson, and the models displayed a profesional touch of showing the clothing. The review was uniquely called "Fashions Around the Clock," and the girls followed the theme true to form. The first group of models displayed appropriate clothing for the arising hour around 6 A.M. Shortie nighties, long gowns, negligees, took the fashion spotlight. The mood then changed to late morning, with mid-winter play togs and street dress gaining the emphasis. The daytime wear was centered around smartly tailored suits, top coats and a bevy of hats, appropriate for any occasion. The after-five creations were then displayed, from lace new length gowns over satin slips, to the ever popular black After-five suit. The show reached a climax with furs and evening dress, that went from gay plaids to a very sophisticated creation in light biege that could be worn as wedding gown, dinner gown and opera ensemble with cape.

The charming models, who really made the show, included: Ida Mae Alexander, Crezette Merchinson, Jane Hanibal, Helen Crozier, Geraldine Jones, Marilyn Ward, Jane Nealy, Thelma Wallace, Marjorie Wooten, Essie Rodgers, Margaret Weaver, Mary Frances Peterson, Hazel Shumate and Violet Dawcey.

MAE CROWDER APPAREL

All of the clothing, with the exception of four special creations, were from the Mae Crowder Women's Apparel. The exquisite jewelry was shown through the courtesy of the Brown Jewelry Company, the smart hats were Betty Wilson originals and the makeup was done by Viola L. Bond, representative of the Rose Meta Products, while the furs were from Arkin and Freeman.

Timing for the perfectly planned affair included the premiere of fashions, starting at 6 a.m. in the morning until 10:00 a.m., following through with Daytime wear, 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.; high pointing the suits and afternoon dresses, 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. and ending with the cocktails and evening wear, after 5:00 p.m. The credit for schooling models and planning the program go to Nora James, fashion chairman of Beta Pi Sigma Sorority.

SCHOLARSHIP

The Beta Pi Sigma Sorority from its beginning has placed emphasis on the importance of Education. In order to motivate an interest in higher education, the sorority each year presents a scholarship to a graduating senior who has met the standards set up by the sorority's scholarship committee. To date, the sorority has awarded a $50.00 scholarship to Miss Doris Bracken and a $100.00 scholarship to Miss Blanche Sutton. Proceeds from the group's annual fashion reviews make this type of contributing possible.

Secret Pals To 'Fess Up' At Puente Party

The club held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Eloise Scott. Business was discussed and plans made for our pre-Christmas party at which time the husbands of the members will be entertained, gifts distributed and secret pals divulged.

Gifts were received by Mesdams Ruth Beane and Mae Tramel from their secret pals.

A delicious luncheon was served, followed by four changes of progressive bridge. Prizes were won by Mrs. Ruth Beane, first, Mrs. Margaret Varnado, second, and Mrs. Wilma Dean, consolation. Guests were Mrs. Katherine Phelps and Mrs. Elizabeth Phelps who won guest and roving prizes respectively.

Family Reunion Held by Popular Arnold Clan

Sam P. Arnold, Jr., ended 33 years of absence from these local scenes last week, when he arrived to attend a family reunion on Thanksgiving Day. The occasion was a home folksy dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam P. Arnold, Sr., of 1141 E. 43rd st.

The junior Arnold left here after completion of his grammar school days, ostensibly for only a short visit to the east coast. He returned with an air as if he had just been to the corner store, lo, after an absence of 33 years.

The Arnold clan here is a large one. Among the present generation, the name of "mustard" has been affectionately linked with the family name. It began with the late Robly Arnold, later being passed onto John and onto Raymond. The name of the younger fire fighter brother escapes this writer at the moment. But, the sisters, Kate, Irma and Ruth (Mrs. Gordon Ball) are quite clear.

Sam Arnold will share household honors with his brother, Clark Arnold, and his loving parents. Clark Arnold's home is on 109th st.

It was very hot at Community Baptist Church on Nov. 20th when hell's week officially got underway.

Formal initiation was very impressive with the sorors of the Zeta chapter carrying out the rituals in a very effective candle light service. Following the initiation the Neophytes were given a banquet in the social hall of the church. Made home like, yet with a lovely tinge of formality that was all the more beautiful with flowers, lights and other decorations. The long table was beautifully decorated with a center piece of pink rose buds and blue delpheniums.

'Black and White' Formal Held at Avodon Ball Room

One of the most outstanding social functions, if not the most outstanding, in our fair city of Los Angeles, has been the annual Black and White Formal of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. This affair has claimed the attention of fraternity men the country over, and has always set the pace for local groups to follow along the formal line.

The glamour and festivity that has always gone hand in hand with the gay affair was lacking noticeably. In fact, the old precedent set by the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity was not reached this year. Many of the fraternity members were absent and the over all interest seemed to be lacking.

Of course the affair was quite beautiful, in the ideal setting of the Avadon Ballroom, the music was as fine as ever, but there was a certain something missing.

This writer sincerely hopes that 1949 will recapture the old spirit, for the Black and White is a traditional "must," and is above all one of the most talked of affairs in L.A. You Kappas can't let the good name down.

at mid-night and cirried on until the daun. The decorations were always unique, and the cute favors given by the frat brothers, are still among the souvineers of many. Those were the days when the "Loving Cup" was passed around, and the Kappas really displayed that Ole Kappa Spirit... gone are the days.... Johnnie Brewer, the McNeeley brothers and the Ashfords were always in the middle of the circle whooping it up with Leon Coleman, Rip Russell, Joe and Lorenzo Morris, Bill Elkins to name a few.... Believe me, there is nothing like a "Black and White Formal" and like other things they too must under go change, and of course, it is always kinda nice to think back over the good ole days....

By the way, another big event with standing room only, as predicted in last week's paper, was the Beta Pi Sigma fashion review. The clothes shown were simply the last word in taste and beauty. But taking the limelight was the professional air displayed by Gerry Jones, Essie Rodgers, Jane Hanibal, Mary Frances Peterson, Helen Crozier and the other models. Faustina Johnson commentated as she has never done before, making the Beta Pi Sigma girls responsible for another very successful fashion review. Glimpsed Hariette Wadley, Irene Sharp, Clara Taylor and Marion Jackson in the crowd at ring side tables, as were the members of the Women's Athletic Club....

A three year marriage license is the center of attention at the Bert Kenner home. The couple celebrated in grand style over the past week end by forgetting the hum drum life of teaching (for Ruth) and managing a business (for Bert) to enjoy a quick little jaunt up the coast where they took a breather in San Francisco and attended the football game between the Browns and 49ers. '12 Big Sisters' Do Real Job Of Charity Work

The "12 Big Sisters" pre-Xmas fund raising affair, the only money making event the group gives each year, is scheduled for Dec. 11, at the Associated Clubhouse, and will be a gay Forty-Niners Buffet Snack.

The proceeds will pave the way for the Sisters to take cheer into the County homes and the divisions of mental cases for children between the ages of 4 to 10 years.

Last year the Sisters took care of 120 youngsters and at least 75 teen age girls. Throughout the year, they have paid for the upkeep of girls' hair. Aside from this aid, they have taken one young girl from the home of college age and have worked diligently to send her to a local school of higher learning throughout the year.

KINLOCH'S ☆ KORNER

Dedicated to the memory of John Kinloch, who died in the struggle to destroy Fascism

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

The good common folk, after whom this century of the common man is named, stole their own show on last November 2. Maybe you've wondered why the column hadn't mentioned the election before. Well, frankly, it has been more fun to watch than to write. It is true that everyone, not excluding the President himself, was surprised. Some were even shocked.

It's needless, although true, to say that the minority groups rallied to the support of Mr. Truman inside the ballot boxes, a fact which hasn't been stressed particularly by anyone. With their votes and the help of the farmers, the President was re-elected. Therein, nothing spectacular had happened; no miracle or goblin was responsible. The daily newspapers were pushed right out of the act when people got fed up with their methods of slander, and they should know that they aren't controlling the people any longer. They'll either have to concost new tactics or realize their powerless and cold prostration.

Dewey was pushed out of the contest because of overconfidence and general fear of a Republican post-war regime. He might have demanded a recount of the ballots and found that Mr. Truman's margin was even smaller. But the electoral "chips" were down, and that is that.

WHO SAYS MORE NEW DEAL?

And when the electoral chips did come down, the very next day they came back talking about taxing more and spending more and a "greater New Deal." As a matter of fact, the November 14 issue of the New York Times refers to it as a new New Deal; that before under Roosevelt they experimented, but now it's necessary only to spend more; to carry on a greater program than ever before. They've said (different sources, that is) in 1952 the Democratic Party will be more powerful than in 50 years. They've made tall guesses and short guesses as to who the new cabinet members will be . . . and still are guessing.

For Mr. Truman has been in Florida—the Key West—on vacation. About the only big figure he has talked with since he's been there is John Howard McGrath. Senator and now Vice-President Barkley has been in and out. But not a word has the President emitted to the press as to whom the new cabinet members will be—you may know at the time of publication, but I'm in the dark at this writing. So are all the others. Yet, we have this incessant bickering as to what the next four years, a la Democrats, will bring as to leaders, government, and economics.

Frankly, I am still suspicious of a number of crooks and curves in the Donkey Platform—haven't been able to decide whether they're ordinary crooks and curves or grappling hooks with painfully sharp points.

Of one thing we can be certain, however, and that is we're moving gradually toward democratic socialism. If the present standard of living is to be kept up through peacetime years, apparently there is no alternative. In any case the only alternative is a depression, after which socialism would devour us even more readily. And what am I in favor of? A neconomic system of the people, by the people, and for the people, whose standards are derived with the consent of those affected.

The thing for which the people should watch in the coming years is the placement of people in government positions who would seek to corrupt the practice of government patterns formed by the expressed will of the voters. They'll be in key spots, trying to discourage freedom of thought and heard the cattle into Republican stalls. By the end of the four years, we'll be asking ourselves if this is what we voted for.

OPEN ALLIANCE TO BLOCK SOVIET

Moves are being made at the present time to place the lives of every American man able to hold a gun straight into the hands of British, French, and Italian leaders who aren't trusted by their own peoples. Whenever one decided to declare war on Russia or anyone else, our lives wouldn't be worth a cartridge shell. But more about that netx week, at which time we'll have a little history lesson. Bunche Writes To Students At Jeff High

The World Friendship club of Jefferson High has received a communication from Dr. Ralph Bunche concerning the club's interest in his activities within the United Nations. Following is a copy of the letter released by Jefferson administrators. The letter is addressed to Edwin Young, President of the school body.

Dear Mr. Young:

I have your letter of October 18th and regret that this reply to it will not reach you by October 25th, i.e. in time for your all-school assembly. I wish you to know that I am deeply appreciative of what you have to say regarding my work in connection with the Palestine Mediation.

It is encouraging that the student body of Jefferson High, my alma mater, is taking a whole hearted interest in the United Nations and its ideals. Our difficult tasks can be accomplished and our objective of world peace achieved only if the youth of all lands and races and creeds are vitally aware of and eager to support the objective of peace and tolerance for which we are striving.

With avery best wish for the continued success of your World Friendship Club and for Thomas Jefferson High School,

I remain,

Sincerely yours,
Ralph J. Bunche,
Acting Mediator
for Palestine

Boy Scout Organization and Extension Committee Program

The Boy Scout Committee for Organization and Extension, McKinley District; Messers. Charles Grose, Chairman, and Arthus Houston, Vice-Chairman, planned a Boy-Fact Survey which was conducted by Rev. B. Clarence Cooke in Nevin Avenue and San Pedro Street Schools.

Mesdames Bernice Barnum and Mildred E. Mogle Riggins, principals of the respective schools mentioned above, spared no pains in providing the necessary conveniences conducive to a successful survey. "In fact" stated Mr. Cooke to the district Organization and Extension Committee, "the greater part of the success of the surveys was due to the hospitality and deep concern of both principals and teachers alike.

Approximately 96% of the boys at Nevin Avenue School indicated a desire to be Scouts, while 90% of the boys at San Pedro Street School wished to be Scouts. When these boys apply for Scout membership, they will be referred to institutions in their immediate communities which are sponsors of Boy Scout Troops.

Founder's Day at Shaw University

Dr. Dennis Branch of Newport, Tenn., urged Shaw University to "stay in touch with the common man" as he delivered the Founder's Day address Friday morning in University Church. He referred to the injunction as an ideal of the founder, Dr. Henry Martin Tupper, and averred, "Dr. Tupper would have us serve the common man, not try to be his master." The speaker alluded to the Latin inscription on the University seal meaning, "For Christ and Humanity," and urged upon his hearers "Love of God and faith in your fellowman."

Prior to the address the annual Founder's Day greetings were delivered by President Robert P. Daniel. Nearly five thousand dollars in Founder's Day contributions were reported.

Shortly before the Founder's Day service the traditional rites were performed at the grave of the founder on the Shaw campus. President Daniel opened the exercises with reading of the inscription on the grave marker, the sentence known to every student and former student of Shaw: "He counted not his life dear unto himself that he might lift Godward his brother." Prayer was offered by Rev. C. F. Pope of Raleigh. A wreath was placed on the grave of the founder by Miss Bonnie Briley, a senior of Robersonville.

YOU STARTED THIS. With the aid of crutches, young Danny is learning to walk again in a Community Chest hospital. This might not have been possible if the hospital hadn't also had a crutch—the Community Chest—the organization which supports 159 health, welfare, child-caring, family and youth agencies. Remember this when your neighborhood volunteer calls on you for your contribution. GIVE ENOUGH!

Membership Drive For 28th St. 'Y'

The 28th Street Young Men's Christian Association annual membership drive will be launched February 1, 1949, and for the first time in 25 years the "Y" will have to go it alone. It will not have the financial support of the Community Chest, as heretofore.

For this reason leaders of the 28th Street "Y" are urging their friends to begin thinking now of getting behind the drive and making it click.

Librarians in Talk on Books

Bernice Gantt and Violet Tapper of the Los Angeles County Library staff were the featured speakers in Palm Lane Auditorium Friday, Nov. 19, in a meeting celebrating Book Week.

Abalene Winge, Palm Lane librarian, was in charge of the program and introduced the speakers.

"Books Tell The Story" was the subject of Miss Gantt's interesting talk. She told briefly of how libraries function and how books are chosen for its shelves, ending with a short descriptive discussion of travel books.

After an engaging description of children's fairy tales illustrated by books she had brought for the purpose Miss Tapper told the children a story that kept them spell-bound to the very end.

Librarian Winge announced that the evening's entertainment was the last of a series that have been offered the adults of the project and that henceforth the time allotted will be devoted to the children's story hour.

Health Department Head Talks To Area Eight Workers Confab

Dr. Kolts, head of the Watts health department was the principal speaker at an area VIII Worker's meeting held at Gorman Avenue school, 105th and Gorman on Wednesday, Nov. 24, at 10 a.m. for the purpose of coordinating the various details of the health program planned for this section.

Speaking in some detail on the importance of nutrition in any health training program, director Kolts stressed the need of community participation and suggested demonstration dinners as one means of enlisting the interest of youth groups. The delegation of distribution of literature throughout the community to uniformed boy groups and serving at such advertised dinners to corresponding groups of girls. Dr. Kolts pointed out, would stimulate their interest and engage their energies.

The doctor was followed by J. D. Howard, public health educator assigned to the Watts district. Mr. Howard outlined at some length the planned program to be instituted here the first of the year. He, too, stressed community participation as a basic need in the successful prosecution of such a program.

In addition to the demonstration dinners about which he had already queried a few merchants with favorable results the health educator suggested various contests and urged the enlistment of such organizations as the churches, PTA's, community housing and professional groups.

Ellynore Adams of the Girl Scouts spoke at some length on a Youth Day program planned to be held at Jordan High school auditorium on Jan. 9, and participated in by the 13 groups in the area. Present at the meeting were:

Zamorano, YMCA; Walter Giles, Watts Coordinating Council; Vida Van Brunt, church welfare; Dr. Kolts, and J. D. Howard, Watts health office; Herb Leibowitz, Youth Project area director and P. Stuart and C. Moten of the local press.

Thieves Loot Mayes Home

Sometime between 8 and 9 p.m. last Wednesday, thieves entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Mayes Jr. at 3209 Long Beach Ave. and stole valuable articles of clothing, a portable radio, electric clock, a Remington noiseless typewriter, a silver fox fur coat, $500 in cash, and many other valuable articles.

Entry was gained by knocking a pane of glass out of the front door. Noble Porter, who lives in the apartment beneath the one burglarized, reported that a woman called him and asked if the Mayes were at home. A short time later he heard footsteps in the apartme ntabove. Porter also said he saw two men coming from the apartment above carrying suitacses and articles of clothing.

Newton Division police investigated and took fingerprints and other clues from the thoroughly ransacked apartment. It is believed that some one who knows the Mayes family is responsible for the burglary.

Mrs. Maze is a clerk for the American Woodmen, Camp 1, and Mrs. Mayes is the Grand Travelling Deputy of the Golden West Lodge number 86, IBPOE of W.

Junior Band And Major Get First Honors

Tuesday Nov. 23 was a red letter day for Willowbrook Junior High school band, its leading drum major, Roosevelt Shivers, its smiling and efficient tutor, M. R. Mestratta and all the happy Willowbrook fans who heard and saw the outcome of the Band and drum major contest at 10001 Beach Street, when both the band and its leading drum major won first place in their respective events.

For the past two years Roosevelt High Band has won the coveted first place in this annual contest but this was a Willowbrook year and they walked away with the trophy.

Roosevelt Shivers 1859 E. 121st Street, who treated spectators of the Thanksgiving Day parade from Willowbrook school, down Wilmington Ave. through Palm Lane, to a masterly exhibition of drum major posture and signalling was easily the winner of the trophy for his class.

As a result of the triumph in this contest the winners will enter a stiffer contest where they will meet stronger and bigger competition at Long Beach this Friday. They are going to give it all they have, which is a lot.

Majorettes who gave an excellent account of themselves in the parade were Dorothy Pugh, Mozell Sherman and Ruthtie Mae.

Community Studies Problems Created by Youths' Conduct

A special Assembly met at Jordan High School, 103rd and Gorman, Monday, Nov. 29, at 10 a.m., to consider the problem posed by an emotional explosion between two girl students that assumed such proportions as to involve the interest and attention of the community.

The incident, which started as a heated schoolyard argument between the two students on the subject of their comparative symmetry and its charm, attracted so much attention that by the time they had reached 112th and Croesus, approximately eight blocks from the school, the milling crowd of interested homeward-bound student spectators had grown into what looked like the beginning of a mob.

Police were summoned and sped to the vicinity, where they picked up three girls who seemed to be leaders in the disorder, ordering the rest of the excited youngsters home.

With the departure of the police the merits and demerits of pros and cons of the argument formed and excited partisans whipped up renewed interest. The police came back in greater strength. This time the two principals were taken into custody and the incident was concluded without honor to the community.

What to do about incidents of this nature and the bad publicity for school and community resulting from them was the subject of the meeting at the school. It was attended by Juvenile authorities, Youth Agency leaders and other interested residents of the district.

Exceptional Children Taught Skill at Gorman Ave. School

Any one interested in the training of exceptional children will be well repaid by a visit to the special training school at 105th and Gorman in the Watts area. This school, which welcomes visitors on any school day is under the direction of principal Blomner and her well-equipped staff of teachers with an enrollment of 206 children who, for one reason or another, do not fit into the routine of the regular elementary school program.

Here at Gorman Avenue school the slow-learning, mentally crippled child is carefully and skillfully trained to take his place in the world in which he lives.

The status of these children is not decided by arbitrary choice and judgment. Each one has a thorough psychological examination by competent experts in that field to determine his particular mental condition before being assigned to the school.

Once placed in Gorman each child is assured individual attention to his particular needs. These children are not failures nor are they necessarily children with behavior problems. They can and do make valuable contributions to society when and if given the requisite training as supplied in schools like Gorman.

The Council met in the Board room at Compton College where they held an informative discussion of plans for the dental clinic to be erected in the area soon. The clinic will serve all school children who are in need of dental care and is expected to increase the health potential of the whole district materially.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: History In The New Testament. Lesson Text and Outline: Acts 1:8; 4: 1-4; 13: 2-3; 16:9: 9-10; 28:16, 30-31. Motto Text Matthew 28:19.

Introduction

Sequel to the Gospels and preface to the Epostles, the book of Acts is from the pen of Luke who wrote the longest life of the Lord, and now adds the story of the early churches. Beginning where his Gospel closes, the great historian carries forward the sacred record from the Lord's ascension in the year 30 to the close of Paul's first Roman imprisonment in 63.

Comments

1. You shall receive the power of the Holy Ghost coming upon you (so it may be read," shall be animated and actuated by a better spirit than your own; you shall have power to preach the gospel, and to prove it out of the scriptures of the Old Testament." Christ's witnesses shall receive power for that work to which he calls them; those whom he employs in his service he will qualify for it, and will bear them out in it.

2. The apostles, Peter and John, went on in their work, and did not labour in vain. The Spirit enabled the ministers to do their part, and the people theirs. They taught the people, still taught the people knowledge; taught those that as yet did not believe, for their conviction and conversion; and taught those that did believe, for their comfort and establishment.

They preached through Jesus the resurrection from the dead. The doctrine of the resurrection of the dead. Was verified in Jesus; this they proved, that Jesus Christ had risen from the dead, as the first, the chief, that should rise from the dead. They preached the resurrection of Christ as their warrant for what they did. The hearers cheerfully receive it.

Many of those who heard the word believed; not all—perhaps not the most, yet many, to the number of about five thousand, over and above the three thousand we read of before. See how the gospel got ground, and it was the effect of the pouring out of the Spirit. Though the preachers were persecuted, the word prevailed; for sometimes the church's suffering days have been her growing days; the days of her infancy were so.

The Sadducees were grieved that the resurrection from the dead was preached; for they opposed that doctrine, and could not bear to hear of a future state, to hear it so well attested. The chief priests were grieved that they preached the resurrection of the dead through Jesus, that he should have the honor of it; and, though they professed to believe the resurrection of the dead against Sadducees, yet they would rather give up that important article, than have it preached and proved to be through Jesus.

3. Diligent faithful teachers do duly minister unto the Lord. Those that instruct Christians serve Christ; they really do him honor, and carry on the interest of his kingdom. Those that minister to the church in praying and preaching (both which are included here, minister into the Lord, for they are the church servants for Christ's sake; to him they must have an eye in their ministrations, and from him they shall have their recompence.

Ministering to the Lord, in one way or other, ought to be the stated business of churches and their teachers; to this work time ought to be set apart, it is set apart, and in this work we ought to spend some part of every day. What have we to do as Christians and ministers but to serve the Lord Christ? Religious fasting is of use in our ministering to the Lord, both as a sign of our humiliation and a means of our mortification.

Though it was not so much practised by the disciples of Christ, while the bridegroom was with them, as it was by the disciples of John and of the Pharisees; yet, after the bridegroom was taken away, they abounded in it, as those that had well learned to deny themselves and to endure hardness. Christ's ministers are separated to him and to the Holy Ghost.

They are to be employed in Christ's work and under the Spirit's guidance, to the glory of God the Father. All that are separated to Christ as his ministers are separated to work; Christ keeps no servants to be idle. The work of Christ's ministers, to which they are to be separated, is work that is already settled, and that which all Christ's ministers hitherto have been called to, and which they themselves have first been, by an external call, directed to and have chosen. When good men are going forth about good work, they ought to be solemnly and particularly prayed for, especially by their brethren that are their fellow-laborers and fellow-soldiers.

4. People have great need of help for their souls, and it is their duty to look out for it and invite those among them that can help them. We may sometimes infer a call of God from a call of man. If a man of Macedonia says, Come and help us, Paul thence gathers assuredly that God says, Go and help them. Ministers may go on with great cheerfulness and courage in their work when they perceive Christ calling them, not only to preach the gospel, but to preach it at this time, in this place, to this people.

5. The delivering of Paul into custody at Rome. He is now come to his journey's end. He is still a prisoner. He had longed to see Rome, but, when he comes there, he is delivered, with other prisoners, to the captain of the guard, and can see no more of Rome than he will permit him. This may encourage God's prisoners, that he can give them favor in the eyes of those that carry them captive, as Joseph in the eyes of his keeper. When God does not deliver his people presently out of bondage, yet, if he either make it easy to them or them easy under it, they have reason to be thankful. Ministers' doors should be open to such as desire to receive instruction from them, and they should be glad of an opportunity to advise those that are in care about their souls. Paul could not preach in a synagogue, or any public place of meeting that was sumptuous and capacious, but he preached in a poor cottage of his own. When we cannot do what we would in the service of God, we must do what we can. Those ministers that have but little hired houses should rather preach in them, if they may be allowed to do that, than be silent. Ministers, when in their preaching they are tempted to diverge from that which is their main business, should reduce themselves with this question, What does this concern the Lord Jesus Christ? What tendency has it to bring us to him, and to keep us walking in him? For we preach not ourselves, but Christ.

Comment on the Motto Text

The covenant of peculiarity, made with the Jews, should now be cancelled and disannulled. This word broke down the middle wall of partition, which had so long excluded the Gentiles from a visible church-state; and whereas the apostles, when first sent out, were forbidden to go into the way of the Gentiles, now they were sent to all nations. Salvation by Christ should be offered to all, and none excluded that did not by their unbelief and impenitence exclude themselves. The salvation they were to preach is a common salvation; whoever will, let him come, and take the benefit of the act of indemnity; for there is no difference of Jew or Greek in Christ Jesus. Christianity should be twisted in with national constitutions, that the kingdoms, and their kings the church's nursing-fathers.

TRINITY BAPTIST SCHEDULES WEEK OF RELIGIOUS SERVICE

Trinity Baptist Church, 3421 S. Cimarron, will conduct a Church-warming, heart filling week of religious observances beginning this Sunday and continuing throughout the week. The general public will be hosted by the ministers and workers of the church as they throw wide their doors signalizing the beginning of the most unique church program in Los Angeles.

The church has just completed the first unit of its half million dollar project, a recreational center building where indoor sports and recreation will be carried on. At present the building will also serve as a sanctuary until the permanent Sanctuary is built. For this purpose twelve hundred seats have been provided and elegant appointments have been installed. Those who have seen it have marvelled at its beauty.

According to the pastor, Dr. Jonathan L. Caston, the services conducted this next week will be fellowship services featuring the ministers, choirs, ushers, officers and members of the city's foremost pastors. Sunday will feature the observance of the ordinances, The Lord's Supper and Holy Baptism. Provision has been made to give The Lord's Supper to One Thousand worshippers at the 10:00 a.m. worship hour. The baptismal service will be conducted at the 7:30 p.m. hour.

Visiting Churches Listed

Monday night, December 6th at 8:00 p.m., Dr. J. Raymond Henderson of the Second Baptist Church will open the week of spiritual emphasis when he will preach and will be supported by his choir.

Tuesday night will be Methodist night with Dr. E. W. Rakestraw of the Wesley Church and his people in the feature role.

Wednesday night, Rev. E. A. Anderson and his people will be present and associated with him will be Rev. Aaron Iverson of the Paradise Baptist Church. The Rev. Anderson is pastor of the McCoy Memorial Church.

Thursday night, Rev. John H. Branham and his famous "Echoes of Eden Choir" will be present with Rev. Branham bringing the message. The Rev. W. M. Small and his fine church will join with St. Paul as a gesture of goodwill, although Rev. Small will be out of the city.

Friday night will feature the Rev. Arthur A. Peters and his singing groups of the Victory Baptist Church. The Rev. Peters is one of our fine young men who has been phenomenally successful and he will bring the message.

A fellowship hour will follow each service with guided tours of the building.

Dr. Caston states that the church plans to begin its second unit, the Educational Building and Library, in March of next year. The church is most strategically located and covers a full block. When completed it will be America's finest Negro church. "The public is cordially invited to worship with us at all times, but especially do we urge your attendance this week. Please keep in mind that Sunday morning worship begins at ten o'clock and not at eleven as is customary in most churches."

Youth Building for Christ Convocation Hears Dr. Taylor

More than 500 persons registered for the sessions of the youth convocation which met here November 26, 27, 28. Using as a theme: "Youth Building With Christ" the Congress featured Dr. Gardner C. Taylor of Brooklyn, N.Y., who delivered three stirring and challenging messages.

Dr. J. L. Caston, minister of the Trinity Baptist Church, Los Angeles, brought the devotional messages. Eight conference groups were conducted by competent leaders, while the Congress President, Rev. Felix, delivered the annual Coronation Sermon Sunday morning to a large and appreciative audience. From every point of view this was the most successful Congress ever held. The youth of the Convention were told in plain terms that the only way to build a better world is for youth to surrender to Christ, pledge Him their allegiance, and join hands and hearts with Christ Who is the Master Builder, so that the Kingdom may come on earth.

Congress officers are: President, Rev. Lawrence A. Felix, Minister of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, Los Angeles; Vice President, Mrs. Marguerite P. oore, Director of the BTU, Second Baptist Church, Los Angeles; Executive Secretary of the Congress, Mrs. Williana Washington, Director of Christian Education and Organist, Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Los Angeles; and Recording Secretary, Mrs. Roberta Johnson of the St. Paul Baptist Church, Los Angeles.

Christian Science Text God, the Only Creator

"God the Only Cause and Creator" will be the Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "Thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else."

The Lesson-Sermon includes these verses from the Psalms: "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God." "Thy name, O Lord, endureth for ever; and thy memorial, O Lord throughout all generations."

"Divine Mind is the only cause or Principle of existence," writes Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Again she says, "Belief in a material basis, from which may be deduced all rationality, is slowly yielding to the idea of a metaphysical basis, looking away from matter to Mind as the cause of every effect."

Rev. Stephan H. Fritchman, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, this city, is one of a group of 100 persons to greet the Dean of Canterbury on his present speaking trip in the United States. In his pulpit last Sunday, Rev. Fritchman urged the members of his congregation to go hear Dr. Hewlett Johnson, when he speaks in the Embassy auditorium, Thursday, December 9.

"It is our conviction that when a religious leader speaks in truth and sincerity of matters dealing with our common destiny, thoughtful citizens should listen," said Rev. Fritchman. "In welcoming the Dean of Canterbury we recognize the necessity of free trade in ideas in all areas of life. I trust many of you in this church and congregation will hear the distinguished churchman from England, not because you or I will necessarily agree with all of his views, but because there is a great hunger in America today for the bread of honest thought."

Rev. Saunders, Speaker At A & M Thanksgiving

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—The Rev. H. G. Saunders, pastor of the First Baptist church of Tallahassee, was the guest speaker in the Thanksgiving service at the Florida A. and M. college on Thursday morning at 10:30 in Lee auditorium.

With "Gratitude: The Rare Virtue," as his subject, the Rev. Saunders emphasized three things about "gratitude":

1. You must meet the heritage of the past with an honest heart, strong character and genuine appreciation.

2. You must meet it with a sense of social responsibility. One must lost one's self in this world if he would give the fullest service to mankind.

3. You must know and recognize the origin of gratitude. Finally he asked, "Are you grateful for mass education, your Christian home, your country and your life?"

SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

(A tremendously busy weekend made it impossible for us to meet last week's deadline.)

Integrity

After reading Albert Goldberg's The Sounding Board in last Sunday's Times, we felt compelled to pass on a few thoughts to you which this vociferous and yet distinguished critic of music and musicians evoked. Nothing is triter than to remark that we live in a changing world. But there are certain values that remain constant at any time and in any place, and all the explaining and justifying does not wash away the damage that is done when these fundamental standards and integrities are trifled with.

Mr. McNeil

We are faced today with the curious spectacle of many of the foremost musicians of all kinds wishing to retain their cake and swallow it too. There is scarcely anything many of them will decline to do to make an unneeded dollar, to get their NAMES and VOICES on the air waves or their FACES in the public prints.

The public, shocked as it may have been at first, has slowly developed a complacence toward this exploitation, or has had this callousness thrust upon it by shrewd and relentless propaganda. It may be only human that many front rank musicians, from whom the public and the profession have a right to expect an unswerving adherence to the loftiest ideals in return for the exceptional gifts nature has bestowed upon them, should have succumbed to this lure of the easy dollar and the adulation of the musically illiterate.

But human or no, these artists are only harming themselves in the long run, for whatever temporary damage they may do to the art they are supposed to serve and to the respect and reverence in which it is held by the public, in the final view the words of the prophet will prevail—"All passes; art alone endures."

It may be that, usually fully occupied in other directions, this column is particularly sensitive to and not yet as conditioned to these transgressions of taste as are those who are more regularly exposed to them. Yet it was with shock and distaste that we recently heard one of the greatest Wagnerian sopranos, whose Isolde and Brunnhilde have often stirred us and many thousands like us, take part in a low comedy program, tossing back gag for gag, obviously reading from a script with so little expertness as to kill what slight humor the gags may have had, and after a long build-up in the best radio manner, singing a cheap song in a cheap style.

Integrity, of course, is not completely dead among the great artists. There is Horowitz—and why shouldn't one mention names in praise—who will have no traffic with the cheap or the sensational, who limits the number of his appearances so that he can always be as near to his best as is humanly possible, who never walks out before the public without conscientiously having put his last ounce of energy into preparation for his task, who has rejected fabulous offers from the movies, and who never is heard on the radio except under the most dignified and important circumstances. And there was Rachmaninoff before him, another giant of the same pattern, and Heifetz, who has just finished a sabbatical year of rest and study away from the public.

And there are conductors like Toscanini, Bruno Walter and Koussevitsky, who would willingly sacrifice their right arms rather than consciously cheapen or degrade their art.

There are still giants in the earth—but not as many as there might or should be.

Handel's "The Messiah"

It hasn't been very long that choirs in this vicinity had not and would not attempt a performance of this immortal yuletide work. It was obvious that the musical problems inherent in the oratorio were still in the category of the problematic. Independent's Cathedral Choir gave the first complete performance of the dramatic Christmas Section in 1943, to be followed by a similar performance by the Senior Choir of Second Baptist Church in 1945. During this same year the choirs of these two churches united to present "The Messiah" before an audience of over a thousand persons, and an aggregate choir of one hundred and fifty voices. On Sunday next, December 5, for the first time in the musical history of this community, four choirs will unite to present Georg Frederick Handel's "The Messiah," simultaneously in sixteen other areas similar united choir presentations of the "Messiah" will be given. The aggregate choir of approximately five hundred, will be under the direction of UCLA's Raymond Moreman, with Fannie Evelyn Benjamin as organist, and Robert V. Edwards and Edna Hammett Porter as pianists. The soloists will be Margaret Pett, Betty Christison, Paul Troy and William Valentine. Independent's Cathedral Choir and the Senior Choirs of Second Baptist Church, First A. M. E., and Progressive Baptist Churches will form the choral background. This union of musicians bespeaks the effort on the part of local musicians to cooperate and raise the standards of our community presentations. Our congratulations to Robert V. Edwards, Edna Porter, Anna Griffith Morrow and the musicians of Independent.

Featured with Miss Jones will be comedian Dick Kramer who will act as M.C., and Jack Webb, radio actor. There will be many other talented graduates of Belmont High on hand to make the evening one to be remembered.

Zoe Wise, Young Violinist Presented In Concert Sunday

Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, 4415 Hooper avenue, will present Miss Zoe Wise, distinguished youthful violinist, in a concert Sunday, December 5, at 5:30 p.m.

Miss Wise was selected this last summer as first violinist in an all-state orchestra that ttraveled through California and back to the mid-West to give concerts. This was a signal honor because there was careful screening to gather the state's best talent, and each got recognition only because of ability.

For the past three years she has been in the orchestra pit for the all-city Bach festival at the First Congregational church and has worked with the USC orchestra. In 1947 she won the $100 PTA music scholarship for her violin playing, and was given special mention in the BELMONT SENTINEL. In the spring of 1946 she again brought honors to Belmont High by winning the Festival Contest sponsored by the California Schools Band and Orchestra Association.

At present Miss Wise is a student at UCLA and holds a Delta sorority scholarship. She is a student of Hyman Weinstine, assistant concert master at Philharmonic.

Lincoln Memorial promises you that you will be thrilled by the music of Zoe Wise, for there is a technique and a soul in her music that will make you acclaim her your favorite violinist.

Miss Wise will be assisted in the concert Sunday by Mr. Marvin Hayes, bass cantate, who is of Wings Over Jordan fame; and by a fine orchestra conducted by Irvin Young, and comprising members of Euterpians and such known musicians as Mr. Small, Mr. Raussau, Mr. Lassiter, Mr. Williams, and others.

Christmas Seal Sales Growing

Los Angeles County residents purchased more than $39,212 worth of Christmas Seals during the first week of the 1948 campaign, which opened November 22, it was announced by Kenneth B. Wilson, president of the Combined Christmas Seal Fund of the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

"This is far from a complete tabulation of the first week's sale, however," declared Wilson, "since we are still mailing to a few of the more than 650,000 families on our 1948 list and so have not yet caught up with our return mail. It is, however, a good indication that people realize the need for an intensive drive against tuberculosis, heart disease and rheumatic fever. We are confident that we will more than meet our $468,000 goal."

International Dance Festival Wins Praise

By Nellie Becker

People of all nationalities packed the Philharmonic auditorium last Saturday night to witness the second annual International Folk Dance Festival presented by Irwin Parnes.

Even though the program was unusually long, it was so well integrated with the aid of the combined choruses of the Occidental College choir that one hardly noticed the time.

All of the folk dance groups wore beautiful costumes, depicting their country. Perhaps the most outstanding group was the Polish dancers. They had all the energy and abandonment of folk dancers, yet they maintained the polish and the technique of the most professional ballet dancers.

The group representing Israel surprised the audience by staging an interpretive dance scene inside the castle of their once beloved queen. Paul Valentine, famous ballet dancer, did an excellent interpretation of the Russian folk dance, Khatchatourian. A bamboo dance was aptly performed by the Philippine folk dancers. One couple, barefooted, danced in and out of the bamboo sticks, while the other couple sat on the floor and banged the sticks together. It was amazing that no one got his feet caught between the bamboo sticks.

Antonio Triana, well-known Spanish dancer, with Juanita Morena and Meyita did "Allegria" and "Faruca." His guitarist Villareno thrilled the audience with two additional Spanish airs. Plates with candles on them were balanced, counterbalanced, and twirled in different ways by Devi Dja and her partner in a Javanese dance called Quing.

Seeing the varied types of ethnic dances performed by each nationality was unusual and interesting, but the thing that struck close to home was the script written by Henry Blankfort and ably narrated by Vincent Price. The background of each nationality was brought out subtly, showing how alike we are despite the differences in language, color, and religion.

Les Jeune Artists Give Recital Sunday

This will be the first of a series of monthly recitals which will be sponsored by the young musicians. The Club is affiliated witht the National Association of Negro Musicians, Inc. Miss Brown who is a national officer of the Club, is a sophomore majoring in music at the Los Angeles City College, and is a member of St. Paul Baptist Church.

Mr. Hayward is the president of the National Youth Division of Musicians, and is furthering his musical training here under private instruction.

The young musicians will present the works of Saint-Saens, Mendelssohn, Bach, Greig, Brahms, Gounod, Brown, Burleigh, and MacGimsey.

Yvonne Watson is president of Les Jeune Artists. The public is cordially invited to attend the recital and the reception which will immediately follow.

Art Relationships Is Lecture Subject

German Masterpieces on View At Los Angeles County Museum

Ninety-five of the two hundred paintings originally brought for safekeeping to the United States from Germany during the war, will be shown at the Los Angeles County Museum in January in one of the most important art exhibitions to ever be held in Southern California.

Retained in this country after the other hundred and five paintings had been returned because of age and fragility, these master works are having a limited circuit tour of only fourteen major American museums before being sent back themselves to their own repository, the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin. This is the first time that almost half the contents of a great European museum has been deposited en bloc on American shores.

The exhibition will be opened officially under United States Army auspices, by Brigadier General Leroy H. Watson, Commanding General, Southern Military District, in cooperation with the Board of Supervisors, the president of the museum's board of governors, the director, James H. Breasted, Jr., and the director-consultant, Dr. William R. Valentiner. Plans are being made to have a ceremony with military band.

The collection, valued at over twenty million dollars, was discovered by the American armies in a salt mine at Merkers in 1945 as part of a cache which had been hidden by the Germans as a precaution against the bombing of Berlin.

The Torch Grows Dim Relates A Disturbing Story of Fear

By The Reviewer

It isn't possible to formally review a play like David Robinson's, "The Torch Grows Dim," which opened Monday night at the Beaux Art Theatre on 8th and Beacon, for the "Torch" is not a formal play.

Basically it is a protest, a howling-mad resistance to a system that is bred in hate and creates destruction and frustration. It won't entertain you; rather it will leave you on one side or the other, angry and determined to do something about the conditions that create Jeff Lincolns, and shove Negroes like Sam Holley into the vortex of murder and suicide.

You will writhe and agonize with Perce Hammond, the thinking storekeeper who tries to be broad-minded and fair in a narrow-minded community. You'll hate Matty Childers for his betrayal until you realize he is more white than Negro, and he is caught in a conflict that won't die so long as he lives.

The "Torch" is your community, the place where you live and work daily. What sort of light it gives off depends on you and your neighbors, and the way you learn to live together. It might be the story of Augustin Salcido whose torch went out when a policeman cornered him on a deserted street, or it might be the story of Herman Burns, who died because he was too "uppity" to let a gang of cops push him around.

It is a hard-hitting drama that will make the skins of sensitive people crawl, but it says things the way they need to be said, at a time when saying them might get results.

Presented by Arthur Cahn and Peter Kass, "The Torch Grows Dim," should be holding forth at the Beaux Art for a long time. James Edwards handled the role of Sam Holley with great understanding, and Martin Mason did a good job as Perce Hammond.

Jay Brooks showed masterful ability in his quiet portrayal of the disturbed Matty Childers. Roz Cunningham was convincing in her brief appearance as Sam's wife.

Peter Kass directed, and Anthony Barr handled the lighting.

Interracial NonSectarian Chorus Building Repertoire

One of the newest and most unique musical organizations to take shape in our community is the Interracial Non-sectarian Chorus, which rehearses twice weekly at the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music.

This aggregation, which is the brainchild of Alvin Levin, young musical genius of Hollywood, and is under his personal direction, is composed of all races and creeds and is a living example of democracy at work.

Believing that there is no greater common ground upon which people may meet than that of expression through song, Mr. Levin has sought to bring together a group of musicians who have the sincere desire to further the cause of brotherhood among men by actually living and working together. Most of the chorus members are outstanding soloists, individually, and the majority have, at various times, appeared professionally.

Recently the chorus gave a benefit performance before the B'nai B'rith Lodges, at which time it carried out a "United Nations" theme by featuring songs of various countries. Included, also, on the program was the very beautiful ballad "One World," and "The Hatikva," national Jewish anthem.

The group is now working diligently to build up an acceptable repertoire, looking to the time when they will have a full-time schedule of appearances.

The progress of the chorus is being seriously observed by outstanding persons in the field of music, among whom is Mary Bran, foremost agent on the West Coast for the booking of unusual musical talent.

Musician's Local (No. 767 – News)

A story is being circulated by an "ultra square", who declares he saw a middle-aged peddler going around selling sign cards to dejected nite spot operators. The cards, recommended for use in case of bankruptcy, according to our informant, read: "Closed on account of Be-Bop."

Reputed to be hot, Pianist Rozelle Gayle, who comes to "Red Feather Cafe," Dec. 7, is a Chicago product. He is a friend and protege of Art Tatum, celebrated pianist, who is also enroute to L.A. for holiday season vacation.

Current Bookings: El Herbert, trumpeter and his orchestra for week ends at "Rhythm Room," Long Beach. . . . Poison Gardner, pianist, moves out to "High Seas Cafe," Santa Monica. . . . Dick Sanford and his "Jump Steady Boys" at "Twin Inn" on East Vernon. . . . Pianist Bobby "apron strings" Strickland to "Flaps Down," on South La Brea. . . . Red Callender and his "Pastel Sextette" with Jimmie Bunn piano; Charles Mingus, bass; Teddy Edwards, tenor-sax; Kendall Bright, trumpet, and Bill Douglass, drums, are now in second week at "Biege Room", San Francisco. . . . Bill Jackson, drums; Dorothy Broil, piano; Luke Jones, clarinet (Bill Jackson Trio) to "Bob's Place," Culver City. . . . Joe Lewis, guitar; Harold Morrow, piano, and George Mason, bass, comprise "Joe Lewis Trio" at "Hide-A-Way Lounge," Monterey Park, California.

Ernest Freeman, highly rated in local "767" circles for excellency of his musicianship, has one semester to go before completion of studies leading to Bachelor of Music degree in music composition at University of Southern California. Freeman, currently playing Alto Sax in a Hollywood nite spot orchestra, is also a competent pianist and violinist. Ernie lists Cleveland, Ohio, as the place of his birth and early music training.

Niccolaiih El Michelle, trombonist, during his long career has played in some outstanding orchestras, including Earl Hines, Fats Waller, Lucky Millinder, Noble Sissle and and Baqdu Ali. Vexed because he was not getting enough employment as a sideman from leaders, El Michelle organized his own orchestra and has already obtained employment. Because his real Egyptian name was "difficult to handle," Niccolaiih heretofore worked professionally as Herbert Flemming.

Johnny Alston, orchestra leader of L.A., now stationed at St. Regis, Montana, called Baron Moorehead, at 767, requesting that a pianist be sent to Montana "right now." A pianist was obtained for the job; a plane ticket came last Saturday; however, the pianist couldn't leave until Monday, following, on account his underwear was underweight for Montana date. Enroute to the airport the "boogie beater" paused for purchases at a War Surplus store—and traveled on to Montana.

Carol Brice Impressed by Vast Alaska

NEW YORK—Carol Brice, noted contralto, returned from her Western American and Alaskan tour early last week for a much needed rest, and a chance to recuperate completely from the grippe which she suffered while in Juneau, Alaska.

The young contralto, who has been noted for her deep religious fervor, stated, "This trip to Alaska made me feel closer to God than I had ever been before. You get an astounding picture from an airplane of the wide-open spaces of the creation, millions of miles of ice and snow. Blue-white glaciers that no man could ever create, and then you know that God must be somewhere."

Lily Pons On Phone Hour

An outstanding variety of famous musicians and singers will guest-star during the December Telephone Hour broadcasts, it was announced today by Earl S. Ricker, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The program is heard every Monday evening at 10 p.m. over NBC stations.

Concert artists scheduled for the month's four programs are Fritz Kreisler, Lily Pons, John Charles Thomas, and Robert Casadesus. As well as accompanying the artists, the 57-piece Bell Telephone Orchestra, directed by Donald Voorhees, will play several special arrangements of familiar classical and semi-classical selections.

Construction in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, has dropped to a low level.

Gene Norman to Sponsor Billie Holiday Concert

Good news for Lady Day fans (of which there are millions-) is the announcement that the popular Billie Holiday will appear in person one night only, Tuesday, Dec. 14, in concert at the Shrine auditorium. This will be La Holiday's only concert appearance on the coast.

Gene Norman, one of California's (or the country's, for that matter), most beloved and popular radio announcers, is sponsoring the concert with Pat Willard handling publicity.

Miss Willard, a nifty dish of feminine ah-tractiveness, has a natural on her hand in the Holiday case. There really is no need for publicity campaign on a Holiday concert, just mention the name Lady Day and the crowds will come tumblin' in.

In lieu of merely sittin' around doing nothing, Miss Willard is running hither and yon telling every theatrical writer and editor within a radius of a quarter million miles just how great this Billie Holiday is and how we should "plug" Miss Holiday's concert appearance.

Which is what we won't do anything else but! For if ever there is a singer in show business deserving of all nice things in life, it is Billie Holiday.

She's a great gal. Terrific singer. Heart as big as all out doors. Donates to any and every worthy charitable cause, and is truly one of the greatest artists of our time! She sings just like any other singer—only better. Billie Holiday's concert appearance at the Shrine Auditorium Tuesday, Dec. 14, will be an outstanding affair.

And I'll ge out standing in line for a ticket!

Tickets, incidentally, are on sale at the Southern California Music Co., and all Mutual ticket agencies.

BILLIE HOLIDAY; America's greatest song stylist, will appear in song concert Tues., Dec. 14, at the Shrine Auditorium. This will mark Lady Day's only West Coast concert appearance. Red Norvo and his all-star band will be on hand along with La Holiday to keep things moving along at a lively pace!

Peg-Leg Bates and Wonderful Smith to MC Alpha House Party

The Alpha Wives' Auxiliary has arranged a stellar attraction for the Fourth Alpha House Party, December 11, at the Club Congo, 4215 So. Central Ave. Featured artists present will be: Bobbie Caston, torch singer, Nicodemus Stewart, comedian, of the Beulah Show and featured in "Song of the South"; Ruby Dandridge of the Judy Canova Show; Danny Alexander and his proteges; Shelton Brooks of the "Black-Outs"; Dancer Freddie James; Queen of the Fans, Corita Harbert; 8 Bronze Beauties and others.

Other famous stars will be present as guest artists to contribute their services. Wonderful Smith and Peg-Leg Bates will again officiate as MC's.

This is the fourth in a series of six house parties being staged at the Club Congo for the benefit of the Alpha Phi Alpha Scholarship and Housing Campaign. Each affair has been increasingly successful and more than 150 people were turned away at the doors at the last party which featured outstanding artists of stage, screen and radio, including a "command" performance by Hadda Brooks who was attending the party as a spectator.

The Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity and the Alpha Wives' Auxiliary are grateful to the theatrical profession, Mrs. Margaret Basquette, and the public for their generous support evidenced in the past and promised in the future.

Sarah Vaughn Is Vaughn Lucky Gal

NEW YORK—Sarah Vaughan, the incomparable song charmer and inimitable winner of every major popularity poll as the nation's No. 1 female singing star, will make a triumphant return to Broadway to open an engagement at The Clique, new nitery on the site of the former Ebony Club, on Thursday, December 2.

That Sarah has come a long way is evidenced by the fact that she now commands upwards of $1000 for each concert date, and salaries in excess of $3000 a week in cafes and theaters, while sales of her records continue to mount into the millions.

Martin Handed Last Sepia Screen Role of the Year

(NPB)—Martin Wilkins, large sized and capable Sepia screen actor, who only recently came out of the ad libant categories to resume a well grounded film acting career, has just been assigned, what many believe to be the last sizeable film acting role calling for a Sepia actor of the year.

Wilkins, who in private life, is a popular barbecue expert and restaurateur, as known by his customers as "Marteen," because when services is lagging he cries out, "Marteen, He feex," has been given the role of a tribal chief in the film production starring Abbott and Costello, "Africa Screams."

The production, a super comic melerdrammer, is currently before the cameras out at the Naussor Brothers studio. Edward Naussor is producer, with David S. Garber, associate producer in charge of the production. The funny film is an original by Earl Baldwin.

Laura Bowman Withdraws From Chillun's Cast

Because of various protests and due to public opinion of the Eugene O'Neil play, "All God's Chillun Got Wings," Laura Bowman, great Negro actress and one time member of the famous Lafayette Players, announced this week that she is withdrawing the play and also her connection with it.

As a substitute, a more acceptable play, titled "The Road Back," a roaring domestic comedy, will open Dec. 16 at Music Town for a limited engagement.

Anyone having purchased tickets for "All God's Chillun's," please contact Laura Bowman, PArkway 0791.

Evelyn Burwell's New Record Is Out

Evelyn Burwell, known professionally as the Piano Troubadour, has two new record releases out (under Hollywood International Records label), they are Long Boy, backed by Mississippi Boogie.

On Long Boy, Miss Burwell very capably handles the vocal while Boogie is an instrumental.

She Wanted More Loot Than Offered

LONDON, Eng.—Pretty Hilda Simms, American actress who played through the long run of Anna Lucasta as its star, may not tour with the play when it takes to a tour of the English Provinces.

Reason for her refusal is over the usual disagreement.

Miss Simms received rave notices by British critics when the play opened in London a year ago.

Ink Spots Sign History Making Nitery Contract

NEW YORK CITY—Gale Agency, one of the most progressive booking agencies in the theatrical world, this week broke down one of the last bars against pacted the Ink Spots to appear Club in Miami Beach, Florida, which Bill Kenny and the Ink Spots put their signatures, marks the first time in the history of Negro show business that this famed Florida resort has permitted a Negro act to entertain in a white club.

Circumventing the unwritten law of the South which frowns on Negro entertainers working in 'white clubs', Monte Carlo owner, Tony Lopez consulted with the Mayor and the Chief of Police and got permission for this trial engagement.

The City fathers further promised Mr. Lopez that if this engagement proved successful the bars will be down permanently in Miami.

They Thought He Was Broke But He Left Fifty Grand

New York—You can never tell about a person who never tells about himself! Take Richard Huey, for instance. He was a robust 300-pound entertainer around Harlem. Huey frequented the late spots wearing practically the same garb night after night. And so he died, not from frequently the nite spots, but from natural causes.

When he died his friends were readying plans to help his widow, as everyone (well nearly everyone, that is) surmised Huey died penniless. He didn't, and it was later disclosed he left his widow and child close to $50,000!

And that ain't bad even if it's only half that much!

Rheumatic fever is the greatest enemy of childhood, annually killing more children between the ages of 5 and 14 than any other disease. Help fight this dread disease through buying Christmas Seals, which support the year-round program of the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

At This Rate It Will Soon be a Full Size Band!

Paul Gayten, sentimental ballad singer whose waxings on De-Luxe have been hitting the ball each time, has added a saxophone section to his trio, making it a quartette.

Maestro Gayten has also added two femme singers to his roster, with Jean Cunningham handling the ballads and Jewell King jumping the blues and hot stuff.

Annie Laurie, who made the song, "Since I Fell For You" famous during her stint with the Gayten guys is no longer with the combo, having left Gayten to join forces with Maestro Dave Bartholomew.

PINCH-HITTING FOR GERTRUDE GIPSON

A LITTLE BIRD TOLD ME

Tall, tan and terrifically tantalizing Carlton G. Robinson is quite the artist, but has shelved it for Plastic Studies—a $$$ field, indeed. That wedding bells with amplifiers will proclaim the Charles (Three or Four Blazers) Brown's event, uh huh to the song thrush. WHEN????? That As the Torch Grows Dim — the new vehicle with James (Deep Are the Roots) Edwards is starring in along with Jay (Actor's Lab) Brooks is a hair-raiser and will keep you on the edge of your seats throughout. That L.A. will not hear so much singing superbly so too as when Show Boat hits town Xmas Day. Opening that day too with Joe (Amen Cho) Crawford Kate (I can outsing Pons) Hall; Gilbert (Who Sings more Tenor than L.A. has heard for quite some time) Atkins, and The Helen (Strawberry Woman from Porgy and Bess) Dowdy. Don't say that I didn't tell you!! That a certain comedian's wife is getting a fur coat for Xmas or was it a Stole—I don't remember but anyway it is MINK too. Humph!! That some organization is going to break it up with the presenting of the smartest two couples one can find anywhere in a Fashion Show of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Euliss (Tillie—who looks like Mrs. Vanderbilt all the time); Mr. and Alonzo Bridges; Mr. and Mrs. Duke I. Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Theo. C. Harrison (He's the handsome Special Officer—yes, Girls he's married—Didn't you know?)

That Harriette H. Beale, the cute and charming smart and stunning nurse in Dr. Ferronce's Office has eyes on a beautiful car for her Xmas present. That Eddy Dudley was run out of Denver by the pianists there—I don't blame them — he plays more piano than the law allows.

That Gilbert Olmstead was run out of Pittsburgh by the photographers there and his work on 50 pieces of The Art Museum in New York explains why.

Martha (Eaddio) Davis back in town after her successful, as usual, jaunt up in Las Vegas. We regret hearing of her being very ill but o.k. now. Jealousy is a terrible thing—Love should be tolerant til truth breaks through the clouds of doubt, says the charming young lady seen with ye scribe frequently. Her name is Tinia—Wolves, in case you want to know.

Make this a Must should you see the Horton Dance Student, charming Dorothy Duval—do her La Fitzgerald impression on HOW HIGH THE MOON—A HIT!

CURTAIN CALLS

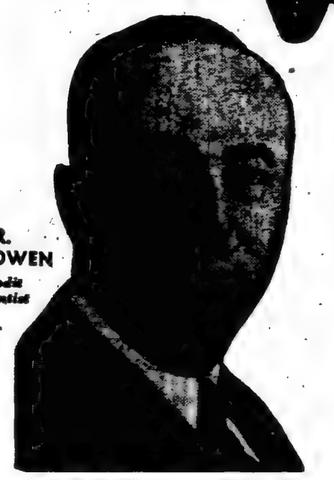
Did you ever stop to think that hearing from folk you think a lot of—those that you hold a warm spot in your heart for—is like a warm kiss, an unmerited blessing, like sparkling cool water fresh from the springs of life, sprinkled over a fevered brow? Thus you should pen those you love, like a lot and think fondly of—yes even admire, in your quiet hours, and pleasant thoughts for Xmas. Just a card means a lot. You'd be shocked. Every little thing thta you say, to help another on life's way. Or any kind deed that you do only returns a thousandfold to you.

ENCORES

The Beta Pi Sigmas Fashion Show, with Faustina Johnson as Fashion Commentator with Essie Rogers, superb modeling along with Mary Frances Peterson, Hazel Shumate and then too the girl who should have her feel, ankles and legs insured for sheer beauty sake—Thelma Wallace, who topped the day. Folk from everywhere came and will the same homage pay.

Also the Style Art affair—Cocktail Dansant at Alpha Bowling for appreciation to their patrons and firends for making their every endeavor a success.

"Ingratitude is the Unpardonable Sin." Some folks have never even heard of the word—gratitude.



After the fabulous affair at Earl Carrol's by the B.V.A.s we wonder just what the girls will do next as there can be no topi to that. Folk are still talking about it, congratulations are still in order—How high is up when it comes to successful affairs like this?

Wini Orr—excuse please Mrs. Roy Smith is still enjoying matrimonial bliss and looks good enjoying it too. Nice seeing The Cumbers Lillian and Gerald—that is at Echoes of Eden looking smart as only she can look.

"Dear Mr. Gipson," writes Cleophus Saunders, all the way from Watts, "I would like to call your attention to the Los Angeles Times article of 11/16 regarding Kenny Washington's plans to retire from football after this season. I think it fitting and proper that a KENNY WASHINGTON DAY be set up Dec. 12 when the Rams and Pittsburgh Steelers play the Rams' last game of the season. I trust that you will do everything in your power to put this worthy project over. I would appreciate a reply to let me know your feelings and the feasibility of such a project. Sincerely Yours, Cleophus Saunders, 1430 E. 122nd St." The letter was dated Nov. 21.

Having been a great football player, the Kingfish is also a great guy! Let's honor the guy at halftime with a few gifts. The game will draw three times as many customers as long as it's for Kenny!"

Mr. Saunders' idea met with my approval, and I had already begun plans together with Halley Harding and other local sports writers to set up a Kenny Washington day. Only time I knew anything about Mr. Weaver's KW day plans was when I telephoned my friend Detective Walter Goodlow and told him of my plans, only to have him break the news to me that A Kenny Washington Day is already in the making! With Hank Weaver sponsoring. That's okeh.

The most important thing isn't WHO or WHAT organization sets up a Kenny Washington Day, it is the fact that a Kenny Washington Day should definitely be set up!

The roaring hot rods of the California Roadster Association stage their 1948 finale Sunday, Dec. 5, at Carrell Speedway. Time trials will begin at 1 p.m., followed by races at 2:30 p.m.

Among the entries is LeRoy Nooks, only Negro roadster pilot.

The hot rods will battle it out over a 50-lap route, bringing out the best in men and machines. Skeptics who once believed that the roadster equipment was meant only for sprints were cured when nearly all of the starters completed the 500-lap grind staged several months ago.

Al McDaniel Wins Golf Trophy In Tournament Play

Odds-on favorite Al McDaniel blazed around the Rio Hondo course in even par 71 to cop the class A trophy in the President's Cup tournament of the Cosmopolitan Golf Club on Friday Nov. 19th. The sixteen low gross scores qualified for match play to determine the winner of the club championship. President Lee Masnall has donated a huge trophy for the winner, the trophy now being on display at the Paradise cocktail lounge. Winner of the runner-up cup in class A was Roscoe Jones with a 79. Jones drew Chester Carson, last year's runner-up for his first round opponent while McDaniel drew long hitting Marion Forsythe.

Additional qualifiers in the championship flight included Jesse Hutten, Ivan Johnson, Oscar Williams, Judson Grant, Lee Marshall and L. Paul Grant. Contestants in B and C flights included Eddie Atkinson, Harold Bowman, Don Walker, Alex Peoples and Dr. C. A. Bradford.

Following the tournament members of the Cosmopolitan club and their guests gathered at the Crystal Room on Avalon boulevard for their annual dinner dance and trophy presentation.

TARTARS WALLOP CITY COLLEGE, 49-7

The Eagles won over Alcorn and Texas State in their last two games, and the All-Stars are undefeated.

All There Is to Say About Paige: The Guy Can Pitch

There are two Satchel Paiges, one a pitcher, the other a legend, according to the current issue of Sport magazine now on the newsstands. Although the legend of his fabulous career persists in dogging him, Paige is very much a major league pitcher in his own right, the article by Gordon Cobbledick of the Cleveland Plain Dealer maintains.

When Bill Veeck hired Paige in mid-summer, the cry was heard far and wide, says Sport, that it was a typical Veeck stunt. Whatever the intent, Paige turned in a remarkable performance for the Cleveland Indians and demonstrated he was a real major leaguer.

Umpire Bill Summers is quoted by Sport as stating of Paige: "There aren't many better pitchers in baseball today. His fast ball makes you blink, his curve explodes and his slider cracks like a whip."

Billy Smith Goes Route With Joe Louis

CINCINNATI—Joe Louis added another victim to his long list of exhibition "bouts" here last night when he won a four round exhibition match with Billy Smith, Oakland, before a small crowd of 3460 spectators.

Louis' 220 pounds slowed him down considerably. Smith weighed 170.

Enrique Bolanos Beats Campbell, Nabs State Title

Enrique Bolanos, the good-looking beak-nosed battler from Mexico, turned on full steam Tuesday night in the Olympic auditorium ring and pounded out a unanimous 12-round decision over Tommy Campbell, rated No. 5 among the lightweights of the nation, to win the state lightweight championship.

Campbell, trained by ring-wise Chalky Wright, looked good in losing to the crafty Bolanos, who threw lefts and rights at a mile-a-minute clip.

Bolanos' take home pay was $11,494, while Campbell, the challenger, walked away with $6568.

A turnaway crowd of 10,200 poured a gross of $41,778 into the tills.

DADE VS SALAS

Dynamite Jackson Top Referee

ON THE TURF

GEORGE RAMSEY

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Formful Caliente sent the chalk players home happy last Sunday when seven favorites scored out of the 12-race program. Off to a good start with the first four choices in a row started the boys on the lawn to their downfalls.

In the fifth race Ah Sam opened favorite with Kentyrun but at post time Am Sam went to 6 to 1 on the mutuels and won easy over the favorite Kentyrun. It was a big overlay in the mutuels on Ah Sam. Two jockeys were thrown from their mounts during the afternoon.

oJckey aJckie Robinson miraculously escaped serious injury if not death when Guerilla War unseated him right after he came out of the gate in front of the grandstand. With oncoming horses passing over him as he laid on the grond, it was only a miracle that he escaped injury or death. Robinson recovered his breath and confidence and rode in the next race.

In the tenth race, Jockey Emilio Castro also escaped serious injury although badly shaken up was sent to the Mercy hospital for an overnight observation. One of the famous jackeys of past years was suspended for 60 days when a positive test of benzedrine was returned on The Giggler, winner of a race two weeks ago.

The former jockey and now trainer George Ellis will be remembered by the fans at the old Tijuana race track when he rode Victorian to victory in the $100,000 Agua Caliente Handicap.

The daily double and quiniela payoffs were about the shortest in many weeks. The double backers received $10 when Pullaway, winner of the second race, and ridden by E. O. Johnson, the only Negro rider in the west, and Eagle Parade won the third. Both horses were favorites. The quiniela backers of Day Air and Mineral King, who ran in that order, received $13.80. The feature attraction was a deadheat affair between Gold Hunter, the favorite, and No Wrinkles. Mytal, the good 2-year-old, made it three straights when the son of imported Arigotal-My O'Silver accounted for the secondary event.

General Manager Walter C. Marty announced his feature attraction for this Sunday will be the Lexington at six furlongs. This race will bring the best sprinters on the grounds together and a thrilling race is expected. Eleven other races from sprints to distance will support the feature event. Post time is 12:45 for Sunday racing.

Ernest Bendy, better known to boxing fans as Dynamite Jackson, is fast proving one of California's most capable fight referees, and if crowd reaction is any indication Jackson will in all probability be the first Negro to referee a main event in California rings.

Last Tuesday night he handled the preliminaries on the Bolanos-Campbell show in big time fashion, and upon leaving the ring received a thunderous ovation.

Jackson, who with his pretty wife, Lulu, operate a liquor store and cocktail lounge at 5505 So. Central ave., isn't new to fight fans, having won the state Heavyweight boxing championship in 1932-33 which he won from Ace Hudkins.

In 1946 he took (and passed with highest honors of any referee taking the examinations) a civil service exam after which he became the first Negro referee in California boxing history.

He has worked at Hollywood, Ocean Park and other outlying clubs and, as Paula Watson chirps on her latest Record release, "A Little Birdie Told Me," Jackson will soon be graduated to the Main Event class!

It couldn't happen to a finer fellow.

More about Dynamite Jackson. He trained Joe Louis for the champ's fight with Jack Roper, and Max Baer sent for Jackson as sparring partner and trainer in his fights with James J. Braddock and Primo Camera.

The Olympic club really struck pay dirt in having Dynamite Jackson on its staff as club referee. The guy has more friends than a dollar bill, and is as popular locally than Truman is nationally!

And what's more, he knows his referee-boxing business like a Cat knows Catnip!

Pro Basketball Returns to City

Professional basketball will return to Los Angeles and Southern California this season, according to an announcement by Bill Jones, who is assembling several nationally known basketball stars under the names of the Hollywood All-Stars.

Efforts are being made to sign Len Ford, John Brown, Lin Sexton and Ezzrett "Sugarfoot" Anderson at the close of the current football season in early December.

Mr. Albert Jones, 157 W. 48th St., says:

"BOMALICK on OLYMPIC gives you a Square Deal on Car Repairs!"
As Maintenance Boss at Bomalick's new, super garage on Olympic, Mr. Jones knows what goes on. He will tell you:
"Bomalick treats you right. First, Bomalick on Olympic has a Fair Repair Policy that guarantees you against overcharge on car repairs. All the parts replaced on your car are saved for you . . . When you get the bill you can check each part off. There's no way that the bill can be padded with extra parts!
"Bomalick treats you right about the bill, too. You don't have to pay a cent down on big jobs . . . and you get 18 months to pay. This month, you don't have to pay a red cent until 1949 for repairs done now!
"Bomalick's repair prices are low because his mechanics are good! (I know; I see 'em work.) They know what they're doing and don't mess around wasting time. This cuts down labor costs on your bill. Every job done at Bomalick on Olympic is guaranteed for BOTH PARTS and LABOR . . . None of this 50-50 stuff that makes you pay if the mechanic makes a mistake.
"The job's got to be right at Bomalick's on Olympic. It's an okay place for car repairs."

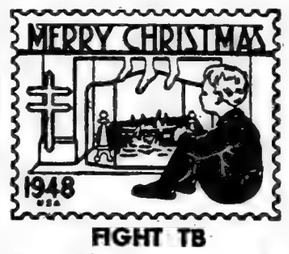
Top Basketball Stars to Play Local Club Team

Officials of the Los Angeles Crusaders Athletic Club announced this week that the Crusader basketball team will play as a certified AAU quintet this season.

Some of the players working out every Monday and Wednesday evening at Jefferson High School gym are former outstanding collegiate and independent stars: Wince King, formerly of Xavier U., Gene Williams, formerly of UCLA, Fritz Banks, formerly of Tuskegee Institute, Bill Johnson, formerly of Riverside JC, Nate Shaw, Joe Oliver, Bill Kay, Langston Parks, Elroy Lott, Jr., Dave Flynn and others.

OTIS ADAMS, triple-threat quarterback, who guides the destiny of the Tillotson Eagles who meet the San Pedro AC's in the 3rd Annual Angel Bowl football game at Wrigley Field, Sunday, Dec. 26, is 165 pounds of t.n.t. on the gridiron. Adams throws accurately and runs the ball, and is being touted for all-conference this year because of his splendid all-around play.



The Crusaders are members of the newly-formed Southern California Inter-City Basketball League which includes top teams in Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Whittier, San Pedro, and Redondo Beach. Games are also being arranged with the Oakland Bittners, San Francisco Forty-Niners, Sacramento Senators, San Joe Mal-Suns and other noted AAU teams.

The team is being coached by Bill Jones, former basketball captain of the University of Toledo and a member of the 1941 edition of the original Harlem Globetrotters.

Richard Jones In Easy Win Over Coyhis

Richard Jones, who fights like a miniature tornado when he feels like it (and is slower than the B. car from 51st and Ascot to 5th and Central when he isn't in a fighting mood) was definitely in a mood Monday night at Ocean Park when he got up off the floor twice to win a 10-round unanimous decision over Clyde Coyhis, Los Angeles, in the main event at Ocean Park Arena.

Coyhis took the first round by a big margin, but after that it was Jones all the way.

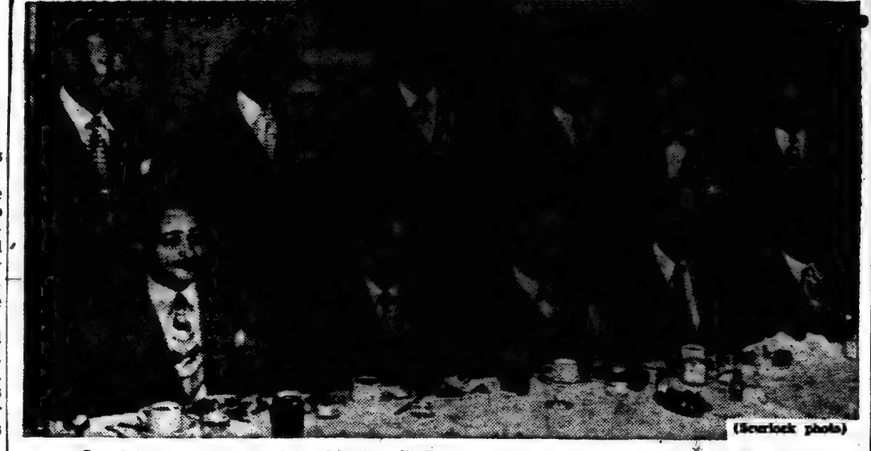
Tenants Collect $1728 From Landlords for Overcharges

LOS ANGELES—Repayment to tenants of $1728 in illegal rent overcharges was ordered today in decisions handed down by Federal Judge Charles C. Cavanah as result of suits filed by the Office of Housing Expediter.



Simultaneously the Federal rent agency launched eleven additional actions against other landlords who are charged with collecting nearly $6,000 in overceiling rents and bonuses. In each case the court is asked also to issue an injunction prohibiting the landlord from further violations of the Housing and Rent Act of 1948.

Yee Gin Guey, operator of a rooming house at 4276 S. Hoover Street, Los Angeles, was directed by Judge Cavanah to repay a total of $418 to four tenants who were overcharged amounts ranging from $34 to $205.

A touch of humor entered the trial when the defendant, who had asked for the aid of an interpreter, repeatedly corrected the translations of his testimony concerning the number of occupants in various rooms, to the amusement of spectators.

Judge Cavanah also ordered restitution by Mrs. Lee Brooks, 174½ W. 36th St., Los Angeles, of $874 in illegal overcharges collected during a three-year period on three furnished rooms at 1742 W. 36th St.

32 National Manufacturers Locate Here

Thirty-two newcomer manufacturing firms, all nationally prominent, provided one-fourth of the $63,458,000 worth of new industrial facilities established in Los Angeles County so far this year, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday.

The current score for new national firms tops all previous years except 1946, when 48 companies launched Los Angeles manufacturing operations.

"National companies' continuing interest in building or purchasing production facilities here is the strongest kind of evidence that our economic opportunities are recognized across the country," Chairman Frank N. Rush of the Chamber Industrial Development Committee said.

Eastside Area Chest Workers Urged to Make a New Record

Mrs. Josephine Brown, Central-Avalon Community Chest chairman, recently stated that the Eastside must not lose sight of the work they were doing for the good of children and adults when they give to the Community Chest.

The Eastside at present has collected $6029 of their $10,721 goal, and Mrs. Brown said that this figure does not represent enough progress over a week's earlier report.

She said that despite the over-all picture of slow progress, individual workers were still coming up with amazing records.

Miss Evangeline Woodfolk, previously reported as the outstanding Advance Gifts worker, took on an assignment for Mrs. Charles Blodgett and last week reached another 100 per cent mark of a quota.

Others to reach over the 100 per cent mark last week were Mrs. Partee S. Pitts and Mrs. Mitty Gerren. These ladies are in Mrs. Evelyn Gordon's and Mrs. Leola B. Wilson's divisions, respectively.

Mrs. Brown stated that over the weeks there have been any number of such outstanding workeds, and that she and all of her volunteers are to go out now in an all out effort to clean up the campaigs for the Eastside fore the Christmas holidays.

Particularly anxious to go "over the top" before December 9, Mrs. Brown said that at noon of that day a report is to be held in the Biltmore Bowl which promises to be the most outstanding of the campaign.

Permanent Charities, which last year gave over a million dollars to the Chest, will be represehted. Many motion picture stars are expected and honor awards to outstanding Rtd Feather groups will be given. Mrs. Brown stated "We hope to have the entire Eastside honored at this rally by coming to it with our $10,721 goal reached."

Mrs. Brown stated tha if anyone feel that they have been ovtrlooked by a door to door volunteer, they could send their contribution to the Chest's main office, 729 S. Figueroa St., Los Angeles 14 or call MIchigan 8821 and a volunteer will come out for it. Credit will be given the district from which the donation came.

Canterbury Welcome List Still the Same

To correct inadvertant error which has called the Los Angeles Committee to Welcome the Dean of Canterbury, a "new committee," Mrs. Reva Mucha, Executive Secretary of the body, announced today that the committee as constituted on October 20th last is still the original group of sponsorship.

"There have been," Mrs. Mucha poined out, "some new additions since its inception a month ago, to the Committee which will welcome the Very Reverend Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, on the occasion of his visit to Los Angeles, Thursday, December 9th. Some misunderstanding may have resulted as a consequence of these new recent additions to the Committee, headed by Dr. Luis Pauling."

The Dean of Canterbury will speak on "World Peace" at the Embassy Auditorium, 9th and Grand streets, at 8 p. m. on Thursday evening, December 9.

Negro Women Member Drive

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A nationwide enlistment of women beginning February 2, 1949, aimed to enroll in the National Council of Negro Women 500,000 new members of all races, colors and creeds willing to unite for human and civil rights was announced here by President Mary McLeod Bethune.

"Through women the machinery of democracy will be turned," Mrs. Bethune declared in making public details of the project. "We must unite women of all races and creeds into one moral force in the fight for human and civil rights," she added.

Wait! Don't Burn Unless You're Sure

Before touching that lighted match to the rubbish in the incinerator, or to that pile of debris on the lot next door—ask yourself these simple questions:

Is it after 10:00 A.M.? Is it windy? Have I time to watch this fire until it is completely out? Can it spread to nearby structures?

One negative answer is warning enough to comply with fire regulations . . . delay burning until you are able to provide proper safeguards . . . wait until more favorable weather conditions exist.

There are 28 million handicapped workers in the United States. Nine million are now employed in industrial capacities.

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

Service is a familiar term in all walks of life. It ranges from the menial tasks of the servant to the complicated responsibilities of the executive.

No one can escape their obligation to render good service. No matter what the line of duty may be, we all have tasks that require our courteous attention. When we fall short on small jobs and obligations, we fail to show the ability to hold or obtain large important ones. Thereby remaining in a rut indefinitely.

Try to give your very best service and good-will when and where ever you are called upon to do so, and you will reap benefits a hundred fold.

Mrs. L. L. WHAT Can I do to help my condition?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you have been ill for quite sometime and are wondering if there might be something else you could do to aid your condition. My suggestion to you would be to consult a specialist at your earliest convenience.

A Hotel's Not A Hotel When It's A House

Federal Judge William C. Mathes, in a decision termed first of its kind to be handed down in Federal court in Los Angeles, held the Williams Walters Corporation in contempt of court, fined it $500 and ruled that the Admiral Apartments it operates at 840 S. Serrano Ave., Los Angeles, is not a hotel, but an apartment house.

The decision is considered of great importance in realty circles here, since it sets a precedent for operators of the many luxury-type "apartment hotels" in this area by establising the principle that an apartment house may not qualify as a hotel —and thus become exempt from rent control—unless it is commonly known in the community as a hotel. Merely putting up a sign and calling a place an "Apartment Hotel" does not make it a hotel within the meaning of the Federal Housing and Rent Act.

Xmas Club at B'way Federal

The Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles has inaugurated a Christmas Club service that is available in person or by mail.

With participation ranging from fifty cents a week up to ten dollars a week, the Christmas Club is designed to appeal to children and adults alike. Annual interest rates of 3 per cent will be paid to all members, and the aim of the service is to promote thrift, and to help in the solving of financial difficulties at Christmas time.

H. A. Howard, national business leader, is the president of the Broadway Federal Association.

Cole Sues For Reinstatement

Almost a year to the day of his suspension, film writer Lester Cole is suing Loew's Inc. and MGM studio for reinstatement on his job. Cole, one of the Hollywood Ten was fired, despite a contract, because he had refused to tell the Thomas Committee whether or not he is or ever was a member of the Communist party.

The case is being heard before U. S. Judge Leon R. Yankwich in Federal Court here, and a jury which has little more to do except listen since Judge Yankwich has stated he is both judge and jury in the case.

Yankwich has ruled that the case is one seeking delcaratory judgement and does not involve the political question that brought on Cole's suspension. It has been indicated that the decision wil be based on whether or not Cole 'shocked' the community and the movie moguls too, when he refused to veal his political connections.

Former state Attorney General Robert Kenney is counsel for Cole.

Agricultural Agents Reduce Poverty Threat and Friction

WASHINGTON—Landlord-tenant clashes, indebtedness, and rural poverty have been markedly reduced in all counties where agricultural extension work with Negro farmers is well established, says Field Agent T. M. Campbell in a recent report to Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The improvement in relations and economic standing of colored farmers is largely a result of more intensive extension work by a larger staff of Negro farm and home demonstration agents, says Campbell, who was the first Negro farm demonstration agent. He was appointed in 1906.

Today, there are 785 colored extension agents and supervisors, serving farmers in about 400 counties in the 17 Southern and Border States. The work of these agents touches every phase of rural life.

They not only show farm people how to apply improved practices in crop raising and housekeeping, but they also encourage better landlord-tenant relations through planning conferences and the promotion of written leases.

Campbell declares that extension agents are helping to bring a new kind of emancipation to Negro farmers by aiding them in their drive toward larger economic freedom through increased production of diversified crops, better marketing methods and modern home improvements.

In order that its employes may be protected against influenza during the coming winter months, influenza immunizations are being given to Los Angeles county health department personnel, according to Dr. Roy O. Gilbert, Los Angeles county health officer.

The vaccine is similar to that given service men and women during the war and reports compiled from studies of the protective power of this vaccine indicate that it is effective for at least three to four months.

Goosby Asks Recognition of Israel by the United States

Dr. Z. L. Goosby, state vice-chairman of the Independent Progressive Party, has sent the following message to President Harry S. Truman, on the first anniversary of the United Nations decision to partition Palestine:

"One year ago today the world hauled UN action promising partition of Palestine and support of the new state of Israel. Last summer your party's platform affirmed its pride that the United States under your leadership played a leading role in adoption of the resolution of the General Assembly of November 29. Your platform favored revision of the arms embargo, looked forward to admission of Israel into the UN and pledged 'appropriate aid to the state of Israel in developing its economy and resources.'"

"You have it within your power to keep those campaign commitments. On this significant anniversary the Independent Progressive Party of California calls upon you to grant de jure recognition to Israel, support admission of Israel to the UN, lift the arms embargo and see that a loan sufficient to aid economic stabilization of the new nation is granted.

You have the power to act today. We urge that you do so, and that you show your full support of the UN decision last November by directing the United States delegation to the UN to support this program and to defeat the Bernadotte proposal which by cutting Israel in half would negate the promises and assurances made a year ago.

"We urge that the influence and weight of our government be directed towards safeguarding the sovereignty, autonomy, political independence and territorial integrity of the State of Israel in accordance with the UN decision of November 29, 1947. This is the only way that we can meet our moral obligations to the people of Israel and our commitments through our action in support of the UN decision to the people of the world."

Auto Renewal Cards Coming

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The Department of Motor Vehicles has announced that mailing of potential registration cards for the 1949 renewal period will begin December 15.

More than two million of these documents, which will provide motorists with almost immediate service during the January 3 through February 4 renewal period, already have been prepared.

Motor Vehicles Director A. H. Henderson warned that they should be preserved carefully until time for presentation with the fee payment, which in most cases will be lower than that for 1948.

Recently patented is a device to get the last inch of toothpaste from the tube. Consisting of a narrow strip of plastic, the device is slotted to allow it to fit over the lower edge of the tube.

New Service Organization

To meet the need of
A people who need assistance.—
Their future in the distance.—
And the good we all can do.

With the objective of providing industry and occupation to our race in Southern California, a movement is being sponsored by Spencer A. Daniels and associates, to be known as the Grand Central Clothing Manufacturing Co., makers of men's and women's suits, sports shirts, dresses, and slacks.

This enterprise will be located in the new two-story building at 1060-1062 East 49th Place, which embraces many business features. Fifty young ambitious men and women are invited to register for work, those who are familiar with sewing.

There are three important features connected with this great movement: 1. Industry and occupation for our people. 2. Financial assistance in case of sickness. 3. Accommodations for workers' children who are engaged in the sewing project.

Mr. and Mrs. Public! Please give this matter your deepest interest and consideration.

Yours for industry,
S. A. Daniels.

Photography Offers Employment Hope

CINCINNATI, Ohio—The young Negro who is seeking an avenue of employment which would be a departure from presently existent channels might very well investigate the possibilities of industrial photography.

At the 1948 convention of the Photographic Society of America in Cincinnati, Glenn Matthews, Kodak research executive, advised that the age of industrial photography is here, and today industrial and technical applications in the field represent about 67% of photography.

NAACP Drive Committee To Meet Tonight

The NAACP membership campaign will close on December 12. The hundreds of workers who have been carryin the appeal to the public have been asked to intensify their activities in order to assure final success in the drive.

Because of the approaching holidays, the possibility of extending the drive is slight. For that reason an appeal has been issued to all who have not given or sent in their membership to do so at once.

The goal of the campaign has been set at 25,000 members, a quota set because of the great needs of the times, and because the program of the NAACP is broadening to include more and more community action.

A report meeting will be held tonight (Thursday) at headquarters, 1105 E. Vernon Avenue. All workers are asked to be present with their records.

National Mag Feature Stars C. C. Spaulding

NEW YORK—It has been revealed here that the president of one of the nation's most prominent Negro insurance firms will be featured in an article to be published in the December of a nationally known magazine, "American Magazine," under the title of "What America Means to Me."

The article will be written by Charles C. Spaulding, head of the powerful North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, which is credited with insurance in force of more than $131 million. Mr. Spaulding is also president of a Durham Bank, reputed to have some $5 million in resources.

ANOTHER MODERN USED CAR LOT
OWNED AND OPERATED BY RACE MEMBERS
Announces Its Gala Opening
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1948

Located at the corner of Avalon Boulevard and 48th Street, the Avalon Motors, an ultra modern sales lot, resplendent with a modern office building and fully paved display area illuminated from above with hundreds of lights, is owned by Mr. Charles Derrick and Mr. William H. Pollard.

Derrick, a recent arrival from Sacramento, was the former owner of one of that city's swankiest night clubs, The Eureka, and is a well-known business figure along the Pacific Coast.

WILLIAM POLLARD CHARLES DERRICK

Pollard, on the other hand, is prominent in local automotive circles, being the first and only Negro to achieve the position of an authorized and bonded salesman for an authorized Ford dealer, the former J. A. Nadeau Company, now the Ben Barclay Motors. Since leaving the Ford sales agency and preceeding this new venture, Pollard has operated the Elk's Cleaners and later the P and L Stables.

Messrs. Derrick and Pollard cordially invite their friends, former associates, as well as the general public to inspect their establishment and their wide selection of fine automobiles which are offered at the lowest possible prices.

"The Messiah" Presented As KFWB Handel Oratorio Salute

KFWB will salute the Handel Oratorio Society of Whittier's twenty-fifth annual presentation of "The Messiah" by broadcasting its silver anniversary rendition of Georg Frederick Handel's stirring oratorio from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. on the afternoon of Sunday, December 12th.

Probably the most popular of all sacred Christmas music since its first public performance in Dublin, Ireland, in 1742, the Nativity oratorio will be conducted by A. Ceil Marshal and will include the stellar services of such outstanding soloists as Fern Sayre, soprano; Kay Fessenden, alto; Henry Timmerman, tenor; and Merwin Dant, bass.

There will be a choral background of almost 200 voices. Mrs. Hennion Robinson will be at the piano and Grace Dixon at the organ.

Georg Frederick Handel's "The Messiah" tells the story of Jesus Christ from prophecy and nativity to resurrection and ascension, and its Hallelujah Chorus is one of the most stirring choral numbers ever composed.

Metropolitan Opera Company Auditions Negro Singers

NEW YORK — Last week marked the beginning of attempts on the part of young Negro artists and leaders to get a eNgro in the starring role at the Metropolitan Opera Company.

James Hall, brilliant young basso profundo, took his preliminary audition this week. Neil Scott, personal representative to Mr. Hall, states that, "it is not expected, at this period, that he will completely satisfy he requirements for the Met; however, the experience of auditioning for the Metropolitan Opera should go a long way in inspiring him to continue studying and preparing himself."

On the other hand, Mr. Scott maintains high hope for Mr. Charles Holland who auditioned last Wednesday.

Mr. Holland is the possessor of an unusually beautiful and well trained tenor voice, one that the Met could very well make use of. Holland, with his movie, as well as extended concert experience, should create a favorable impression upon Met officials.

Bandits Active, Rob 2 Drivers

Forrest Enyart, a cabbie, of 1517 South Sidney drive, told police three men who entered his cab at Alcazar and Indiana streets robbed him of $25. One of the men threatened him with a knife.

See No Split In Jewish Loyalty

There is no danger that the loyalty of American Jews will be divided between this nation and the State of Israel, according to Dr. Nelson Glueck, archaeologist and president of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati.

The scientist and rabbi, who has discovered 1000 Biblical cities in the Trans-Jordan area, arrived here last week on a fund-raising campaign on behalf of the college, oldest Jewish seminary in this country.

Warn Council On Spending, Seek Reports

Excessive spending by the City Council which might endanger the city's financial position was attacked this week by the newly-formed Citizens Revenue and Taxation Committee.

In a letter to the council, Don E. Gilman, chairman of the committee, asked the councilmen to take no action on appropriations until his committee makes a report and recommendations on the subject.

Gilman also requested that the committee be furnished with all audit reports and other financial statements regarding the city's financial and tax position, in view of the present plight.

Bill of Rights Program at McKinley Jr. High, Pasadena, December 13, to Fight Fascism

The Citizens Action Committee will sponsor a Bill of Rights program at the McKinley Junior High School, Pasadena, Del Mar and El Molino avenues, December 13, at 8 p. m.

The program will feature speakers from various civic and national organizations. The topics will be: The Negro and the Bill of Rights, Freedom of Thought and Opportunity, and Freedom of Speech and Press.

The meeting will point out how important it is for every citizen to take action against all forces within our country that practice racism and maintain total disregard of citizen's rights. It will show how certain elements in this country are waging a mass political ideological offensive to bring labor, farm, church, and nationality groups and organizations under the fascist influence.

"By alerting the citizenry to the forces propagating chauvinist, white supremacy, anti-Semitic, and anti-Negro views," states the Committee, "we can present a front or give out a hue and cry against such things. The Citizens Action Committee will fight all fascist organizations within our city and will spearhead the fight for freedom at all times. We cannot stress how important the 'Bill of Rights is to all groups."

COUNTY TO GUIDE CHILD ADOPTIONS

Public guidance in the processing of child adoption cases through Los Angeles County courts was ordered this week by the County Board of Supervisors. The County Charities Department was designated as the agency of local government to handle adoption proceedings.

Elimination of alleged irregularities in adoption of children, including the asserted practice of "buying" babies in some instances, together with the desirability of speeding up adoption proceedings, were among the reasons advanced for the Supervisors' action.

New Quarters Announced for Family Theatre Programs

Family Theater has announced the opening of its new headquarters at 7201 Sunset Boulevard on December 8th.

More than 170 stars of stage, screen and radio have appeared on the program, which is less than two years old and is now carried weekly by over 400 stations of the Mutual Network.

All of the operators except Greyhound propose increases by which the rate for the first 50 miles would be 2 cents a mile, decreasing for each additional 50 miles.

BRAND NEW HOMES FOR SALE

Less than a year ago, Uncle Sam made it possible for one hundred and ninety-seven white World War 2 veterans to secure each a 2 or 3 bedroom home at a nominal cost. Very conveniently located on car and bus lines. Low down payment; balance at 4% interest. Like paying rent. A Civil Rights blessing. Ask IVAN AUSTIN, PR. 60090 or David Mattson, AX. 3-4586.

Vol. 69—No. 36 44 The California Eagle, Thursday, December 9, 1948 AD. 9770

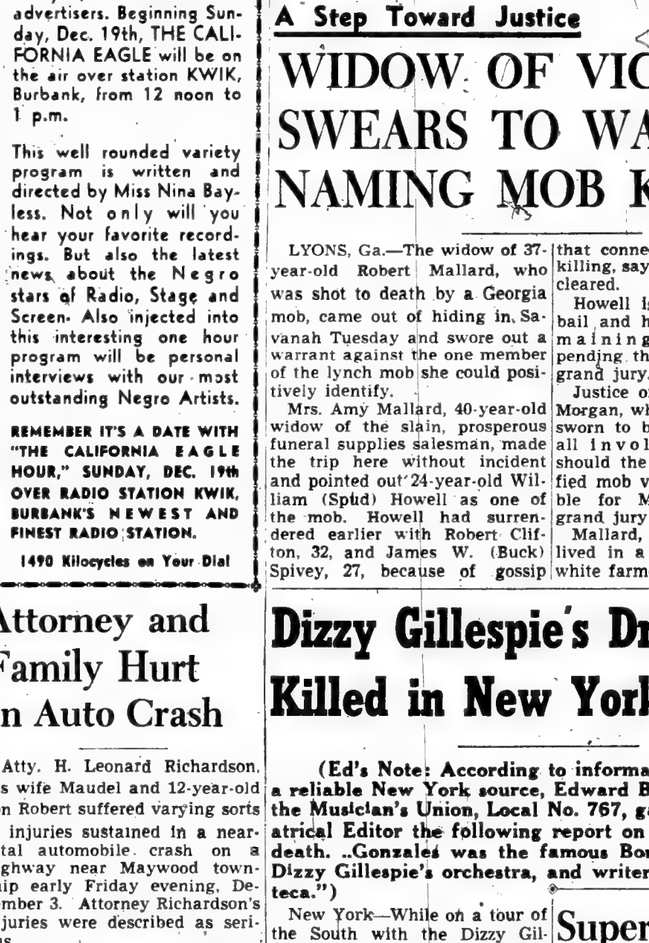
Rev. John L. Branham, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist Church, and director of the Echoes of Eden program, marches with the strikes to show his support. The center photo shows strike-breakers entering the store to spend the day waiting for customers that do not come. Almost every leader of the community is supporting the strikers, and pastors of most of the churches asked their congregations not to patronize the store until the striking girls have won the victory. (See story.)

DEAN ARRIVES TODAY

The very Reverend Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, arrives at Los Angeles Airport Thursday morning, December 9th, via Western Airlines, at 10:44, at which time he will hold a press conference in the Western Airlines Building at the airport, Room 102.
He will speak at the Embassy Auditorium, 9th and Grand on World Peace, Thursday evening at 8 P.M.

Community Supports

KRESS STRIKERS IN 2ND WEEK OF UNION CAMPAIGN



The strike against the Kress Central Avenue Store enters its second week today, with almost one hundred per cent cooperation coming from the community, according to union officials, and the observations of a California Eagle reporter who has spent several days of the past week checking.

Tuesday, the Baptist Ministers' Alliance heard a representative of the striking girls, then voted to give whole-hearted support to the strikers. Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle editor-publisher, sent special delivery letters to most of the ministers in the community urging positive action to assist the strikers who have been rebuffed by the Kress management in their attempts to get recognition. The response to her appeal has been immediate and effective.

At press time, almost fifty community leaders had expressed a desire to walk in the picket line in front of the Kress store as a protest against the continuing refusal of the management to accept an agreement that will mean fair and decent wages for the striking girls, and security for the future.

The Rev. John L. Branham, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist Church, has been outspoken in his criticism of attempts to in-

COMMUNITY SUPPORT of the girls who are on strike against the Kress Central Avenue store is the result of efforts put forth by leaders to get justice for the underpaid workers. California Eagle editor-publisher, Charlotta A. Bass, communicated with leading ministers in the community urging them to actively support the strikers. Results are shown in the photo, right, as the Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the Peoples Independent Church of Christ, proudly walks in the picket line before the store, and in the photo, left, the

The SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

Two radio broadcasts coming over the same network last Tuesday morning gave such widely diversified opinions on the state of the nation, that they invite comment, praise and condemnation all in the same breath.

Cecil Brown, who comes over the Mutual network every week day, Monday through Friday, said, in commenting upon Pearl Harbor Day whose seventh anniversary was observed last Tuesday: December 7, 1941, a day which President Roosevelt said will always be remembered as a day of infamy, is being celebrated today in 1948 by dilly dallying with the criminals who were responsible for the crime at Pearl Harbor.

Two of the seven, headed by Admiral Tojo, who were condemned to death by an international court of justice have appealed to the United States Supreme Court to have that sentence commuted. And the U. S. Supreme Court has decided it will hear their appeal!

"No one knows when they will be excuted now," commented Mr. Brown. "If ever. For there will be delays and appeals and counter-appeals all in the name of the law, and justice, while real justice is being subverted."

Mr. Brown also pointed out that General MarArthur has lost face to an almost infinite extent. He had said the Japanese leaders would be executed. They have not been. And now the Japanese people, who had been looking upon Gen. MarArthur as a kind of god who took the place of their Emperor god, are saying to themselves, "Can he be so wonderful and powerful, after all, if his word can be set aside so easily?"

On December 7, 1941, we were at peace with Russia, said Mr. Brown. We are not today. We have air bases scattered all over the world, he pointed out, ostensibly to protect us from Russian attack. But the policy which we followed in Greece, also one of defense against the Communists or against Russia, was a failure. It is something which our diplomats do not like to admit, but it is nevertheless conceded by those who are not afraid to face the facts.

The similar policy which we are following in China, Mr. Brown said, is also doomed to failure. That, too, is conceded by those who know the truth and are not afraid to face it.

"And today," declared Mr. Brown, "seven years after Pearl Harbor we are lending a listening ear to those who would have us build up Japan as an outpost of defense against Russia! Build up the nation which launched the sneak attack upon us? Arm those who attacked us? Arm them against the nation which was once our ally, which once befriended us?"

"We have traveled a long way," said Mr. Brown, "in the seven years since December 7, 1941. Where that road leads, we cannot say."

Some of our diplomats are also advocating a closer friendship between ourselves and Franco Spain. This despite the fact that during the last World War Franco and Hitler were allies. According to reports from the Spanish patriots, Franco's reign of terror continues.

Following close on the heels of Mr. Brown was Henry La Cosset with The Editor's Diary, also a feature on Mutual.

WIDOW OF VICTIM SWEARS TO WARRANT NAMING MOB KILLER

LYONS, Ga.—The widow of 37-year-old Robert Mallard, who was shot to death by a Georgia mob, came out of hiding in Savanah Tuesday and swore out a warrant against the one member of the lynch mob she could positively identify.

Mrs. Amy Mallard, 40-year-old widow of the slain, prosperous funeral supplies salesman, made the trip here without incident and pointed out 24-year-old William (Spud) Howell as one of the mob. Howell had surrendered earlier with Robert Clifton, 32, and James W. (Buck) Spivey, 27, because of gossip that connected them with the killing, saying they wanted to be cleared.

Howell is being held without bail and his two pals are remaining in jail voluntarily, pending the next session of the grand jury.

Justice of the Peace Ernest L. Morgan, who signed the warrant sworn to by Mrs. Mallard, said all involved would be held should the grand jury be satisfied mob violence was responsible for Mallard's death. The grand jury will convene Friday.

Mallard, reputedly wealthy, lived in a community of poor white farmers.

He was born in Louisville, Kentucky, and graduated from high school there. His later schooling he received in Chicago where he lived for a time.

The Rev. W. Augustus Jones, father of the deceased, who is the pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist Church in Louisville, arrived recently when his son's illness became serious.

Surviving besides his father are his wife, Mae, formerly of Pittsburgh; three brothers, Attorney Paul Jones of Pittsburgh, W. Anugustus Jr. of Pittsburgh, and Louis, who resides in Los Angeles; two sisters, Loretta Mc-

STATE CIO CONFAB PLANS T-H REPEAL AND LEGISLATION

The 11th annual California CIO Council convention opened this week at the Municipal Auditorium in Long Beach. Significant is the heavy enrollment in the face of the attacks of national CIO president Phillip Murray and his cohorts in California who are bent on destroying the California Council because all of its officers and members did not lavishly support Truman in the November election.

The convention opens shortly after the departure from Los Angeles of two investigators from national CIO headquarters, who incidentally talked only to those who would agree with them, left to send in the fix.

Irwin DeShelter and Tim Flynn, on the ground for the heavy bombers from the great man's citadel, have been working feverishly trying to break up the convention before it got started by trying to keep dele-

Dr. DuBois Criticizes Bunche, UN Negro Mediator in Palestine

Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, research director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, severely criticized Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting United Nations mediator in Palestine, in a recent speech made before the American Jewish Congress.

Dr. Bunche is taking the place of Count Bernadotte, assassinated while attempting to carry out the mandate of the UN in Palestine. He has been a career official of the U. S. State Department for five years, and as a diplomat in Palestine, on a mission to bring peace to that troubled little republic, Dr. Bunche has clearly betrayed the interests of the Jewish people,

Attorney and Family Hurt In Auto Crash

Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, his wife Maudel and 12-year-old son Robert suffered varying sorts of injuries sustained in a near-fatal automobile crash on a highway near Maywood township early Friday evening, December 3. Attorney Richardson's injuries were described as serious.

The well-known practicing lawyer, of San Francisco and Los Angeles, suffered a possible fractured knee and multiple scratches, cuts and abrasions. Mrs. Richardson suffered from cuts about the face and body and abrasions. The boy riding with his parents, escaped with slight injuries about the face.

The Richardson car was said to have been sideswiped by another car while the family was en route to their week-end home at Elsinore.

Dizzy Gillespie's Drummer Killed in New York Bar

(Ed's Note: According to information received from a reliable New York source, Edward Bailey, President of the Musician's Union, Local No. 767, gave the Eagle Theatrical Editor the following report on Luciano Gonzales' death. ..Gonzales was the famous Bongo drummer with Dizzy Gillespie's orchestra, and writer of the hit, "Manteca.")

New York—While on a tour of the South with the Dizzy Gillespie band, Luciano Gonzales suffered loss of his Bongo drums, by theft, during the band's engagement at a club in Raleigh, North Carolina.

He was given a short leave of absence from the band for the purpose of returning to New York to purchase a new set of drums.

Gonzales departed for Harlem, arriving on or about Nov. 30. On Dec. 2, Gonzales visited several Harlem bars and cocktail

Inspectors In Cleanup Drive On East Side

Max Bressler and a corps of inspectors from the Health Department have been operating on the East Side during the past two weeks in an unannounced, but efficient drive to get the littered back yards and alleys cleaned up.

Representing a health menace to the entire community, the alleys cluttered with junk and refuse are one of the eyesores in the area.

Bressler and his fellow inspectors issue specific instructions to tenants and property-owners to clean up with filth after close inspection.

While the Health Department has the power to hale the offenders into court, the present drive is aimed at getting the dirt cleaned up with the cooperation of the landlord and the tenant.

Health Dep't. Employees Get Service Pins

A CIVIL RIGHTS FIGHT That Won't Please Truman

By ABNER W. BERRY
Daily Worker, Dec. 6, 1948

I don't know how the weather was in Washington last Monday, but Walter White, after a visit to President Truman that day, was extremely sunny. He breezed to the press the cheerful news that the President "expressed the determination to go right through with civil rights." And then, striking a more serious note, White remembered out loud: "The mandate of the people. (in electing Truman) demands action."

White, who is now on leave from his post as secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, didn't make clear whether he meant the "action" should come from the President, the people, or from both. But as I remember it, on Nov. 29 (last Monday) the Truman "loyalty" axe still hung over the heads of the nation's 150,000 Negro federal workers. Some 25 Negro postal workers in eight states have been suspended from their jobs on the basis of evidence furnished by the Thomas - Rankin Un - American Committee. This development certainly requires civil rights action.

I'm sure that the suspended Negro federal workers do not share Walter White's pollyannish optimism concerning Truman's promises of civil rights. Truman's loyalty order has already deprived them of theirs, penalizing their fight for civil rights with economic sanctions. They are with White, though, when he says, "The mandate of the people demands action." Action by the people against Truman's policies, that is.

WILLIAM L. PATTERSON, national executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, has approached the NAACP, through Walter White, for cooperation in initiating such action as required to protect the Negro and white federal workers who are victims of Truman's "loyalty" program and the Un?American Committee's hysteria. Patterson's letter to White, dated Nov. 26 (a few days before White spoke to the President) takes exception to an NAACP statement of policy on the "loyalty' 'purges and proposes a united campaign against them. Patterson described as "tragicaly dangerous" the declaration of the NAACP national board in which the group offered:

"To defend accused Federal workers in cases where the charges are based on race or color, membership or activity in the NAACP, or membership in any coordinating organization approved by the Association's National Committee."

"May I ask," tPatterson's letter goes on, "why it is that you have not expressed a willingness to defend all of these victims of terror by the government? May I ask why you have here further succumbed to that government's maneuver to divide and destroy piecemeal?"

THE NAACP board statement had charged that the Negro federal workers were being persecuted "on the basis of information assembled by the House Un-American Committee and other questionable sources." That allegation prompted another question and statement from Patterson:

"How can you or your organization accept this source as producing a true indictment of any American? . . . In its midst are Dixiecrats. It has been scathingly condemned by all decent Americans in the leadership of whom stood the late, lamented Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"Now you have by virtue of your more limited techenique . . . consented to defend some and to throw the others to the Truman vultures."

Patterson quotes the NAACP board as recognizing that "not one of the more than 150,000 colored governmental employes throughout the nation will be safe (unless the purge is stopped)."

And he continues: "This government, by your own declarations, is persecuting and doing violence to the economic security, to the very lives of these men and their families. The crime of which they are guilty is that even in the face of threats of terror they refuse to accept the government's national policy of Jimcrowism and segregation."

JOINT ACTION for civil rights as they apply specifically to Negro Federal workers was the proposal of Patterson's letter.

"It is not possible that we (the NAACP and the Civil Rights Congress) can have a mutual collective defense of all these men? That is what the present hour demands and what a realistic and successful deefnse calls for. The Civil Rights Congress is ready to fight for the constitutional rights and civil liberties of these men, regardless of their color, their creed or their progressive political affiliation . . .

"These men must be defended whether they are Communists, members of the Progressive Party, or no party, or decent and honest Republicans and Democras, whether they are black or white, or yellow or brown. They must be defended because they are standing on their constitutional guarantees, their civil rights and their manhood dignity . . .

"Some men cannot be sacrificed without endangering all. Democracy is indivisible."

PATTERSON and the Civil Rights Congress have put to Walter White and the National Committee of the NAACP the freedom question of the moment: How about uniting to fight for the demends implied in the mandate of the people?

To that question Walter White is in a position to give a significant answer. What is needed is some assistance from the people in removing his pro-Truman blinkers which allow him to "fight" against Truman's loyalty purges while he praises Truman as being "determined to go right through with civil rights."

In rendering this assistance the Negro people would aid White and push the fight for civil rights forward in a way the Truman never intended.

One Out of Four

One out of every four dollars that California's State and local governments spent during fiscal 1947 was collected by some other level of government than the one which spent it.

That fact is clearly brought out in the study "Income and Expenditures of Government in California, 1910 to 1948," currently published by California Taxpayers' association.

The dry beans harvest is ended; demand is steady; state production estimated at 4,849,000 bags.

Mr. La Cosset, in keeping ith the present trend, is eady to invite Mrs. Paul raper of Boston, out of the ountry. It seems that Mr. a Cosset resents some of e statements made by the oston woman recently at udapest, Hungary, where e went as a representative the Congress of American omen to the congress of emocratic Women that as being held in Budapest.

The theme of this con-ess was: Peace for the orld. Mrs. Draper, in ointing the way to peace, ggested that our nation op stirring up strife with ier countries by constant-waving the red flag—mmunism—in their faces.

Mrs. Draper also mention-the fact that the United tes must meet its obliga-ns of full citizenship to gro citizens before at-mpting to dictate the pol-es of other countries. For s, said Mr. La Cosset, s. Draper should be ask-to stay in Hungary, if doesn't like the U. S.

The radio time and news-per publicity condemning nmunism might well be to the service of mak-Democracy work, it ms to this writer.

wonder if Mr. La Cosset ows just what is happen-g at home. If he knows at the State of Georgia's u Klux Klan has set up a Hitler regime, and that Negroes are not only denied civil rights but are hounded, murdered, and lynched for trying to vote and for even becoming economic factors in the communities where they live. This was the case of Robert Mallard, prosperous Negro automobile salesman of Lyons, Georgia.

Mallard with his wife and 18-month old baby son and two friends, while on their way home from church, were waylaid, and Mallard was shot by a robed mob of 50 or 75 white men.

This brutal killing of a Negro citizen has attracted the attention of neither the Department of Justice nor the Parnell Thomas un-American Activities Committee.

I am wondering, will the Negro always say, "My Country Right or Wrong"—even when a rope is around his neck?

Louis J. "We have already had excellent public reaction to our employment of Negro bus drivers," Mr. DeLamarter stated. The outstanding safety records of the Victory Cab men are considered an asset to the largest privately-owned cab concern in Grand Rapids.

Mr. DeLamarter credited Paul I. Phillips, executive secretary of the Grand Rapids Urban League, with the successful negotiations that led to the recent employment of Negro drivers with the Grand Rapids Motor Coach Company and the present merger of the Victory and Yellow Cabs.

Truman Holds Firm on Civil Rights Ideal

WASHINGTON — "President Truman expressed his determination to go straight through with his civil rights program," Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, reported after a White House conference with the Chief Executive. Mr. White was accompanied by Roy Wilkins, NAACP assistant secretary.

No signs of compromise on the "minimum program" set forth in the President's civil rights message of February 2 were observed during the interview, Mr. White said, remarking that the President had declared himself to be under no obligation to anyone and had reaffirmed his intention of carrying out his campaign pledges.

The two men conversed heatedly for a few seconds and left the bar together, proceeding to a spot in the vicinity of 116th Street, Harlem. The argument contiued. Gonzales, sensing the futility of the argument, left the as yet unidentified man at 116th street and returned to the Rio Bar alone.

About fifteen minutes later the unidentified man returned to the Rio Bar, and without warning, fired six times into Gonzales' body, killing him instantly.

The man was arrested and booked on charges of murder.

timidate the strikers, and he joined the picket line this week to show his support of their cause.

Last Sunday, strikers' representatives went into several community churches and they were permitted to tell their story to the congregations. Ministers asked their congregations not to buy in the Kress Central Avenue store until the strike has been settled.

Strikebreakers, recruited by Kress, are the source of the only demoralizing force in the campaign. Some of the girls on the picket line have seen girls with whom they have gone to school report for work in their places, and it admittedly has been a blow. However, leaders point out that the 98 per cent cooperation they are getting from the community offsets this blow.

It was learned this week that Kress Central Avenue paid the girls employed there from $4 to $10 less each week than is paid the girls in other stores. Kress Central Avenue is one of the busiest stores in the city.

Susan Adams, International Representative of the Retail Clerks Union, Local 777, stated that the union will continue its fight until the Kress Company agrees to recognize the union as bargaining agent, and until all of the girls now on strike are put back to work with full seniority, plus an agreement to negotiate a contract.

says Dr. DuBois, to the desire of a few Americahs to rule the world.

Dr. DuBois apologized to his audience "in the name of the American Negro for the apparent apostacy of Ralph Bunche . . . to the clear ideals of freedom and fair play, which should have guided the descendant of an American slave."

There was a strong inference in Dr. DuBois' speech that he believed Bunche had sold out for money and power. He declared Bunche "could sell the youth and genius of the world selling itself easily for income and power with far less justification than Faust sold his soul to the devil."

"It was perhaps too much to expect of Dr. Bunche, said Dr. DuBois, that he would stand "fast for justice, freedom, and the goodfaith of his nation and his race; but God knows I wish he had. I wish he had stood firm agaisst vacillations, compromise, and betrayal by our Department of State."

"The new and crazy desire of a dominant group of Americans to rule the world as heir to British imperialism," declared Dr. DuBois, "has deceived this nation into a disgraceful betrayal of a people (the Jews) whose culture has surely given as much to the new world as ever the Anglo-Saxon world gave."

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Sliding Away From the Question

A distinct case showing how some of our political leaders cleverly slide out of answering a question directly, was produced at the public forum held in the Unitarian Church last Friday evening.

The question for discussion was the important one: Are There Unavoidable Limits to Civil Rights? The speakers were: Willis Sargent, lawyer, former member of the State Legislature; Adrian Scott, producer, one of "The Hollywood Ten," the man who made CROSS-FIRE; A. L. Wirin, lawyer, representing the American Civil Liberties Union, and Robert Kenny, lawyer, former State Attorney General, and chairman of the Democrats for Wallace.

Following the discussion, which of course broght in much about the danger which threatens the United States from the infiltration of Communism, and when the floor was given over to the audience to ask questions, this question was asked of Mr. Sargent:

"Which is the greater menace or threat to our government, the infiltration of the ideologies of Communism or those citizens such as Thomas and Rankin, of the Un-American Activities Committee, who refuse the constitutional rights guaranteed by the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments to certain citizens of minority groups simply because of their race or color or creed?"

"That's a good question," beamed Mr. Sargent in reply. "A very good question. Now, in the first World War I was the captain of a company of Negro soldiers, and I can truthfully say I never saw or heard of any better soldiers anywhere. They were always right on the spot when it came to anything to be done, no matter how difficult the task. They never shirked. Their morale was high. They were well disciplined, Blah, blah, blah, blah."

But Mr. Sargent did NOT answer the question.

This calls to mind the instructions given one time at a political "school," where speakers were being trained for a coming election campaign. Some one asked what to do if anyone asked a question she couldn't answer.

"Well," said the political instructor, "if anyone asks me a question I can't or don't want to answer, I just simply s-l-i-d-e out of it so easily that the person doesn't know I haven't answered it."

Willis Sargent has evidently attended such a political "school."

Not Words, Deeds

Fresh out of cosmopolitan New York comes this statement from Edwin R. Embree: "New York is not the cosmopolitan world capital it believes itself."

Mr. Embree has had a long term with the Rosenwald Fund and is at present with the Liberian Company. Perhaps it is this connection with the Liberian Company that brought Mr. Embree face to face with the real role played by our country in the world-wide drama of non-white discrimination.

"I confess," writes Mr. Embree, "I am shocked. Such prejudices may have been excused 50 years ago when America was a provincial,, isolated nation and when few Negroes were just out of slavery. But this is the 20th Century. Negroes have reached distinguished places in politics, religion, social, and civic affairs of the nation."

It is the feeling of many people from all parts of the world, that New York has become the center of world politics and the democratic shrine that will be the inspiration for incoming generations.

In order to achieve this exalted position, our greatest metropolis and the boasted cosmopolitan city of the world, must turn its back on such things as discrimination and bigotry directed against certain people because of their race and color, and must face the sunlight of a real lasting civilization.

A Latin defective verb is one that is wanting in some of its parts. Paradoxically a civilization that recognizes the democratic rights of some of its citizens while denying others the same rights, on the flimsy excuse that because of a difference in color or race they are inferior, can never be considered a whole civilization or a democracy in the true sense of the term.

It is an established fact that the American Negro has qualified for a lasting place in the fields of art, science, religion and literature. So it is not due to his lack of preparation for first-class citizenship that he is kept in the second-class place or position.

Hence it is incumbent upon the government—the ruling class—by the right of the power they have confiscated to declare themselves superior, to make the decision or to wait the irony of an indignantly aroused so-called or designated inferior people to force them to do so.

A Rape of Justice

Facts are sometimes brazen and sometimes illuminating. In either case we must face them. Some one once said the truth shall make you free. Well, facts untarnished, will brighten your thinking horizon.

For more than a week a strike at the Central Avenue Kress store has attracted city-wide attention. An EAGLE investigator proved that many local citizens, shoppers at the Kress store, are not aware of the real significance of this strike.

The Negro girls employed by Kress were given an unfair deal in the first place. The Kress Co. in keeping with the pattern of discrimination in employment as it is directed against Negroes, hired a number of Negro girls as clerks in the Central Avenue store. Their pay started at $26 per week, and the withholding tax was to be taken out of this. After being employed for one year, they were to receive a raise in pay. They never got it.

White girls, however, employed as clerks at other Kress stores were started out with a pay of $28 per week, and after a year's service their pay was raised to $32 per week.

The girls at the Central Avenue store, members of the Retail Clerks Union, demanded this raise in pay, and when it was not given them, they struck. The matter was taken before the Labor Commissioner. The management for the Kress Co., made some sort of offer, but not what the girls demanded. Feeling this was the same old bluff, the girls rejected the offer.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE sent an appeal to some of the local churches to ask their people to support these girls in their strike. It is delighted to say that the response has been generous. The Baptist Alliance has responded, and the Rev. John Branham, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist Church, and Rev. Clayton D. Russell of the Independent Church of Christ was on the picket line last Tuesday afternoon.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE congratulates the churches of the communities and all individuals who are supporting these girls in their determination to break this rape of justice against Negro women employees.

A Fish Story—

Ten years after an old vine laid a pumpkin behind the barn on the isolated Maryland Farm of Whittaker Chambers, it is discovered that it wasn't a pumpkin after all, but a camaflouged repository for highly confidential State Department papers.

Pumpkins have been pumpkins for all these years, and we still believe they are pumpkins, but Chambers who has proven he is a man of many characters also shows skill sufficient to change a Pumpkin into a filing cabinet for confidential documents.

Now if Chambers can find the solution to the seventy-five thousand dollar libel suit filed against him by Alger Hiss, we will agree that a Pumpkin is not a pumpkin atall, but a Chameleon.

Group Faces Trouble

With its ex-chairman under indictment as a payroll thief, and John Rankin of Mississippi in line to dominate it, perhaps the country can dispense with the un-American activities investigating committee.

Congressman Rankin is racial, religious bigot. It would be hard to find a man with a less judicial temperament. He is completely swayed by his multiple prejudices. Only white, southern and Protestant citizens are safe from his venom.

The committee, despite Rankin and J. Parnel Thomas, did some useful work last sesion in awaking the country to the danger of Soviet espionage. What dignity and results it possessed it owed in considerable measure to our own Richard Nixon. But Nixon will be a minority member this time, with little power to curb Rankin.

It may be better to disband the committee than to give Rankin a forum for promoting intolerance and race hatreds.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

The little republic, of Israel fighting for its existence although barely out of its swaddling clothes, has aroused not only the sympathy of the people of the world, but the fears of the governments as well. They're all scared to death, those of the Western Powers, that Israel may turn to Russia and become an ally of the USSR, in case there should be war between the East and the West.

And so Great Britain is wooing the Arabian states to her side, and the United States while nominally sympathizing with the new republic on the Mediterranean on the one hand, is not letting that hand know what she's doing with the other, in following the pattern set by England.

Both countries had evidently hoped to nip the hopes of Israel in the bud. But Arabians have not proved to be such great fighters, after all. Although quick to pull a knife upon the slightest provocation in private life, and making good wayside brigands whenever loot is involved, they just aren't any good when it comes to fighting in an army.

The little Republic of Israel, however, "has acquired stature in the Middle East," according to a report in a recent edition of The New Republic. "The peoples of that area," says the article, "believe only what they see, and they have seen Israel's magnificent resistance. Trade union leaders in Egypt have observed, at a distance, the development and institutions of Jewish trade unionism in Palestine. Privately they concede that if their governments permitted such contacts, they would establish relations with those Jewish trade unions and follow their pattern."

Arab Industrialists would like to invest in Israel. Even before the war Egyptians and Syrians asked the Jews about going into partnership with them in some of their business enterprises. They asked only to be silent partners, but the investments would be made openly and such a united effort would aid greatly in the development of Palestine. All agreed on this.

But as long as the British policy is based on an alliance with the Arab feudal lords, and as long as American policy in the Middle East follows that of Great Britain, there is no hope for such an alliance. Could be that Washington might adopt a diferent policy now, however, since the people of the U S have spoken so effectively for a greater democracy for all the people of the world. If so, the downtrodden natives of the Arabian coun'ries could emerge and establish governments of their own.

If the people of the Middle East were permitted to speak for themselves, they would doubtless form a federation made up of Israel, Lebanon, and Turkey as a nucleus. As far back as 1930 Turkey in a conversation with Dr. Chaim Weizmann suggested such an alliance. There was considerable opposition on the part of many of Turkey's leaders to accepting aid from the United States as per the Marshall Plan.

That country is veering left towards a friendlier relation with Russia, and is viewing with alarm some of the antics of her neighbors in regards to Great Britain.

If British and American leaders had the intelligence to let those people of the Middle East alone, to work out their own salvation, as they so evidently wish to do, both countries could re-establish a reservoir of goodwill which would do far more to help in time of trouble than all the military aid that can be sent.

There is an old saying, you know, that whom the gods would destroy they first make mad. The capitalists of Britain—for in spite of the labor government in England, there are still many capitalists in power in that country—plus the American stalwarts of our private profit system, seem to be proving the truth of that saying. No one makes friends by holding a gun at another person's throat. Or trying to get him to shoot his friends. By pursuing this see-saw policy, we are driving the Arabian people right into the arms of Russia. Which perhaps, is exactly what the fates have decreed.

Anyway, "the most effective way to forfeit the Middle East to the Soviet bloc is to continue the game of lawn tennis diplomacy, appeasing fictious leaders and alienating the people—the Israelis, the Kurds, and the middle classes and intelligentsia of the dominant racial and religious groups—in the region." So say those who can read the desires of those people.

News Across The Nation

NEW YORK — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said this week the defeat of two members of the House un-American Activities Committee in the recent election proved the American people are weary of witch-hunting.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who spoke from Paris on her regular broadcast, traced some of the committee's activities over recent years and said:

"I do think that the sort of silliness carried on by this Thomas committee is now just about ended. I see that two members of the committee were defeated in the election and that the chairman, J. Parnell Thomas, was indicted for fraud.

"It seems to me that the defeat of two members of the committee shows that the American people are tired of this kind of witch-hunting and feel, as I certainly do, that the Department of Justice is quite capable and much better equipped to protect the nation from the Communists or anyone else."

NON-SEGREGATED CHURCH

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. — More than 30 leaders of the Presbyterian church, concerned with the establishment of a non-segregated church, opened a week-long institute on racial and cultural relations at the College Settlement Farm Camp in Willow Grove this week.

The institute, the second of a series, is being conducted throughout the country over a two-year period by the Boards of National Missions and Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

The principal topics to be discussed are Christian race relations, the Protestant church and the Negro, the Protestant church and civil rights, Jewish-Christian relations and international implications of American race relations.

The Rev. William H. McConagby, director of the institute, and the Rev. Dr. Jesse Belmont Barber, member of the faculty at Lincoln University, will preside.

BRANCH RICKEY HONORED

CINCINNATI, Ohio — Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was honored with a scroll of citation from the Federal Council of Churches, meeting here at the Taft Auditorium.

The scroll, the first of its kind, was presented to Rickey in appreciation of his strong stand against racial discrimination which he so ably demonstrated when he signed Jackie Robinson as a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947. Robinson, as you know, made history when he became the first Negro to be admitted to major league baseball.

The scroll was presented by Charles P. Taft, president of the Federal Council.

EAST ORANGE, N. J.—A judge in this New Jersey city halted the movement of seven white families to prevent Negroes from moving into a housing project here. It was a veterans' housing project.

Said the judge: Negro veterans need homes as well as white.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. — An advertisement of a store in this city carried the term "nigger babies." Department stores in New York City protested. The ad was changed and the objectionable phrase left out.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — When a federal court ruled recently that segregation of Negroes in dining cars is legal, because 8 per cent of the seats on a passenger train are given to Negroes although they comprise only 4 per cent of the patronage, The Record, Louisville diocesan Catholic weekly, said this decision was an outrage.

"The human dignity of the Negro passenger is violated," said this newspaper, "by the refusal of the officials of the passenger train to permit him to enter the dining car, the same as any other passenger. It is not a question of the percentage of Negroes or whites on the train. It is a question of the dignity of manhood that is being violated."

BOSTON—The Phi Kappa Psi chapter of Amherst College has been suspended by the national executive council because it insisted upon admitting Thomas W. Gibbs, a Negro student of Evanston, Ill.; into the chapter.

Gibbs was pledged last spring. Howard L. Hamilton, of Columbus, Ohio, national president of Phi Kappa Psi, insisted that a Negro could not became a member of this social fraternity, and that if the Amherst chapter refused to rescind its invitation, the chapter would have to be suspended.

Last week Gibbs and other pledges were initiated into the Amherst group. The suspension went into effect at once.

NORTH CAROLINA—Charles C. Spaulding, one of this country's most prominent Negroes, the 74-year-old president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co., says he considers the South "America's No. 1 opportunity for men of good will, prudence and character."

In addition to the presidency of the life insurance company, Spaulding also heads a bank with $5,000,000 in resources.

SACRAMENTO—The State Board of Equalization has proposed a constitutional amendment to transfer liquor control to a non-political board. William G. Bonelli, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, is pushing sentiment for the amendment.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the estimation of fair-minded Americans, especially those who would give a right arm to quell confusion and to establish peace, the Un-American Activities Committee is doing more to create confusion and destroy peace than any one other organization. Its usefulness, if it ever had any, is certainly outmoded by this time.

CAPETOWN, S. Africa—A 10-year plan for African education is being urged by a member of the council of Capetown.

"The aim," he said, "is to have all African children in school at the end of ten years."

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

SUPPORT THE KRESS STRIKERS

Last Wednesday morning the girls employed in the Kress store on Central avenue went out on strike. Briefly stated, the girls, 97 per cent of them, wanted the Retail Clerks Local 777, AFL to bargain for them with a management that has shown cynical disregard for the rights and welfare of its employees.

JOHN M. LEE

At the time of the strike, the girls were being paid approximately $26 for a forty-hour week. There has been the usual attempts at intimidationand coercion, and every weakness in the ranks of the strikers and the community was exploited for the benefit of Kress.

The matter of a consent election, that had long been requested, and ignored by management, suddenly became the Kress theme song; it was obvious that the reported sum of $24,000 made during one of the Christmas weeks last year was the inspiration for the desire of the management to get the public in the right frame of mind to cross the picket line and spend another fortune for Christmas.

But the public wasn't buying. Only a handful of shoppers went into the store the first few days, and by the end of the week, customers were few and far between, a clear indication that the the community understands and cooperates. The girls who walk up and down in front of the Kress Store on Central Avenue want the public to know they appreciate the able assist.

All is not cooperation however. The ugly word, 'SCAB' is written all over this strike in big letters. The store, empty of customers, is plentifully supplied with clerks who can't understand how taking another fellow's job when he is striking, is equivalent to kicking a man when he is down. It is hardly sporting, and it represents a ghoulish sort of practice that brings little hoonr.

Charitably, it must be presumed that the girls who walked across the picket line to make it possible for Kress to rake in the gold for Christmas, don't know any better. Certainly, we must understand that they need a job and can't do any better, or they wouldn't be strikebreakers. actually their status is purely temporary; they are merely too being used in an attempt to a job on the regular employee

They cannot hope to continue on the job when the strike ov-settled, and facing themselves in a mirror each day must cre-a strange reaction. No matter how you struggle to justify strikebreaking is a nasty bus-ness that calls for a compromi with the strongest elements good character.

Butting in on another's je when he is trying to improve h status and guarantee his futu security is a boost for the trad tion of slavery. It takes a me dlesome busybody to do a sca job.

Somehow, last week, the ma agement of the Kress store ma aged to unload the false impre sion that the strike had be settled by firing the strik employees and recognizing union through the scabs. In my years of labor reporting have never encountered such phony, two-faced attempt to the public. In the first place, union is represented by the on the street who ask you to buy at Kress' until they given recognition.

The employees in the store strikebreakers who positi will not be accepted into union under any circumstan The strike is not settled. It not be settled until Kress ognizes the union and FIRES scabs. It may take some timeli bring this about, but every l of the AFL is behind these who parade in front of the K store asking you to walk the street a block or two buy somewhere else until the won their fight.

Bright spot in the strike is community response. While Kress management has be able to exploit the economic security of enough people in community to get a full of strikebreakers, it is heartete ing to know that most of people in the community a passing by the store, and som of them stop long encugh to say "I belong to a union; I'll neve buy in there as long as th picket line is out front."

....It is good shopping to buy a store where the employees well paid and properly respec ed. Their satisfaction and se curity is an extra dividend fo you. The girls who work Kress' on Central Avenue weren getting a square deal an they're out pounding the pave ments asking for your suppo to see that they get it. Don cross their picket line.

Bulgaria's Government Defended in Letter to New York Times; Acts, Not Ideas, Crime

The New York Times, it seems, published an editorial recently condemning the action of the Bulgarian government in trying in court nine persons who were convicted of inciting and abetting sabotage, etc.

B. Athanassov, Charge d'Affaires of the People's Republic of Bulgaria, Washington, answered the editorial in a letter which we think so good we are printing it in its entirety.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your editorial of Nov. 24 entitled "The Balkan Terror" you comment on the recent trial of nine "Socialists" in Bulgaria and state that "allrights and freedoms have disappeared and the Communist dictatorship rules supreme."

Your statement is unwarranted. The court sentence in question was issued after due process of law, and the accused were sentenced to prison terms for crimes they confessed. They were not lynch victims.

These people were not convicted because of their political ideas but for their criminal activities. They incited and abetted sabotage, disruption of our national economy, violence and terroristic action. This they did in conspiracy with the remnants of fascist groups and with encouragement from abroad. It is well known that certain governments have launched a crusade against communism throughout the world and in doing so have allied themselves with reactionaries and even with Fascists. Faced with such animosity from certain powers, our Government has to face the situation and thwart all attempts to transform Bulgaria ihto another Greece—a country torn by civil war and ruled by foreigners.

You threaten us with action before the United Nations. I believe that the fact that certain governments dislike our interna policy is no matter to be dis cussed by the United Nations.

We do not deny freedom of ex pression of opinion as long as does not take the form of incite ment to violation of the law We do deny freedom to peopl who plot to destroy the achieve ments of the revolution of Sep tember, 1944, which gave ou people full human rights, eco nomic security and opened th road to prosperity for all. Ther is no freedom for anyone t preach race or religious hatre Absolute equality of all peopl before the law is assured in Bu garia. We do not have sign reading "Whites only."

I wonder why Bulgaria is c such concern to you. You do no protest when Spanish Commu nists and Greek Democrats fac firing squads. It seems that op position to reactionary and fas cist government does not wi your sympathy. How could ou people, then, trust your sincerit when you preach one thing an practice another both at hom and abroad?

The Bulgarian people are en gaged in a great task—to buil socialism in their country. The are building enthusiastically and they will quietly remov from their path any obstacle placed by anyone.

Ethel Gordon Is Hostess to Brilliant Holiday Party Honoring Newspaper Man

Pittsburgh Courier's managing editor and board member, Bill Nunn, reached a most fitting climax of a fortnight-long visit last Saturday, when as guest of honor to one of the season's swankier affairs hosted by Attorney and Mrs. Walter L. Gordon, Jr. The elegant function was given in the beautiful West End home of the Mitchel Miles, 3715 W. 27th street.

One hundred and fifty guests were on hand for the occasion. Mrs. Ethel Gordon, wife of the host and former Pittsburgh Courier columnist, was at her best as hostess. Her beauty and charm exuded throughout the capacious drawing room and ante rooms, where spirited guests were assembled.

Among the guests were notables of the professional, business, newspaper and entertainment world. Out-of-town guests included Dr. Gertrude Curtis of New York, Mr. and Mrs. William Upshaw of Philadelphia, Miles and Alberta Putnam of Detroit, Teresa Lampkin of Miami, Fla., and Paris, Calif., songwriter Andy Razaff of New York, and Freddie Jenkins, New York.

Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Jarone W. McClain, Hubert and Lola Davis, Gerald and Lillian Cumber, Rubin and Julia Richardson, Gideon and Bueala Honore, Forest and Bessie Gant.

Eunice Wilson, Henry Lewis, Herbert Snipes, U. S. Thompson, LeRoy Moore, Lee Dale Thomas, Freddie Jenkins, and scores of others. Screen actress Louise Beavers acted as mistress of ceremonies during the entertainment period; Gid Honore was at the Steinway, with Rubye Barbee turning in a fine report in the vocal department. Lilette Brown in a smart monologue were definitely fine entertainment. Mrs. Bessie Howard, in an impromptu moment at the microphone, displayed some fine talent as drawing room entertainment.

Guest honoree Bill Nunn responded to the fine honor extended him with some healthy lauditory remarks about the hospitality of the Far West and his host and hostess for the occasion.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE PRE-YULETIDE FETES are numerous and very gay, promising a Christmas season that will be in a definite whirl until the New Year bows in. Striking a perfect note, and setting a pace that will never be equaled, was the presentation of the "Messiah" held Sunday afternoon all over the City of Angels. However, we speak specifically of the presentation at the Second Baptist Church, where it was our pleasure to listen to the more than 500 voices coming from a choir of many races. At the helm of Sunday's activities was Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow, choir directress of the church, who shared her honors with Edna Porter, Robert V. Edwards of the 8th and Towne Church, Fannie Benjamin, Genevia Bass Moore, and last but not least, the very distinguished department of the University of California, who Professor Raymond Moreman, head of the music directed the mammouth five hundred voice choir. More than two thousand persons were present to hear and enjoy the rendition of Handel's Messiah in a program that lasted from 3 to 5 p.m. While watching the fashionably dressed assemble, caught a glimpse of Pat McCloud in a party of four charming matrons; Gwen Andrew, with her mother, Mrs. Harris; Phyllis Hoxie Allen, looking quite chic in Navy Blue topped by fur scarf, Bea Markey and Barbara Dell were also among the lucky listeners able to get seats; had quite a chat with Rev. Chalmers Gaithers at the close of the affair, and couldn't help but note the crowd that gathered around Bill de Valentine giving him due credit for wonderful solo work, along with Margaret Pett. For the true critical review of Sunday's musical read what Albert McNeil has to say in his music column. However, you may take it from one who knows, not what the critics write, that Sunday's presentation was next to perfect, and orchids should go to the Church Federation, who sponsored the city wide musical . . .

This writer finds great pleasure in mentioning the work being done by women in our churches. You will find your social calendar to be filled with outstanding church doings come Sunday, for during the afternoon the spotlight will fall on the annual Poinsettia Tea given by the Lightbearers Guild of 8th and Towne Church, holding sway at the home of the newly elected president, Mrs. Mitchell Miles. Fashions will be the keynote of the event, with som 12 well dressed women serving as manniquins. The affair is open to the public, and all proceeds will go toward the new recreational center of the church. Jay Fairchild, Lola Beavers, and oodles more will be doing their bit to put the affair over the top . . .

Same afternoon, but just around the corner at the new Wilfandel Club House. The Independent Guild, headed by charming Gwendolyn Diggs Russell, will hold its annual Tea, given to benefit its scholarship fund. As quite as it's kept, this group of women has been responsible for many a young person making his way through college. According to Leontyne King and Gwen Valentine, two diligent workers, the guild has plans for schooling many more deserving students. Among the gents and ladies about town who have been recipients of the scholarship fund are, Albert McNeil, EAGLE music critic; Jackie Freeze, Bill Elkins, to name a few. A surprise program will be presented during the afternoon and the public is invited to attend. How about red lettering these two events, making them a "must" on your Sunday list of activities, am quite sure it will be my pleasure to see you at one place or the other . . .

HOLIDAY BRIDES

Like the month of June, Christmas takes its toll of brides. Coming as a note of interest to many Angelenos is the announcement from New Orleans, Louisiana that popular Paulette Dejoie, the little deb, who spent her college days here, will be receiving felicitations as Mrs. Turner C. Johnson, Jr., on December 26. The announcement was made by her prominent parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. V. Dejoie. Am quite sure, Maethilde Kenner, Ella Pruden, Cookie Cook, and all the girls in the Crop 'N' Tails, would like to make the trip back for the reception. However, since the trip will be next to impossible all join in saying Congrats to "Potsy". . . . The Frank Eaglesons (Rudy Whitmore) received friends on Sunday afternoon at a formal wedding reception. Vows were spoken several days ago at the Catholic church. Following the reception, the newlyweds, their hostesses and a gay group of collegiate friends enjoyed an after party at the home of Elaine Corbin. Rudy, a USC coed, is an officer of the Sigma chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha. Her better half, Frank, holds membership in the popular Royal Syndicators. . . . Another marriage note of interest has taken place in the family of Dr. P. Price Cobbs, for his eldest son, Prince Roland has stepped from the single realm and his bride is the lovely Sadie Victoria Lowe, daughter of Mrs. Robbie Slaton. The couple has chosen Friday, Dec. 10, for the wedding reception. . . . While mentioning brides of the month, Dorothy Ledd's big day is Sunday, and Juanita Lemmons and Smith Blake will recite vows on the 19th at Neighborhood Community Church.

HERE AND THERE

Yelled myself voiceless at the S.C.-Notre Dame game Saturday afternoon. Took note of Johnnie Alston doing the same. Terribly sorry I missed the Walt Gordon party for the visiting Mr. Nunn of the Courier managing department. The affair was held at the Miles home. George Cutler made recordings of the fine entertainmnt and all had the perfect time, according to reports from my girl Friday. . . . Bet Shirley Spencer is breathing a cry of relief, for she shouldered the chairmanship of the Alpha Gamma Fiesta on Saturday night. The affair was so very unique and well attended the Greeks are still talking about it between classes. As per usual, Leonard Beavers assisted with the raffle of the evening, while Dr. and Mrs. Gregory Murray (Mildred Gouthier), Dr. and Mrs. Delo Gray, Peggy Queton and Barbara James, visiting AKAs from Wilberforce and many another looked on. Pat Fox Jefflyn and Betty Brown along with Alma Phillips and Elenor Rosemond were committee workers for the affair . . .

On Saturday a charming group of matrons will gather at the

Star Studded Musicales To Augment Reception Fund Of Nat'l Musicians Meet

That prolific segment of Los Angeles society known for their appreciation of the finer things of life is all agog over the "Artist's Night" concert scheduled for 8:40 Thursday evening, December 16 at the People's Independent Church of Christ. This first in a series of star-studded musicales presents "This is my best" by some of the most outstanding musicians in the Southland. The effort is under the sponsorship of the Los Angeles Musicians Association and is being directed by H. Hamilton Williams, an impressario new to this section of the country. Dr. Williams, now minister of music at Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, is compiling a "Who's Who Among Negro Musicians in Los Angeles and vicinity. A large number of the artists who will register in this volume will be presented in this series of concerts, the benefits from which will constiture the reception fund for the forthcoming convention of the National Association of Negro Musicians, Inc.

Among the artists to be heard in the first concert are Margaret Pett, Josephine Cooper and Mary Martin Young, sopranos; Katherine Parlms and Eloise Crawford, contraltos; Jimmy Lucas and George Smith, tenors; Charles Gordon and Duke Williams, baritones; Roy E. Glenn, Sr., bass; Clifford Bradshaw and Irene Shannon, pianists; Zoe Wise, violinist; Almita Johnson, violist; and Jane Johnson, organist. A speiial feature will be the new String Ensemble of Lincoln Memorial Church under the direction of Irwin Young.

In addition to the immediate financial goal, the series is planned to create an opportunity for some of our more or less obscure but talented musicians to be presented to the public along with those of more established reputation. Also the concerts should help increase the appreciation of the community for the eforts of all musicians who attempt to bring it the best in music as well as for the music itself.

Tentative plans for future concerts includes more "Artist's Nights", an anthology of organ music by prominent organists, a R. Nathaniel Dest Festival and other events of equal potential.

Guests attending this first concert may register and have notices for all future events mailed them. During intermission and immediately following the musicale, a coffee hour in the Youth Canteen of the church has been planned to afford opportunity for the artists to meet all their friends.

Scroller Pledge Club Will Sponsor Rooters Rally

Friends, guests and students will be warmly entertained by the Scroller Pledge Club at the season's highlight affair, the Football Rooters Rally. Dancing, games and refreshments will be the order of the evening, which will climax the pre-Rose Bowl fun and frolic.

Students from all the local schools and colleges will wear their rooter caps and colors to make for real collegiate fun.

Lewis Foster of Pepperdine, vice-president of the club, and James C. Johnson of USC, committee chairman, state that it will be a gala affair and will serve to create a high collegiate spirit for the forthcoming Rose Bowl game.

SOCIAL HEIGHTERS, the outstanding social club of Boyle Heights staged their introductory dance on Sunday afternoon at the Alpha Bowling Club. The members are interested in doing charity work. Social Heighters Give First Annual Dance at Alpha Bowling Club

Organized a year ago, with an outstanding program of social and charity work, the Social Heighters of Boyle Heights took a definite place on the roster of outstanding clubs of the city.

On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 5, Alpha Bowling Club was the scene of the first annual dance to be given by the group. A guest list of 300 friends from Los Angeles and environ were much in evidence to congratulate the girls on their anniversary. Mr. Bill Slayton served as master of ceremonies presenting the members as follows: President, Viola Moberly; vice prexy, Connie Plummer; Antoinette Lomack, secretary; Clara Massey, treasurer; Minnie Myers, reporter; Gwendolyn Griggs, social chairman; Celestine Lester, Jacquline Slayton, Lonita Watson, Cecila La River, Florence White, Florence Garrison members.

The girls wore chic black cocktail dresses with orchid corsages. Among the outstanding guests was Miss Hadda Brooks, who might become adviser tof the club.

The music for the occasion was played by a fine combo of the Gerald Wilson Orchestra. The guests enjoyed sipping a special "mixed punch," and the usual grand time was had by all.

As a gesture for the Christmas season, the members plan to give baskets to needy families and to take part in the Deserving Boys' Xmas Banquet, by sending deserving youngsters from the Boyle Heights district to the mammoth affair Xmas morning at Elks Hall.

Weds Lovely Doris Maxwell In Picturesque Ceremony

Lovely Doris Maxwell became the bride of James Arnold McNeely, well known artist, Mason and member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity last Saturday night at the Vallee Vista, 2408 Cimmarron, at 7:00 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Maxwell of Terrehaute, Indiana, Mr. McNeely is the son of Mrs. Annie McNeely of this city.

Promptly at the appointed hour, the Supreme recording artist, Bobby Pittman, sang "Because," 'I Love You Truly" and several other bridal hymns. The wedding march was beautifully played by Mrs. Cordelia Simon.

The bride, given in marriage by Dr. Albert Patrick, carried a bouquet of bridal rases and orchids. In the beautiful setting of flowers and alter, she looked as serene and charming as a Gainsborough painting, she wore a slipper satin gown with a bodice richly worked with seed pearl and fine lace, buttoned down the back. The triple illusion veil of misty marquisette was topped by a tiara of crown seed pearls and complete with yards of billowy satin train.

WORLD TRAVELED

Mr. McNeely met his bride two years ago in San Francisco where she was visiting her sister. She has traveled extensively having been a WAC in the U. S. Army. She was quite at home while in France and Germany, speaking the languages of both countries fluently. The former Miss Maxwell is a talented artist in her own right and plans to continue her studies in that field.

The couple plan a spring time honeymoon in Mexico or Indiana. Due to the illness of the bride's mother, her parents were unable to make the plane trip to California for the wedding. However they felicitated their children through long distance telephone call.

BOHEMIAN FETE

A few intimate friends of the couple completed the evening's celebration with an after-party in the McNeely Art Studio, where food and merriment, strictly in true Bohemian fashion, not unlike Greenwich Village (the Art Colony of New York) held sway until the dawn.

The couple will make their home here in Los Angeles.

Gwendolyn Campbell Wears Gown of Charm in Marriage Ceremony at Casa Rafael

On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 5, 1948 at four o'clock, amidst a few close friends, in a setting of autumn beauty, at Casa Rafael, the marriage of Gwendoyn Marie Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benjamin Campbell and Mr. Samuel Jonathon Jones son of Mr. John L. Jones of Pasadena, California was solemized.

Dignity and Sincerity added to the charm and beauty of the ceremony. There were four attendants assisting the bride, Miss Maxine Johnson and Miss Jean Brown, bridesmaids, both wearing pastel green, Mrs. Shirley Clark, matron fo honor in yellow, Miss Dou Dell Gibson, maid of honor in orchid, little Susan Webb, flower girl in pink and blue.

Assisting the groom was Mr. Stanley Jamerson who was best man and also brother-in-law of the groom.

Miss Jackie Lewis sang "Ave Maria" and "Because," both beautifully rendered.

The bride wore a hand made bridal gown of antique white satin. Mrs. Scott of "Gordon Sister's Dress Shop" chose a medieval design because she felt that this gown should have "timeless charm" to transcend every change in fashion. The neck yoke had a delicate lace-like tracery of seed pearls. The seed pearl trimming was repeated in the coronet head dress which carried a hip length veil.

The bride's bouquet was made of white roses and lillies of the valley.

The mother of the bride was lovely in white crepe trimmed in gold beads.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Arthur B. Campbell.

Officiating was the Reverend H. Mansfield Collins of the Neighborhood Community Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones traditionally cut the wedding cake, the bride threw her bouquet and after admiring their many gifts, slipped quietly away.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones are at home to their friends at 3667 Ruthelen St.

Among the diners noted were Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Cain, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Booker, Dr. and Mrs. Cliff Gordon, Dr. and rs. Warner Wright, Mrs. Maude Rambeau, Dr. Ona Barker and party including his mother; Mrs. Zora Williams and party of ten; Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

Recently the column commented on how certain sources were calling Mr. Truman's plays for him while he was on vacation in Florida—the Key West. At the same time these sources were contradicting themselves by saying the President had released no reports whatever on his future policies, national or international. Thty had him taxing more and spending more; they had him down for more New Deal and greater New Deal. In a day or two, had it not been for one LITTLE incident, I think they would have had his cabinet picked.

That LITTLE incident was the President's issuing a report saying that he had said nothing whatever about the coming policies; nothing about new New Deals, no more taxing and spending, or cutting the military program's budget. He neither affirmed nor denied the reports, but merely asked that they cease their agitating. Had you, or I, been in his position, would we not have said SHUTUP?

REVOLUTIONS IN HISTORY

Now I don't like big scares and gobblins; that's why I refuse to see any in the Chinese Revolution. Maybe you've seen them already, but I have not. And why not examine the situation more carefully before drawing a conclusion? It pleases certain people greatly when you really fall for their propaganda in the daily newspapers. And they'd be very glad if you would write to your representatives asking them to "do something to help those poor Chinese people win that war."

Of course, the big kink in the rope is that Chinese are fighting Chinese and don't need help from anybody. The coin simply has two heads and you need not attempt to make it stand on edge, although you often see the words "lost" and "sunk" and "no help."

China is lost, in a certain sense, but merely for the best interest of the people. Feudalism is on its way out; corrupt government officials are trying to get out with their necks . . . and the people want something better all around. They are tired of war and tired being hungry, filthy, and needy.

Last week I mentioned a history lesson. But it seems that a glimpse at the past should be sufficient; at 1917, when all the world was busy at war, the Russian people took the initiative to challenge the government of their own country through a revolt. For some long decades they had been slaves, called "serfs," and bound strictly to the land. While at the same time, the Czars enjoyed the best that life had to afford. They were living in a period similar to the not-long-dead Louis XIV reign in France. In the end, however, they all met the same fate—lost their heads. That Russian revolt was led by three brave young common men, Stalin as they came to call him because of the part he played (meaning steel), Lenin, and Trotsky.

The campaign was long and tough, but well worthwhile to the people, it seems. For they were fighting against—as are the Chinese people—leaders who have proven themselves negligent, greedy, and incapable of governing rather than ruling people. Not one American gun, bullet, or dollar am I willing to see go to the rescue of the type of leaders China has. YOU have the right to check whether or not America aided the GOVERNMENT IN POWER during the Russian Revolution . . . as homework. But why couldn't we have stayed neutral?

Beyond question, Russia proved to be one of our most valuable allies during the war. IF its policy has has changed so greatly since that time, I think there must have been a reason . . . and not that world imperialism gag. During the war, we loved the name, the people, and the leader. Now, we're almost scared to utter a word concerning the Soviet Union. And most people connect Russia with the revolution in China, although they're not in any way related.

While Chiang Kai-shek might be an honest leader and interested in the best thing for his people, we can't forget the saying, "You can judge a person by the company he keeps."

To Install Hahn Chairman Of Green Meadow Scout District

On Thursday, December 9th, Councilman Kenneth Hahn will be installed as Chairman of the Boy Scout's Green Meadows District, at the Hope Reform Church, 344 West Florence Ave.

Since Councilman Hahn has been active in youth affairs before he was elected to the City Council and also on the faculty at George Pepperdine College in the Political Science Department, he was elected Chairman of the Boy Scout's Green Meadows District.

Hahn said that this is one of the most outstanding organizations in the United States and he urges every boy who is qualified to join the Scouts.

The Green Meadows District is from Slauson Avenue to Rosecrans and from Vermont to Alameda Strtet.

A fine program is planned in addition to the installation ceremony, and all local Scouters and their families are urged to attend. Among those planning to attend from the Manchester Lions Club are President John Powell, Fred Voerg and Paul Smith.

Green Meadows Boy Scouts Meet Thurs.

A very fine program has been arranged. Mr. Alfred Hopkins, display advertising representative of the Los Angeles Examiner, will speak.

We will present our "news" scrapbook of clippings to the meeting and plan to introduce each publication representative who is present.

Friends of the Boy Scouts are cordially invited to attend. Carl Ehrhardt is District Scout Executive, Green Meadows.

Lafayette in Campaign to Create Unity

The territory around the Lafayette Junior High School "has become a more joyful place to live, work and play," since the people have made a practice of joining in activities carried on by the school." This statement was made recently to the members of the Ebell Press club, when Leon L. Kaplan boys' vice-principal of the school spoke to the members present of the use of the school as a community center. So successful is the program now going on that it has attracted national attention, he said.

Delihquency Reduced

This district is a large one with many racial problems which have led to problems in the past. During the past year, however, delinquency has been reduced. There was no sign of damages during the Halloween season and fewer arrests were necessary than formerly. The district served by the school extends from north of Union Street to 40th St. and from Main St. to the river. It includes an area in which newcomers arrive from races. In the school Mr. Kaplan stated that a turnover last year was 232 per cent, which shows how many of the people living there are transient.

The school now has 60 activities for groups from small children to adults. It is the only school in the city that has full time Social Workers hired by the Board of Education. (Director, Cliford Van Hardis; Directress, Ruth L. Redd.) With a staff of 50 persons working under them.

"Gangs are invited in that once used to be members of the district gang warfare. So we may aid them to find solutions to their problems. This was an area of highest delinquency. The arrests have bene reduced, fewer girls and boys are on probation. "We have proved that delinquency can be a prevention if a community is serious and willing to assist in giving donations, money and service to this cause."

What Mr. Kaplan stated to the Ebell club pertaining to their assistance toward a purchase of a television set, holds good for the civic minded people of this area, to assist in any way possible to promote programs of this type and keep youth happy and out of trouble. To make this a bigger and better Christmas for the Youth of Lafayette Center the Volunteers, Workers, and the youth groups would appreciate any remembrance that you as readers and as well wishers will contribute.

Items needed are: They need not be new.

Tables for games (may be repaired by the craft work shop members. Toys (repaired at the toy work shop). Games. Piano for extra club room, sport equipment.

Churches and social agencies have co-operated in every way, Mr. Kaplan states. The program is one of expansion and extension. (For further information call the Center's Office, PR. 9523 or PR. 3386.

New Clubhouse For Playground

Councilman Don A. Allen has announced that the City Recreation and Park Commission has authorized construction of an addition to the present community clubhouse building at Ross Snyder Playground located at 1501 E. 41st St., and architects have been assigned to prepare plans for the structure to contain a large recreation hall and other facilities.

This addition will help relieve the congestion due to the popularity and heavy use given the present building. Councilman Allen says promotion of many and adequate playground facilities is one of the best means to combat juvenile delinquency.

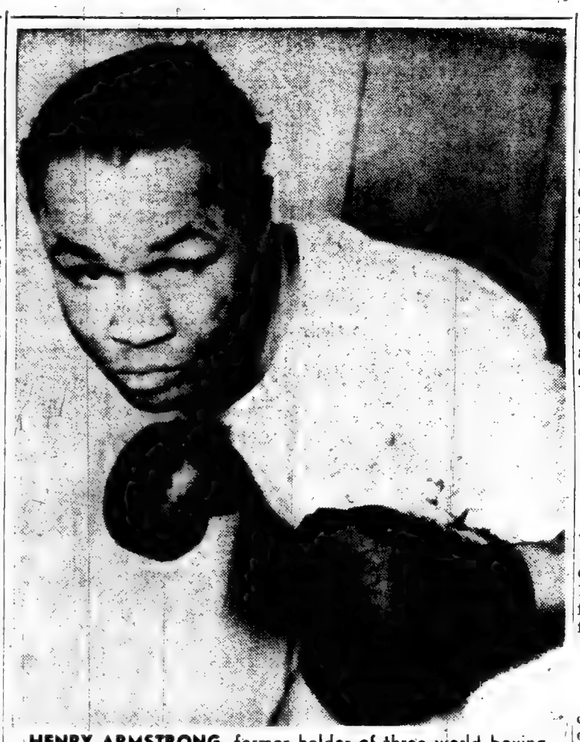
Hit Run Driver Causes Death Of Watts Man

Coiling live wires brought down by a speeding car at the corner of 97th and Hickory place around 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3 snuffed out the life of Robert Lewis, 44, a pedestrian, as he was on his way to his wife and 16-months-old child, waiting in their home at 9535 Croesus ave.



According to witnesses, a short while before the tragedy, a speeding car swerved into the light pole supporting high-tension wires near the corner of 97th and Hickory pl., and left it leaning perilously. A few minutes later a second car struck the same pole and brought it crashing to the ground. The driver, apparently panicked by the sight of live wires dangling in mid-air, trailing across parked cars and coiling and spitting on the street, leaped from his car and ran.

The sound of the impact of car and pole and the sudden darkness resulting from broken connections, brought people to the doors of their homes and according to one housewife the tragedy followed in rapid sequence thus:

A group of three people, two women and a man, approached the southwest corner of the street and paused a moment before the man started to walk in an easterly direction along 97th st. Suddenly as he was within about 10 feet of the opposite curb his whole body was a pillar of living flame that described a writhing arc of blue fire, and lay twitching and flaming before the horror stricken gaze of the helpless spectators until it was a charred and blackened mass.

Firemen and policemen called to the scene took over the sad busines of having the power cut off and removing the body.

Electric service in the area was interrupted from 7:30 p.m., when the pole went down, until about 2:30 a.m. Saturday. The police are seeking the drivers of the two cars and it is expected will have the men in for investigation soon.

HENRY ARMSTRONG, former holder of three world boxing titles, will be on hand Christmas morning at the California Eagle's annual Deserving Boy's dinner, along with other stars of the boxing and theatrical world. Armstrong will relate his ring experiences and give a special talk on the art of "clean living," the kind of living that helped him to annex three world's boxing titles.

Scouts Crown Helen Hirooka Safety Queen

Green Meadows District, Los Angeles Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, has crowned a Safety Queen. She is attractive Helen Hirooka, Jordan High School Senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yoshiicki Hirooka, 1376 East 109th Street. Queen Helen will reign over the Green Meadows Scout Pedestrian Safety Campaign with Co-Queen, Shirley Turner, of Fremont High School.

Crowning Helen as Safety Queen was one of the highlights of the campaign conducted by Green Meadows Scouts and Leaders to reduce the number of pedestrian traffic accidents in the south Los Angeles area.

The safety theme of "Heads Up! Don't Be Struck Out!" has been brought to the attention of thousands of pedestrians through the demonstrations of "realistic first aid" that shows the consequences of careless drivers and pedestrians and the "Picketing for Safety" on the busy intersections with Scouts carrying picket signs saying "Heads Up! Don't Be Struck Out!" and the distribution of printed "Rules for Safe Walking."

Safety Queens Helen and Shirley spent a day at Warner Brothers Studios as the guests of Miss Janis Paige, Warner Star and Los Angeles Council Safety Queen. Miss Hirooka and Miss Turner toured the studio and lunched with Stars Edmund O'Brien and Alex Smith.

Sir Stork On Second Visit To Whitson's

December 4 was an eventful date in the homelife of the Whitson family, of 2118 E. 98th st. It started out that way several years ago when a special delivery package was dropped by old Mr. Stork on the Whitson doorstep to be gathered into a soft blue bundle and labeled Stevie for home and cuddling purposes.

Then just a year to the day the old bird repeated himself, varying the delivery only by the color of the blanket which was pink and ticketed Gwendolyn C. this time.

So papa Alvin Whitson and mama Dorothy (nee See) had the birthday problem simplified and celebrated for both 2-year-old Stevie and 1-year-old Gwendolyn with three candles and two cakes last Saturday.

The nightly program for each of the seven nights was assigned to an auxiliary church organization. The senior mission, matron council led off, the Deacons and the of faith and the woman's council, Brotherhood followed, the prayer circle, early morning prayer band and the hour of power came next, the church school, BTU and the tabernacle civic club took over to be folowed by the tabernacle choir, the senior choir and the usher board. The sermon was followed by a surprise presentation to Pastor Ferrell and his wife. The gifts consisted of a bouquet of American Beauty roses to Mrs. Ferrell and a four-piece gray suit and hat to match to the pastor.

At 3 p.m. the Rev. Mr. Anderson of McCoy Memorial church delivered a sermon of beauty and power. The ministers' Fellowship Hour added their part to make the afternoon interesting and enjoyable. Thirteen new members were added to the church.

Sunday night service was conducted by the Rev. r. Green, associate pastor of Tabernacle of Faith., Monday brought the week's celebration to an end on the high note of an elaborate banquet. The dining hall, bright in its red and white decorations with the soft light of candles gleaming on white napery, crystal goblets and shining silver, was a setting for the crowd of happy guests and their honorees, the pastor and his wife. The full amount realized for the church was $2142.

Among the numerous presents to Rev. and Mrs. Ferrel were a diamond ring from her husband to Mrs. Ferrell and a check from the church for $1071 to both.

Lincoln North PTA Presented Charter By Union Council

The charter issued by Compton Union Council to Lincoln North PTA was presented to that organization by the president, Ablyne Winge, during the meeting at the school, 118th and Compton, last Friday evening, Dec. 3.

In celebration of the event, Program Chairman Hensley followed the opening routine after a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Tyler with a program of carols and a clever and entertaining skit by fifth and sixth graders.

The "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" was beautifully executed on the piano by Mrs. Johnson, one of Lincoln's teachers, and R. Criswell, guest speaker, was introduced by Principal Yates. The theme of Mr. Criswell's talk was "Racial Problems and How to Deal With Them." He was followed by Principal Yates, who spoke informaly about how to know your school.

PTA RECEIVES CHARTER

Following the speakers of the evening, Mrs. Jack Pickell of Compton Union Council, assured the large group of parents present and the officers of the body of thew hole-hearted support and cooperation of the council in their work and offered any services at the command of that body in all constructive efforts of Lincoln's PTA.

Ritter Pupils Benefit From Clothes Drive

Tuesday of last week was a gala and happy day at Ritter School, 111th and Watts ave. On the afternoon of that day the Forty-second Street School PTA, which has assumed the sponsorship of Ritter, reached the culminating point of a clothes drive for the benefit of Ritter pupils.

The children saw great cartons unloaded and brought into the school and waited eagerly to find out what was in them. It was not long before their curiosity was rewarded.

Those boxes held the warm coats, pretty dresses and boys' trousers and sweaters and shirts that will mean a happy and well-dressed school year to a lot of children who might either have to stay at home or come to school ill-clad.

Boxed by sizes and ready for distribution, these hundreds of lovely garments, not shoddy cast-off wares, but fine tweeds and woolens and cotton prints, brought sparkling joy to a lot of small faces and happy hearts.

Forty-second Street School also sends Ritter $10 a month to buy milk for the girls and boys. These are some of the things for which the school's traditional ceremony of thanks was celebrated last week.

The preparation for this beautiful feature began a week before the event by the erection of a harvest shrine in the lower hall of the building. Here at a designated time the classes gathered, five at a time, each class contributing one number of a program of thanks for our homes, our churches, our schools and our country. At the close of the program each child and each adults drops into the bowl a note, or in the case of the smaller children who cannot yet write, a picture they have drawn descriptive of the thing for which they are most thankful.

Bellflower Room Mothers Meet At Tea

Among the guests of Mrs. A. Jordan, 8748 Marlene ave., Bellflower, at a tea given last week to room mothers of the Compton Union Council were the members of Lincoln North's newly-organized room mothers committee, Mmes. Rhoda Veals, Oliver Bennett and Anna Thomas.

The exchange of ideas was especially interesting to the group from the Watts area who are planning to put some of them into immediate operation for the benefit of their own schoool and community.

The delegation from Lincoln North remarked on the gracious reception accorded them by the individual members and officers of the organization, included among whom were Mmes. Pickell, Spurgeon, Bennea, DeSylva, Williams, English, Treedway and hostess Jordan.

Polio Victim On The Road To Normal Health

Acie Lee Satcher Holland, a former resident of Palm Lane, now residing with her parents at 2114 E. 118th st., was discharged from General Hospital last week and is well on the way to recovery from an attack of polio.

DOROTHY DONEGAN will be on hand Christmas morning at the Elks Hall to lend her charm and talents to the Annual California Eagle Christmas Morning Deserving Boy's dinner, with festivities getting under way promptly at nine A.M. Other stars of stage, screen and radio will also take part in the mammoth entertainment program being planned for the local newsies.

Jordan High School Students Act To Improve Deportment

The sound-thinking young people who make up the main body of Jordan High School's students, were in a serious mood Monday, Nov. 29, when they met in two groups to listen to requested advice and suggestions on problems posed by the unseemly conduct of a few of their number, that reflects on the school and the community as well.

The invited speakers were police officers from the Watts juvenile detail, I. V. Wilson and E. C. Henry.

Mrs. Wilson talked to the girls and Mr. Henry to the boys. The theme of both talks was prevention of incidents such as the one that occurred recently involving much unfavorable publicity in the press over a minor quarrel betwen two adolescent girls.

The two assemblages, which weer presided over by their respective student council presidents, decided to take the matter of prevention of future incidents of the kind into their own hands and promised a vigorous program of education for the purpose of spreading the gospel of individual responsibility for the over-all conduct and repute of the school.

In this program the two high points were conceded to be: (1) Do not congregate where and when and when quarrels or heated arguments are under way; (2) Do not agitate such arguments by comments or otherwise. These two things it was admitted were to blame in large part for the importance assumed by the small event of the past week.

Principal Mann and Assistant Principal Sutherland lent their presence and approval to the council's stand and expect very good results to attend their purpose.

New Watts Church

The new building approaching completion at the corner of Grape and Century will house another religious congregation in Watts. The new church will be pastored by the Rev. Mrs. S. Davis, who comes to her new pastorate from Vicksburg, Miss.

The dedicatory services, according to the Rev. Davis, will be observed on July 1, 1949, if all plans go as expected by her and her enthusiastic membership.

THE REALM OF RELIGION

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Letters in the Bible. Lesson Text and Outline Philippians 1:1-11; 4:8-9. Motto Text 1. John 5:13.

Introduction

The letter to the Philippians, the least dogmatic of all the Pauline writings, contains an unusual amount of personal information and is described as "the tastiest and most friendly of letters."

Comments

1. Paul mentions the church before the ministers, because the ministers are for the church, for their edification and benefit, not the churches for the ministers, for their dignity, dominion, and wealth.

They are not only the servants of Christ, but the servants of the church for his sake. The Christians here are called saints; set apart for God, or sanctified by his Spirit, either by visible profession orreal holiness. And those who are not really saints on earth will never be saints in heaven.

This lesson is directed to all the saints, one as well as another, even the meanest, the poorest, and those of the least gifts. Christ makes no difference; the rich and the poor meet together in him: and the ministers must not make a difference in their care and tenderness upon these accounts.

Saints are accepted only by virtue of their being in Christ Jesus, or as they are Christians. Out of Christ the best saint will appear sinners, and unable to stand before God. It is directed to the ministers, or church-officers with the bishops and deacons, the bishops or elders, in the first place, whose office it was to teach and rule, and the deacons, or overseers of the poor, who took care of the outward business of the house of God: the [illegible] the furniture, the maintenance of the ministers, and provision for the poor.

In the New Testament, the [illegible] which is wished is spiritual [illegible], grace and peace, the free favour and good-will of God, and [illegible] the blessed fruits and effects of it, and that from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus, jointly from them both, though in a different way. First: No peace without God. Inward peace springs from a sense of divine favour.

Second: No grace and peace but from God our Father, the fountain and original of all blessings, the Father of lights, from whom cometh down every good and perfect gift. Third. No grace and peace from God our Father, but in and through our Lord Jesus Christ. Christ, as Mediator, is the channel of conveyance of all spiritual blessing to the church, and directs the disposal of them to all his members. Paul remembered them with joy. At Philippi he was maltreated; there he was scourged and put into the stocks, and for the present saw little of the fruit of his labour; and yet he remembers Philippi with joy.

He looked upon his sufferings for Christ as his credit, his comfort, his crown, and was pleased at every mention of the place where he suffered. So far was he from being ashamed of them, or loth to hear of the scene of his sufferings, that he remembered it with joy.

Thanksgiving must have a part in every prayer; and whatsoever is the matter of our rejoicing ought to be the matter of our thanksgiving.

What we have the comfort of, God must have the glory of. He thanked God, as well as made requests with joy. As holy joy is the heart and soul of thankful praise, so thankful praise if the lip and language of holy joy. It encourages us in prayer, and enlarges the heart in praise, to see every mercy coming from the hand of God as our God.

Those who sincerely receive and embrace the gospel have fellowship in it from the very first day: a new-born Christian, if he is trueborn, is interested in all the promises and privileges of the gospel from the first day of his becoming such.

Comment on the Motto Text—bf

Up on all this evidence, and these witnesses, it is but just and meet that there should be those who believe on the name of the San of God. God increase their number! How much testimony from heaven has the world to answer for! And to three witnesses in heaven must the world be accountable. These believers have eternal life. They have it in th covenant of the Gospel, in the beginning and first-fruits of it within them, and in their Lord and head in heaven.

Handel's Messiah Thrills Audience at 2nd Baptist

A symphony of voices filled the auditorium of the Second Baptist Church last Sunday, when a blending of choirs ahd nationalities presented Handel's "Messiah." This was made possible through the combined efforts of many churches belonging to the Church Federation of Los Ahgeles.

Choirs were literally all over the church, so that in addition to the beauty and harmony of Handel's "Messiah," one's interest was piqued by a rise of choral voices coming from the side of the church, and then a sudden burst of voices coming from the balcony above.

All available seats were occupied, and there was scarcely standing room. People jammed the doors and the halls, and listened almost breathlessly as the beauty of the oratorio thrilled them.

A well-governed mind learns in time to find pleasure in nothing but the true and the just.—Amiel.

Vienna Boys Choir in Two Concerts Here

The Vienna Boys Choir, who sing in Philharmonic Auditorium Sunday afternoon, December 19, at 2:30 p.m., and Monday evening, December 20, at 8:30 p.m., has a tradition almost two centuries older than that of our own United States!

This venerable musical organization—the world's outstanding boys' choir—was formed four and a half centuries ago, on July 7, 1498, when Emperor Maximilian I of Austria decreed the formation of a boys' choir for services in Vienna's Court Chapel.

Their two programs here will include Mozart's "Bastien and Bastienne" on the concert of Sunday afternoon, December 19; and Offenbach's hilarious "Mr. and Mrs. Denis" on the Monday evening, December 20th program. Both of these Philharmonic Auditorium concerts — their first here in a decade, due to the war —are being sponsored by Mary Bran.

Christmas Program by Twilight Vespers

The Twilight Vesper service is presented each second Sunday in the month by Conner & Johnson mortuary, with Miss Rice in charge.

The Baha'i Basis for Civilization is the subject of the lecture to be given by Mr. Robert Powers on Sunday, December 12th, at 11 a.m. at the Los Angeles headquarters of Baha'i World Faith located at 331 South New Hampshire avenue.

Mr. Powers tells us that the Word of God is revealed today by Baha'u'llah (a Persian name meaning Glory of God). The world religion which he founded is called the Baha'i Faith, and its purpose is none other than the creation of a world civilization. It offers to mankind a rebirth of spiritual life, together with laws and principles adequate to embody that new spirit in a universal, all-embracing World Order.

God, Preserver of Man

"I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee." This verse from Isaiah will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "God the Preserver of Man" in all branches of The Mother Church The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Scriptural selections from the Psalms read, "Preserve me, O God: for in thee do I put my trust. . . . The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and my cup: thou maintainest my lot. . . . Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O Lord, thou preservest man and beast. . . . O continue thy loving kindness unto them that know thee; and thy righteousness to the upright in heart."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "The relations of God and man, divine Principle and idea, are indestructible in Science; and Science knows no lapse from nor return to harmony, but holds the divine order or spiritual law, in which God and all that He creates are perfect and eternal, to have remained unchanged in its eternal history."

Creative Ability Increases With Age

NEW YORK—Men and women past middle age who have a fear of becoming useless have no justification for their worries. The truth is, says Webb Garrison in the December Journal of Living, that instead of diminishing, creative ability may actually increase with advancing age.

Thirty per cent of the world's greatest inventions and discoveries have been due to men of 60 years or older. In the field of fine arts the ratio is even greater. Business and industry have their examples, too.

Welcomed by Mental and Correctional Institutions

The 12 Big Sisters, organized about two years ago, wish to announce the date for their annual event which this year will be called a "49er Buffet Snack." It will be given Saturday, Dec. 11, at Cooley's Associated Clubhouse, 1748 W. 21st st., from 5 p.m. until ????

As most of the patrons of the 12 Big Sisters know, they were organized by Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson to do whatever and whenever possible the best within their ability to aid the girl compelled by court to live in an institution, regardless of the nature of the case. So impressive is their program that juvenile and adult law enforcers and correctional workers have welcomed their assistance.

During the year they visited correctional and mental institutions and were among the first of color to begin such a program. They attend to the hairdressing needs of five young ladies throughout the year, that they too may look up to "looks" along with their institutional classmates. They supply personal needs of several borderline cases of girls and young women.

Led by their president, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, they visit each holiday season during the year and take programs as well as gifts. They have no drives and do no begging. They have one large event a year for finance, the rest they donate from dues and taxation. They entertain Mr. and Mrs. John Public once a year, without any charges. They believe that if each club would do the little they could without being a burden to the public, greater would be club work.

The finest project the 12 Big Sisters take credit for and find pride and joy in doing, is the chance to carry a young girl through college. In August they succeeded in gaining the privilege to be a big sister to a young lady who was graduating from one of the public homes with the highest grades of any of her class, being the valedictorian of her class and the only one of color in theg roup. Tuition and books are paid for each semester by the 12 Big Sisters and her personal allowance given each month through the dean of women. This particular college has been most cooperative and the juvenile authorities have credited with pride this one accomplishment that they too have longed for someone to accept as a project from within our groups.

Mrs. Jones has working with her as committee chairman for the 49er night Mrs. Anne O'Farrell. Other members doing all within their power to either sell tickets, play hostess or supervise the many games to be played or to direct the square dances are; Mrs. Ruth Stewart, capable secretary pro tem; Mrs. "Jerry" Woods, Mrs. Mary Clay, Dr. Kathleen Jones King, Mrs. Vivian Witson, rs. Retha Beck, Mrs. Sadie Weems Patterson, rs. Emily Johnson, and Mrs. Zepher Gil.

Besides this crew of members, there has been added club hosts and hostesses from the Sporterettes, the Los Angeles Women's Athletic Club, the La Jovial Girls, the 20th Century Girls, the Mona Lisa Bridge Girls, the Silver Spurs, the Regents (men's club) and others are signing in daily. The menu will be named for these kind co-workers such as the "ham a la Regent" for they are the donors of the hams for your snack. And we assure you that a delicious menu is prepared by the best of cooks. Games and dancing will amuse you and you will have a grand time, but best of all you will be aiding the 12 Big Sisters to adopt some more LITTLE SISTERS.

Aaron Douglas Watercolors In Exhibition

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Aaron Douglas, well-known artist whose works have been attracting interest for a number of years, recently put twelve watercolors on exhibit in the Fisk University International Student Center.

These paintings were all done this past summer on a trip which Mr. Douglas made to California under a Carnegie Foundation Grant, and for the most part consist of landscapes. They were reviewed by Mr. Joseph L. VanSickle, Head of the Art Department at Ward-Belmont College.

New Traffic Dep't Suggested for L.A.

The Los Angeles traffic problem is the most unique in the world and can best be solved by the creation of a new City Department of Traffic Engineering. This opinion was voiced last week in a 70-page traffic report presented to Mayor Fletcher Bowron and the Los Angeles City Council by a special Traffic Survey committee.

All Nations Rest Home Now Ready

The All Nations Rest Home for the Aged, at Demarville, Elsinore, is now ready for operation. So says a communication from Demarville, whose home-owners made the Rest Home possible. It lies along Highway 365, just out of Elsinore, on the Perris Road.

In this lovely Home, surrounded by ten acres of land, those who have reached the "aged" mark can really rest. And at the same time enjoy what they have for a long time wanted to do, but did not have the time—the truest way of resting and having recreation. They can raise chickens, do gardening, sewing—anythink they want to that will make the place seem homelike to them.

The All Nations Rest Home for the Aged was founded by Zeater Demar, and as it name implies is for all nationalities, regardless of race, color, or creed. Demarville, named in hono of Mrs. Demar, is a town or settlement founded by the Negroes of Southern California near Lake Elsinore, beautiful for situation, to which all are welcome, to come and build a home for themselves.

Conference of United Council of Church Women in Milwaukee, Huge Success

The conference of the United Council of Church Women, held in Milwaukee, Wisc., Nov. 15-18, was pronounced a decided success. The registration reached the high mark of 2391, with representatives from all of the 48 states and six foreign countries. They all seemed like one big family, coming from the North, South, East, and West—the greatest gathering of Church Women ever held in the United States.

There was an exceptionally large attendance of women of the Negro race, coming from the delta of Mississippi and the deserts of California. Milwaukee proved an ideal hostess, and everywhere you went you were greeted with a warm smile of welcome. It was a demonstration of real Christian life.

Among the questions discussed were: Christian Social Relations, led by Enola L. Chism of California, representing the CME Women's Missionary Council; What Have You Done to Contribute Better Relations Between the Races in Your Community, by women from Indiana; The Spirit of the Kingdom, by Mrs. R. Thomas Hollis, Tulsa, Okla.; International Understanding as a Basis for World Peace, by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, considered a masterpiece; The President's Report on Civil Rights in the Field of Race Relations by G. Parltown, of Arizona; Church Women, by Mrs. Neil Cromence; Place of the Kingdom, by Hamako Hirose; and the Great Illusion, by Dr. Howard Thurmond, of California.

Mrs. Abbie Clement Jackson acted as moderator for the Town Hall meeting. Among those who took part were: Mrs. Chas. Johnson, Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Sadie F. Alexander—outstanding leaders among Negro women.

Others who took part in the conference were: Dr. Mary Bethune, of Washington, D. C. perhaps the best known among Negro women leaders; Mrs. Mays, Mrs. Hollis, Rosa Page Welch, Nannie Burrows, of Washington, D. C.; Lelia Wiggins Blakely, Mrs. Jessie M. Bader, and many others.

Dorothy Maynor in First Fisk Concert

NASHVILLE—The first recital in the Fisk University Concert Series was given in the Memorial Chapel, recently, when Dorothy Maynor sang here before an overflow audience.

It was a provocative recital in many respects. In the first place, it would be difficult to imagine anything much lovelier in the range of soprano voices. The sheer beauty of her quality was enough in itself to charm the listeners, and the effortless manner in which she projected the softest, barely audible tones and allowed them, as it seemed, to hang motionless in the air showed not only mastery of the breath but the highest skill in production.

There were times, also, when the singer struck a responsive chord in her interpretations. In Schubert's "Serenade"; in Debussy's beautiful love song, "Green", and in the spiritual "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", she did more than just utter sweet sounds. It was moving and sincere singing. There were humor and characterization, too, in her singing of an aria from Nicolai's "The Merry Wives of Windsor", given in English

Reveals History Of Organization

The theme of the "Elks Fantasy" on December 2 was the dramatization of Elkdom from its infancy to the present day. The program was emceed by Bob Strather, and, with the music of Sammy Franklin's orchestra, the portrayal was revealed to the public by the beautifully gowned women and handsome men. As the story of Elkdom was told, the revelation of the pioneers of Elkdom gave a vivid description of the true meaning of charity, justice, sisterly and brotherly love, and fidelity.

The program was highlighted by the splendid rendition of Teddie Peters, Baby Marie tSencil, the future songbird, and Art Duncan, the dancer. "Sylvia," "Peg o' My Heart," "Indian Love Call," "Pretty Girls," "Alice Blue Gown" and many other features made the night a wonderful affair.

READY FOR THE QUESTION

Question: Frequently I hear presiding officers say, "Question?" What do they mean?—H. B.

Answer: "Question?" is a short way of saying, "Are you ready to vote on motion?" It is preferable that the chairman should say, "Is there any further discussion?" If no one rises to speak, the chair concludes that the discussion is closed and proceeds to take the vote without calling for the "Question?"

Question: Can you suggest some topics for our discussion club to use? We meet once a week at the various homes of the members.—Mrs. T. C.

Answer: Your local community should offer many problems that would be suitable for discussion. The following, however, are only suggestive:

1. Is peace with Russia possible?
2. Should the United States establish a system of free medical care?
3. How can we solve the racial and minority problem?
4. Is modern advertising more harmful than beneficial?
5. Would price controls be the answer to the high cost of living?

Question: Do all motions require a second?—B. M.

Answer: No.

Later that afternoon the national officers will present their annual reports. The initial meeting is scheduled for the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

Young Air Force Veteran In Rural Electrification Post

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Joseph F. Douglas, a 22-year-old Air Force veteran who holds a degree in electrical engineering, has been appointed to a position in hte Rural Electrification Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Administrator Claude R. Wickard announcsed this week.

The young veteran has been assigned to the Washington office where his duties are to help make engineering studies in connection with applications which are made to REA for loans to finance construction of generating and transmission facilities for rural areas.

Although Mr. Douglas is the first Negro electrical engineer to be employed by REA, his appointment followed the rosutine procedure. SHARPS & FLATS

By
ALBERT J. McNEIL
Music Critic of the California Eagle

Zoe Wise, Violinist

Sunday afternoon, at 5:45 p.m. in Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church before an overflow audience, Miss Wise, young violinist and UCLA student, was presented in concert under the auspices of the Music Department of the church. Assisting Miss Wise, were Marvin Hayes, basso cantante, and the new Lincoln Memorial String Ensemble of sixteen players under the direction of Irvin Young.

Mr. McNeil

The concert opened with Miss Wise playing Handel's Sonata No. 4 in D Major. The second offering was the second movement of the Berlioz Violin Concerto. No violin concert would be complete without including selections from the Kriesler library. The Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" was included in the lighter group.

The young artist executed a high degree of fluency. This was demonstrated repeatedly in the more prolific and florid passages of the Handel and the Berlioz. This display of ability exemplifies the innate equipment which the young lady is the possessor. However, the more emotional selections lacked the great feeling and nuance produced by one more emotionally matured.

Marvin Hayes, basso cantante, sang Dvorak's "None but the Lonely Heart" and the exciting "Thundering Wondering" of MacGimsey. Mr. Hayes, a former singer with the Wings Over Jordan, is an enthusiastic vocalist. With diligent study he should attain an outstanding position in the field of music.

Los Angeles welcomed eagerly its new and to date its only community orchestral group. The Lincoln Memorial Congregational String Ensemble a brain child of the Rev. Lloyd Galloway, the Minister, who is a musician in his own right, played for the first time yesterday the First Movement of Tschaikowsky's "Swan Lake" (Ballet music) and Schubert's Ballet Music from Rosamunde. The conductor, Irvin Young, demonstrated his skill in molding within a new, and inexperienced organization the feeling for ensemble so necessary in a group of this type. The ensemble needs a great deal of rehearsal in order to realize its fullest capacities.

THE MESSIAH

To those of us who have stood in the highways and byways and expressed a sincere desire to elevate our community music standards were delighted last Sunday at the overwhelming success of the area presentation of George F. Handel's immortal "Tht Messiah" under the direction of UCLA's Raymond Moremen in the main sanctuary of the Second Baptist Church.

Satisfying

Without question the three thousand persons in attendance attested to their personal satisfaction of this profound musical masterpiece. An obvious expression of appreciation was voiced by one vociferous person who exclaimed audibly, to the consternation of some of her associates, her feeling for the great chorus "And the Glory of the Lord."

The Trinity Baptist Senior Choir and the Wesley Chapel Choir participated in the Exposition Area presentation of the Messiah at the same time, while this writer directed the oratorio in the East Los Angeles-Montebello area.

Two Factors

Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, Second Baptist's Pastor, in his offertory remarks said, "Your presence is a testimony to two factors, first a tribute to the composer George F. Handel; and secondly, your own ability to recognize and appreciate the finest in music."

Margaret Pett, Betty Jo Christison, Paul F. Troy, and William DeValentine were the soloists, while Fannie E. Benjamin, Robert V. Edwards, and Edna H. Porter, were the accompanists.

World Masterpieces On View at Museum

The Theatre

By Arthur Sainer

On New Year's Day of the year 1600 the world of Elizabethan England was a world of hope, a world of promises and a world of the childish and wonderful joys of life. On this day Thomas Dekker's comedy, "The Shoemaker's Holiday," came to old London to delight the throngs with its boisterous vulgarity, its sentiments of love which no one took seriously, and its tribute to the workingmen of the day and to the merchants.

Primarily, the play dealt with the career of Simon Eyre, rough and loveable old guildmaster, of his rise (through sobriety and industry) to the position of Lord Mayor of London, and of his close and harmonious relations with his apprentices who, though far from being examples of pure virtue, loved their master and worked and cursed with him. In short, "Shoemaker's Holiday" was one long toast to the working class and to their bright future.

Sometime between 1600 and 1935 when "Waiting for Lefty" was first produced, something happened. Somewhere along the line somebody lost an idea or somebody got an idea too many and the rosy future became a mob of angry men standing in a union hall, waving their fists and hollering, "Strike!" Strike for bread, strike for a workingman's common right to a decent life, and damn exploiting employers to hell. (Could Simon Eyre have existed in this world?)

"Waiting For Lefty" is a lesson in the A.B.C.'s of raw economics. There are workingmen here, as in "Shoemaker", but when they drink they drink in desperation, when they make love through a terrible hunger, and when they curse they do not curse smiling. "Waiting For Lefty" is not a happy play. Someone is to blame for the loss of the Shoemaker's dream.

As for the present productions, Actor's Lab does nicely by the "Shoemaker" with George Tyne, as Firk the apprentice, skipping merrily through the play in one of the funniest performances I have ever seen. Alan Douglas does a fine, workmanlike job in the part of Simon Eyre.

The merits of the "Lefty" production (produced by Contemporary Stage at the Masque Theatre) are unfortunately countered by many flaws. Some of the scenes, particularly the speeches by Fred Graff as the worker who wants the strike, would have made Odets feel young again. However, other scenes were not so well played and acted as brakes on a play which might have rolled right through in high gear. "Lefty," still playing at the Masque Theatre, is definitely worth an evening of your time, however, particularly since it is preceded by "Private Hicks" (which will be reviewed in the next issue).

At the Soto-Michigan Center on Sunday evening, August 13th, the Actor's Lab presented Kenneth White's one-act play, "Freight." And what a play.

What you do is take a frightened group of Negroes who have just escaped from a lynch mob and put them in the boxcar of a train speeding God knows where and then take a "white-supremacy" white man (in this case, a "white-trash" white man) and put him in the same boxcar, and what you have is a one-acter filled with various forms of terrifying animal passion.

"Freight" is a terrifying experience because the boxcar situation serves as a leveller and what these people are levelled down to at various times during the play is something less than human. First, the Negroes are levelled down to the white man's conception of them when one of the Negroes is forced to kneel and beg for the return of his wooden leg.

Then the tables are turned and the white man is forced to kneel and carry the Negro, and we have something as bizarre as the hated Mussolini being strung up by his heels by the very people he scorned.

With a masterful cast and good direction by Arthur Spencer, "Freight" is a frightening vision of man eating into the flesh of his brother. It seems that night is still falling on the human race.

M. Hutchinson In Shakespeare Heroine Roles

ATLANTA—Mary Hutchinson, talented actress of stage, screen, radio, and television, will appear at Spelman College on Saturday, in a program of "Shakespeare's Heroines." She is considered a universal favorite from coast to coast, and has appeared in 42 states and in Canada.

A former student at Barnard College at Columbia University, Miss Hutchinson conducted classes in ballet on week-end visits to her home in Pennsylvania. Her professional career on the stage started as a dancer in the Broadway musical "Vanities." Later she was seen in "Lady, Be Good," starring Fred and Adele Astaire, "Castles in the Air," and "Hoopla."

Laura Butler Kiddie Revue Presented at Bakersfield

The city of Bakersfield was given a rare treat on Friday night, November 19th, when Lauretta Butler transported her famous "Kiddies Capers" of 1948 revue to Bakersfield, where they were presented in a glamourous revue, at the Emerson High School Auditorium.

The production was a repetition of the one which was given recently here at the Embassy Auditorium, and was given such favorable comments by the press.

The children, their mothers and studio teachers were transported in chartered Santa Fe busses, and their trip was very much enjoyed by the children and mothers. Lunch was served en route.

The large representative audience in Bakersfield was thrilled with the childrens' performance and rewarded them with thunderous applause.

Plans are already on foot for their return to Bakersfield next year. The revue was sponsored by the Golden West Woman's Club and the Ne Plus Ultra Temple No. 522, both of Bakersfield. Serving as chairwomen of the sponsoring organizations were Mesdames Emma Drisdon, Clara Howard, and Pearl Lowery Winters.

Mary Bran Presents Vienna Boys Choir In Two Programs

Delightful short operas by Mozart and Offenbach will be presented as part of the concerts to be given in Philharmonic Auditorium this month by the world-famous Vienna Choir Boys.

Mozart's "Bastien and Bastienne," a charming, comic opera with but three characters, is scheduled for the program of Sunday afternoon, December 19, at 2:30 p.m. Written when Mozart was but 12 years old—the age of the oldest of the Vienna Choir Boys troupe—it is a laughable, youthful study of a woman's education in the art of coquetry, and has always been one of the choir's most popular costumed operatic performances.

For their program of Monday evening, December 20, at 8:30 p.m., the Vienna Choir Boys will do Jacques Offenbach's "Mr. and Mrs. Denis"—a humorous tale of an eloping young couple's troubles, written by the Parisian composer who was the French counterpart of Johann Strauss.

On both of these appealing, popular-priced program, offered under the auspicies of Mary Bran, the Vienna Choir Boys will also sing a wide variety of folk and Christmas songs, waltzes, and classical and religious selections. Seats for both of their concerts are now on sale at the Philharmonic Auditorium boxoffice, the Southern California Music Company, and all Mutual Ticket Agencies.

de Valentine Sings Sunday

By Chas. E. Lloyd

William de Valentine, basso, and student at Los Angeles City College, will be featured soloist at the final performance of the City College Symhony Orchestra, Sunday, Dec. 12, in the Administration Auditorium at 3:30 p.m. Valentine, who distinguished himself in the musical field by winning numerous awards for his excellent performances, was chosen the outstanding vocalist of the music department at City College. He sang "The Lord's Prayer" in his last performance at City College on November 23.

During a year's absence from school, De Valentine won awards totaling $2000. He placed third in the Atwater Kent Auditions last May, and made his debut at the Philharmonic Auditorium last September.

He placed first in "Artists of the Future," sponsored by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, and was first in the "Young Artist Competition" at U.C.L.A. As an award for the latter, he will singe at Royce Hall March 15. De Valentine also sang on the program at the Second Baptist church last Sunday, Dec. 5.

Breasted, Jr., director of the Museum. It will be given Friday, December 10, at 8:00 p.m. No admission is charged.

Four interesting films will be shown, one depicting dare devil mountain climbers in the Alps, another a tragedy on the high slopes of Mt. Everset and two dealing with volcanoes, one of them "Pavacutin," mountain of fire in Mexico, and the other "Krakatoa" in the South Seas.

The autumn series of Sunday afternoon lectures at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park will end Sunday, December 12, with Dr. Alois Echardt giving an interesting one on "Christmas in Art." It will start at 3:00 p.m. No admission is charged.

Musician's Local (No. 767 - News)

Duke Ellington, his orchestra and featured vocalists Kay Davis and Albert Hibbler will open 'Hollywood Empire,' Vine Street, Feb. 1. The new nitery, formerly known as 'Tom Breneman's' is under the executive management of Gene Norman, disc jockey. Included in the Ellington personnel are three members of Local 767: Lawrence Brown, trombonist; Tyree Glenn, trombonist, and Al Killian, trumpeter.

The demand for featured lady pianists of Local 767 almost exceeds the supply as evidenced by this week's bookings: Evanna Cotton, to 'Hollywood Cafe,' N. Hollywood; Paula Watson, 'Larry Potter's Supper Club,' N. Hollywood; Gladys Bently, Ambassador Hotel, Hermosa Beach; Richie Dell Archia, Ivy's Chicken Shack, E. Vernon Ave.; Betty Hall, "Topsy's" Southgate; Rose 'Chi Chi' Murphy, Don Lee Television, Dec. 7; Jean Eldridge, held over at "L & L" cafe, Burbank; Martha Davis held over at 'Red Feather.'

Arthur 'Bud' Scott, guitarist, member of Kid Ory Creole band and a contemporary of the 'early jazz man', is confined to his home, 1422 E. 54th St., because of illness.

Roy Porter, drummer boy, who has been diligently rehearsing his 15-piece orchestra in anticipation of 'after ban' recordings, scored a hit when his orchestra played a 'Jazz-Be-Bop' concert last Monday on the Campus of Los Angeles City College. 'Concert de Jazz' sponsored by the Associated Students of LACC in in behalf of World Student Service Fund Campaign, in co-operation with the United Nations Scientific and Cultural organization, aspires to effect the rehabilitation of University students in War Torn Europe and Asia. The concert, a success, according to Robert Fox, co-chairman of WSSF, was made possible by Roy Porter's band which appeared with the permission and as a courtesy from The Musicians Protective Association, Local 767, American Federation of Musicians.

Floyd Turnham, alto sax—leads his orchestra at "The Bal Tabarin."—Hampton Hawes, pianist, now visiting relatives in New York City—"Celestino" is the professional name adopted by Ceelle Burke, guitarist, who leads his Hawaiian String orch. at "Club Continentale," Sunset Blvd.—Ginger Smock, violinist, Emile Williams, organist and Lloyd Glenn, pianist, (Ginger Smock Trio) will rest from 'Mike's Waikiki,' commencing Jan. 2, when Mike closes for 'annual' repairs.—Eddie Dudley, pianist, to "Sam's Bar," Hollywood.—Herschel Coleman, Sax, 'Red' Mack Morris, trumpet, and Dudley Brooks, pianist, are preparing for their Hollywood debut.—Earl Jackson, sax-leader; Norman Bowden, trumpet; John Goodman, Sax, James Miller drums, go into San Pedro Club this week.

The Annual Election of officers of Local 767, American Federation of Musicians will be held Monday, Dec. 13 at Musicians' Building, 1710 S. Central Avenue. The voting will be under the australian ballot system with polls open from 12 noon until 8 p.m., Dec. 13.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE'S DRAMA REVIEWER SAYS:

Basically it is a protest, a howling-mad resistance to a system that is bred in hate and creates destruction and frustration. It won't entertain you; rather it will leave you on one side or the other, angry and determined to do something about the conditions that create Jeff Lincolns, and shove Negroes like Sam Holley into the vortex of murder and suicide.

You will writhe and agonize with Perce Hammond, the thinking storekeeper who tries to be broadminded and fair in a narrow-minded community. You'll hate Matty Childers for his betrayal until you realize he is more white than Negro, and he is caught in a conflict that won't die so long as he lives.

The "Torch" is your community, the place where you live and work daily. What sort of light it gives off depends on you and your neighbors, and the way you learn to live together. It might be the story of Augustin Salcido whose torch went out when a policeman cornered him on a deserted street, or it might be the story of Herman Burns, who died because he was too "uppity" to let a gang of cops push him around.

It is a hard-hitting drama that wil make the skins of sensitive people crawl, but it says things the way they need to be said, at a time when saying them might get results.

The affair, the tops of its kind, will begin at 12 noon and last until 12 midnight. There will be games, prizes and other entertainment, with music furnished for the occasion.

The E and E Ranch House is located at 118th and Harmon, 2 blocks East of Wilmington.

Man Behind the Bar is a club comprised of bartenders working at the various local clubs and cocktail lounges. It is also a charity club, contributing regularly to many worthy causes.

Oo-Lya-Coo and Eel-Ya-Da is Be-Bop, "Pops!"

The new Be-Bop style of music, writes Betty Betz of King Feature Syndicate, is coming in like a tidal wave. Even Benny Goodman announced recently that he's planning a modified Be-Bop band to keep up with the times.

What is Be-Bop? The Be-Bop style of jazz is a popular new trend, and like all new forms of music, should be listened to with an open mind.

The way the Bop followers have caught onto the Be-Bop sounds (i.e., Oo-Lya-Coo, Eel-Ya-Da, etc.), makes me wonder if the top band of 1960 will be made up of forty vacuum cleaners, three French horns and a tuba.

That's a new sound, too!

Stuffy Bryant At Barrelhouse

Stuffy Bryant, rated one of the greatest Be-Pop dancers in America, and recently returned from a successful cross-country tour with Dizzy Gillespie's band, returned to California last week to do a part in a musical short at one of the Hollywood studios.

Until the completion of the picture, Bryant (whose educated dancing feet are tops in terpsichorean art) will hold down one of the featured spots at the Barrel House cafe, 107th Street and Wilmington, in Watts.

Monte Easter Lining Up a New Orchestra

Monte Easter, top local trumpeter, returned home last week following a successful engagement at one of the smart San Francisco night spots.

Monte is now rehearsing a new 12-piece band for a series of theatre-nitery dates, with Eeaster's torrid trumpeting still the envy of local fiddlers!

The Merry Widow Of Harlem Will Be Here in Jan.

Clarence Muse, Gabriel Curtiz and Caesar Grimaldi are collaborating on a new version of Franz Lehar's "The Merry Widow" to open in Los Angeles early in the new year.

The play, to be entitled "The Merry Widow of Harlem," will have an all-Negro cast and Muse will play an important role, as well as co-producing.

Following the Los Angeles run, the producers plan to take the play to New York with the original cast.

Scholarships Given

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Four scholarships have been awarded by national organizations to students in the School of Social Work at Howard University.

She's tops in her field and her field is songs!

Sarah Vaughn Is Suing Musicraft

NEW YORK—Sarah Vaughan has been besieged with offers from every major recording company in the business ever since it became known that she has filed suit against Musicraft

Records for a release from her contract with that company.

In her suit against Musicraft, which is being handled by attorney Andrew Weinberger, Miss Vaughan charges breach of contract on the part of the Musicraft firm in that she has not received the full royalties from the sales of her records during 1948. Her contract with that company does not expire until June, 1950.

One major recording company has offered Miss Vaughan a bonus of $25,000 for signing a contract upon her release from her pact with Musicraft, and others have guaranteed advance royalties as high as $50,000 a year, which is a top guarantee for any recording star.

Progress Seen in Tillotson's Climb up Ladder of Success!

Tillotson College located in Austin, Texas might be little-known to many Los Angelenos but there are a great many alumni living in Los Angeles. Since Tillotson has been invited to provide one-half of the opposition in the Third Annual Angel Bowl game at Wrigley Field on December 26th many readers have been wondering about the college and questioning each other for facts.

The school is an old established educational institution, getting its first go-ahead signal way back in 1877 by state charter. The name was Tillotson Normal Institute. In 1909 it was changed to Tillotson College.

In 1926 something became amiss between the young ladies and the young men and it was voted to make it an all-woman's college, and enjoyed freedom from the male student for nine years.

Growing lonesome, no doubt, the powers that be called a halt to the female idea and returned the male to his rightful place in 1935, and in 1936 the boys had grown big enough to have a football team.

Up until that time Sam Houston college had all the athletic rave notices. It is sufficient to say that Tillotson, after having made up its collective mind as to what gender to teach, played the game to the hilt. They hired good football coaches and proceeded to give their crosstown rivals some competition for recognition.

In 1943 by order of the scholastic board the school was given an "A" rating, but not in athletics.

The year 1948 finds them well up on the ladder of athletic success! Their team held the mighty Prairie View Panthers to two touchdowns and in their last two games they have whipped Texas state and Alcorn in the order mentioned.

Culminating their climb to the top, the Eagles, as they are affectionately called by everyone except their opponents, make the trip to land of sunshine and oranges—beautiful Los Angeles. As in every success story there is a wolf waiting to tip the sunshine special over on its neck. In this case the wolf is the San Pedro A. C. Allstars who plan to derail the Eagels happiness train along about 2 p.m., Sunday, December 26th, at Wrigley field. The game will be watched by a capacity crowd. The reports emanating from the southland indicate that the Eagles are ready and waiting. A victory for the Tillotson team would be a great climax to a difficult climb to the top.

The alumni of Tillotson college plan entertainment for their comrades.

FOUR STALWART MEMBERS of the undefeated San Pedro Athletic Club All-Stars, who will be on hand at Wrigley Field Sunday afternoon, December 26, to meet the Tillotson Eagles in the Angel Bowl football classic. The game will start promptly at 2 p.m. In the usual order: Garet, Left end; Walker, Right end; McKenna, star guard and Nick Noceti, Center. In last year's Angel Bowl game, the San Pedro A.C. defeated the Texas All-Stars 7 to 6. The Eagles will provide the stiffest opposition the A.C. club has faced in several seasons.

Basketball Clinic To Open Thrusday

With Bill Jones, former University of Toledo and Original Harlem Globetrotters hoop star, and city recreation director Charles Robbins heading the staff of instructors, the city-wide free Basketball School for Boys will get underway Thursday, Dec. 9, at Central Playground, 1357 East 22nd Street, at 3:30 p.m., according to the City Recreation and Park Department.

During the four-week court school for youngsters 13 to 18 years of age, all phases of basketball will be demonstrated and discussed by the expert instructors. Subjects will include conditioning, rules, passing, shooting, dribbling, pivoting, and faking. Styles of defense and offense will also be taken up.

All boys completing the course will be awarded certificates.

Raisin Bowl Game Brings Out The Stars

Three men named to the All-Big Six football team this season will come up against four players named best in the Southern California Conference when Colorado A && M and unbeaten, untied Occidental College clash in the Fourth Annual Raisin Bowl game New Year's Day in Fresno.

If placement on all-star teams is a criterion, the Tigers from Occidental will have a decided edge over the Aggies from Colorado, since five other members of the Oxy eleven won second team all-conference recognition against three for Colorado A & M. In all, nine of the Occidental eleven which went through eight games without a defeat won places on the All-Southern California Conference team.

ON THE TURF

CALIENTE, OLD MEXICO: Twelve-year-old Soup and Fish, the gallant son of Saxon-Gald Rags, captured the feature attraction at Caliente last Sunday after coming from last position to catch the leaders at the Sixteenth pole to win goin away. Coupled with Peepalong as the entry of Mrs. M. Miller, they were made second choice on the morning line. Gala Sue, the favorite, set a fast pace on a dull track made from Friday's showers. The backers of the entry had pined their hopes on Peepalong as the winner, but it took the old Soup and Fish to get the job done. Muriel Alice was second and Deep Sand third. The entry paid $7.20. In the secondary event for maiden two-year-olds, More Regret was handy winner over the favored Red Sand in the six furlong dash, paying in the mutuels $10.40 for two. Longshots took the play from the favorites in the first two races. Prima Chieftain winner of the first race, paid $35.60, while Vista Miss Victor of the second rewarded her backers $69.60, $26.00, $17.00 across the board. She started the daily-double with the favorite, Kentyrun, winning the third. The payoff on the double was one of the largest in months, paying $234.00. The nitecap called the Quniela paid $35.80 when Cross T., ridden by E. O. Johnson, Negro jockey, was first and Day Air was second. Cross T. paid $18.00, $13.00, $8.40 across the board. Four favorites were able to visit the charmed circle of presiding Stewart Judge George Shilling. Jockey J. Robinson was the star of the day, riding three winners out of six mounts. The management of Caliente had to build more than a hundred new stalls for horses that are coming in from all over the country for the winter season. More than 800 horses are now at the border course and the fans will see many new faces on the program in the future. With Santa Anita opening on the 28th of this month, horses that were unable to get stalls will be shipped to Caliente from the northern tracks. The popular general manager, Walter C. Marty, is highly elated over the horses that will race during the winter season. This Sunday the feature attraction will be the El Paso at six furlongs supported by the Dallas, also at the same distance. The Fort Worth at one mile will steal the show. Its value of $1,500 added will bring the best horses of this distance together. Post time 12:30.

Thoroughbred Dogs Die as Death Strikes Fast in Pneumonia Case

Virus Pneumonia struck at the McGee thoroughbred dog kennels last week and claimed the deaths of three champion Doberman Pinschers. The dogs, owned by Elihu "Black Dot" and Pat McGee, were stricken suddenly and rushed to a specialist where all efforts were used to save them. They died several hours apart.

Most famous of the McGee thoroughbreds was Fedor Von Trail, winner of the Los Angeles Kennel Club Show, and son of the Champion, Edah Von Trail. Fedor's mother was Champion Dictator Voh Glenhugel.

Other thoroughbreds, who were stricken and died are Bingo Von Kestler, and Gilda Von Trail. The dogs, all champions and winners of many Dog show prizes, were valued at $12,000.

Fedor Voh Trail's daughter, nine months old Anni, a thoroughbred, will be featured in the Dog Show at the Glendale Kennel show Sunday, December 12.

The late Von Trail, most prized of the McGee thoroughbreds, like his brothers, was used ih Overseas work during World War No. 2, and was cited by the United States government for meritorious service during the last world war.

Bosco Von Kestler, thoroughbred son of Fedor Von Trail, owned by Leonard McClain, the Bailbohdsman, is one of the few surviving relatives.

Mr. McClain has had numerous offers to show his dog in various big time shows but believes the puppy, five months old, is too young at this time.

New Twist, Musician Signed As Ball-Player

NEW YORK — The National Baseball League pennant winners of 1948, the Boston Braves, have signed a 19-year-old Harlem musician to a contract to play on one of their minor league teams.

Waldon Williams, who performed brilliantly on the diamond at second base while a member of James Monroe high school ballteam in the Bronx, in three tryouts last summer impressed Braves talent scout "Candy" Russell and was immediately inked to a pact calling for him to report to one of their Class C teams next spring, probably in some southern city.

At present Williams, who graduated from Monroe last February, is playing tenor saxaphone with Joe Morris' band, now on tour, until he leaves sometime in March to begin his major league career.

Sandy Saddler Beats Giosa In Cleveland

CLEVELAND — Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler looked every inch a champion Tuesday night here as he knocked out Eddie Giosa in one minute and 54 seconds of the second round of a scheduled 10-round nontitle fight before 11,164 fans.

Saddler stalked the heavier Giosa from the opening bell and battered the New Yorker all over the ring, looking for a knockout.

He found it shortly after the second round opened. Saddler tore into Giosa with a barrage of rights and lefts and then landed the finishing blows to the kidney as Giosa leaned over the ropes.

Giosa grimaced in real pain and began sinking to the floor, but Saddler, fighting furiously, belted him again in the face and he went down and out.

Saddler weighed 129, Giosa 138.

On the same card, Jimmy Bivins dropped a split decision to Joey Maxim in 10 rounds.

Passenger Cars in Stock Race Sunday

Passenger automobiles, running fully equipped with strictly "stock" parts, will compete for the 1948 championship Sunday (Dec. 12) at Carrell Speedway. Time trials will open at 1 p.m., followed by races at 2:30 p.m. A 100-lap race crowns the program.

Mr. Melvin Bingham, 1315 E. 50th St., says:

"BOMALICK on OLYMPIC will Repair your Car at Night . . . at no extra cost!"

Mr. Bingham is on Bomalick's night shift. After 5 years in the army, he's mighty happy about working here. He'll tell you this:

"I like this place because they give their customers a right deal. I see guys come in at night with an emergency job needed on their car. When they get the estimate, they just say, 'Go to work . . .' I hear them talk about how other night shops tried to stick them because it was an emergency.

"They don't do that at Bomalick's on Olympic. It's the same price day or night . . . emergency or not. Bomalick on Olympic is an authorized Studebaker dealer. They have set prices . . . low prices, but they're fixed.

"And Bomalick's night mechanics are good, too! The last time they hired a night mechanic, they chose him after interviewing 76 men!

"Bomalick makes it easy to pay for car repairs, too. You don't have to pay anything down . . . and you get a year and a half to make payments. This month, you don't have to pay a dime until 1949 on work you have done now!

"I like the deal here . . . and you'll like it, too, if your car needs repairs, day or night!"

Football Fans Will Pay Tribute To Washington in His Last Game

Kenny Washington, probably one of the greatest football players to ever don a uniform, will have his day Sunday afternoon, Dec. 12, at the Los Angeles Coliseum when the beloved Kinkfish participates in his last football game before hanging up his well-known No. [illegible] jersey.

Washington is the greatest player the high schools of Los Angeles ever turned out, and it is only fitting and proper that Kenny Washington day be set aside to a man who has been for years the idol of youngsters and football fans along Central avenue where the popular Kenny was worshipped.

Kenny ends his brilliant football career Saturday when his team, The Los Angeles Rams and the Pittsburgh Steelers ash; expected to play before a ten crowd of 50,000 or more Sunday when they wind up their 19[illegible] campaigns.

Washington, one of the best liked fellows in football, has carved a nice niche for himself in football as well as in the game of life. Always a gentleman on and off the field, he is the type of fellow you would like to grow up to be like.

Every Negro football fan (and sports fan) in the city should set aside Sunday afternoon, Dec. 12, as a date tto remember.

It's Kenny Washington's Day and if ever a fellow deserves a rousing "finale" to a brilliant career, it is Kenny Washington.

Anyone wishing to contribute toward a gift for the great Kinkfish can send a check or amount to the "KENNY WASHINGTON FUND," care Helene Hall, 8760 Venice Blvd., Los Angeles 3, Calif., or to Dynamite Jackson, 5501 So. Central ave.

This is no "benefit" for Kenny only a grand gesture on the part of the many fans who love the guy!

Harold Dade Wins Over Lauro Salas

Lauro Salas looked anything like the little package of TNT he did several weeks ago when he battered Carlos Chavez around the Olympic ring to lose a split decision, in his joust Tuesday night at the Olympic with Harold Dade, ex-bantam king, who breezed home winner by a 12-round decision.

The victor has first claim on Chavez's state featherweight crown when Carlos decides to forfeit it due to weight difficulties.

FROM WHENCE OUR BLESSINGS COME

There has been many a crisis in this world—political, social and economic. Each has had its danger of bringing disaster. Each has presented a choice which had to be made in confronting a problem.

But the most serious of all crises is the one involving moral issues. Oftimes we are best impressed when things begin to go wrong, such as material possessions diminishing, or the losing of our health. Otherwise we just ride high, forgetting from whence our many blessings come and how thankful we should always be.

D. E. Dear Prof. Herman: It has been quite sometime since I have written you for advice and help, but find that I have another problem facing me, would you please help me. Will he do anything to make our Christmas a happy one?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question, I find that your estranged husband intends to do something nice for you and the children this Xmas. Don't worry I vision things changing for you and your life becoming a much happier one.

M. O. Does this man really care for me?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that your friend is very fond of you. As long as he gives you no cause to doubt his sincerity I suggest you put your suspicions and distrust out of your mind.

DISGUSTED. I am worried and upset, my home affairs are in a condition, will things ever brighten up for us?

ANSWER. It appears to me that you and your husband are unemployed, hence the dissatisfaction and financial trouble. I feel however, that your husband will soon find a job which will eliminate some of the trouble. Look forward to your luck improving and your being successful in many ways.

T. T. Whate does the future hold for me?

ANSWER. According to your Zodiacal Sign, you are destined to meet some new friends and your financial conditions are going to improve. Many things are revealed to me, but I am unable to relate them because of the limited amount of space. Why not write for your Personal Horoscope today, and learn what the future holds for you.

R. E. Dear Prof. Herman: Hearing of you through your friends and customers, I decided to write you for help. My wife and I do not get along, do you think we will be able to reach an understanding soon?

ANSWER. Probing into the matter I find that your arguments are based on trivial matters and can easily be avoided if you both try to do so. I would be glad to advise you further regarding your difficulty if you will write in for a private reply.

Rat-Proof Your Buildings And Remove a Health Hazard

FOUR LEGGED (PLUS) ACROBAT—Caught in the spectacular act of getting around the rafters of a local ceiling, this rat shows how he accomplishes the seemingly impossible with the aid of his all-purpose tail. Note the characteristic grease streaks on the beam—tracks of many rats that preceded this one. Better rat-proofing of buildings would keep these pests out, city officials declare.

Whoever called the rat a four-legged animal never figured the creature's tail, which gives him one of the most maneuverable chassis owned by any earth-bound mammal.

In fact, the rat's tail has helped prolong the life of the species and made the animal a high priority health problem, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said this week.

"Most people wouldn't have trouble with rats if they properly rat-proofed their buildings, but once they let rodents in they are amazed at the apparent vanishing powers of the pests. The secret is the rat's tail, which helps him climb pipes, wires, and even trees, to hide out and thrive in the most inaccessible recesses of the property," he said, adding:

"The best rat climber is the Rattus Rattus alexandrinus species, which also have the longest tails. But the other species, although they do have somewhat shorter tails, don't take a back seat when it comes to ascending the heights."

Attics, rafters, and ceiling recesses have become safe habitats for rats' nests, in which the average female can produce her 100 young annually in "comfort and style."

The city health department, in its current drive against rats, has decreased their population considerably, as shown by the two-thirds drop of typhus fever—a rat-borne disease—in the last twelve months. But, he pointed out, private property owners have a big responsibility in seeing that their own premises do not become harborages.

Globetrotters Still Winning

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Abe Saperstein's mighty Harlem Globetrotters, fresh from a new series of triumphs throughout the east, roll out this way for several highlight appearances on their schedule.

At latest count, the Globetrotters had won 24 of their first 25 games this season. Their lone defeat came at Syracuse, N. Y., at the hands of the Philadelphia Sphas, whom the Trotters meanwhile had whipped five times.

New Sanitation Ordinance Due

A national precedent was set in Los Angeles this week as the city's Food Sanitation Advisory committee proposed an ordinance requiring training for at least one "responsible" operator or employee of each of the 6,000 eating establishments here.

The proposal was given immediate support by Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, who hailed it "another excellent demonstration of the way local managers and workers are not only maintaining high sanitation standards, but always looking for means to elevate those standards."

The committee represents all aspects of management and labor in the food serving industry here, and is presided over by William Bradford, executive secretary of the Southern California Restaurant Association. Today's motion, which was unanimously adopted, was made by Ray Adams, executive director of the Southern California Tavern Association.

Bill of Rights Discussion at P.-T.A. Council

The celebration of the Bill of Rights week and the defense of Civil Liberties will be the theme of a meeting to be held by Silver Lake Lodge of the J.P.F.O. on Friday night at 1004 Echo Park Ave. at 8:30 P.M.

One of the Los Angeles '13 will be the guest speaker. The emphasis of his talk will be on the recent illegal arrests of thirteen Los Angeles Citizens. "How We the People Can Keep the L.A. 13 Out of Jail."

Everyone is welcome. There is no admission charge.

More Space In Clubhouse At Ross Snyder

To accommodate a larger number of people and provide for indoor recreation facilities for which there now is insufficient space, a large addition is to be built to the present community clubhouse building at Ross Snyder Playground, 1501 E. 41st Street, according to action taken last week by the City Recreation and Park Commission.

The new building will contain a big recreation hall and other facilities, and architects have been assigned to prepare plans for the structure.

The new addition will help to relieve the present congestion at the Ross Snyder community clubhouse due to the popularity and heavy use being given this building.

Construction of the new facilities has been made possible under the city's playground bond fund for additions to the municipal recreation system.

1949 License Registration Is Different

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Every effort will be made to get a potential registration card into possession of every registered motor vehicle owner in California in time for the 1949 renewal period, January 3, through February 4, A. H. Henderson, director of oMtor Vehicles, announced this week.

"We want every registered owner to have the opportunity of enjoying the faster, more efficient service which these potential registration cards afford," Henderson said.

The California Vehicle Code difines the potential as a document issued toward the close of one year which upon proper validation becomes the registration card for the ensuing year. The Departmen will begin mailing these cards December 15.

If presented at any ofice of the Department of Motor Vehicles with a fee payment, the potential will be validated and returned to the owner immediately along with a set of 1949 tabs, thus completing his renewal for next year. No registration document will be mailed later as in past years.

Widow And Son Live Happily On Fifty Dollars A Month

EUDORA, Kansas — You can live bountifully on $50 a month—if you pick the right small town to live in. Proof that it can be done is offered by Mrs. Mary Jane Knizely in the December Journal of Living.

Widowed Mrs. Knizely exchanged a good job, an apartment and a maid in Chicago for a home in Eudora, a tiny hamlet 35 miles from Kansas City. The shift, she declares, has brought her and her small son security, fun and good health—all for $50 a month!

One reason why living is easier in small towns is that homes and food cost less. In Eudora $1,200 buys a two-story modern house with a half-acre garden plot and children house. Mrs. Knizely paid only $500 to have her house completely rebuilt, including picture windows and new plumbing. Property taxes run from $10 to $35 a year.

Fifty cents worth of seeds have stocked the Knizely basement with enough jars of fruit, vegetables, jellies and jams to last the winter. Store-bought items add up to $17.50—a total food bill of $18 a month. Fuel for heat, light and cooking comes to $12 a month and clothes—Mrs. Knizely is handy with the needle—to another $5. With a basic living cost of $35 monthly, the Knizely's have $15 left for luxuries, such as trips to nearby towns for concerts, theaters or visits to friends.

Apart from monetary considerations, small town life has many other compensations. "My Eudora friends are not hicks," says Mrs. Knizely in her Journal of Living story. "We discuss everything from art to astronomy. Life is leisurely. If I want to read Shakespeare in the morning, the dishes can wait. A small town is a good place to live—particularly now when dollars buy so little."

Testimonial Dinner Honors Rockefeller

NEW YORK — A testimonial dinner honoring Winthrop Rockefeller will be given by the Harlem Mobilization Committee of the Urban League. The event will be held on Tuesday, December 21, at 7:00 p.m., in the new Skylight Room, atop the Hotel Theresa, to mark Mr. Rockefeller's seven years of active service in the Urban League movement.

Mr. Rockefeller has been a member of the Executive Board of the National Urban League since 1940 and has been one of the leading spirits in the financial campaigns for the National Urban League and the Urban League of Greater New York. He is noted for his service in the cause of American Teamwork.

Men & Women Don't Pass You Up—Limited

Social Security Genie Provides Children Also

"Many people overlook the fact that the Social Security Act was designed to protect the interests of the children of the wage earner even when families are broken up by divorce or other unusual conditions exist," says James H. Smiley, manager of the Los Angeles Office of the Social Security Administration.

"To cite a recent case, when one man applied for his benefits u on reaching the age of 65, it was learned he had a small daughter five years of age. The daughter was living with his divorced wife in another state.

Although he wished to contribute to his child's support, he had been unable to do so because of lack of funds. He was delighted to learn that in addition to his own monthly benefit, his daughter also was entitled to receive a monthly benefit equal to one-half o fhis. Thus, because of his past earnings, he has ben able to do one of the things he most wanted to do.

"Another recent case was that of a divorced mother with two small children. Her former husband had remarried and had two more children by his second wife. Because of a tragedy, the father and the second wife died at the same time.

The person who inquired about Social Security benefits on behalf of the children of the second marriage also knew of the two children of the divorced wife. The first wife was completely unaware that her two children were entitled to survivor's benefits under the Social Security Act as she believed her divorce and settlement had curtailed any further rights her children might have. She was pleasantly surprised to learn that she will receive $15.00 a month for each child until it reaches the age of 18."

Police Hold Auction Sale

The Police Auction Sale of unclaimed property will be held Saturday, December 11, 8:00 a.m. at Central Police Station located at 318 West First Street.

Jewelry, luggage, radios, record players, kodaks, camera accessories, checkwriters, typewriters, musical instruments, shotguns, rifles, electric shavers, vacuum cleaners, fire extinguishers, fog lamps, tools, bicycles and many other articles will be offered for sale.

Terms of the sale are cash only. There is no minimum bid on any article.

If property is found, and cannot be positively identified by the owner, it is held for auction. Citizens with property that might be lost, should make a note of all serial numbers or place identifying marks on it so they will be assured of its return if lost and turned in to police.

Lock-Up Habit Foils Thieves

The cheapest insurance you can get for your Christmas packages is the lock-up habit.

"Put your packages out of sight," says Chief of Police C. B. Horrall, "and the thief will not be tempted to make you his victim."

Last year, thousands of dollars worth of valuables and Christmas gifts were stolen by sneak-thieves who looted parked cars during the Christmas shopping period.

When you park your car, lock the doors and windows. If you have Christmas packages in the car, place them under the seat or in the luggage compartment.

If you are the victim of theft, call the police. Prompt action is your best chance of apprehending the criminal, and having your possessions returned to you.

Beavers and Covington On New Jury List

George A. Beavers, chairman of the Board of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Floyd Covington, director of the Los Angeles Urban League, are among the 126 male and female citizens whose names have been submitted by Superior Court Judges for consideration for the 1949 County Grand Jury.

After a period during which any citizen may raise an objection to the fitness of any of those named to serve, the names of Beavers and Covington will be placed in a jury wheel from which 30 names will be drawn. The presiding judge of the Superior Court Criminal Division will select the panel of 19 from the thirty names thus selected.

Judge Stanley Mosk named Covington, and Judge Robert A. Scott named Beavers.

Beaux Art Benefit for Civil Rights

The Echo Park Civil Rights Committee is sponsoring a benefit performance of "The Torch Grows Dim" on Saturday night, December 18, at the Beaux Art Theatre, Eighth and Beacon. Tickets for the performance are on sale at the box office or may be reserved by calling Mrs. Perlin at MUtual 8521.

"The Torch Grows Dim" is a timely play that tells a shocking story in a shocking manner. Its highest recommendation is its extreme honesty in dealing with a subject that is the root of the problem of American democracy.

The benefit performance is planned to raise funds for the Civil Rights Congress and to call attention to the play.

Summon Clark In Jury Quiz

When the Grand Jury resumes its hearings on December 14, during which three of several witnesses summoned will be questioned about Communist activities here, Attorney General Tom Clark will be called as a witness.

Attorney Ben Margolis, representing three of the witnesses, has sent a subpena to Washington calling the Attorney General here to testify in the hearing which will involve Ben Dobbs, Samuel Kasinowitz and Henry Steinberg. All three have refused to answer questions they maintain are an invasion of their civil rights.

Previous refusal of witnesses to answer has brought indefinite jail sentences, meted out by Judge Pierson Hall.

British Educator Emphasizes Candhi's Devotion to Truth

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Mr. Horace Alexander, British Educator and a representative of the Society of Friends in India, discussed Mahatma Gandhi's interpretation of Truth before a large audience of faculty and students in the Chapel of the School of Religion at Howard University last week.

An intimate friend of the great Indian leader, Mr. Alexander placed great emphasis upon Gandhi's devotion to Truth wherever it might lead him. He characterized Truth as Gandhi's God.

Mr. Alexander is in the United States for a two-week visit, during which he will confer with various officials of the American Friends Service Committee and the United States Government.

He is held in high regard by leading figures in Indian life today; has attempted to make for better relations between England and India, and to serve as interpreter of the West to the East, and the East to the West.

He visited Howard University primarily to confer with Dr. William Stuart Nelson, Dean of the University, and Dr. Amiye Chakravarty, both of whom he knew in India.

Moton Memorial Held Last Week

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE—The devoted and conspicuous service of the late Robert R. Moton both at Hampton and at Tuskegee was extolled by Major Walter R. Brown, Secretary of Hampton Institute, who was the principal speaker for the annual otMon Memorial service held here in the Institute Chapel last Sunday night.

"Dr. Moton was a man of destiny," said Major Brown, "and a devoted disciple of General Armstrong, a loyal pupil and administrative associate of Dr. Frissell, and a true and faithful friend and supporter of Dr. Washington, and an untiring worker for the uplifting of his people."

Use Care With Decorations And Wrappings

Holiday decorations and gift wrappings add greatly to the annual observance of the Christmas season. But trees and decorations, in most cases highly combustible, have the unfortunate quality of adding to the threat of fire.

Since no Christmas can be merry unless it has been safe, you are urged to use extreme care in the use of all holiday decorations to prevent them from causing a tragic fire.

Inspection at New Fire Home

The members of the Board of Fire Commissioners will make an inspection tour of the newly-opened fire station at Vernon and Main this (Thursday) morning at 10 o'clock.

The station has been in operation for about a month and the inspection will mark the formal opening.

Housekeepers To Live On Job In Demand at Labor Office

General housekeepers who are willing to live on the employer's premises still are a scarce item in the local labor market according to Albert B. Tieburg, manager of the service office, California State Employment Service, at 506 West 11th Street in Los Angeles, whose list of unfilled service openings as of last weekend pointed up the shortage of female housekeepers willing to live outside of their own homes.

'It isn't that we do not have the applicants on file," Tieburg said. "We have. The trouble is those willing to do housework still want to work definite schedules on a weekly or daily basis without the restrictions of 'live in' assignments."

Other opportunities going begging were requests for highly skilled press operators for the laundry industry. Tieburg said the acquisition of new types of pressing machinery in many of the larger establishments had created the need for more operators skilled in the use of shirt press equipment.

The labor office, a branch of the service office, located at 728 West Tenth Place, reported unfilled openings for male or female china packers, female candy packers and tomato graders, and male meat packers.

Yule Trees Below Minimum For Sale By A.D.A. Organization

A lowly vacant lot at the junction of twenty-first and Western Avenue will be given the deluxe Hollywood treatment this Yule season, according to Howard J. Green, screenwriter and executive chairman of the California Americans for Democratic Action.

Many of ADA's members from the film colony, including state chairman Melvyn Douglas, will join in selling Christmas trees on the vacant lot at prices twenty to fifty per cent below this year's minimum.

ADA's attempt to knock the props from under the high-priced Christmas Tree market is completely unprecedented in California political history. The sale marks the first time a political organization has launched a business enterprise.

Declaring the high prices of Christmas trees ridiculous, and a flagrant violation of the season spirit, Green said, "We have fought to elect law-makers who will put a stop to unfair prices and profits. Now we're trying to do something concrete in saying "thanks" to the people who voted for those law-makers at the last election."

The ADA Christmas Tree program starts officially Monday night.

And ADA is not missing any bets. They're offering home delivery to anyone who calls the State Offices and places their order, and they're guaranteeing the freshness of their trees—all in traditional style.

Trees, says rGeen, will be painted on order in all colors. And he adds, "We'll even sell pink ones . . . Jack Tenney."

The twenty-first and Western lot was secured for ADA sale by Clarence Urban, former State Real Estate Administrator.

Weed Haulers Nabbed by Law

The guy who was expecting a delivery of 'weed' from two Cats somewhere in the vicinity of Normandie and Jefferson a couple of days ago will please be informed that the cops got the stuff and the messengers too.

Orville E. Braswell, 22 and Ollie Harris 33, were picked up in Braswell's car with a bag full of 15 ounce containers of marihuana worth about $300. All the boys would admit was that they were transporting the stuff from San Pedro for delivery in L. A. They didn't name names though.

WINSTON SALEM — Prof. Harry Gil-Smythe, head of the Music Department at Shaw University, will be presented in piano recital Sunday afternoon, December 12, at Winston-Salem Teachers College. The concert is being sponsored by the graduate chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity of Winston-Salem.

Youth Leaders Observe Trial of Silent Witness

Presence of a youth leaders' observation team at further public legal proceedings against 13 Los Angeles men and women cited for "contempt" of the federal grand jury was announced this week by the newly organized Youth Committee for Civil Rights.

"The committee will have an investigating delegation present when the "contempt" trial reconvenes December 14," the group said. "It will report its observation son the conduct of the proceedings to other youth groups."

Self-incriminating—bf ....

Civil contempt charges against the 13 followed their refusal to answer grand jury questions on the Communist party and its membership. The 13 said the questions were "self incriminating" and based their refusal on rights contained in the fifth amendment to the constitution. The 13 are now out on bail.

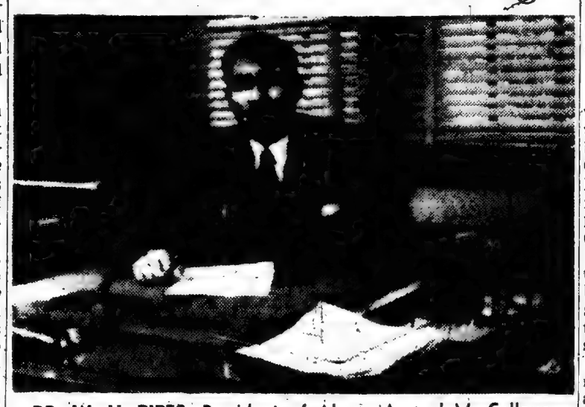
The Youth Committee for Civil Rights was formed last week after 30 youth leaders heard Philip Bock, one of the 13, describe the case.

John Thorne, 7365 N. Manchester, Inglewood, a member of the First Unitarian Church young people's group, was elected chairman. Marguerite England, 1532 N. Kenmore Ave., active YWCA member, was elected secretary. Volunteers and officers of the committee act as individuals, not as representatives of organizations.

A youth statement on the case was issued by the Committee. Thorne said it is now being circulated for signatures of young people before being sent to Washington.

Publisher In Civil Rights Suport Drive

NEW YORK—Wendell Malliet & Company, publishers of books on the Negro, 209 West 125th Street, New York City, announced this week the launching of a nation-wide campaign to rally public support behind the President's Civil Rights Program.



The company has undertaken to promote and distribute two important public documents, "To Secure These Rights," the Report of the President's Commission on Civil Rights, and "Prejudice and Property: An Historic Brief Against Racial Covenants," by Attorney General Tom Clark and Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman.

"Prejudice and Property" was submitted by the Department of Justice as a brief to the U. S. Supreme Court, urging the outlawing of racial real estate covenants. The two public documents have been manufactured and published in book form for sale at the low cost of $1.00 each, postpaid.

CAC Will Sponsor Bill of Rights Meet; Mrs. Bass to Speak

The Citizens Action Committee will sponsor a "Bill of Rights" program at the McKinley Jr. High school, Del Mar and El Molino avenues, Pasadena, December 13 at 8 p.m.

The program will feature: Editor-Publisher, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, who will speak on "The Negro and the Bill of Rights;" and Youth Leader, Clare Sokolow who will speak on "Youth and the Bill of Rights."

The Citizens Action Committee will attack the discriminatory policy now maintained which prohibits Negroes from attending a city sponsored dance by labeling the Negro population as a disturbing element. It will investigate the police brutality which incited a near riot.

There will be a picket line of protest maintained before the civic auditorium on Saturday, December 11, while the dance prohibiting Negroes from attending, is going on. Charles Davis, organizer and chairman of the protest, will also be a speaker at the December 13 meeting.

The Citizens Action Committee will fight all fascist organizations within this community, and will spearhead the fight for freedom at all times. The meeting in Pasaden wil point out how important it is for all citizens to take action against all forces that practice racism and maintain total disregard of citizens rights.

Extension Meeting

SAVANNAH, Georgia — The Annual Conference of Georgia Negro Extension Agents will be held at Georgia State College, December 7-10.

Dr. Goldman Is New Director Of Sanatorium

Dr. Alfred Goldman, noted chest surgeon, has accepted the post of Director of Medical Activities at the Los Angeles Sanatorium and National Medical Center at Duarte, it was announced here today by Louis Tabak, president of the institution.

Dr. Goldman, a graduate and former member of the staff of the University of California Medical School, is to serve the Medical Center on a voluntary basis and will continue his private practice in the Los Angeles area.

Father Tobin Leaves For African Post

BOSTON, Mass.—Fr. Joseph F. Tobin, C.S.Sp., cousin of Maurice J. Tobin, Secretary of Labor and former Governor of Massachusetts, sailed last week for Nigeria, West Africa, where he will serve as a missioner in the Vicariate of Onitsha. A native of Eire, the Catholic priest was educated at Rockwell College and the National University. He served as a faculty member for three years at the latter institution.

Postmaster Asks Cooperation By Early Christmas Mailing

The Christmas rush is already on at the Post Office, according to Postmaster Michael D. Fanning. He stated that it was important that everyone heed the "shop early, mail early" warning, in order that all packages and cards arrive at destination before Christmas day.

The Postmaster says that often extra loads of Eastern Christmas mail are delayed due to storms which occur in the East at this time of year. He urged every patron of the Los Angeles Post Office to mail all out-of-town packages and cards before December 10th, and all city packages and cards before December 15th.

Fanning also asked every citizen to take time to wrap packages securely with heavy paper and strong cord, and to use correct addresses plainly written with correct zone numbers. He explained that annually thousands of packages are undeliverable because of careless wrapping and addressing. He said that every attempt is made to salvage poorly wrapped packages at the Post Office, but many of them cannot be repaired which causes much disappointment on Christmas day.

Packages will be accepted up to 70 pounds in weight, and up to 100 inches in length and girth combined. The Postmaster said that if patrons would mail all their packages and cards at their nearest Post Office Substation, much time and confusion would be saved.

Meat Supplies The Same for Coming Years

Most meat supplies probably will run about the same quantity in 1949 as in the past year but pork will be more plentiful, Chairman Roy M. Hagen of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee predicted this week in a report on November farm conditions.

Hog prices sagged last month to the lowest point since October, 1946, while heavier cattle shipping trimmed beef prices, the Chamber agriculture review showed.

Sheep and lamb production next year is expected to continue at the lowest ebb in years, Hagen said.

November's lack of rain, plus drying winds, accentuated water shortage conditions, but irrigation remained adequate to prevent crop losses, according to Hagen.

Tribble on Program

TALLAHASSEE—Dr. Harold W. Tribble, President of Andover-Newton Theological School of Newton Center, Massachusetts, spoke at the Florida A and M College last week in a special assembly.

Vets Get Back Overcharges From Builders

The Office of the Housing Expediter's veterans' branch today announced that during the last few weeks, refunds totalling more than $70,000 have been made by builders to 327 California veteran buyers of houses built under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program.

According to John Handy, local agent in charge, the refunds were made for the most part voluntarily by the builders, following the filing of complaints by veterans involving either over-ceiling sales prices, nonconformity to specifications, or omissions or substitutions.

Decline In Clergymen Brings Attractive Raises In Salary

Salary levels are being raised by many churches as an attraction to young men to prepare for the ministry. The reason is supplied by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, which, through its Commission of Ministry released a report recently showing a sharp decline in the number of clergymen in proportion to the population.

The report indicates that for this year there are only 104 ministers for every 100,000 citizens, while in 1900 there were 137 for every 100,000. The disparity is shown clearly in the fact that there has been a population increase of 64,000,000 during that time.

Episcopalean, Presbyterian and Lutheran denominations are reportedly in need of from 300 to 2000 replacements for vacancies at home and abroad. The thought seems to be to make the ministry attractive enough to interest young men about to enter upon a career.
